Tomorrow the management will offer a complete change of vaudeville including feature pictures that will be shown each day. The program tomorrow will be as follows: Hayes and Thatcher, in a screaming comedy skit that will keep you in a continuous laugh from beginning to end and a sure cure for the blues; Elsie White, the dainty singing comedienne, will entertain you for twenty minutes with all the latest popular songs and ballads. "The Three Brownies" do some novelty dancing and skating, and Samoya's novelty aerial act is a marvel that will keep you spellbound.

"The Man from Mexico," featuring John Barrymore, is the feature photoplay being shown today. Mr. Barrymore depicts the character of Fitzhew, the gay young married man, who still longs for the cabarets and other delights of his bachelor days, and thereby gets himself into dreadful dilemmas from which he extricates himself only by the most wonderful inventions possible even to an untruthful man. Tomorrow the famous Paramount release, "Ready Money," with Edward Abeles in the leading role, will be the screen production.

The next episode of "The Exploits of Elaine" will be shown on Friday afternoon and night and on Saturday the management will show the first release of the famous serial, "The Goddess," in which Anita Stewart and Earl Williams play the leading roles.

COMPARING RIVALS IN THE BIG SERIES

Plainfield and North Plainfield School Players Ball History to Be Given.

Introducing city and borough school baseball players who will fight for scholastic honors this season.

Arthur J. Kyle, P. H. S. '17.

Arthur Kyle, who is a junior in the city school, has played baseball ever since he was able to walk and has played on the High School nine for two years. Last season he was substitute fielder and was lucky enough to get into the big series with North Plainfield. He is now holding down the left field position. He is a consistent hitter and is a good man in the pinch. He bats and throws right handed.

Kyle started playing ball with the old St. Mary's team and more recently played with the Netherwood Highlanders. He weighs 140 pounds and is only 16 years old. After graduation Kyle expects to enter college.

Robert "Bob" Hebert, N. P. H. S. '16.

"Bob" Hebert is considered to be one of the best outfielders North Plainfield ever put out. He is fast on his feet, being the fleetest baserunner on the team last year, and can judge flys very accurately. Balls that are hit into left field are sure to be handled safely with Hebert there. This is his second season with the borough team.

As a leadoff man Hebert is also a valuable man. He has the ability to drew pases the majority of the time at the opening of the game. He is at present batting in the vicinity of the .250 mark. He is 17 years old and weighs 140 pounds. He bats and throws right handed, but sometimes faces the pitcher on the left side of the plate.

NEWARK APPLIES FOR RIGHT TO HOLD ATHLETIC CLASSIC

For one of the athletic features of the big celebration which Newark is planning for next year to mark the 250th anniversary of the city s founding an effort has been started to have the national athletic championships for 1916 brought to Newark.

Edward E. Babb, of Boston, one of the governors of the Amateur Athletic Union, has written to the athletic sub-committee, saying that he would favor Newark for the big meet, provided a suitable field was available. The sub-committee had sent out letters to all governors, and Mr. Babb's letter was in reply to the communication he had received.

TENNIS CHAMP KILLED.

London, May 12.—Anthony F. Wilding, of New Zealand, former lawn tennis champion of Great Britain, and who several times had been a member of the Australasian team in the days of cup matches, has been killed in the fighting in the Dardanelles. Wilding was a second lieutenant in the Royal Marines. Wilding, playing with Brooks, won the Davis Cup matches played at Forest Hill last summer and took the trophy to Australia.

Y. M. H. A. NOT ENTERED.

The Plainfield Y. M. H. A., which was a contender in the Y. M. H. A. Baseball League last season, will not enter this year. The locals are not included in the list of teams given out. Six teams will form the circuit, including New Brunswick, Passaic, Paterson, Elizabeth, Bayonne and Hoboken. Bayonne captured the pennant last season.

MRS. STOCKTON LEADS BIG FIELD IN TOURNEY

Local Woman Golfer Came Within Three Strokes of Montclair Record.

The playing of Mrs. H. Reeve Stockton, of this city, was the feature of the first one-day women's golf tournament of the season held at the Montclair Golf Club, yesterday afternoon, under the auspices of the Women's Metropolitan Golf Association. Mrs. Stockton, who, for two successive years has shown the greatest improvement of the metropolitan women, returned a card of 86, 2-84, leading the field in both gross and net and in addition won the bogey handicap with 1 up. The local woman went out in 42 and returned in 44. The rules prevented her from taking both the gross and net prizes, and Miss Elsa Pickhardt, of Englewood, with a card of 95, 7-88, took the net award.

Mrs. Stockton came within three strokes of Miss Georgianna Bishop's course record of 83. Her card read as follows:

Out .....6 4 5 5 4 6 5 4 3—42
In .....5 3 4 6 4 6 3 6 7—44—86

There were several other local women who took part. They were Mrs. A. M. Collens, 110, 20-90; Mrs. Albert McDonald, 107, 15-92; Mrs. Chester R. Lawrence, Jr., 117, 22-95. Mrs. A. E. Mattach and Mrs. H. E. Manvel, of Westfield, had scores of 101 and 111 respectively.

RUNYON IS OUT AFTER BIG PREY IN U. OF P. FESTIVAL

Ralph Runyon, of Plainfield High School, has entered in the University of Pennsylvania games which will be held in Philadelphia, Saturday afternoon. He will take part in the pole vault and the running high jump. In the various meets that Runyon has been in he has won from the best schoolboy athletes of the State.

After last Saturday's victory in the polt vault at Newark, Runyon said: "Now I am even with everyone in pole vaulting except one fellow from Mercerburg Academy, and I hope to meet him at the U. of P. games Saturday."

KILBANE'S EASY WIN.

Johnny Kilbane, the featherweight champion, earned a decision on points over Mel Coogan, a Flatbush fistic idol, in a ten-round session at the Broadway Sporting Club, in Brooklyn, last night. The affair, however, did not add any glory to the record of either boy. Coogan's strong point was holding on in innumerable clinches and dancing around the ring to avoid the champion when they were pried apart. Johnnie was not altogether innocent of stalling, either. The crowd did not like the bout at all.

P. C. C. GOLF.

The women's handicap event will be run off at the Plainfield Country Club tomorrow afternoon.

The Quakers have won five games and lost one to date. The batteries of yesterday's game were Bartle and Randall for the Stars, and Rielly and Jackson and Lynch for the Quakers.

OPPORTUNE HITTING NETS CLASSIC WIN

Plainfield's ninth inning rally after two outs had been registered spilled the beans for Rutgers' Freshmen, yesterday afternoon, on Parker Field. Denny, the first Plainfield High School man up in the ninth inning, with the score 3-4, hit an easy roller to the pitcher. Dunham banged out his first hit, drew second on an error, and was responsible for the second out when Elmendorf picked up Kyle's grounder and threw to third. Kyle reached second on Peacock's slow hit to short. Then Rosenson, who had previously made a record for himself as a strike-out artist, clouted a hard one to the pitcher, who muffed it and threw to first, twenty minutes late. Meanwhile Kyle and Peacock raced home with the winning runs and established a final score of 5 to 4.

Up to the stretch stanza the game was slow and uninteresting to the spectators. Coach Patch gave both pitchers a chance at twirling in order to try them out for the first Interscholastic League game Saturday afternoon. Both pitched fairly good ball, only seven hits being made from their delivery during the afternoon. However, Denny struck four men out in tight places and no doubt saved two runs in this way. Elmendorf, the college heaver, hurled in great shape, allowing only seven hits and making nine men whiff the empty ozone. He lost his own game in the ninth by an untimely fumble.

Since the change in the line-up made last Saturday, the local youngsters have not been handling the ball in the right way. In yesterday's game they made eight errors, all of which were partly responsible for Rutgers' four runs. However, their work with the stick partially made up for their "bonehead" stunts in the field. When hits meant runs the locals were right on the job.

Peacock, who tops the High School batting average, knocked out two timely bingles and tallied as many runs.

The work of Rowe, the Rutgers' shortstop, was decidedly the feature of the fielding game. He covered more ground than the second and third basemen together, and made two pretty running catches in left field. He also banged out two healthy singles.

The Plainfield High School team will practice every day this week in order to be in the best possible fettle for North Plainfield, Saturday.

The second match of the interscholastic tennis series was played off yesterday afternoon, between Leal's and North Plainfield High School, Leal's winning by a score of 3-2.

Captains Tomkinson, of North Plainfield, and Lyon, of Leal's, were the first choice of the singles matches. They each took a set, Tomkinson winning the first one 6-4, and Lyon the second by the same score. The third set went to a deuce and was won by Tomkinson, 9-7.

Warren Townley played his first game of the season against "Shorty" Stewart, and took his beating easily, 6-1, 6-2. "Buck" Chandler and Garrigues played the third singles match, Chandler winning for North Plainfield, 6-4, 10-8.

The doubles went to Leal's in three sets, 6-1, 4-6, 8-6, scoring the two points necessary to win the day.

Dunning and Chandler were new at playing together, but they did good work after the first set, and will probably represent North Plainfield on next Tuesday against Plainfield High School.

MOOSE LEAGUE ONCE DEAD, ALIVE AGAIN

Owing to a misunderstanding, the meeting of the Moose Baseball League, which was scheduled to take place last Sunday, will be held next week. There will probably be eight teams in the circuit, seven having already signified their intentions of joining. Those lodges are New Brunswick, Plainfield, Rutherford, Paterson, Elizabeth, Rahway and Jersey City.

At first the local lodge was not going to enter but will probably be placed on the list.

Seeks Contributions in Behalf of the Survivors of the Lusitania.

The Committee of Mercy has issued a country-wide appeal in behalf of the Lusitania survivors. Remembering the generous response of the American people to the needs of the Titanic survivors, it is believed that a fund will be raised sufficiently large to care for the destitute among those who were saved, and to relieve the want among those left orphaned or widowed by the disaster.

Itis emperative that contributions to this fund be received immediately in order that sums may be cabled abroad as rapidly as the extent of the need develops, and that dependents of the victims in this country may be provided for.

The Lord Mayor of Liverpool in his cable to Acting Mayor McAneny, of New York, stated that while crew dependents had been provided for by the Cunard Company, a number of second and third class passengers will be destitute.

The Citizens' Committee, appointed by Acting Mayor McAneny to raise funds in Greater New York, is co-operating with the Committee of Mercy, and has issued an appeal to the citizens of New York similar to that which the Committee of Mercy is issuing over the rest of the country.

Contributions intended for the relief of Lusitania survivors should be sent to August Belmont, treasurer of the Committee of Mercy, 200 Fifth avenue, New York.

CLEAN FUEL MEANS CLEAN CYLINDERS

POOR fuel is as frequent a cause of carbonized cylinders as poor lubrication. You cannot be too careful what goes into your tank.

Standard Motor Gasoline is a straight-distilled refinery product—not a "blend" or a "mixture". Mixtures make trouble because they do not stay mixed. The light fraction goes off first, and the heavy residue necessitates carburetor adjustments and is a frequent cause of cylinder carbon.

Standard Motor Gasoline is absolutely homogeneous—every drop like every other drop. You get the same steady, dependable power-impulses, whether you are running on the top or the bottom of your tank.

Look for the "Standard Motor Gasoline" sign on garages and supply stations. Wherever you see it you can also get Polarine—the Standard Oil for All Motors—the oil that keeps your car in finest trim.

CHAPTER IX.

The Advent of Creegan.

WALTER sought the library immediately after dinner, to smoke and to brood over various personal concerns of his own. He found, indeed, that his moods were fickle to such an extent that he hardly knew from hour to hour whether he were glad or wretched. Always, at the back of his thought, there was the haunting dread of the detectives that sought his trail.

On account of them he was grateful for this refuge. But, on the other hand, he experienced a growing alarm over this intimate relation with Wainwright, the renowned foe of criminals such as he. There was something monstrous to Walter in the fact that he, the thief, was here posing openly, if not boldly, as the brother-in-law of the most effective district attorney New York had ever possessed, whose popularity thus secured bade fair now to make the man the chief executive of the state. This association with Wainwright kept the youth in a constant tremor of apprehension lest the worst befall. He expostulated in vain with Andrew, who treated him and his arguments with a galling contempt. His offset to the disdain of the Master lay in the patent admiration accorded him by Helen Wainwright, the great man's sister, who, to be sure, was merely a schoolgirl of sixteen, on her vacation, yet the heiress to a tidy fortune and remarkably pretty, if not especially burdened with brains. With something of her brother's power of idealization, though with a less worthy subject, she was able to see in Walter excellence enough to make him the hero of her first foolish maidenly dreaming.

On his part, Walter, drawn by her dainty face and demure manner, was inclined to think that he might make himself a safe position in the world and secure a satisfactory living without work by marrying this bread and butter miss. Unfortunately, however, he soon found that the carrying out of his design was beset with difficulties, for somehow latterly it seemed that he was never to see Helen for a moment alone, much less given opportunity for an elopement even were the preliminary arrangements made.

As he meditated now, it was clear to him that he must appeal directly to Lucene for aid in the execution of his purpose. Under this necessity he was irritated by the fact that already, under Andrew's compulsion, he had set himself before his putative sister in a remarkably bad light. He had been forced to pretend financial distress to her and beg her to help him in saving him from exposure and disgrace. Naturally, to save the possibility of baring the whole hateful truth to her husband, Mrs. Wainwright had yielded to his demands and supplied him repeatedly with money without her husband's knowledge. The fact increased her self contempt. But Walter's sole concern in the matter was dissatisfaction over the effect these transactions must have in making her hostile to himself and so an obstacle, not a help, in his plan to possess Helen.

Walter scowled as he reflected on the fact that this financial intriguing with Lucene was altogether an annoyance to him since even the money involved did not remain with him, but was invariably turned over to Andrew by that taskmaster's orders. "Devilish poor pickings, I call it!" was the thief's unspoken comment, with a sneer. Anyhow, he decided he must make the effort to enlist Lucene's assistance in his wooing of Helen. With this resolve he looked up to behold Parker in the doorway.

"A gentleman to see you, sir," was the announcement.

Walter was astonished and alarmed, for he knew of no acquaintance likely to be within miles of this neighborhood and certainly none aware of his identity as Walter Blount. But before he could determine an answer to the waiting servant Andrew himself appeared.

"Pardon me, sir," he said in tones of the utmost respect; "but perhaps you had better leave the matter to me. I think I know the man's business. It is really not of the least importance, sir." He gave a low order to Parker.

"Oh, all right, if you say so," Walter returned, grumpily, concealing the relief he felt in learning that this was probably another of his tyrant's contrivances rather than a pursuer on his own trail. "Who is the guy?" he asked, as Parker disappeared after the low spoken command from his employer.

Andrew regarded the young man with wintery eyes, through narrow lids.

"That," he said gently, but with an inflection that was convincing, "is one question too many." Then, he turned slowly; and went out of the room, unmindful of the scowling thief, who cringed helpless under his domination.

Andrew, after leaving the library, ascended directly to his own room at the top of the house and there found the caller whom Parker had just guided thither.

"My eye!" the somewhat rough appearing individual remarked amiably, as the Master Mind entered. "This is some swell joint, hey?"

"Mr. Wainwright will be pleased with your commendation, sir," Andrew answered, with a manner of habitual servility.

"Who is the guy?"

"Say, don't you get fresh, old geezer!" the visitor exclaimed angrily. "And, anyhow, why am I tucked up here in the attic. What's the game, eh?" He stood for a moment, blinking thoughtfully at the butler of the household, and a sudden recollection assailed him. "Wainwright's just got married—what?"

"Yes, sir," Andrew replied, still in his assumed character. "Mr. Wainwright was married about six months ago, sir."

"Some class to him!" the caller declared, with much respect, if little admiration. "Married and nominated for governor all in the same month. That's going some, believe me!" He nodded toward the window, and there was a noticeable apprehensiveness in his voice when next he spoke. "Say, 'bo, what's that big building off across there on the hill? Ain't no jail 'round here, as ever I heard."

"No, sir," Andrew said. "That is the Powhattan Asylum For the Insane, under the direction of the celebrated Dr. Forbes." Abruptly a change came into the manner of his address, and he spoke to the stockily built man facing him with an incisive directness that caused the sharpened features of his listener to express a new, suspicious alertness. "You are from Chicago, sir?"

"What's that to you?" the fellow snarled, his small eyes lowering.

Andrew wasted not time.

"Your name is Creegan," he said coldly. "You were sent here by Mr. Whitcomb."

"Well, now, Mr. Know-it-all," was the insolent retort, "maybe I was, and maybe I wasn't. What's the answer?"

"You were to inquire for Walter Blount, but another person was to give you a sign." Andrew set the fingers of his right hand to the familiar symbol of protection against the evil eye.

The heavy face of the visitor relaxed instantly, and he breathed a sigh of relief.

"So you're the guy!" he growled.

VOTES FOR WOMEN

Conducted by the Equal Suffrage League of Plainfield and North Plainfield.

Mr. Metcalf Wishes to be Shown.

A correspondent signing himself Fred Metcalf and dating his letter May 1, Plainfield, N. J., writes at length to The New York Sun, telling why he fears to have women vote. That he is a person of extreme caution is plain from his guarded tribute to womankind in his first paragraph, when he acknowledges woman "to be the equal or inferior of man in every respect in which she appears to have proved herself so."

Mr. Metcalf proceeds:

"When advocates of woman suffrage base their claim on an assertion that the entrance of women into politics would improve the character of government they deal in unsupported conjecture. There is no evidence to show that a betterment of conditions would result. Where woman suffrage is in effect no such improvement is manifest; and in certain of those States, notably Colorado and California, there has occurred concurrently with the political innovation a conspicuous increase of erratic, irresponsible and intolerant tendencies of law making, accompanied in at least one of those cases by a pronounced enfeeblement of executive competence."

1. From Gov. Johnson, of California

"Since its adoption in October, 1911, equal suffrage has been put to the most thorough and severe test. Every conceivable sort of election has been held in the past three years, and women have been called upon to exercise their new privileges and perform their added duty, not alone in the usual fashion, but in various primaries—including one for Presidential preference—in local option elections, and they have been compelled to pass upon laws and governmental policies presented to the electorate by the initiative and referendum. The women have met the test, and equal suffrage in California has fully justified itself. Were it again to be submitted, the vote in its favor would be overwhelming."

2. From C. E. Sebastien, Los Angeles Chief of Police, Speaking Before National Association of Police Chiefs, in Washington, D. C.

"Since California has had woman suffrage crime has materially lessened in the entire State. The tone of politics had been raised by the influence of women's votes. It is not only what the women have done, but it is the unconscious influence which their votes command that has bettered conditions."

3. From Gov. Carlson, of Colorado.

"To say that woman suffrage has been successful (in Colorado) does not adequately express the facts. Woman suffrage has been an unqualified victory over weak and unfair government. As a result we have cleaner politics, a stronger government, and higher ideals are manifest everywhere in our State affairs. The laws of Colorado pertaining to children, the poor, the laboring classes, and the whole people have been declared by the Inter-parliamentary Union to be the sanest and most humane in the United States. This is due in large measure to the fact that women, the world's truest humanitarians, have a voice in our State government."

4. From John Morris, Master Colorado State Grange.

"The members of the Order of Patrons of Husbandry are proud of the work that the women of our State are doing for humanity and the country at large. Since women received their franchise many good laws have been placed on our statutes, not only for the benefit of the women and children, but for higher education, better health conditions, for a higher standard of morality, against gambling, and for prohibition. We are therefore heartily in favor of equal rights for women throughout the land."

5. From Gov. Hunt, of Arizona.

"When, in the year 1912, a bill proposing the enfranchisement of women was presented to the people of Arizona under the initiative, the opponents of such a departure in politics and government were loud spoken in their criticism of the principles of equal suffrage and in their prophecies of the dire results that might be expected from its application. Since that time and subsequent to the overwhelming adoption of suffrage for both sexes the women of the State have had opportunities in several municipal elections and in one Statewide election to demonstrate their capability of making an intelligent use of the ballot in furtherance of the public welfare. The result, far from being in the nature of a calamity, as was so freely predicted several years ago, has been, in the main, highly satisfactory. Not only have the women voters of Arizona evinced a great interest in general issues, but some have aspired to and won positions of public trust. In the last State election, which was held November 3, 1914, several women were chosen for the position of county school superintendents, one was selected as county recorder, and the personnel of each branch of the Legislature includes one member of the gentler sex. So far as there has been an oportunity for observation, each one of the women officials so selected by the people of this State is performing her official duties in a manner highly commendable. If actual results are a criterion, equal suffrage, as adopted and applied in Arizona, is an unqualified success."

Mr. Metcalf bases his own fears and those of a majority of the men who oppose equal suffrage on "an honest belief that the intellectual and temperamental peculiarities characteristic of women constitute, at the present time, a political disability quite as pronounced and incompatible with governmental security as is the immaturity of childhood." In the phrase of the popular song, Mr. Metcalf is afraid that "the grown up ladies" will "act like babies"—a chivalrous notion surely of what one may expect of the women of New Jersey.

We would recommend to Mr. Metcalf and others afflicted with this view, the opinions of the two prominent men quoted below; men of probably as wise caution and wide experience as Mr. Metcalf himself, and also men whose years and whose New England traditions and training tend naturally to make them conservative:

From a Recent Interview with Ex-Governor John D. Long, of Massachusetts.

"I never heard a reason urged against woman suffrage that was worth considering, or was not an insult to the understanding of a very small boy. Right! Of course it is right, and everybody knows it. And when in the history of the world has it been found that what is right is inexpedient? I have no more doubt of the ultimate voting of women than I have of the progress of the human soul, or than I have that when that time comes a more enlightened age will look back on our discrimination against one of the sexes in this respect as a relic of barbarism, a slow melting glacier of barbarism and prejudice. I want to be on record as having melted out early, or rather as having never been frozen in."

From Chief Justice William Penn Whitehouse, of Maine.

"For half a century I have been an unqualified believer in the justice and expediency of equal suffrage, and I have absolute confidence that its adoption is but a natural incident in a beneficient social evolution. Our civilization can never be consistent and complete without it. The whole theory of our free institutions requires it, and the moral welfare of the people demands it. The argument in support of it is logical and unanswerable. The opposition to it is inspired by traditional prejudice, and aided by thoughtless indifference. It will never degrade or dishonor the home, but will instill the spirit of the home into the methods of government."

When Mr. Metcalf takes issue with the national fathers whose "venerated documents" he evidently looks upon as mere "scraps of paper," and declares that there "exists no fundamental right of government based solely on the consent of the governed," we do not see how he strengthens the cause of the opposition. Granted for the sake of argument that his point is well taken, then if the 'consent of the governed" is of no importance that 92 per cent. that the Antis make so much of, claiming that this vast percentage of women would be co-erced into voting were women enfranchised, really doesn't count at all. If the "consent of the governed" means nothing why get worked up over that 92 per cent.? The Antis will not thank Mr. Metcalf for spoiling one of their pet arguments.

When Mr. Metcalf says: "A full and truthful statement of the theory of democracy requires the assertion of the right of self-government to be qualified invariably by the demand of presumptive fitness to govern in conformity with the standards of the race upon which the responsibility rests," we fail utterly to see in his statement anything that necessitates the making of sex the sole barrier to that "presumptive fitness."

President Burton, of Smith College (the largest woman's college in the world), ought to know something of the 'presumptive fitness" of women for self-government. Perhaps Mr. Metcalf may find this college president's words worth pondering:

"I shall vote for suffrage in Massachusetts this fall. I believe women must have equal opportunity with men, and that they will surely get it.

"There is little difference between the minds of men and the minds of women. At least, if there is, no one knows what it is. Personally I don't believe it is a question of sex, but one of personality.

"I certainly do want women to have all their rights. What I look forward to is the day when no woman shall be at a disadvantage, because of her sex, and when no woman shall be able to take an unfair advantage because of it. Both conditions exist today, and each is a necessary corollary of the other."

CONGRESS OF MOTHERS.

Portland, Ore., May 12—The National Congress of Mothers, which opens today in this city, has brought large delegations from many sections of America. Governor Withycombe will welcome the women to Oregon this afternoon, Mayor Albee will speak, and Mrs. Aristene Felts, president of the Oregon Congress, will welcome the visitors in the name of the women of the State. Mrs. Frederick Schoff, of Philadelphia, president of the National Congress, will preside and will deliver her annual address. Tomorrow a discussion on children, the home, the church, the school and the government will bring forth many prominent speakers. The sessions will extend until Friday afternoon.

SIMPLICITY IN LITTLE FROCKS.

The charm of this little dress lies in the simplicity of cut. A wide box pleat at either side of the new suspender waist make it very new, while the dainty hand-embroidery in white gives the necessary touch of elaboration. The guimpe of sheer handkerchief linen is trimmed with val lace and a dainty bow of blue silk, harmonizing in color with the blue linen frock gives a dainty finish.

A KIMONO DRESS FOR DAUGHTER.

There are many women who think it more advantageous to buy their little daughter's dresses ready-made; but they are the women who have never used Ladies' Home Journal Patterns.

Glimpses of Married Life

BY MRS. EVA LOVERD

"Really, Mrs. Morton, I told the doctor I was coming over with him tonight to see if your family looked like such a nest of invalids as the number of doctor's calls would indicate. Do you arrange to take turns being sick?"

Mrs. Ellson had not been in the house since the baby came; she had publicly cut Nell at two gatherings, and had left her off her list of guests when she gave her luncheon, so Nell was surprised to see her at the door. She colored and tried to laugh off the speech.

"I told Dick before his accident that three such families as ours would make a living for a doctor, but I think the baby is getting better. Mother seems to know just what to do for him; it's more a matter of nursing than medicine."

"I understood she was here; how you must enjoy her." The emphasis on "enjoy" was unmistakable.

"I do not know what we should have done without her," said Nell gratefully. "I'll call her," and she rose.

"Do not disturb her; the doctor will not be long I think," demurred the lady, but Nell apparently did not hear.

"Oh, mother" she whispered, "come in and help me. That Mrs. Ellson is here. I positively am afraid to be alone with her. I feel as helpless as a lamb alone with a wolf."

"Humph!" snorted Mrs. Morton, hanging up her kitchen apron and starting for the living room.

"Good evening, Mrs. Ellson," [illegible] said, eyeing her with grim satisfaction. "We haven't met since that afternoon when you took it upon yourself to try to regulate my son's life and show me my duty as a mother."

Mrs. Ellson bowed coldly.

"I understand you have had your hands full since then with other people's affairs," continued the imperturable old lady.

"A varied interest keeps one young, you know." Mrs. Ellson tossed her head defiantly.

"You will never grow old, then; that must be a great comfort." Mrs. Morton eyed her keenly. "I suppose you know that Miss Rudolph brought Nell the news of Dick's accident and stayed to take care of the baby while Nell assisted the doctor. I thought I'd tell you that she did not see Dick. It's best to have the fountain of information properly informed."

It was evident to Nell that the old lady was enjoying the grilling she was giving the caller, and Mrs. Ellson seemed utterly at a loss. She did not know what to say to this fearless enemy.

"The Scotts were here to call today," said Nell, thinking to divert the conversation into pleasant channels.

"I learned of your neighborly misrepresentations to Mrs. Scott," continued Mrs. Morton. "I suppose you thought where you were not known your stories were more apt to be believed, but an antidote was administered and the poison proved harmless."

"Really, you speak in enigmas; I fail to understand you," said Mrs. Ellson.

"I think you can puzzle it out if you put your mind to it." The old eyes were looking at her over her glasses. "You ask Mrs. Scott to explain if you do not understand; she'll do it gladly."

Here the doctor came from the bedroom, and Mrs. Ellson rose, and with a black look at Mrs. Morton and a frosty good-night to Nell, took her

Household Hints

CANDIES

Oriental Drops—Two and one-half pounds granulated sugar, one-half teaspoon glycerin, whites two eggs, six drops acetic acid, pint cold water. Stir sugar in water over hot fire until sugar is dissolved, then add glycerin until it commences to boil; then put in the acid, cover kettle, set back, let steam well three minutes; remove lid, boil to soft ball when dropped in water, pour on a plate quickly. When cold add beaten whites of two eggs, work into desired shape. Let stand a while to set, then with a fork dip into melted chocolate. Set to cool again. It will take one-half pound chocolate. Stir chocolate constantly while melting, as it gets much better and draws off better. If thermometer is used in making, cook the drops 236 degrees before covering with chocolate.

Divinity—Two cups granulated sugar, half cup water, half cup table syrup. Boil until it hardens in cold water. Beat whites of two eggs to stiff froth, then pour syrup over them and add one cup nuts. Flavor with teaspoon vanilla. Beat until stiff and pour onto platter.

Kisses in the Dark—Make a fudge from any good recipe. Place in buttered pan or platter marshmallows in regular lines; pour over them the hot fudge and set to cool. Mark between marshmallows when cool enough.

Penoche—One tablespoon butter, one-third cup milk or cream, two cups brown sugar, three-fourths cup nut meats. Melt butter in saucepan, add sugar and cream, boil until it forms soft ball when dropped in cold water. Remove from fire, add nut meats and beat until creamy. Pour into pan and cut into squares.

Butter Scotch—Three cups white sugar, half cup water, half cup vinegar, tablespoon butter, eight drops lemon extract. Boil without stirring until it snaps and breaks. Just before taking from fire add one-fourth teaspoon soda. Pour thin into tins and mark into squares when partly cold.

Orange Drops—Grate rind of one orange and squeeze out juice, taking care to reject seeds; add to this a pinch of tartaric acid; then stir in confectioner's sugar until it is stiff enough to form into balls the size of a small marble. This is delicious candy. The same process for lemon drops, using lemons in place of orange.

MOCK CHICKEN DISHES

Anyone will find these mock chicken dishes delicious:

Creamed Pork—Cut one slice of fresh pork ham in cubes one inch in size; cook in salted water till tender, which will take one-half hour. Over this pour a white sauce made by thickening three tablespoons flour in two cups milk; add salt, pepper and piece of butter. Pour this over slices of toast; will taste very much like chicken.

Fricasseed Pork—Have a slice of fresh pork ham cut one and one-half inches thick. Cut this in small pieces and parboil in salted water ten minutes. Drain and dip in beaten egg, then in cracker crumbs. Fry in deep fat till brown. Make a brown gravy by thickening one tablespoon fat, two cups milk with two tablespoons flour. Arrange meat on platter and pour over the sauce.

Delicious Pie—Fix fresh pork ham as for the creamed dish, only add several potatoes and two onions. Season with salt and pepper and cover with a crust. Make crust as follows: Two cups flour, two teaspoons baking powder, salt; mix into this two-thirds cup lard. Add enough cold milk or water to make a dough. Roll out one inch thick, punch holes in it. Place over meat and bake in hot oven till brown.

MARSHMALLOW FROSTINGS.

1—Put a layer of split marshmallows on a baked layer cake. Put in hot oven till melted to a paste, then put cake together and frost.

2—Boil six tablespoons sugar and two of milk (do not stir) for six minutes. Melt one-fourth pound marshmallows in double boiler. When melted to a paste, add two tablespoons hot water and cook smooth, then add the hot sugar and milk mixture, beating all the time until partly cold. Add one-half teaspoon vanilla extract, and spread between cake layers before cold.

3—The white of one egg well beaten added to three tablespoons pulverized sugar, a little vanilla; frost large square crackers, top each one with a marshmallow. Brown in quick oven a minute and you have a very dainty cocky.

MAY PARTY GIVEN BY CHURCH CHOIR

Many Enjoy Attractive Program in Congregational Church Last Night.

A large number of people attended the May party given by the choir of the Congregational church in the Parish House last night. An interesting program was followed by a social hour during which time ice cream and cake were served. The choir was assisted by Miss Virginia Powell, pianologues; Miss Kathleen Phillips, soprano; W. Marlowe Jones, tenor, and Malcolm B. Barnes, baritone. Mrs. B. T. Barnes was the musical director.

Miss Powell gave several fine pianologues, reciting the parts as she accompanied herself on the piano. The church choir sang several selections, including "May Day" and "The Kerry Dance." A folk dance in which eight girls took part was also a feature of the program. The following numbers were given: "May Dady," Perkins, the choir; (a), "Invictus," Huhn; (b), "For You Alone," Geehl, Mr. Barnes; (a), "The Doll's Wooing," Field; (b), "When We Haven't Said Our Prayers," Bliss, Virginia Powell; (a), "The Lady of Dreams," Daniels; (b), "An Irish Love Song," Long, Miss Phillips; folk dance given by the Misses Margery Kirkner, Helen Rice, Augusta Clawson, Kathryn Martin, Hannah Dennison, Isabelle Mundy, Emma Barrett and Elsie Vail; (a), "Back to Ireland," Huhn, and (b), "Mammy's Song," Ware, Marlowe Jones; "The Selfish Giant," Virginia Powell; "The Lovers," Marlowe Jones and Mr. Barnes; "The Kerry Dance," Molloy, the choir.

Under the auspices of the Men's Association of the Church of the Heavenly Rest a euchre party will be given in the parish house tomorrow night. Awards will be made to the prize winners.

MORTGAGES AS INVESTMENTS FOR IDLE FUNDS

There is no better form of investment for those who desire a higher rate than the 4% paid in our Special Department, than mortgages on well selected property on a 50% basis.

This Company invests a certain portion of its funds in gilt edge mortgages and is willing to sell these mortgages from time to time to persons desiring conservative investments.

We are always pleased to talk over investments with persons having idle funds in an endeavor to be of service and will be glad to submit our offerings to any one who may be interested.

NO OPPOSITION TO 1915 BUDGET

RESULT A SURPRISE

John J. Carroll Appears Before the Board in the Interest of Evening School—Budget Passed and Will Be Sent to Board of Estimate.

That the budget of the Board of Education for the coming school year is generally satisfactory to the inhabitants of Plainfield was shown last night, when the Board held the special meeting for the purpose of giving the public an opportunity to discuss the budget, notice of which was published in the local newspapers. In spite of the wide publicity given to the announcement of this meeting, only one person not connected with the Board of Education or the Board of School Estimate, was present.

John J. Carroll took the opportunity to appear before the Board to inquire why the appropriation for the evening school had been reduced to $1,500. Mr. Carroll stated that nothing but necessity should make the Board drop the evening school work, whose benefit to a large and desirable element of the population of Plainfield was, in his opinion, as great as that of any other department of public education.

The Board explained that only a part of the evening school work would be discontinued next year, and that the elementary teaching in the night school would continue as usual, and stated that they entirely agreed with Mr. Carroll in his opinion of the value of the evening school work, and that even a partial discontinuance of it was to be defended only because the financial necessities of the present time had necessitated the largest possible reduction in all school appropriations. Owing to this reduction it would have been impossible to appropriate the same amount of money as last year for the evening school work without seriously hampering the regular instruction of children of school age.

The Board formally adopted the budget as published recently in the newspapers, and will submit it for approval at a meeting of the Board of School Estimate at a meeting on May 25. The amount of money asked for from the local taxpayers is $114,350.

MAY BE COMPELLED TO GIVE UP BAND CONCERTS

The May meeting of the West End Civic Association will be held at the Washington School tomorrow night, when a number of important matters will be up for discussion including that of the summer band concerts. It now seems to be a question whether these weekly affairs will be possible. Samuel Shaw, of New York city, owner of the tract of land where the concerts were given last year, is opposed to granting the privilege for this season, claiming that a number of his trees were injured.

However, the committee in charge is hoping that Mr. Shaw will change his mind and permit the association to use the tract of land once a week. A report on the matter will be presented tomorrow night by the committee.

TO ATTEND CONVENTION OF NEW JERSEY BANKERS

The twelfth annual convention of the New Jersey Bankers' Association will be held at the Hotel Chelsea, Atlantic City, on Friday and Saturday of this week. The Plainfield Trust Company will be represented at the convention by O. T. Waring, president; J. Herbert Case, vice president; DeWitt Hubbell, secretary and treasurer, and H. H. Pond, of the board of directors.

PLAN ANNUAL BALL.

At the monthly meeting of the Owl Social Club, last night, plans were completed for the ninth annual ball to be given by the organization. The date was set for Friday night, May 14, and judging from the arrangements prepared for the affair a gala time will be enjoyed. Decorations for the hall will be furnished by M. Schrup.

"MAY DAY" WALK.

The annual "May Day" walk of the Gesang and Turn Verein will be held on Sunday, when the members and their families will walk to the grove on Interhaven avenue, North Plainfield, to spend the day.

COMMITTEE NAMED TO RECOMMEND PASTOR

Congregational Church Will Seek a Successor to Rev. C. L. Goodrich.

An important meeting of the Congregational church was held in the parish house, last night, it being an adjourned session from the annual meeting in April, when the principal business of the evening was the selection of a committee which will recommend, as soon as possible, a pastor to succeed Rev. Charles Lyman Goodrich, who resigned recently.

Nominations were made from the floor and on secret ballot the following committee was elected: Edward L. Suffern, Sydney W. Dunning, James McClymont, Everett L. Morgan, Charles A. Rice, John M. Whiton and Mrs. D. Foster Updike. Mrs. Whiton afterward declined to serve and Mrs. Philip S. Suffern was chosen in her place.

The pastoral relations of Mr. Goodrich with the church were dissolved Tuesday afternoon, at a meeting of the Ecclesiastical Council of the New Jersey Congregational churches and until another pastor is secured, the pulpit will be occupied by supplies.

"JACK-THE-RIPPER" SCARE IN WEST END

Fond mothers in the West End of the city, yesterday afternoon, were thrown into a state of turmoil by the report that went suddenly into circulation that "Jack the Ripper" was holding forth on a curb in Plainfield avenue. News of the coming of the much-sought character reached the ears of some two hundred school children and within a few minutes the juvenile adventurers had formed a circle around the character, hurling all sorts of taunts at him.

The target of interest was of Irish extraction and for a time took the "ripper" accusations in a humorous frame of mind. Older individuals joined the audience and one by one startled mothers began to reach into the crowd for their offsprings. Someone in the neighborhood telephoned to police headquarters and an officer was dispatched to the scene to take the man into custody and incidently to gain a "leg" on the big mother reward that goes with the solution of the enigma that has baffled the New York police department for three months.

Brought to police headquarters the prisoner proved to the satisfaction of Chief Kiely that he hailed from the vicinity of County Cork, Ireland, and that he was nothing more or less than a well-seasoned "knight-of-the-road."

When asked if he knew anything of the "ripper mystery" the man took an "aerial ascension" and added that another such demonstration as the one in the West End would lead him to join the ranks of the Metropolitan criminal who had designs on the lives of all young Americans.

TO REOPEN DIVORCE UPON WIFE'S PLEA OF TRICKERY

Jersey City, May 13.—Impressed by the plea of the former wife that the divorce obtained by the husband fourteen years ago was through trickery, Vice Chancellor Lewis has consented to reopen the divorce case won by Albert Redfern, of Martine avenue, Plainfield, from Mrs. Marie Helen Redfern, in 1901, and has fixed next Monday as the date for the hearing.

According to the affidavits filed by Mrs. Redfern, the couple were married in Brussels, Belgium, in 1889. In 1893 a separation occurred. Redfern desired a divorce and, accompanied by his wife, went to the office of a local attorney, where, it is alleged, he admitted improper relations with other women, giving dates and places. These were investigated, and it was found they were fictitious. Early in 1901, Mrs. Redfern asserts, she was lured to the Hotel Metropole, in New York, by a friend of her husband. Shortly after reaching there, she asserts, the door of the room in which they were was broken open by Redfern. On the basis of this episode the husband got a divorce. He has since remarried. Mrs. Redfern is now residing in New York.

Schoonmaker, of New York; Ralph Schoonmaker, of Plainfield; Thomas Russell, of Montclair, all nephews of the deceased, and Harry McGee, of North Plainfield.

The body of Mr. Schoonmaker arrived in Plainfield, Tuesday night, accompanied by his daughter, Mrs. Clifford McGee, of the borough, who had gone to Asheville on being informed of his serious illness. At the time of his death he was on a visit to a sister, Mrs. J. J. Brown. Mr. Schoonmaker was a native of Pittsburgh, and the son of Mr. and Mrs. James Schoonmaker, who were old residents of that city. Those surviving him are the following brothers, Col. J. M. Schoonmaker, of Pittsburgh; S. L. Schoonmaker, formerly of this city, but now of New York, F. W. Schoonmaker, of New York, and sisters, Mrs. W. P. Wood, of Pittsburgh; Mrs. J. J. DEMANDS SAFETY FOR AMERICANS

President Wilson's Note to the Kaiser is Transmitted by Cable Today.

MESSAGE IS OUTLINED

Expected it Will Be Delivered to German Foreign Office Tomorrow Morning by Ambassador Gerard—No Hint as to Probable Reply.

Washington, May 13.—President Wilson this morning completed his note to the Kaiser, demanding guarantees that attacks on merchantmen carrying non-combatants shall end and for reparation for violations of American rights in the war zone, and it was transmitted by cable between 11 o'clock and noon. It is expected to be delivered to the German Foreign Office tomorrow morning by Ambassador Gerard.

The following was given out at the German Embassy today: "The German Embassy stated today that no statement or information had been given out by the Embassy concerning what response would be made to the American note regarding to Lusitania incident." The chief points of President Wilson's note to the Kaiser are reported to be as follows:

"1. The United States government calls attention to the various incidents in the war zone proclaimed by Germany around the British Isles—the sinking of the British liner Falaba, with the loss of Leon C. Tresher, an American; attack by German airmen on the American steamer Cushing, torpedoing without warning of the American steamer Guiflight, flying the Stars and Stripes, and finally the torpedoing without warning of non-combatants, among them more than one hundred Americans.

"2. These acts are declared to be indefensible under international law. The United States points out that it never admitted Germany's right to do them, and warned the imperial government that it would be held to a 'strict accountability' for attacks on American vessels or lives. A strict accounting, therefore, is now asked from Germany.

"3. The usual financial reparation will be sought, although Germany is reminded in effect that no reparation can restore the lives of those sacrificed in the sinking of the Lusitania and other ships.

"4. Expressions of regret may comply with the legal precedents, but they are valueless, unless accompanied by a cessation of the practices endangering lives of non-combatants.

"5. The right of neutrals to travel to any point of the high sees on neutral or belligerent merchantmen is asserted.

"6. In the name of humanity and international law, the United States demands a guarantee that these rights shall be respected, and that there be no repetition of attacks on merchantmen carrying non-combatants.

"7. The giving of warnings to the American public without officially communicating them to the United States government is commented on in connection with the German embassy' printed advertisement before the sailing of the Lusitania, but irrespective of the failure to advise the American government of Germany's purpose, the point is made that notice of an intention to do an unlawful act neither justified nor legalized it.

"8. The suggestion is conveyed that the German government, of course, could not have intended to destroy innocent lives, and that consequently the German submarine commanders must have misunderstood their instructions. The American government indicates its hope that this will be found to be true, and a cessation of the unlawful practices thereby will result.

"9. In conclusion, Germany's attention is called to the earnestness of the government and people of the United States in this situation. It is made plain that the United States will leave nothing undone, either by diplomatic representation or other action, to obtain compliance by Germany with the requests that are made."

"BIG GUNS" SURPRISE ST. JOSEPH'S RECTOR

Father Hart the Unexpected Host of Burlington County Politicians.

Men prominent in Burlington county politics, including Democrats, Republicans and Progressives, paid an unheralded visit to their friend and former neighbor, Father Patrick Hart, of St. Joseph's church, yesterday. Included among the callers were many influential citizens of the county and State and they took Father Hart completely by surprise.

Following a luncheon in the rectory they were shown about the borough and city in automobiles, the following North Plainfielders acting as a reception committee: Former Mayor Newton B. Smalley, William L. Smalley, L. B. Woolston, Alexander Milne and Howard Woolston. In their automobiles the borough men took the Burlington county visitors on an extended trip, visiting many points of interest.

Surrogate Hoff is a personal friend of L. B. Woolston's, who formerly lived in Burlington county, and the two review many points of mutual interest.

Those in the visiting group were State Senator Blanchard White, Surrogate Hoff, Postmaster Read, Mr. Hughes, of Florence, and Mr. Dolan, of Mt. Holly.

GERMAN EMBASSY RECALLS WARNING

Washington, May 13.—The German embassy last night notified by letter and telegraph newspapers in all of the larger cities of the United States to discontinue publication of its advertisement warning Americans against trans-Atlantic travel on belligerent ships.

Officials of the German embassy not only considered that the advertisement already published had had the effect of giving sufficient warning, but deemed it inadvisable to continue the advertisement in view of the existing situation following the sinking of the Lusitania.

This advertisement, which appeared twice, was to have been published for the third time next Saturday. On its first appearance, the advertisement was printed in some papers on the same page with the approaching sailing of the Lusitania.

FREDERICK D. STOVER TO WED IDAHO GIRL

Will Take Miss Edith May Woods for His Bride on May 19.

Invitations have been issued by Mr. and Mrs. B. R. Woods, of Caldwell, Idaho, to the marriage of their daughter, Miss Edith May Woods and Frederick Danforth Stover, formerly of Plainfield, but now of New Meadow, Idaho. The ceremony will be performed Wednesday afternoon, May 19, at 4 o'clock, at the home of the bride-elect's parents at 822 Belmont street, Caldwell.

Elizabeth, May 13.—Charles P. Sebring was successful in his appeal from the County Board for the Equalization of Taxes to the State Tax Board for a reduction on realt. holdings at 748-762 West Seventh street, Plainfield. According to the State Board's rulings filed yesterday, with John R. Connolly, secretary of the county Board, Sebring's assessment was reduced from $17,800 to $14,000.

The county Board previously reduced it to $16,300, but this didn't satisfy the appellant. He sought a reduction to $12,975. Decision on the appeal of David T. Ship Goes Down While Protecting Movements of French Troops in Their Land Operations—Captain Shelford in Command.

London, May 13—The British battleship Goliath was torpedoed and sunk by Turkish destroyers in the Dardanelles last night, with the loss of more than 500 members of the crew. It was announced by the first Lord of the Admiralty, Winston Churchill, in the House of Commons today, she was attacked and sunk while protecting the movements of the French troops in their land operations. The despatches to the Admiralty from Vice-Admiral Michael De Robeek, commander of the British fleet in the Dardanelles sphere of operations said that the officers and 160 men of the Goliath crew had been saved.

The battleship normally carried a complement of 750 men. In the same operations the British submarine E-14 sank two Turkish gunboats and a large transport.

The Goliath, a sister ship of the Canopus, Ocean Glory, Albion and Vengeance, was a vessel of 12,950 tons commanded by Capt. Thomas L. Shelford. The length of the Goliath at water line was 400 feet and beam was 74 feet. She carried 12-inch guns to the number of four, twelve 6-inch guns, ten 12 pounders and a smaller armament in addition to four submerged torpedo tubes. Her speed was 18 knots. The Goliath was commissioned at Sheerness, April 22, 1909.

Following the protracted session of the Italian Ministry, the impression prevails in Rome today that a decision has been reached to enter the war. No steps will be taken until Parliament convenes on May 29.

Demonstrations in favor of war are occurring daily throughout Italy, the general spirit being bitterly hostile to Austria-Hungary and Germany.

It is reported in Rome that Pope Benedict has decided to invite the German, Austrian and Bavarian ambassadors accredited to the Vatican to withdraw because of the possibility of representing countries that would be hostile to Italy in case of war.

A significent move on the part of the Austrian government was the issuance of an order ordering all Austrian vessels in Italian waters to proceed immediately either to Trieste or Pola.

Reports are in circulation to the effect that there are differences of opinion between the Premier, Signor Salandra, and some of his ministers, especially Barone Sonnino, the foreign minister.

The Giornale d'Italia says, however, that the accord between the Ministers is perfect. Both Premier Salandra and Barone Sonnino in the Council of Ministers informed their colleagues concerning all the phases of the delicate and difficult negotiations and the obstacles that had to be overcome and received their full adhesion to all the resolutions which had been taken with a view to accomplishing the national program, according to this newspaper.

Troops were called out to disperse a great crowd of war enthusiasts who paraded the principal streets crying, "Down with Austria! Down with Giolitti!" and cheering for the Premier and Barone Sonnino. Most of the persons in the throng felt the greatest animosity toward Signar Giolitti, who is regarded as the leader of the peace party.

Final decision as to whether Italy shall declare war or remain neutral rests with King Victor Emmanuel, as the Italian constitution gives to the sovereign alone authority to "declare war, make peace and conclude treaties."

Apparently, however, a majority of the people believe the Cabinet must assume the responsibility one way or the other, with the certainty that its decision will be sustained almost unanimously by Parliament and the country.

Petrograd, May 13—As a result of the German defeat near Mitau and Rossieny, our strategic position in the direction of Shavli has become more clearly defined. The Germans in the direction of Mitau, Ponievego and Kovno being hard pressed, decided upon the desperate step of delivering a series of offensive blows. The Germans meanwhile, occupied the railway junction of Jeymy on Saturday. On that day our cavalry came in contact with the Bavarian cavalry and put it to disorderly flight." CHIEF-RAIN-IN-THE-FACE SPEAKS IN LOCAL SCHOOLS

Chief Rain-In-the-Face visited the borough schools yesterday. In the morning he spoke in the Whittier School and in the afternoon in the Lincoln. He gave a brief history of his life and in a most interesting way told of Indian life and custom in the days when his forefathers trod the plains. The chief is the master of seventeen Indian dialects and he talked for a few minutes in the gluttural lingo of the red man, amusing the youngsters greatly. The chief warned the scholars against using tobacco in any form, telling them that it stunted their growth, both mentally and physically.

BORO COUNCIL WILL MEET TO ADOPT ORDINANCE

An ordinance, prepared by the street committee, covering house sewerage connections, will be acted upon at Monday evening's adjourned meeting of the Mayor and Common Council. It is said that there is a clause contained in the ordinance making it necessary for those desiring to have their houses connected to pay $3. There are approximately 600 houses in the borough and this would mean an addition to the borough's treasury of $1,800.

The sewerage contractors, it is said, have been very lax in placing the streets along which sewer pipe has been laid, back in proper shape, and the borough officials have been showered with complaints from all sides. Yesterday one of the councilmen took an afternoon off and made a round of inspection. Finding conditions as alleged the superintendent of the contracting forces was told in very plain language that work in placing the streets along which pipe has been laid be put back in shape must be started at once. He was warned that if this was not attended to that all construction work would be stopped until this part of their contract had been lived up to.

REALTY CHANGES.

A tract of land on Washington avenue, in the vicinity of Walnut street, formerly owned by Lawrence W. O'Donnell, has been sold through the John Fedderman agency to A. H. and Frank Burdick. The tract includes two acres. The Burdicks purchased two acres adjoining this tract last year and they now own the entire tract on Washington avenue, between Third and Fourth streets, which have not been cut through as yet. It is the intention of the owners to develop the property at an early date.

Harry Dodwell, of Jackson avenue, who was stricken with bronchial pneumonia on April 9, is able to be out again.

MRS. M'CARTY TELLS OF CONDITIONS IN IRELAND

Marshal and Mrs. Patrick Tarpey are entertaining the marshal's sister, Mrs. Delia McCarty, of County Mayo, Ireland, who arrived in this country on Friday, April 30. Mrs. McCarty made the trip across in the White Star liner Majestic. No submarines were seen and the liner had an uneventful trip. Speaking of conditions in Ireland, Mrs. McCarty said that food is very high. As to the newspaper statements that her native countrymen have laid aside all feeling of resentment against England for the treatment she has tendered them in the past and are enlisting in large numbers under the "Union Jack," Mrs. McCarty said that such was not the case. She said that her countrymen as a whole would never fight willingly for England and that they are coming over to this country in large numbers to escape a feared conscription.

Two Glimpses of Ringling Bros.' Mammoth Culinary Department.

The Ringling Brothers' circus is a perfect city in itself, visiting a different locality almost every day for 200 consecutive days, traveling approximately 50,000 miles in a season, yet moving with more system and with less fuss and noise than any branch of the army.

When annexed to this city Wednesday, May 19, it will add to the local population a Babel-like throng of nearly 1,400 people. These will come from every part of the world, for the majority of the performers are foreigners and making their first tour of this country. The canvas city will stretch over 20 acres and, in addition to its people, will comprise 735 horses, 41 elephants, 10 zebras and more than a thousand wild animals.

The circus will come here on 89 double-length railroad cars. This season's main tent is the largest the Ringling Brothers have ever used. It has been built not only to accommodate the circus program but also arranged for the massive spectacle of Solomon and the Queen of Sheba. This newly added production requires a cast of 1,250 people, hundreds of dancing girls, a caravan of camels and tons of special scenery, costumes and electrical effects. This makes necessary the carrying of a stage of tremendous proportions.

One of the most interesting of the several circus departments is that in charge of the commissary. This official and his assistants do their marketing daily and in the city in which the snow is to exhibit. More than 4,000 meals are served every 24 hours, and at these the diners consume approximately 3,000 pounds of fresh meat, 300 dozen eggs, 800 pounds of bread, 150 pounds of butter, 200 pounds of coffee, 10 crates of vegetables and other items equally as large. For the stock and animal department there are used daily, 10 tons of hay, 300 pounds of straw, 300 bushels of oats, 1,500 pounds of beef, while no well behaved elephant would think of preparing for parade without his usual morning cereal—a bale of hay.

BAPTISTS OF STATE TO MEET AT HIGHTSTOWN

A new development of the work of young people societies in Baptist churches of the State is the "Baptist Young People's Assembly," to be held at Peddie Institute, Hightstown, June 28 to July 5. It is to be a training conference in leadership for young people's work, and many speakers and special workers are on the program. The time of the assembly is to be divided between inspirational and educational sessions and recreational hours. The trustees of Peddie Institute have given the use of the buildings, consisting of the main building, Coleman house, which will be the headquarters of the women delegates; the Trask house and the gymnasium. The lake at the rear of the main building will provide in part for recreation.

"The purpose of the assembly is to give each delegate a broad vision of Christian life and service; to educate and train ambitious young people for leadership and efficient service in the church, and to inspire each one to more consecrated Christian living." The mornings are to be given to devotional service, Bible study classes, church history, religious teacher training conferences on boys' and girls' work, Sunday school and young people's society methods. Afternoons will be for inspiration and social intercourse. A camp leaders' conference will also be held for those who have charge of Boy Scouts or Camp Fire Girls.

SOMERVILLE PLANS BIG CELEBRATION FOR JULY 5

Somerville, May 13.—Duke's Park will be the scene of a monster celebration July 5, in which all civic, social and fraternal organizations, and all school children between the ages of five and twelve years of both Somerville and Raritan will participate. This was planned at an enthusiastic meeting of citizens held at the Borough Council chamber here, Tuesday night.

Albert Reuskorf, president of the Anti-Tuberculosis Society, presided at the meeting, and William Quick, president of the Somerville Merchants' Association, received the delegations for the various organizations. James B. Duke each year throws open a portion of his 3,000-acre park for this annual celebration.

For the first time in its history, the celebration will be under the management of men instead of women. It is expected to be of greater magnitude than all previous events. In the morning hundreds of school children, under military escort, will march to the park and open the exercises with patriotic songs. "A Scene of Life on the Frontier" will be enacted by the local militia company, the Order of Red Men and other organizations. Patriotic pageants will also be given during the day. A cotton field scene will be a feature of the celebration.

This scene will be enacted by a large number of men and boys from the negro colony here with Professor Parker's Glee Club. The celebration will close with a grand opera production, in which the Italian St. Rocco Society, of Raritan, will participate. Brass bands and orchestras will supply the music for the event.

Y. W. C. A. NOTES

The second rehearsal of the pageant will be held at the association, Monday afternoon, at 3:30, and Tuesday evening, at 8 o'clock. Fifty-five members of the association reported for the first rehearsal last week, and it is expected this number will be increased Monday and Tuesday. Entrance into the affair is free to all members of the Y. W. C. A., and any wishing to join are urged to enter their names at once. The pageant and banquet will be held at the association on May 28, the former being under the direction of Miss Margaret McCutcheon.

AWAITS MELON CUTTING.

St. Louis, Mo., May 13—Although James Eads Howe, the "millionaire hobo," has not yet settled the problem as to how to distribute his wealth to uplife the wanderlusters of America, the National Brotherhood Welfare Association, which has its headquarters here, is flourishing. The "Hobo News," the official organ of the society, has been published for two months on credit. Indeed liberal credit is extended in view of the $125,000 which Howe will soon devote to the welfare of the wanderers. Howe is still in the East trying to make up his mind.

STATE WARDENSHIP FOR H. P. GREENWOOD

Local K. of C. Delegate Re-elected at New Jersey Convention Yesterday.

Philipsburg, May 13—Thirty thousand new members were added to the national roll of the Knights of Columbus, according to a report submitted here yesterday by State Secretary John F. O'Neill, at the nineteenth annual convention of the State councils of the Knights of Columbus. The increase of membership in New Jersey for the past year was 1,240. The councils of this State had a total membership of over 15,000 members on January 1 last.

Mr. O'Neill was named State deputy to succeed Mayor Cornelius A. McGlennon, of East Newark, who declined re-election. Other officers chosen yesterday were: State secretary, Joseph Manley, of Paterson; State treasurer, A. H. Marple, of Camden; State advocate, Frank Coan, of South Amboy; State warden, H. P. Greenwood, of Plainfield; State chaplain, Rev. William A. Keyes, of West New York.

At the business session 134 delegates entitled to a vote, and twenty-one district deputies entitled to a voice but no vote, were present. They represented sixty-two councils from 104 cities and towns. Secretary O'Neill's report showed there were two new councils instituted during the year, one at Millville and the other at Ridgewood.

The delegates, before assembling attended mass at the Church of St. Philip and James. The celebrant was Rev. Edward J. Egan, rector. The sermon was preached by Father Keyes, of West New York.

The delegates present from Watchung Council, No. 552, of Plainfield, were Grand Knight Robert McCormack, Past Grand Knight David B. Doyle and State Warden H. P. Greenwood.

K. OF C. NOTES

John Kyle, chairman of the committee in charge of the Second Night Club's dance to be given a week from Monday night in the Columbus Club auditorium, has called a meeting of his colleagues on the committee for tomorrow night. The session will convene sharply at 8 o'clock and at that time the pictures taken last Sunday will be on exhibition.

Arrangements are under way for a trip to Red Bank, Sunday. A large number of members have signified their intention of being present at the exemplification of the third degree in the Red Bank Council and the trip will be made in automobiles. Those who went to Phillipsburg last Sunday and a number of other members will be included in the party.

Those members who did not have their pictures taken at the club last Sunday morning have been requested to report at 9:30 next Sunday morning. It is important that this work should be completed at that time.

Daniel McCormack, "Doc" Doyle and Joe Sullivan accompanied the Watchung Council's delegates to the State convention at Phillipsburg, Tuesday night. They attended the opening night's reception and dance and returned home yesterday.

Grand Knight Robert McCormack, Past Grand Knight David B. Doyle and H. P. Greenwood, who represented the local council at the convention, will return home tomorrow. The sessions will be concluded tonight.

MAY 13TH IN HISTORY.

1520—Massacre of Mexican noblemen by Alvarado, in the absence of Cortez, at Mexico City. This act brought disaster to Cortez and his army.

1539—British crown took over church institutions, including 644 monasteries, 90 colleges, and 110 hospitals.

1783—Society of Cincinnati established; composed of officers who had served in the regular army during the Revolutionary War.

1809—Vienna, the capital of Austria, captured for the second time by Napoleon.

1846—Congress authorized President Polk to raise 50,000 men and $10,000,000 for the war with Mexico.

As was the case when the city budget was under discussion at a public meeting, the gathering last night to consider the school budget attracted not a person. This was accounted for by the fact that the newspapers demonstrated conclusively on Tuesday that the requests for school finances are extremely reasonable this year. Both the Councilmanic finance committee, and the Board of School Estimate realize that this year is one in which public bodies must do as every private individual is doing—economize. As a result the tax rate will probably show no increase at all over last year, and if there is any material increase in valuation, it is more than likely to go down. All this has been accomplished without the proposed survey, and shows that when the men who run the city's affairs get their heads together, they can keep the tax rate down, just as well as if experts were brought in to go over the city with a fine tooth comb seeking places in which to cut expenses. Plainfield, indeed, has very capable men at the head of her various branches of government. Whether the economies practised are for the best interests of the city or not remains to be seen. The condition of the city and the schools at the end of a year will furnish the answer.

If the amount of time and energy expended by the local Chamber of Commerce in collecting data on the subject of garbage and ashes disposal is unproductive of any new thought along this line there will be many who will be sadly disappointed. During the two years that have been consumed in investigating conditions the committee in charge has missed but few of the cities of Plainfield's size in this section of the country and recently the workers went so far as to secure expert opinion from Commissioner Fetherstone, of the New York city street department. However, it seems as though the investigation is being prolonged a little bit too long and there are persons who think that the great accumulation of data should be given to the public. The pessimists who have followed this proposition of civic betterment have little faith in the outcome of the lengthy research but there is always a possibility that some good will be wrought by diligent effort.

By agreeing to go back to work at the old scale of $4 a day, which is to remain in force until May 1, 1916, the local carpenters have paved the way for a raise in wages a year hence. If times become normal within the year, the bosses will realize that the raise must be given, and will make their estimates accordingly, thus assuring the men the extra money. The union, in accepting the present scale for another year, has recognized that the conditions now are abnormal, and it is gratifying to know that the matter has been adjusted with so little time lost. It is to be hoped that in return for their action, the carpenters will find steady work during the summer months, and right up to the time when cold weather and snow makes outdoor work impractical. With the new school, the postoffice and other building operations in progress, there should be enough doing to keep all our local workmen busy.

What is perhaps the forerunner of North Plainfield's "Great White Way" has been installed in the form of an electric light bulb of high voltage at Somerset street and Craig place. This is one of the seven big lights ordered recently by the Borough Council. Those who have seen the new light have been attracted by its brightness and the installation of the other six in the near future will mean a transformation of the Somerset street business section that will result in a boom for merchants along that thoroughfare, and at the same time prove acceptable to pedestrians and drivers.

If there is any serious objection to the granting of an airdrome license in Plainfield it has been kept mighty quiet up to the present time. Mayor Calkins, with an idea of feeling out public sentiment on the proposition, has advertised a public hearing on the issue to be held tonight. Whether or not the license will be granted will be decided at that time. If any taxpayer has a kick to lodge, tonight is the time to do it. Don't pass up the opportunity to express your opinion and be one of those who do the after-crying in cases of this kind.

If the United States does become involved in the war abroad, it is terrible to think what will happen to those poor people in Belgium who are dependent upon us for food. One thing is sure, and that is that the Belgian Relief Commission will continue its work until it is stopped by the German government, and contributions will be gladly welcomed for this worthy cause.

Tomorrow is the last day of grace for those individuals who still cling to their derbies and soft hats. It's time to get that "repeater straw" out and have it touched up for the summer months.

It is gratifying to see that the American people, without exception, are prepared to uphold the President, no matter what action he takes to bring Germany to her senses.

Who says they don't come back? Hasn't P. J. Reville been made supervisor of the census for Plainfield.

PLAINFIELD THEATRE

Victorien Sardou's celebrated play, "Diplomacy," to be presented at the Plainfield Theatre tonight, by the late Charles Frohman, with a remarkable tri-star cast made up of William Gillette, Blanche Bates and Marie Doro, enjoyed the longest run of any revival made in London last season. Its accord was the most brilliant of the year, and during its English engagement it was chosen by the King and Queen for a "command" performance at Windsor, in which Miss Doro played the same role, "Dora," the heroine, in which she is now appearing. Will Gillette will be "Henri Beauclerc" and Miss Bates the "Comtessa Zicka."

PERSONAL.

Fred Smith, of Netherwood avenue, who has been seriously ill, has improved to such an extent that he is now able to take short walks.

E. F. Jeffcott, of East Seventh street, who was injured a few days ago, when he was thrown from a horse he was riding, is improving at Muhlenberg Hospital and hopes to go home soon.

Mr. and Mrs. William Smith, of Trenton, who have been visiting friends here, have returned home.

Mr. and Mrs. P. Frank Stone, of West Front street, are entertaining their niece from Orange.

REV. E. S. RALSTON TO BE THE ORATOR

Will Make Memorial Day Address to Veterans at Reform Hall.

Rev. Edward S. Ralston, pastor of the Netherwood Reformed church, will be the orator of the day at the public Memorial Day exercises to be held in Reform Hall, under the auspices of Winfield Scott Post, No. 73, G. A. R. Memorial Day this year falling on Sunday, the observance will be held on Monday.

There will be the usual parade in the morning, during which the North Plainfield and Plainfield avenue cemeteries will be visited and graves will be decorated with flowers. The soldiers' graves in Hillside cemetery, Scotch Plains, Westfield and other nearby cemeteries will be decorated by details. Co. K, of the Second Regiment, the uniformed rank of the Jr. O. U. A. M., and the Boy Scout Troops will join the veterans in the parade, which will start promptly at 10 o'clock in the morning. Captain William Hand will be marshal of the day and the Dutch Arms Band will furnish the music.

The public exercises will be held at Reform Hall in the afternoon, when in addition to the address there will be patriotic songs by a children's chorus, services for the "unknown dead," the reading of Lincoln's Gettysburg address and other interesting exercises. Mrs. John R. Manley is now training the children's chorus.

TWO DAMAGE CLAIMS LODGED AGAINST SOMERSET COUNTY

Somerville, May 13.—Because a number of boys tore a plank from the footpath of a bridge in Gladstone to use for firewood, Mr. and Mrs. Hagar Beatty Mayberry have served notice on the Somerset County Board of Freeholders of a $4,500 damage suit.

It is alleged that Mrs. Mayberry in crossing the bridge at night stepped into a gap and sustained a permanent injury to her leg.

John W. Hoffman, of Bernardsville, presented a claim of $80 to the Board for damage to his automobile. Hoffman's claim arises from an accident March 5, when Miss Elizabeth Hyde, a teacher of Bernardsville, was injured. Hoffman alleges that the accident was caused by a hole in the county road. Miss Hyde, who was taken from the Somerset Hospital here to a hospital in New York, will also present a claim for damages, it is reported.

SHOOL PRINCIPALS HOLD "ROUND TABLE" CONFERENCE

Lindsey Best and E. W. Kleinhaus, of this city, were among the principals visiting the departments and classes of the Battin High School, Elizabeth, Tuesday. Principals from many sections of New Jersey arrived this morning and immediately commenced their inspections of not only the workings of the school, but of the building itself. An address was delivered at the afternoon session by Assistant State Commissioner of Education A. B. Meredith, who is in charge of secondary education. Dr. Meredith spoke at a round table conference in the Board of Education rooms, following a dismissal of the pupils for the day.

Luncheon was served the visitors by the girls of the domestic department on the third floor. The class was highly commended by the guests. The round table sessions are held at intervals during the school year in various cities. The session in Elizabeth was viewed as especially important in view of the new building and the interest taken in its many features by school authorities everywhere.

TO MAKE AMMUNITION FOR ALLIES AT METUCHEN PLANT

Metuchen, May 13.—The T. A. Gillespie Company, with offices on Fifty-sixth street, New York city, will start work on Monday toward the erection of a large powder mill near the Charles E. Edgar property in Fairville township. Engineers are surveying the land for plans for the buildings.

The company has contracts, it is said, for furnishing ammunition for the allied nations at war.

The Gillespie plant is on the opposite side of the Raritan River to the Lewis E. Nixon gun cotton plant, now under construction at Metuchen. The E. I. Du Pont-De Nemours smokeless powder plant is also in close proximity to the Nixon and Gillespie plants.

It is said that 4,000 men will be employed in the three plants, which are booming Metuchen, Fairville, Bonhamton and Carlin.

CAST OF CHARACTERS FOR "FATHER AND THE BOYS"

A distinguished audience will be present at the production of the George Ade comedy, "Father and the Boys," which is to be presented by the Thespian Society, Friday evening, May 21. A dance is to follow the play and many parties are expecting to take advantage of VanEps' popular music and enjoy several hours of dancing. Ritz is to do the catering. The Thespian Society is composed of thirty well-known young men and women of Plainfield who are desirous of furthering the great Public Recreation movement.

They have been working for many weeks upon the interpretations of the splendid character studies of George Ade's well-known play and are prepared to present the story of "Father and the Boys" with all the delicate humor and screamingly funny situations which combine to point out a great truth in the characteristic manner of George Ade in his famous "Fables." There are four acts in the play. Special scenery is being built for the race track scene.

MOTION PICTURE COMPANY SEEKS $50,000 DAMAGES

The Colonial Motion Picture Corporation began action for $50,000 damages from George Randolph Chester, writer, formerly of this city, in the Supreme Court of New York, yesterday, alleging that Mr. Chester had broken a contract with it for the production of "The Wallingford stories" with "Blackie Daw" and the "Adventures of Wallingford."

Mr. Chester agreed May 1, 1914, it is alleged, to permit the corporation to produce the films exclusively for five years on payment of $1,000 for each of the films in advance and ten per cent. on the gross receipts. The corporation asserts that Mr. Chester later made an agreement with Messrs Cohan & Harris to produce "Get Rich Quick Wallingford," and revoked his agreement with it.

FEW CHANGES IN LOCAL CHOIRS ARE REPORTED

There are very few changes in the choirs of local churches for the coming year. At the First Baptist church the choir will remain the same, except that Mrs. James Gilbert, soprano, has resigned to become soloist at the First Presbyterian church, succeeding Miss Ruth Sadler, who goes to the Westfield M. E. church.

Miss Laura E. Gustafson, of Brooklyn, soprano, succeeds Mrs. Gabrielle Drosse-Borden at the First M. E. church.

At the Crescent Avenue church there are no changes, and E. M. Davis, organist, will continue another year. There will be no changes at Grace P. E. church, and the chorus choir at the Park Avenue Baptist church will continue as at present.

THE TEMPERATURE.

The temperature report from The State Trust Company today is as follows: 9 a. m., 65 degrees; 11 a. m., 71 degrees; 1 p. m., 77 degrees.

THAMUATURGIST TO EXTEND HER STAY

Sensation Created by Mrs. Fay Leads to Re-engagement at Proctor's.

Owing to the widespread comment and interest in the appearance of Mrs. Eva Fay at Proctor's Theatre during the preceding three days, Manager Sanderson has re-engaged her for the remainder of the week, commencing today. Her wonderful demonstration of thought reading and almost uncanny delving into the future have proved a positive sensation throughout the city and suburbs and many persons unable to attend the performances during the original engagement made the request that she be retained.

Beside answering question put to her at the theatre, Mrs. Fay has replied to hundreds of letters that have poured in upon her since coming to Plainfield. Many of them have been of a private nature, but she has aided the interrogators in scores of cases. This matter takes up a lot of Mrs. Fay's spare time, but she very willingly does it, believing that she is fully repaid when some one derives benefit by an answer.

The work of Mrs. Fay at the theatre continues to be the uppermost topic with all who have heard her. At every performance she responds to questions without any communication with the persons, neither is there the possibility of a confederate seeing the questions as they are written. The seeress sits upon the stage, her eyes covered by a blind, the footlights and the orchestra, and from ten to one hundred feet of space between the questioners and her. It is in reality a near miracle, and in evidence of the sensations she is creating, Proctor's is filled almost to capacity every afternoon and evening.

U. S. ASTOR THEATRE

Israel Zangwill's powerful novel "Children of the Ghetto," in photoplay, will be seen for the last time at the U. S. Astor Theatre tonight, with Wilton Lackaye, one of America's foremost dramatic actors, who is now a member of the cast presenting a revival of the famous drama, "Trilby," in New York. Mr. Lackaye has long been a favorite of Plainfield theatregoers and it was indeed pleasant last night to see that he accomplishes the playing of the difficult leading role in the Zangwill play with all his old time nerve and spirit. There are so many fine qualities about "Children of the Ghetto" that it deserves high praise. Within the whole body of the work is visible the common ideal toward which all high-class producers are progressing, an ideal that really emerges from the united efforts of many minds. The play is a relief in one respect. It is a reaction against theatricalism and more than that—it is a motion picture drama pure and simple, untrammelled by stage traditions and practices. What the story concerns may best be learned from a view of the picture. It is one of the best acted and most interesting films seen in Plainfield this season.

Robert Edeson, of "Strongheart" fame, will be seen at the Astor Theatre tomorrow afternoon and evening, in "The Absentee," another Mutual Master picture. It is a five-reel play with a prologue, in which success, power, ambition and failure are symbolized. The later episodes carry out the symbolic idea, but are modern in treatment, revealing situations in the labor, political and military world. Mr. Edeson presents an excellent character study in the leading role. Like Mr. Lackaye, Mr. Edeson has many admirers in Plainfield who will enjoy his efforts in "The Absentee."

Manager Frank G. Hall will present an array of banner attractions Saturday. The dramatic feature will be "Strathmore," a Mutual Master picture. Sidney Chaplin, brother of the far-famed Charley, will furnish the comic relief, and "The Goddess," the new Vitagraph serial, with Anita Stewart and Earl Williams, will be shown for the first time as an added feature. Ever alert to book the best features obtainable, Mr. Hall has secured exclusive rights to show the big releases of the new V. L. S. E. combination first in Plainfield. "The Goddess" is unlike any serial ever shown. Its producers predict it will revolutionize the making of serial pictures. Thrills and comedy are intermingled through the two reels which will compose the first installment to be shown Saturday. The story of "The Goddess," written by Gouverneur Morris, America's foremost writer of short stories, is running serially in The New York Journal. But to appreciate the story one had better see the picture.

PROCTOR'S THEATRE

In addition to Mrs. Eva Fay and four diversified acts, Proctor's Theatre will offer a series of feature pictures during the last half of this week, commencing today. For this afternoon and tonight the offering will be the five-part production, "Ready Money," featuring Edward Abeles, now considered one of America's foremost movie actors. The succeeding episode of "The Exploits of Elaine" is scheduled for tomorrow, and Saturday will mark the beginning of another excellent serial.

The title of the new continued film is "The Goddess," an absorbing narrative with a theme much different than that of all its predecessors. The principal parts have been posed by Miss Anita Stewart and Earl Williams, both of whom are well-known to Proctor patrons. From the very first presentation, there is animation and action in "The Goddess," and it will undoubtedly prove a big drawing card.

"The Diamond from the Sky," Royal McCardie's $10,000 prize serial, has now been shown at Proctor's two weeks and is the talk of the city. The third episode will be displayed next Tuesday, this day being set aside for each succeeding portion. Extra attractions in the moving picture line are to be seen at Proctor's every day, among the Charles Chaplin's latest comedies and the Mutual Weeklies, the latter depicting the latest events throughout the world.

MOOSE CARNIVAL COMING HERE NEXT WEEK

The business men of many of the larger cities throughout the Middle West have for years held their yearly week's celebrations which they, after several seasons of experience, found the best way to advertise and boom their towns as trading points. Year after year the carnivals have been held; year after year the attendance has increased. Why? Because the men in charge have worked carefully; they have gone over the field and selected only the best attractions and only those of standing to amuse and entertain their visitors. This year Plainfield Lodge, No. 310, Loyal Order of Moose, will hold a big carnival on West Front street and Grant avenue. The committee appointed to investigate and secure a company for the week have looked the entire field over and have decided upon and secured the Levitt-Meyerhoff Shows, united. This organization is the peer of all outdoor amusement companies, the largest, most costly and elaborate combination in America. The general manager, Victor D. Levitt, has had years of experience and was the originator of the street fairs in this country years back. He had long experience in England before he fought the battle on this side of the water. He has the endorsements of the leading Boards of Trade, Business Men's Associations, fair presidents and secretaries all over the country as a man who always lives up to his agreement and one who in every instance gives the people more than the other fellow does. Mr. Levitt has for this year's tour put together the largest, grandest and most elaborate company that was ever inaugurated. In magnificence it surpasses, in beauty it outshines, in straight, clean business principles in dealing with the public it predominates, and it stands out, like the Washington monument, above all others. The company is carrying fourteen shows and attractions with several big astounding outside attractions. It requires sixty-four big, specially constructed wagons and thirty sixty foot cars to transport the almighty and superb organization.

When the band plays the opening chorus Monday night at West Front street and Grant avenue, the people of the community will witness the opening of the grandest week's entertainment in the history of the city. Strange people, new and odd costumes from foreign lands, beautiful sights and enchanting scenery, gorgeous electrical displays, glitering prismatic displays and scores of new and novel high-class amusement shows and devices to surprise and amuse the public will be the order of the six big days of celebration.

After the exercises a reception will be held at the residence of Dr. Thomas S. Baker, head master of the school.

IN THE SPORTING SPOTLIGHT

JESS WILLARD HAD BETTER GRAB A NICKEL WHILE HE MAY

Since Jim Coffey's recent rough treatment of Al Reich, a highly touted heavyweight fighter of New York, the opinion has prevailed that Jess Willard would do well to get what he can out of his title while he may. There are those who are now hinting that he may not hold it forever.

Coffey, popularly known as the Dublin Giant, displayed remarkable pep and ginger in his fight with Reich. He had shown before that he had lots of stuff. He has convinced many that he would give anyone in his class a hard battle. As many more are now saying that Jess Willard has every reason to feel uneasy.

It is easy to see that interesting things are to take piece in the heavyweight class as time goes on. Fans generally are pleased with the thought that white hopes have left us forever. There is no further need of them now.

The title-holders in every division, from the bantams up, have all declared that they wish to have no dealings with colored persons. It will be a long time before a coon has a chance at the belt. This shows rare judgment, especially on the part of the heavyweight fighters, who could, if they wished, make some interesting matches with such as Sam Langford and Joe Jeannette. And in avoiding them the whites are showing greater discretion than valor.

"LIZZIE" COPPERS PRACTICE; 'SMATTER WITH PLAINFIELD?

Manager Sebastian Schuler, of the Elizabeth police team, called for initial practice of the season yesterday, at the T. A. B. S. field. As the Elizabethans will be represented in the Police Baseball League, it is anticipated that a fast aggregation of tossers will represent them. Several new faces were seen yesterday.

Frank "Hank" Brenan will be on the job to do the slabbing, while Joe Killimet will catch. Mike Kennedy will be seen at the initial sack; Barney Lavin, second base; Gar Searles, shortstop; Adam Neubeck, third base, and James Rooney, Pete Buckley and John Cochran in the outfield.

There is a movement on foot to make up the league in divisions.

ABOLISH HORSE RACING?

London, May 13—A movement looking to the abolition of all horse racing until the end of the war has been started privately in the House of Commerce. As legislation to bring about a cessation of the sport might be attended with considerable difficulties, the Parliamentary leaders have suggested the preparation of a memorial to the Jockey Club asking that body to prohibit all race meetings. The memorial was signed by a large number of the members of the House of Commons of all political affiliations last night.

RECORDS BROKEN BY DANIELS OF P. H. S.

Montclair High School Once More Downed by the Plainfielders.

The Plainfield High School track team took a trip to Montclair yesterday afternoon to compete with the Montclair High School athletes in a dual athletic meet. The local boys won the affair by a score of 47-43. Runyon and Daniels were the main point-getters for the Plainfield team, getting together thirty-six of the forty-seven tallies. The events had to be run off in the pouring rain, and this was probably the cause of the slow times and short jumping records.

The feature of the meet was the record-breaking runs of Daniels. He ran the 880-yards run in 1 minute 13 3-5 seconds, breaking former High School records. He also broke another record, covering the 440-yards run in 57 3-5 seconds.

This is the second meet with Montclair High School, the local team winning both. A new event was added, it being the 220-yards low hurdles, which Peyton Schenk won in good time.

The results are as follows:

100-yards dash (junior)—Connell, M. H. S., first; Ames, M. H. S., second; Jeter, P. H. S., third; time, 11 seconds.

100-yards dash (senior)—Taylor, M. H. S., first; Austein, M. H. S., second; Forstall, M. H. S., third; time 10 4-5 seconds.

220-yards (senior)—Forstall, M. H. S., first; Taylor, M. H. S., second; C. Forstall, M. H. S., third; time, 25 seconds.

440-yards run—Daniels, P. H. S., first; Campbell, M. H. S., second; Stevens, M. H. S., third; time, 57 3-5 seconds (record).

880-yards run—Daniels, P. H. S., first; Ferguet, M. H. S., second; Ames, M. H. S., third; time, 1 minute 13 3-5 seconds (record).

Pole vault—Runyon, P. H. S., and Franke, P. H. S., tied for first; Crawley, M. H. S., and Tawes, M. H. S., tied for third; height, 8 feet 6 inches.

Broad jump—Runyon, P. H. S., first; Daniels, P. H. S., second; Taylor, M. H. S., third; jump, 19 feet 4 inches.

Twelve-pound shot put—Runyon, P. H. S., first; Shultz, M. H. S., second; Tickenson, M. H. S., third; distance, 36 feet.

Points—Montclair, 43; Plainfield, 47.

Plainfield's entries were: Runyon, Daniels, Schenk, Jeter, O'Donnell, Miller, Franke.

"JUP" PLUVIUS WAS KIND TO BORO TENNIS TEAM

Although the North Plainfield-West Orange High tennis match was not completed yesterday afternoon on the Park Club courts, the visitors acknowledged defeat, and gave the boroughites credit for the match. Two singles matches were completed, the home players taking both.

"Tom" Ball had the struggle of his life with Baldwin, and the match went three sets. The scores were 6-4, 0-6 and 6-3. Sherman Chandler was forced into two deuce sets before he eliminated his opponent, W. Bishop, the scores being 9-7 and 7-5. In the third singles match, Duninng, of North Plainfield, had a 6-2 set on his opponent, H. Bishop, and was well on the way in the second set when the rain came. Manager Elmer French is trying to arrange a match with South Side High School, of Newark, for Saturday morning, in the borough.

N. P. H. S. PITCHERS WILL HAVE TO WATCH PEACOCK IN FIRST SCHOOL LEAGUE GAME

"Bill" Peacock, Plainfield High School's veteran athletic, is leading the batting average of the baseball team and stands fourth in fielding averages. For the last few games, "Weary" has been wielding the big stick to good advantage, getting a bunch of hits and sending many tallies in ahead of him. He has scored thirteen runs so far this season and will no doubt be one of those to solve Stahl's delivery in the N. P. H. S. game Saturday.

His work behind the bat has been of high calibre all season, and he has accepted ninety-four chances with but seven errors.

Benny Rosenson, who formerly led the swatsmith's list, took a big drop in the last few games, but his slump may only be a short one.

One of the players on the team who has proven himself a regular ballplayer is Mills, a freshman. He is batting in third place and has scored nine runs to date. His sensational catches in the centre garden have caused considerable favorable comment among the followers of the team. The whole outfield is one of the best that P. H. S. has had in years.

With this team, strong in both batting and fielding, Coach Patch says that only a decided slump will cause a defeat at the hands of North Plainfield on Hyde Oval. This slump, however, is not likely to occur, for the players have been practicing faithfully this week.

The batting averages follow:

JINX STILL TRAILING BORO AND BERNARDSVILLE TEAMS

The baseball game that was to be played yesterday between North Plainfield High School and the team from Bernardsville, was called off at the beginning of the second inning because of rain, and with the score already standing 2-1 against the boroughites. The teams waited some time, but Captain Smalley thought the chances of it clearing up were small, so the visitors were sent home unsatisfied. The rivalry between North Plainfield and Bernardsville seems hard to satisfy, as the two games scheduled between them have both failed to materialize.

This cancellation leaves the borough team a full week without a workout before the big game on Saturday, and if the grounds permit, Coach Mullin will "knock" together one of his semi-pro all-star teams for a game this afternoon.

HOPE PRACTICE.

The Hope Chapel baseball team will practice tomorrow afternoon at 5 o'clock on the Clinton avenue field. All members are requested to report promptly. The Chapelites will go to Bound Brook, Saturday afternoon, by auto bus and meet the Y. M. A. team, of that place. The team will leave the chapel at 2 o'clock.

Mrs. Spencer Fullerton Weaver and Charles M. Bull, Jr., won the mixed doubles championship of the West Side Tennis Club, at Forest Hills, L. I., yesterday, by defeating Mr. and Mrs. Robert LeRoy in straight sets in the final round at 6-2, 6-1. Bull did some excellent work at the net and scored many a point for his team by brilliant cross-court strokes.

COMPARING RIVALS IN THE BIG SERIES

Plainfield and North Plainfield School Players Ball History to Be Given.

Introducing city and borough school baseball players who will fight for scholastic honors this season.

Augustus VanDeventer, N. P. H. S., '15.

Augustus "June" VanDeventer did not learn to play ball with the borough athletes, but after getting fully acquainted with the national pastime with the Leal School team, choose to give North Plainfield his services and entered the senior class. Before going to the private institution VanDeventer attended the borough school. Last year he played third base for Leal and was one of the best players on the team. He led the team in batting with a mark of 319. On the "Canadian" nine he is playing in the center garden and is the fastest runner on the team.

He is batting up with the top notchers and is especially good on fly balls. VanDeventer weighs 145 pounds and is 17 years old. He is right handed. After graduation he may enter a college to further his education.

Philip Mills, P. H. S., '18.

Philip Mills is only in the freshman class of the city school and has earned a regular berth in center field on the team that will tackle North Plainfield Saturday afternoon. Freshmen seldom get a place on the varsity but Mills has made good in every game played so far and has a creditable fielding record. He is batting about .270 and follows the "clean-up" man to the bat.

Mills never played any real ball before the season this being his first with an organized team. He is only 16 years old and weighs 125 pounds, being the lightest member of the squad. He has three more years to look forward to.

MEMORIAL SERVICE FOR AMERICAN DEAD

London, May 13.—A committee of prominent Americans called on Walter Hines Page, the American ambassador, and discussed with him the suggestion for a memorial service for the American victims of the Lusitania disaster. The proposed service is the outgrowth of the Herald's "In Memoriam" edition, which attracted the greatest attention in London.

No definite arrangements have been made for the service, but it probably will be held in St. Paul's. Mr. Page has signified his approval of the idea, with the understanding that there shall be no speeches, and he will co-operate to the fullest extent in the work of preparation for the event.

THE WOMAN'S COLUMN

Pittsburgh.—A big event in the women's college world this week is the inauguration of a new president of Pennsylvania College for Women, which takes place tomorrow and Saturday. Dr. John C. Acheson, recently head of the Kentucky College for Women, will be inducted into office tomorrow, in the presence of notable women and men educators. Among the speakers will be Miss Mary Bidwell Breed, dean of Margaret Morrison Carnegie School for Women, and Miss Mary Augusta Jordan, head of the department of English at Smith College. Others who will be here include Dean Mary A. Sawyer, of Western College for Women, and President Anna J. McKeag, of Wilson College.

New York.—That the present system of organizing women workers, which was copied from the men's unions, is not adequate to protect the working girl and is not based on the right working basis to gain the co-operation of capital with labor, is the claim of Miss Anne Morgan. Miss Morgan, who has done notable work for women in this section of the country, and who has often proven her genuine love for working women, says: "I am in favor of organization. But the present working out of trade unionism is bad for all concerned. Every question is reduced to one of offensive and defensive. Instead of warfare, there should be co-operation. Women today have the opportunity to bring a new interpretation into the relations of labor and capital. Salary and hours are not the true consideration. It is the standardizing of work. What we want is achievement. It is through those at the top that we can help those at the bottom."

London.—A meeting of society women is taking place here today, to organize a campaign against the employment of German chefs and waiters. Lady Glanusk is at the head of the movement, and she has secured as speakers Lord Charles Beresford and others. It will be the aim of the Anti-German League, organized today, to maintain a training school for English help, and to restrict the possibilities of the German spy system in English homes and restaurants. Assisting Lady Glanusk are the Countess of Leicester, Lady Wenlock, Lady Mansfield Clarke, Lady Owen Phillips, and other noted women.

St. Louis.—Mrs. Kitty Solomon, one of the few lady members of the organization of American hoboes known as the National Brotherhood Welfare Association, is planning to take a canoe trip from St. Paul to New Orleans on the Mississippi River, and to write a book on her experiences. The trip down the river would not call for much work, and she feels she would be well received along the river during her trip.

New York.—Audrey Munson, a model for artists, sculptors and illustrators, who has become known as the "Exposition Girl" because she posed for many figures for the San Francisco Exposition, has filed suit here against Keith's theatres, claiming they wrongfully used her name and poses in advertising her as an attraction. She claims she never intended to appear at the theatres, although they billed her. In explaining her case, she alluded to "the exceptional character of her form and features" and the promise of the artists for whom she has posed.

Poughkeepsie, N. Y.—Vassar College is sending out this week its bids to representatives of American colleges to the fiftieth anniversary celebration, which will take place here in October. Foreign universities, famous societies and women's organizations will also be invited to send representatives.

Philadelphia—Billiards as a sport for women is fast coming to the front here, particularly since Miss Clara C. Haywood defeated last week Harry Cline, the former champion of the world. Mrs. Richard Harding Davis was an adept with the cue, and Ethel Barrymore once achieved success as a billiardist. The performance of Miss Haywood has eclipsed anything yet done by society girls in billiards, and others are training to take her laurels.

STUDENT PRANKS AND OUTINGS AT Allegheny College

(1) Co-eds off for a picnic. (2) South Sea Islanders in "Move Up Day" parade. (3) A class outing. (4) Cannibals and Missionary. (5) A chain gang on 'Move Up Day." (6) The College Dramatic Club.

Meadville, Pa., May 12—One of the big features of the centennial celebration of the founding of Allegheny College, to be celebrated here next month, will be the re-union of former students and their participation in "Moving Up Day," the annual carnival of student pranks which has for many years made commencement week at Allegheny College a notable occasion for the young men and young women of the school. It is expected that this year "Moving Up Day" pranks will be unusually brilliant, extravagant and comical, as hundreds of former students will be here to celebrate the centennial and will add their talents to those of the undergraduates in devising new and startling stunts to amaze the populace.

"Moving Up Day" occurs the day before the final examinations in June. In stately fashion the seniors are dismissed from their seats in chapel by the president. This is followed by speeches setting forth the virtues of the other classes and declaring reasons for their promotion. When these formalities are finished there is a spectacular parade which reaches the downtown district of Meadville at noontime. Classes and fraternities and groups vie with each other in bringing out the astonishing. Everything is represented from Pennsylvania to Hong Kong to Timbuctoo to the Fiji Islands. Convicts and cannibals go arm in arm with courtiers and clowns. Nothing is too astonishing or too extravagant for the ebullient undergrad. The day ends with a college circus or a minstrel show.

There are other things during the year, like the outings of the fraternities and the classes and the various college clubs. One of the most novel features for the present year was a Hamburger sandwich lunch stand up by the chemistry fraternity in the sanitary laboratory. There were a lot of things besides Hamburger, but Hamburger had the right of way.

THE MASTER MIND

Novelized by Marvin Dana, author of "Within the Law," from the successful play by Daniel D. Carter

Copyright, 1913, by the H. K. Fly company.

"I'm the man, yes," Andrew corrected.

Creegan went close and spoke in a whisper, his face lighted now with a glow of avarice.

"Listen!" he said rapidly. "The boss said this was a pipe, that there'd be ten thousand in the haul for me, and even if I was pinched they wouldn't do anything to me. That gets my nanny. Say, is it on the level?"

"It is."

"Just the same," Creegan insisted violently, "you got to show me. I tell you I ain't a bit stuck on it. Yep, you got to show me. If it's such a pipe why did you send all the way to Chicago for me when New York's full of smooth propositions just askin' for the chance?"

Andrew made no answer in words, but went to his bureau, from which he took out a japanned tin box, which he unlocked with a key from his ring. He brought forth a photograph, which he passed to the curious Creegan.

A single glance sufficed the man. He stared at Andrew in stark amazement.

"Well, I'll be ——!" he gasped. "Maggie—Maggie Flint!" He regarded the photograph again, astounded. "Say," he demanded curtly, looking up again, "how did that come here?"

Andrew put forth his hand, possessed himself of the photograph and restored it to the box, which he carefully locked and replaced in the drawer before answering; then at last he turned to the impatiently waiting Creegan, whose thick lips were twitching from nervous excitement.

"Now suppose," he said evenly, "for example, that you planned to steal some valuable jewels you have heard spoken of?"

Creegan's eyes grew furtive.

"Like the Wainwright sparklers, hey?"

"And let us suppose further," Andrew continued imperturbably, "that you were apprehended in the act."

The supposition appeared to disconcert Creegan, if one might judge by the thick furrows in his forehead and the savage tightening of his lips.

"Say, you," he grunted. "Just you parade the kind of talk I know. Get that?"

"Suppose you get pinched, collared," Andrew amended tranquilly. "And, furthermore, let us suppose that the owner of the jewels was of an old and honorable family and at this particular time a nominee for high office. Now, do you think he would risk scandal by prosecuting you if it so chanced that you recognized in his wife some one you had known in very different circumstances, some one named, let us say, Maggie Flint?"

A silence fell, in which Andrew stood immobile, impassive, regarding his new tool with a calm yet piercing scrutiny, and Creegan rested agape, his widened eyes fast on the other, striving dumbly to digest the bewildering fact that the girl with whom he had wandered fondly in the streets of Chicago years before was become in very truth the mistress of this mansion. At last he shook his head incredulously.

"No," he muttered, "it can't be Maggie—the wife of that swell guy, Wainwright!"

"But it is!" Andrew retorted sharply, and the words carried conviction.

"Gee! Maggie!" he mumbled confusedly. "Well, I'm a son of a gun!"

"I am to understand, then," the Master Mind suggested suavely, "that you know the lady?"

Creegan's dull face lightened instantly. Something of the bestiality bred out of evil years fell from him.

"Do I? Why, I knew her from 'way back. Guess she come from pretty good stock, though her old man was down and out when I knew 'em. She had darn poor pickin's, Maggie had. Any other skirt with her looks would have gone to the bad licketty split; but not her! Worked in factories and then got a job after her father died as nurse girl. Kept straighter'n a string all the time. I got foolish over that kid myself. I'd just about made up my mind to marry her when she was caught with the goods and sent to stir. Never could see why she did it. It wa'n't like her to steal. I tried to find her when she come out, but there wa'n't nothin' doin'. And I was dippy over her. Gee!" he concluded sheepishly. "Can you see me bein' dippy over a skirt?"

Andrew then said:

"And, if you should be caught, for a further defense you might perhaps say that robbery was not your intent, but that instead you were here for a meeting with the lady—at her request."

Once again Creegan gaped sheer amazement. Then, swiftly, the light of understanding twinkled in his little eyes.

"I'm wise, 'bo—I'm wise!" he chuckled, with a villainous smirk. "Now, where do they keep the sparklers?"

Forthwith Andrew entered into a detailed explanation concerning the plan of the house, with particular reference to the library, in an alcove of which the safe was set.

"And now," he concluded, "as to the time tonight when you should start operations. I have only to make a suggestion. This room of mine, as you perceive, is situated in the cupola of the house, with windows on each side. In its way it's a sort of beacon at night. The lodgekeeper says that when I put out my light he is sure that every one else in the house is sleeping."

"I got ye, Steve—I got ye!" Creegan declared. Then, in another moment, he spoke with a half shamed eagerness: "Say, she didn't send for me, did she?"

"That is a leading question," was the answer, with a noncommittal smile.

"That's a leading question."

"I shall put out my light tonight probably about 2 o'clock."

"Yes, yes!" Creegan agreed, hastily. "I got all that. But about her, now! Do you think there's a chance of her skippin' out with me? What?"

"A true lover should never be discouraged," came the cryptic reply. As he spoke, Andrew opened the door, and motioned that his visitor should leave the room. "Till 2 o'clock," he said.

CHAPTER X.

"Family Affairs."

As Creegan, the thief, went out of the door opened for him by Parker, Walter sought Andrew and addressed him jocularly.

"That guy's my visitor. I'm hep. What?"

"He asked for you—yes," Andrew conceded. "He will call again, later, to verify certain information I have given him."

"Being some more of that stuff that's none of my business, eh?"

"Your powers of discernment show a decided improvement, Walter," the Master Mind said dryly.

"Come into the library a minute," the thief suggested. "I've got something for you, you know." Then, when they were alone together in the room, Walter took a sheaf of banknotes from his pocket, and gave them to Andrew.

"There's four hundred more I got from sister Lucene. Say, she's sure easy. Same old story. Told her I had to have it—was in trouble. And you see they're marked, like the others. Wainwright is getting wise, that's a cinch. Did you notice, he only began marking the money two weeks ago? Say, Andrew, what's the lay, anyhow? Put me next."

"It doesn't concern you, Walter," was the sharp answer.

"Oh, the devil!" the thief exclaimed, in exasperation. "You make me sick. Well, anyhow, that makes forty-six hundred I've got from her, and given to you in the last month."

"You shall be reimbursed, sir, tomorrow," Andrew promised, gravely.

"Oh, there's no haste," Walter rejoined carelessly.

"Really, you are improving greatly," the butler said commendingly. "Environment has worked wonders in you. It's rather a pity that you cannot remain here to complete your sadly neglected education in the niceties of breeding. You go tomorrow."

"Tomorrow!" Walter repeated the word with an inflection of incredulous dismay.

"Yes. You and the Blounts have been the guests of the Wainwrights now for a month. There is such a thing as abusing hospitality."

"But—but where am I going?"

"Wherever you please." Andrew turned curtly toward Parker as the servant entered the room.

"Mrs. Wainwright wishes to see Mr. Andrew."

Walter interposed excitedly:

"I say, Parker; just tell my sister I'd like to see her for a minute first, will you?" Then as the servant withdrew he faced Andrew eagerly. "Look here," he urged desperately, "I don't want to quit just yet. I've come across for you. Now I want you to come across for me. Won't you? I want to marry Helen."

The Master Mind contemplated his puppet with a supercilious stare.

"You grow ambitious, Walter. Mr. Wainwright's sister—a child!"

"The kid's dippy over me," the young man contended warmly. "Anyhow, she's sixteen. Of course I know Wainwright would be sore on the game. But I believe the kid would slip out to the parson with me at the drop of the hat if only Lucene would pass the word. Now, I want you to speak on my side to Lucene. Be a good pal, won't you, Andy?" He clapped Andrew familiarly on the shoulder.

The Master Mind started back as one would retreat from some noxious pollution.

"If you please!" he said. His tone was dangerous.

Walter cringed abjectly. "I'm sorry. I forgot," he stammered.

Without another look toward him the Master Mind went out of the room.

Lucene entered.

"You wished to speak to me?" she inquired indifferently.

"I want to speak to you about Helen."

"It is absolutely useless, Walter," Lucene declared promptly, with weariness in her voice. "The idea is absurd. Helen is only a child."

Lucene shook her head emphatically.

"That's just it," she said, resolutely. "She isn't." She welcomed the coming of Mr. and Mrs. Blount, which put an end to this intolerable tete-a-tete.

Mrs. Blount spoke to Lucene with a half serious playfulness:

"He's such a naughty boy! Has he been worrying you, dearie?" Suddenly her greedy eyes fell on a bracelet that the young wife was wearing for the first time. "Oh, what a lovely bracelet!" she exclaimed, and now her tones were wheedlingly soft and sweet. She placed a hand on the ornament caressingly, but the slender, skilled fingers were busy.

Lucene, however, was in no mood to be patient under the impositions of this woman. She drew her arm away quickly.

"No, you shan't have it," she declared spiritedly.

"Why, dearie!" Mrs. Blount cooed placatingly, the heavy lids drooping low over her big, slumbrous eyes. "I only wanted to"— Lucene was ruthlessly frank.

"No, I tell you. You've taken almost everything I have already."

The husband fairly glared at his wife.

"You told me she gave 'em to you!" he growled bitterly.

"And you did, didn't you, dearie?" the wife persisted, alarmed.

But any hope of help from the girl as an ally was dissipated on the instant.

"Mrs. Blount!"

All turned to face the speaker where he stood just within the doorway, but the woman he addressed turned much more slowly than did the others.

Blount, nevertheless, made bold to speak up manfully in behalf of his erring spouse.

"Oh, that'll be all right," he declared, with an effort toward assurance. "She'll give them back, of course."

Andrew, however, made no answer. For that matter, he was no longer giving attention to the woman or her husband. He was, instead, listening to the dialogue between Walter and Lucene, for the young man had seized this opportunity to continue his pleading with the girl.

"Say, if you'll do this for me," he was urging, "I'll never bother you again. Come on now! Won't you?"

"No," was the steadfast answer, "I will not. During the last month you have made my life miserable by forcing me to get money for you from my husband to save you from disgrace, and incidentally myself. But you may threaten me as much as you like—you shan't have Helen. No, no!"

DAYTIME LOVE.

O mothers, like me, who are weary,
And often too hastily chide,
Keep not your fond word for the sleepers,
Nor wait for the darkness to hide
The love welling up from the heart-spring
When kneeling your darlings beside.

Let us give of our best in the daytime;
Let mother-love brighten and bless
The pathway the dear ones must travel;
Too soon will life's burdens oppress;
Let theirs be the joy to remember
Mother's smile and tender caress

—MARY K. BUCK.

Yes—There are some mothers who fall below the standard.

Yes—Some exaggerated sentiment has been written about motherhood.

Yes—There are days when a mother feels her influence all but thrown away.

Yet—In spite of all this, these facts remain:

That two-thirds of the mothers are pure and earnest; that the steadying uplift of mother-love more counterbalances the havoc wrought by sin and passion; that two-thirds of the world's battles have been won by God's greatest fighters, His silent partners—the mothers of God's great family on earth.—(Mother and Child.)

Good citizenship is promoted by forming habits of co-operation in play. People who play together find it easier to live together. Individuals enjoying a wholesome happy play life are more loyal as well as more efficient citizens. Family unity is most easily secured when members of the family have formed the habit of playing together in their leisure hours. Community spirit is most easily developed through play in which all members of the community may share. Democracy rests on the most firm basis when a community has formed the habit of playing together. Social progress depends upon the extent to which a people possess a play spirit.

GRADUATION EXERCISES.

At this time of year High School teachers and members of graduating classes turn their thoughts toward the closing exercises of the school. May it not be well to consider plans for making these exercises less expensive, less ostentatious and more truly representative of actual High School work?

Even if we ignore the heartaches produced by having someone seemingly belittled by wearing plain attire, even if we overlook the strain on the family purse to keep up appearances, and the burden which these exercises place on teachers and mothers, are we justified in sending out High School graduates under false pretenses of wisdom or under a false impression of their importance and ability?

The hiring of carriages for graduates is often an unnecessary expense, and should be discouraged.

It would probably be unwise for a Board of Education, or any other body, to take formal action in the direction of restricting a pupil's private expense for graduation, but it does seem wholly in keeping with the democracy of our public school system, for school officers, teachers, parents, associations and women's clubs to do all possible toward creating and preserving in the community a sane and wholesome sentiment on this phase of graduation. The growing practice of having the pupils in the domestic art classes design and make their own graduation dresses is significant of the sentiment in some of the larger High Schools. This movement is to be highly commended.

Graduating exercises should be typical of the actual work done in the school and demonstrate the power developed in the pupils. Let the program show what the pupils are able to do themselves instead of what they do somewhat automatically at the suggestion of the teachers, through persistent drills.

There is a wide limit in the number of representative exercises which could be given at a graduation. The music could be furnished by the school orchestra without prolonged drill, rather than by a hired organization; an exhibition could be given of what the pupils can accomplish in drawing by doing actual work in the presence of the audience, statements may be made by pupils concerning the contents of the various curricula offered in the school, or about some particular interesting phase of a subject dealt with in class; experiments in physics and chemistry may be performed before the audience, with explanations and applications; the choral music may be by the High School glee club; demonstrations from the school print shop could be given; in fact, all the expressive activities of pupils might be brought into play to show how their powers have been developed.

Nevertheless, the public High School does stand for work in the field of history, literature, art and science, as well as in those phases of knowledge which have to do with merely getting on in the world; but wherever the former subjects can be truly represented in the graduating program, there is a place for them.—(Albert B. Meredith, Education Bulletin.)

Of Interest to Women and the Home

HELIOTROPE SILK.

Old-fashioned matronly dignity is the idea expressed in this gown of heliotrope gros de Londre. Like many others of the newest evening gowns this frock is sleeveless with laced bodice. A series of leaf-like draperies falling over a plain underpetticoat form the skirt. These are corded on the edges. The bodice is laced over a plain vest of the material with a silver cord weighted with silver tassels. The entire effect of this gown is quaint and picturesque.

A WIDELY ADAPTABLE SHIRTWAIST PATTERN.

8814—Emb.—14715.

Many Ladies' Home Journal Patterns contain numberless possibilities of development to suit varying needs. For instance, it would seem hard, indeed, for the woman unfamiliar with Ladies' Home Journal Patterns to believe that the above illustration is only one of four waists that can be made from No. 8814.

The pattern cuts in sizes 32 to 50 inches bust measure and has provision for front or back closing, three styles of sleeves, two styles of collar and yoke which may be used in the back if desired.

In the above waist the back closing is used and a collar from pattern No. 8607 is attached to the V-neck while the sleeves are cut off at elbow length. Narrow bands of lace edge the V-neck and continue across the front of the waist, which is further ornamented by sprays from pattern No. 14715 (which contains ten motifs and costs 10 cents).

WILL LEAD PASSENGER FLEET.

At the naval parade and review of United States warships on May 17, when the fleet is to be reviewed by President Wilson and Secretary of the Navy Daniels, the big Day Line Steamer "Washington Irving," with a limited number of passengers, will take her place at the head of the passenger fleet and participate in the review. She will leave the Desbrosses street pier at 2:30 p. m., and the West 42d street pier at 3 p. m., returning to West 42d street after the parade. On the following day, when the warships pass out to sea, the "Washington Irving" will take a reviewing position in the Lower Bay as near as possible to the Mayflower, on which the President and his party will be located. The Irving will return to the West 42d street pier after the review is over.

BY MRS. E. A. LEONARD

"Nell, if you pick that baby up every time it cries he'll soon make an abject slave of you," said Mrs. Morton.

"You know he's been so sick this week, mother, and——"

"That's just the reason why it will be hard for you to keep him from making a disagreeable tyrant of himself. It is wonderful how soon these little fellows learn that by yelling they can bend the household to their will."

"But how am I to know he is not in pain?" asked Nell doubtfully. "Then there are other people to consider. I'd rather humor him too much than have him disturb the neighbors."

"Your neighbors are not near enough to be disturbed. It doesn't pay to be too sensitive about your baby's crying."

"You lived in the country where there were no near neighbors to be disturbed," replied Nell. "Really, I should feel like arresting anyone who would let a baby cry as this one does sometimes."

"It sounds louder to you than to anyone else. Here, give him to me; you are all a-tremble. If you could get control of your nerves you would find half the baby's nervousness would be gone."

Nell handed her the baby and hastened from the room. She had not recovered her strength since the birth of the baby. Every day brought a little more then she had strength to bear. Dick's nerves had been a great deal in evidence while his broken bone was knitting, and the baby no more than recovered from one trouble than something else developed. She threw herself on the bed and lay fighting tears and trying to stop trembling. Dick was out in the yard taking a little exercise on crutches. The baby's crying softened to a sleepy wail and finally ceased. "She was right," thought Nell. "I make him more nervous and I make everybody wretched who comes near me." The tears of morbid weariness began to steal down her cheeks, but the bit of a cry soon quieted her and she went to the kitchen to prepare supper.

The baby waked before they sat down to the table and his grandmother placed him face down across a pillow to amuse himself while they ate.

"Do look at him," said Dick proudly. "He is raising himself on his arms." Just as he spoke one little arm gave way and the baby losing his balance, rolled off the couch to the floor, carrying his blanket with him, and lay an inert little heap, making no sound. Nell thought he was badly hurt and tried to rise, but fell back faint and white. Mrs. Morton picked him up and found him entirely unhurt, for he had fallen on the blanket, but the shock was too much for Nell, tired as she was. It was a limp little figure that Mrs. Morton got to bed.

"I'll call up the doctor," said Dick, hobbling to the phone.

Mrs. Ellson answered. When told that the doctor was not in, Dick said, "Will you ask him to come over to the Mortons' when he comes? Mrs. Morton is not feeling well tonight."

"I do not expect him in till late. He had a hard day and will not want to go out again unless the case is urgent."

"It is urgent," said Dick, but she hung up the receiver without replying.

"That woman is——" He compressed his lips to keep from expressing his thoughts. Then he called up the Parsons.

"Nell had a bad scare tonight; baby fell off the couch. No, he was not hurt, but Nell is all upset. I called up the doctor and he was not in. I am afraid Mrs. Ellson will not give him the message. If you hear his machine come in and stay will you call him over to your house and send him on here? Thank you."

The doctor came over about nine o'clock. "I am very sorry that Anna was——" He hesitated. "I'll see that it does not occur again." And his set lips boded ill for Mrs. Ellson's peace.

Household Hints

THINGS WORTH KNOWING

To set color in blue cambric, dip it into a solution of saltpeter, using two or three cents' worth to a pailful of water. Salt will injure the fabric.

In making boiled icing add small pinch cream of tartar to sugar while cooking; will prevent it from sugaring.

Pincushion for the Arm—Those who have trouble in keeping the pincushion within reach while sewing can remedy the trouble by making one to fit the wrist or arm. An ordinary pincushion is attached to a piece of cardboard and an elastic sewed to the edges so that it will fit on the arm. It is not in the way and the pins are easily reached. A pincushion fastened securely to the arm of the sewing machine will also be found very handy.

THE TABLE

A pound of hamburger steak can be bought at the market for about fourteen cents and will serve four or five people in any of the following ways:

Hamburger Steak—To one pound ground meat add one cup bread crumbs, one egg, salt, pepper, one teaspoon each ground celery and onion, and a little parsley. Mix, form into steaks and fry.

For Loaf—Make the above into a loaf, shape in a buttered bread pan and bake three-fourths hour.

Balls in Tomato—Prepare as for steaks, form into balls about the size of walnuts. Cook together one pint tomatoes, one stalk celery, one small onion and a little parsley. Strain, return to fire, add meat balls and drop dumpling over. Cover closely and cook twenty minutes.

Creamed Steak—Put one pound steak in stew pan with one pint milk. Cook slowly ten minutes. Season with salt, pepper and butter. Thicken and serve on toast or in pattie cases or on tea biscuit.

Escaloped—Place a layer of ground meat in granite pan. Cover with tomatoes and bread crumbs, dot with butter, sprinkle with salt and pepper. Alternate till dish is full, having last [illegible] Bake one-half hour.

Hamburger Pie—One pound ground meat, one pint potatoes diced, one stalk celery, one small onion, one bay leaf. Cook ten minutes in one pint milk. Thicken, pour in baking pan, cover with crust made as for any meat pie and bake one-half hour. Serve with tomato sauce.

Ham Toast—A very nice way to use the remnants of a boiled ham. Grind or chop ham until you have a cupful of the meat, using a little of the fat, as that improves the flavor. Melt a little butter in sauce pan, add tablespoon of flour; as soon as blended add one and one-third cups sweet milk. Let this thicken slightly, then add ham and whites of two hard-boiled eggs, pepper and a little salt. Pour over round slices of toast which have been placed on a platter. Grate yolks of the eggs and sprinkle over top. Garnish with parsley.

A New Pie—A delicious pie can be made of raisins, apples and sweet potatoes. Perhaps this sounds expensive, but use either the leftover stewed apples or wait until enough sweet potatoes are on hand to make about two potatoes; mash until smooth, add a little butter, milk to soften and a sprinkling of cinnamon. The apples may then be added, due allowance being made for the juices, as the filling should not be too soft. Then rinse and add seeded raisins, using one-half cup to one pie.

Liver Dumplings—Get a nice soup bone or soup meat. Boil until a nice broth. Mix one pound beef liver (ground), one chopped onion, one-half loaf stale bread soaked in some meat broth, two eggs, salt and pepper to taste, flour to stiffen so as to drop from spoon easily into broth. Always try one dumpling to see if it holds together. This makes quite a bit. Half of the amount will do for a small family. These dumplings can be served as a side dish with buttered crumbs spread over them, or in soup; very good either way.

London Fruit Compote—One large banana sliced finely; on top of that cut two oranges in small pieces. Pare one apple, cut in small squares, add one-half cup English walnuts, one-half cup sugar; mix well. Place in ice box thirty minutes; serve.

SCOOP, THE CUB REPORTER — THE BOSS IS STILL ON SCOOP'S TRAIL — BY "HOP"

MINSTREL TROUPE TO REPEAT SHOW

Another Performance to Accommodate T. A. B. Minstrel Admirers.

More laurels were added to the members of St. Mary's T. A. B. Society minstrel troupe, who presented their second blackface performance to a capacious audience in the T. A. B. hall on West Fourth street, last night. So great was the demand for seats last night, despite the inclement weather, that the management decided to give an extra performance tomorrow night in addition to the Saturday matinee for school children previously announced. It is probable that the hall will again be crowded tomorrow night, as the decision for a third night performance came about as the result of insistent clamor on the part of patrons. The entertainment was spiced with "knocks," which kept the audience in a continuous roar of laughter. Each end man and soloist was generously applauded, and responded to the encores repeatedly. Michael D. O'Keefe made an excellent interlocutor, and he capably met the "gags" of the end men, the majority of which hit many prominent local people.

The program started with an opening chorus of a medley of popular airs by the entire company and Joseph Carroll's end song, "Dancing at the Cotton Ball," started the evening's fun. Master Louise Monteferrante, the fourteen-year-old boy tenor, again scored a decided hit last night, singing "I Hear You Calling Me, Tennessee," in a finished style. He was repeatedly encored. L. F. Barrett, Jr., end man and coach of the performance, rendered "'Way Down Yonder in the Cornfield," and Albert L. LaRock's two ballads, "I Hear You Calling Me" and "When It's Moonlight in Mayo," were unusually fine. "Auntie Skinner's Chicken Dinner," sung by Frank Donnelly, seemed to please the audience, and the young man was called back a number of times to repeat the popular song. Mr. Donnelly added much to his selection by the introduction of fancy steps and dancing. During the intermission John McCaffrey gave a demonstration of clog dancing, featuring several difficult steps. Russell Feiring and Patrick Powers, end man and soloist, and singing "Dancing Underneath the Irish Moon" and "Irish Eyes of Love," repeated their success of the previous night. If it were possible to pick out a "star" at all, William Mahoney was in a class by himself with his end song, "Good Night," presenting the piece in a highly humorous vein. The topical song, written by Albert LaRock and sung by William Clarkson, was well received. John Connolly scored a notable hit last night, coming out at least six times for encores, "Shooting the Bull" was his end song. The show closed with the entire company singing "The Red, White and Blue."

Following the performance Michael D. O'Keefe expressed his appreciation to those present and to all who had helped in any way in making the show a success, and an epoch in the marking of the forty-third anniversary of the organization of the T. A. B. Society. Dancing was enjoyed until an early hour this morning, Manchester's orchestra furnishing music for the dancers.

Lawrence Barrett, Jr., coach of the performance, had drilled the amateurs for the last six weeks for the appearance, and the co-operation and hard work which each member of the troupe did was evidenced plainly last night.

TO FIGHT TYPHUS IN SERVIA.

Boston, May 13.—Fifteen college students, from Harvard, Mass. Institute of Technology, and Brown University, are sailing today for Servia, where they will engage in sanitation work to fight the big typhus fever epidemic which is wreaking havoc in that country. They have answered the appeal of Dr. Richard P. Strong, the Harvard biologist, who is now in charge of the forces fighting the disease under the American Red Cross auspices. All of the college men selected are fitting themselves for this sort of work. Many applications were received from students in medical schools, despite the great risk that attends the fighting of this dread disease.

MEN'S CLUB EUCHRE WILL BE AN ENJOYABLE AFFAIR

An enjoyable program of entertainment has been arranged for by the Men's Club, of the Church of the Heavenly Rest, and indications point to a large attendance at the affair to be held in the parish house at 8 o'clock tonight. The event will take the form of a progressive euchre and many handsome prizes have been secured for distribution among the successful players.

The euchre will be in charge of a committee composed of club members and an informal program of entertaining numbers will also be provided. Refreshments will be served by a committee of members.

MASONIC BODIES ATTEND SERVICES

Trinity Commandery, K. T., Observes Ascension Day at Scotch Plains.

ADDRESS BY DR. HARE

Discusses "The Christian Knighthood" in the Course of Varied Program — Gathering Numbers More Than One Hundred.

Trinity Commandery, No. 17, Knights Templar, and members of other local Masonic bodies attended Ascension Day services at the Scotch Plains Baptist church, last night, when Rev. Dr. J. Madison Hare, the pastor, delivered an interesting sermon on "The Christian Knighthood." The Masons in full regalia made an imposing appearance.

Features of the service were vocal solos by Miss Hollingsworth and Edward C. Ward, William Ward being the accompanist. Miss Lamson also played a violin obligato, accompanied by Miss Nicholl.

Rev. Dr. Hare in his discourse spoke as follows:

"A child may be fascinated with the ingenuity of a watch's mechanism and not know the time of day. A mechanic may understand the machinery of a locomotive in its separate parts and not be able to drive the engine or carry the world's freight. So were the men who stood with Jesus ere He ascended. They had heard the word kingdom and thought of Judaism; they had heard of God's rule and interpreted it in local terms and nationalities.

"Religion, morals and statecraft were only as wide reaching as their own tongue. They had been so fascinated with their own national

WILSON WILL REVIEW FLEET IN NEW YORK HARBOR

Washington, May 14—President Wilson will not cancel his engagement to review the fleet in New York Harbor, it was announced today. He will leave tonight on the Mayflower at 8 o'clock and proceed leisurely down the Potomac and up the coast to New York.

The White House declined to discuss the note to Germany. Speculation as to the tenor of Germany's reply also was tabooed, although the matter was discussed at some length in the Cabinet meeting.

CHILDREN'S HOME WOULD LIKE SURPLUS VEGETABLES

As summer plans are being discussed and arranged the Children's Home Association desires to remind its generous friends with gardens and fresh vegetables that any contributions of their surplus will be greatly appreciated. Perhaps, when the fortunate owners are enjoying the seashore or mountains it might be arranged for the output of some garden to go to these little charges. It is quite possible to call for any supplies within reasonable distance, as since the donation of an express wagon, the older boys enjoy the outing for collecting such contributions.

GRADUATES OF PRINCETON WILL GATHER TONIGHT

The Princeton Alumni, of this city, will hold its annual dinner at the Plainfield Country Club tonight. The affair promises to be one of the biggest and best in the history of the organization. An attractive program of speeches and music has been arranged by the committee in charge, of which Dr. Francis E. DuBois is the chairman. The speakers will be Mayor Leighton Calkins and E. A. Stevenson, representing the Harvard and Yale clubs; Alfred G. Reeves and Dr. Philip M. Brown, of the university faculty. Kenneth Clark will look after the music, and Brown Brothers' quartet has been engaged to furnish some of their latest songs.

HOME FROM CONVENTION.

Grand Knight Robert McCormack, State Warden H. P. Greenwood and Past Grand Knight David B. Doyle returned last night, from the State Knights of Columbus Council's convention at Phillipsburg, which they attended as delegates from Watchung Council, No. 552. Mr. Greenwood was re-elected State warden. While in Phillipsburg they made their headquarters at Hotel Karldon.

GULF REFINING CO. PLANS LOCAL PLANT

Negotiations Completed for Purchase of Strip of Ground on Lower West Front St.

Through negotiations that have been underway for several months it became known today that the Gulf Refining Company, one of the largest independent oil distributing concerns in the country, has practically closed a deal for a local plant site. The company has contracted to purchase a strip of ground on West Front street just over the city line hitherto owned by the New Jersey Central Land Improvement Company. It measures two hundred feet on West Front street and extends back to the railroad.

The ground is just west of the old "Eight Row" property, where the Standard Oil Company has a plant, and is east a short distance from Jefferson avenue. It is in Dunellen confines as the county line passes just to one side of the plot.

By people in a position to know it is declared that the Gulf Refining Company will erect a modern distributing plant to take care of its trade in Plainfield and surrounding towns. The Gulf people have rapidly made great inroads in the eastern oil trade and has previously supplied this city by auto tank service from Newark, where one of its large stations is located. A railroad siding will be run into the plant, thus making it easy to receive direct shipments of kerosene oil, gasoline and machinery lubricants.

RECREATION WORK TO BE EXTENDED

Activities Will Be Enlarged by Committee During the Coming Year.

The Public Recreation Committee has taken a step forward in its work by encouraging all clubs and groups which come under its supervision to be self-supporting, self-governing and self-directing. In the fall a number of such groups will be making use of the school buildings, and there will be plenty of opportunity for the practice of these forms of recreation.

Through the "Public Forum,"

which will be opened in the fall, the largest musical organizations and the dramatic clubs, public spirit will find expression and true democracy into the community life. One of the most successful of these clubs is the Thespian Society, of which Burnett Doane is the president. Mr. Doane is to take a leading part in George Ade's comedy, "Father and the Boys," which will be presented Friday night, May 21, at the Plainfield High School. This is an unusually clever comedy. The characters are all well drawn from the kindly, capable father to athletic Tommy. A dance will follow the play, music being furnished by VanEps Brothers. Ritz will do the catering.

LITTLE WORKERS' CIRCLE TO HOLD ALL-DAY SALE

An entertainment and sale, for the benefit of Camp Endeavor, will be given by the members of the Christian Endeavor Society, of the First Presbyterian church, in the Sunday-school rooms on Friday, May 21, at 8 o'clock. An interesting program has been arranged by the committee in charge, and the admission will be free. A silver offering will be taken. Following the entertainment ice cream, cake and candy will be placed on sale.

The committee in charge of the affair consists of the Misses Leah Hammond, chairman; Ariadna Bicknell, Katherine Lounsbury, Isabelle Scarborough, Martha Reid, Jessica Hill and James Fenner and Charles Doughty.

WAR RIOTS AGAIN START IN ITALY

German Diplomat Attacked by Mob in Rome and Saved By Troops.

BELGIANS HOLD ENEMY

Stop Mass of Germans Near Dixmude —Report That Von Tirpitz Has Resigned—French and British Aeroplanes Bombard Germans.

Rome, May 14.—War demonstrations took place here today following the announcement of the resignation of the War Cabinet. Troops were massed in the city, and cavalry patrolled the streets. Great crowds headed by flags and singing national hymns, marched through the streets.

Mathias Erzberger, a member of the German Reichstag, here on a diplomatic mission, was attacked in the street and would have been killed but for timely arrival of carabineers.

Anti-German rioting is also reported from many cities in Italy. In Turin the police found themselves powerless to protect the shops and manufacturing plants belonging to German capitalists. In Milan several have been killed or wounded in rioting between neutralists and interventionists.

"War! War! Down with Austria! Death to Giolitti!" the mobs shouted. Squadrons of cavalry made sham charges on the mob, their horses jogging instead of galloping. The crowds dispersed willingly, cheering the army, only to reassemble later.

Extraodinary precautions were taken to guard both the Austrian and German embassies from violence at the hands of the mob. Von Buelow, the German Ambassador, and Machio, the Austrian Ambassador, were warned by the prefect of police to stay indoors.

The action of the War Cabinet in resigning is believed to have averted a crisis. Those in close touch with the situation say that the resignation of the entire Cabinet presented to the King by Premier Salandra means the abandonment of Italy's belligerent attitude toward Austria.

The ground that the Premier gave for resigning was that the Cabinet has not the unanimous support of the constitutional parties of the country in its foreign policy. The "peace party," made up of followers of ex-Premier Giolitti, see success for their cause in the resignation of the so-called "war cabinet."

The King has reserved his decision as to whether or not the resignations will be accepted.

London, May 14.—A report has gained wide circulation here that Admiral von Tirpitz, the directing genius of the German navy, has resigned.

The report, which had its origin in Copenhagen, is to the effect that Admiral von Tirpitz quit following a disagreement with the German Admiralty over the sinking of the Lusitania, which resulted in the loss of many American lives.

No confirmation, however, has come by way of Berlin or from any other quarter.

Havre, May 14.—The repulse of a German effort to break through the Belgian line near Dixmude is reported in the following official Belgian report issued today:

"On the night of May 11-12 violent fighting occurred after a heavy bombardment of our front. The Germans advanced in mass formation against a bridge head we had established on the Yser, but the attack had been anticipated and the enemy was mowed down by rifles and machine guns in the hands of our men. The attack was repulsed. We took numerous prisoners and counted 200 German dead on the field."

Paris, May 14.—A fleet of British and French aeroplanes has delivered another aerial attack upon the German positions along the Belgian coast, destroying a number of bridges. A despatch to Le Figaro says that the French captured 6,000 Germans in the battle of Arras.

Athens, May 14.—Warships of the Anglo-French fleet have increased the intensity of their bombardment against the Turkish forts on the Dardanelles since the sinking of the battleship Goliath. Reinforcements for the Allies have arrived from France and Egypt.

Petrograd, May 14.—Czar Nicholas issued a ukase today imposing a war tax upon all persons excused from military service.

Constantinople (via Amsterdam), May 14.—The Italian Ambassador to Turkey yesterday afternoon and last night held long interviews with the Eliot, of Harvard University; John Purroy Mitchel, mayor of New York; Miss Katharine B. Davis, New York Commissioner of Corrections, and Mrs. J. Borden Harriman, of the Federal Industrial Relations Commission, has been working quietly raising sums to be applied to the relief of the stricken people of Poland. This has been done by the appealing to those who had already come to the aid of other groups of war sufferers, and without newspaper publicity, since it was felt that the force of a general, country-wide appeal would be strengthened after the establishment of a neutral commission for relief in Poland formed upon the lines of the Commission for Relief in Belgium. Until such a commission is in active running order, the bringing of relief to the destitute populations in the Polands—of which three million people were actually starving at the end of January, a number which, according to the reports of Robert Crozier, must have since increased, unless from that number is deducted the probably great numbers of deaths from starvation—such relief must necessarily be fragmentary, however efficient in specific instances.

Realizing that the relief of Poland is a problem greater in magnitude than the relief of Belgium—a commissary undertaking whose magnitude and clean-cut solution in American hands has amazed the world—the Committee of Mercy felt that while funds should be collected to place at the disposal of this commission when established, yet it might be well to defer a general appeal until means for the distribution of relief were established upon the large scale which is essential; but actual starvation, epidemics of typhus and cholera, and conditions of destitution generally, are increasing so rapidly that the Committee of Mercy has now determined to appeal to the country at large, in order that the requisite large sums may be immediately ready for bringing relief, once the final stages of developing the method of distribution have been passed.

State and local Committees of Mercy throughout the country are being advised to devote their energy for the most part to the relief of Poland without forgetting the necessity of helping to meet the epidemics of typhus and cholera in Serbia, and the conditions of suffering which exist no less previously in other countries. Local committees which have been established to collect money in behalf of Poland are urged to co-operate with the National Committee of Mercy, in order that Polish relief throughout the country may be welded into one concerted effort.

And the committees which have responded so vigorously to make America's relief of Belgium such a notable achievement are urged, while still taking cognizance of Belgium's remaining need, to turn a considerable part of their energy to the relief of this thrice and more than thrice fought-over kingdom which is not a kingdom, thrice divided against itself against its will. Contributions for Polish relief should be sen to August Belmont, treasurer of the Committee of Mercy, 200 Fifth avenue, New York. And local committees throughout the country desirous of joining in Polish relief are requested to send their advices to the same address.

GERMAN BLOCKADE HAS NOT HELD UP COMMERCE

Washington, May 14.—Germany's submarine blockade of England's coast has not interfered with great Britain's commerce, according to a cablegram from the British foreign office issued by the British embassy today. The statement says:

"The foreign trade of the United Kingdom has shown remarkable elasticity since the opening of the German submarine campaign in both March and April. The value of goods imported reached higher totals than ever have been recorded for these months.

"In April imports amounted to £32,170,000 and re-exports to £9,957,000. Imports were greater by £6,000,000. British exports were greater by nearly £4,000,000 and re-exports by £3,000,000.

District Superintendent Rev. Dr. F. J. Hubach will make a visit to Grace M. E. church on May 23 and conduct the quarterly conference.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Van Hoesen, of 75 Mercer avenue, are the parents of a son, born yesterday.

VANDERHOEF SAYS BRIBE WAS GIVEN

"$100 FOR AFFIDAVIT"

Sensational Outcome to Trial of Police Chief Kiely and Sergeant Higgins, as Result of Alienation and Divorce Suit.

(By Staff Correspondent.)

Elizabeth, May 13—Breaking down under the cross-fire of challenges hurled at him by Walter L. Hetfield, Jr., twenty-two-year-old Harold B. Vanderhoef, the Plainfield butcher boy, who has gained considerable notoriety of late in the role of the "amateur-detective," dramatically admitted that he had accepted a $100 bribe from Mrs. Florence E. Roundey, of Truell Court, Plainfield, for swearing to a false affidavit, during a hearing in the Union County Court this morning, in which Chief of Police Patrick S. Kiely and Sergeant Maurice Higgins, of the Plainfield force, were called to show cause why they should not be held for contempt of court.

Careful planning could not have resulted in the confession bomb being exploded at a more opportune moment. Slowly cringing under the examination conducted by Mr. Hetfield, who appeared as counsel for Higgins and Kiely, Vanderhoef suddenly decided that "honesty was the best policy," and a hush fell over the courtroom as he spoke: "I was kept under the influence of liquor for a long time prior to and during the period in which I was induced to sign that affidavit. I was asked to swear to many other things, but I refused. Mrs. Roundey gave me $100 in small bills, and there was nothing else for me to do but sign the affidavit."

The part of the affidavit admitted as perjured testimony by Vanderhoef had to do with an observation he swore to have made together with Mrs. Roundey in which they spied through a key-hole and saw Mrs. Elmer W. Poineer and John K. Roundey, president of the Endress Butcher Company, in Plainfield, (and Mrs. Roundey's husband), together in a room.

Following Vanderhoef's sensational confession Hetfield continued unrelentingly.

"Did you ever see any women in Mr. Roundey's apartment?"

"No one but the servant," admitted Vanderhoef.

Previous to making his statement Vanderhoef had been instructed by Judge Speer that he would not be compelled to answer questions relative to the affidavit. He replied to the court:

"I have been advised what to do. Although I was entreated to put a name in that statement in the affidavit I refused to do it. I didn't willingly commit perjury and I am willing to tell the State everything that I know concerning this matter. If there is anything coming to me I am willing to take it."

Vanderhoef's startling revelation will no doubt have a direct bearing on the alienation suit of Mrs. Florence E. Roundey against Mrs. Elmer K. Pioneer for $25,000, and Mrs. Lillian Vanderhoef's $5,000 suit against Mrs. Roundey for alienation, both of which are now before the courts.

Previous to settling once for all the credence that should be placed in his testimony, Vanderhoef told the court how he had accompanied Mrs. Roundey on a taxicab ride the night of the same day that he had made the false affidavit. He said that he accompanied the woman to Thomas Brantingham's saloon on the upper end of Park avenue, Plainfield. They left the taxi at that place, according to Vanderhoef, and walking down the road, "where we had several drinks."

Clark McKay Whittemore, who conducted the prosecution of the Kiely-Higgins' charges, appealed to the court at this time to have Mr. Hetfield confine his testimony to those facts relating directly to the contempt allegations. Before Judge Speer made his answer Union County Prosecutor Alfred L. Stein rose from his seat next to Kiely and said, "The State is very much interested in the outcome of this hearing, and I am here for the purpose of securing evidence that will aid me in further prosecution. I would like to have the court give Mr. Hetfield the authority to "go the limit" and lay everything bare. The Attorney-General has requested me to get to the bottom, and I say advisedly that there was perjury committed in this case."

C. Addison Swift, acting in conjunction with Walter L. Hetfield, supplemented a statement at this time, saying: "Stockton, in making application to have Kiely and Hig-

NO ONE OPPOSES "MOVIE" AIRDROME

Mayor Calkins, After Public Hearing, Grants License for Open-air Amusement.

The fact that no one accepted the opportunity to oppose the Plainfield Theatre management in its proposal to establish a motion picture airdrome at East Front street and Watchung avenue in the immediate future, at the public hearing called for the purpose last night, has led Mayor Leighton Calkins to grant Michael Shannon, the manager in charge of the project, a license for such an amusement center. Work has already been started on the selected spot, and it is expected that it will be thrown open to the public on or about May 20. Excavation work is now in progress, and a flooring of cinders and gravel will be put down.

The fact that Plainfield has never before had an open-air picture rendezvous of the calibre of this one led Mayor Calkins to call the public meeting with a view to ascertaining whether or not there was any adverse sentiment among the taxpayers having property in that section. The fact that no one appeared to oppose the proposition is taken as a silent mark of consent.

Several years ago such an aidrome was started on Watchung avenue, but the attendance figures were such that the management soon decided to discontinue the playhouse.

ANNOUNCE HONOR PUPILS AT P. H. S.

Miss Mary E. Smith, Salutatorian, and Harold Davis Valedictorian.

Lindsey Best, principal of the Plainfield High School, announced at the morning exercises today that Harold Davis had been chosen valedictorian of this year's senior class, and that Miss Mary E. Smith had been selected as the salutatorian of her class. These two pupils have held high averages in all their studies during the four-year term in High School and the selections are said to be popular among the members of the '15 class. Each will speak at the commencement exercises in June.

Dr. Henry M. Maxson, superintendent of public schools, stated today that efforts were being made to secure Justice Mahlon Pitney as the commencement speaker on June 24, and an answer is expected from him within a few days. Dr. Maxson a few weeks ago wrote to former President William Howard Taft inviting him to speak at the commencement, but the latter said that owing to pressing duties he would be unable to come to Plainfield at that time.

NEWARK FIREMAN KILLED BY FALLING WALL OF FACTORY

Newark, May 14.—Six firemen were crushed, one fatally, under a falling wall today while fighting a $100,000 fire in the leather plant of the George Stengel Company, in Western avenue. Lieutenant James Flood died of his injuries in the City Hospital.

Others injured are: Battalion Chief Michael McDermott, leg broken, head crushed; James Byrne, both legs broken; John Etutz, leg and hand broken, internal injuries; Edwin Vogel and Fred Kraftner, internally injured.

Stertz and Chief McDermott are in a serious condition and may die. Stertz is at St. Barnabas Hospital and the others are at the City Hospital. Battalion Chief Guitera was only slightly injured, and after being treated, was able to return to duty.

Despite the fact the fire was on the outskirts of the city a large crowd gathered, many of whom narrowly escaped being caught and crushed when the four-story brick wall, warped by the heat, toppled over.

THE TEMPERATURE.

The temperature report from The State Trust Company today is as follows: 9 a. m., 62 degrees, 11 a. m., 71 degrees; 1 p. m., 75 degrees.

There will be no meeting of the Junior C. E. Society next Tuesday afternoon, but the members will attend the union meeting with the Seniors Tuesday night.

MAKES AMERICA'S POSITION CLEAR

Wilson's Note Says No Word or Act Will Be Omitted in Maintaining Our Rights.

WOULD END WAR ZONE

"No Warning of An Unlawful or Inhuman Act Can Be Accepted as An Excuse"—Suggests Disavowal of Acts of the Commanders.

Berlin, May 14.—The American note protesting Germany's submarine war was presented to the Foreign Office this morning by Ambassador Gerard.

It is expected that reply will be made in a few hours.

Washington, D. C., May 14.—That "the Imperial German Government will not expect the Government of the United States to omit any word or any act necessary to the performance of its sacred duty of maintaining the rights of the United States and its citizens and of safeguarding their free exercise and enjoyment," sums up briefly the position of this Government regarding the Lusitania incident as outlined in President Wilson's note to Germany. The note, in vigorous but courteous language, calls upon Germany to abandon her submarine warfare against merchant vessels and to disavow the acts of her submarine commanders in cases where American ships have been attacked or the lives of American citizens lost or endangered. The full text of the note is as follows.

"WELCOME NIGHT" AFFAIR PROVED A GREAT SUCCESS

Members of the Columbus Club acted as hosts for a large gathering of friends and relatives at the opening "Welcome Night" reception conducted in the West Front street hall, last night. This will be a weekly Thursday night affair in the future. Those present last night, enjoyed an excellent program of informal entertainment under the supervision of the house committee.

Dancing was the principal source of entertainment, terpsichorean music being furnished by a phonograph. Refreshments were served during the dance intermissions. The entire club was thrown open to the reception of guests and many took advantage of the opportunity offered to inspect the rooms.

The Little Workers' for Little People's Circle of the King's Daughters, comprising about seventeen girls, will hold an all-day sale of fancy articles, cake and candy at the residence of Mrs. Sydney L. The affair was given by a number of the High School girls who are anxious to earn their dollar and be a wearer of the dollar button.

Punch was served throughout the evening and other refreshments were also had before festivities came to an end. The mothers who assisted in making the affair a success were Mrs. M. C. Barkalew, Mrs. Alfred Emmons, Mrs. William Demarest, Mrs. Leonard Smith, Mrs. J. C. Martin, Mrs. J. R. Blair, Mrs. Warren Townley and Mrs. Corra Ryno.

CHIEF MOHAN TO ENFORCE THE BOROUGH ORDINANCE

A bicyclist was espied last evening riding complacently along the sidewalk on the postoffice side of North avenue. It was a good thing that an officer didn't happen to be around at the time, or he would have taken a ride to the "cooler," because the borough ordinance as regards the riding of bicycles is going to be enforced stringently from now on. Chief Mohan is highly indignant at the flagrant violation of the ordinance, and he said last night that an abrupt halt is going to be called. The marshals have accordingly been instructed from now on not to give any bicyclist another chance. Their instructions are to pull them in and let the court decide that matter.

A bicyclist last evening complained of the condition of the borough streets along which sewer pipes have been laid, and wanted to know if that wasn't sufficient reason why bicyclists should be allowed to ride their wheels on the sidewalks in such districts, especially if they proceeded slowly and cautiously.

When asked whether he had instructed his men to make exceptions in such cases, Chief Mohan said: "That is a question for the court and not the police to decide, as it is the plain duty of a department to make arrests for violations of the law without making any exceptions."

HORSE FALLS IN DITCH.

A sorrel horse of a team belonging to John Crowley, a contracting grader, of Plainfield, while coming down Whittier avenue, yesterday afternoon, sank in the back fill of the sewer trench up to its body. It was nearly two hours before the animal was pulled out.

HAS A NARROW ESCAPE.

Joel Giddes, engaged in general carting for the sewer contractors, had a narrow escape from serious injury yesterday, when a cart which he and a helper were in turned over on its side, while being turned around on Lincoln avenue near the Lincoln School. The horse became scared and started to run away. Mr. Giddes was caught between the seat and the front of his cart in such a manner that he could not extricate himself, and he was dragged over the ground until the animal was stopped for a distance of fully 25 feet. The animal fortunately followed the back fill of the sewer trench in its short flight, and Mr. Giddes was consequently little the worse for his experience.

AMERICA'S POSITION CLEAR

eign Affairs and after reading to him this communication leave with him a copy.

"In view of recent acts of the German authorities in violation of American rights on the high seas, which culminated in the torpedoing and sinking of the British steamship Lusitania on May 7, 1915, by which over 100 American citizens lost their lives, it is clearly wise and desirable that the Government of the United States and the Imperial German Government should come to a clear and full understanding as to the grave situation which has resulted.

"The sinking of the British passenger steamer Falaba by a German submarine on March 28, through which Leon C. Thrasher, an American citizen, was drowned, the attack on April 28 on the American vessel Cushing by a German aeroplane; the torpedoing on May 1 of the American vessel Gulflight by a German submarine, as a result of which two or more American citizens met their death; and, finally, the torpedoing and sinking of the steamship Lusitania, constitute a series of events which the Government of the United States has observed with growing concern, distress, and amazement.

"Recalling the humane and enlightened attitude hitherto assumed by the Imperial German Government in matters of international right, and particularly with regard to the freedom of the seas; having learned to recognize the German views and the German influence in the field of international obligation as always engaged upon the side of justice and humanity; and having understood the instructions of the Imperial German Government to its naval commanders to be upon the same plane of humane action prescribed by the naval codes of other nations, the Government of the United States was loath to believe—it cannot now bring itself to believe—that these acts, so absolutely contrary to the rules, the practices, and the spirit of modern warfare, could have the countenance or sanction of that great Government. It feels it to be its duty, therefore, to address the Imperial German Government concerning them with the utmost frankness and in the earnest hope that it is not mistaken in expecting action on the part of the Imperial German Government, which will correct the unfortunate impressions which have been created, and vindicate once more the position of that Government with regard to the sacred freedom of the seas.

"The Government of the United States has been apprised that the Imperial German Government considered themselves to be obliged by the extraordinary circumstances of the present war and the measures adopted by their adversaries in seeking to cut Germany off from all commerce, to adopt methods of retaliations which go much beyond the ordinary methods of warfare at sea, in the proclamation of a war zone from which they have warned neutral ships to keep away. This Government has already taken occasion to inform the Imperial German Government that it cannot admit the adoption of such measures or such a warning of danger to operate as in any degree an abbreviation of the rights of American shipmasters or of American citizens bound on lawful errands as passengers on merchant ships of belligerent nationality, and that it must hold the Imperial German Government to a strict accountability for any infringement of those rights, intentional or incidental. It does not understand the Imperial German Government to question those rights. It assumes, on the contrary, that the Imperial Government accepts, as of course, the rule that the lives of noncombatants, whether they be of neutral citizenship or citizens of one of the nations at war, cannot lawfully or rightfully be put in jeopardy by the capture or destruction of an unarmed merchantman, and recognize also, as all other nations do, the obligation to take the usual precaution of visit and search to ascertain whether a suspected merchantman is in fact of belligerent nationality or is in fact carrying contraband of war under a neutral flag.

"The Government of the United States, therfore, desires to call the attention of the Imperial German Government with the utmost earnestness to the fact that the objection to their present method of attack against the trade of their enemies lies in the practical impossibility of employing submarines in the destruction of commerce without disregarding those rules of fairness, reason, justice, and humanity which all modern opinion regards as imperative. It is practically impossible for the officers of a submarine to visit a merchantman at sea and examine her papers and cargo. It is practically impossible for them to make a prize of her; and, if they cannot put a prize crew on board of her, they cannot sink her without leaving her crew and all on board of her to the mercy of the sea in her small boats. These facts it is understood the Imperial German Government frankly admit. We are informed that in the instances of which we have spoken time enough for even that poor measure of safety was not given, and in at least two of the cases cited not so much as a warning was received. Manifestly, submarine cannot be used against merchantmen, as the last few weeks have shown, without an inevitable violation of many sacred principles of justice and humanity.

"American citizens act within their indisputable rights in taking their ships and in traveling wherever their legitimate business calls them upon the high seas, and exercise those rights in what should be the well-justified confidence that their lives will not be endangered by acts done in clear violation of universally acknowledged international obligations and certainly in the confidence that their own Government will sustain them in the exercise of their rights.

"There was recently published in the newspapers of the United States, I regret to inform the Imperial German Government, a formal warning, purporting to come from the Imperial German Embassy at Washington, addressed to the people of the United States, and stating, in effect, that any citizen of the United States who exercised his right of free travel upon the seas would do so at his peril if his journey should take him within the zone of waters within which the Imperial German Navy was using submarines against the commerce of Great Britain and France, notwithstanding the respectful but very earnest protest of his Government, the Government of the United States. I do not refer to this for the purpose of calling the attention of the Imperial Government at this time to the surprising irregularity of a communication from the Imperial German Embassy at Washington addressed to the people of the United States through the newspapers, but only for the purpose of pointing out that no warning that an unlawful and inhumane act will be committed can possibly be accepted as an excuse or palliation for that act or as an abatement of the responsibility for its commission.

"Long acquainted as this Government has been with the character of the Imperial Government, and with the high principles of equity by which they have in the past been actuated and guided, the Government of the United States cannot believe that the commanders of the vessels which committed these acts of lawlessness did so except under a misapprehension of the orders issued by the Imperial German naval authorities. It takes it for granted that, at least within the practical possibilities of every such case, the commanders even of submarines were expected to do nothing that would involve the lives of non-combatants or the safety of neutral ships, even at the cost of failing of their object of capture or destruction. It confidently expects, therefore, that the Imperial German Government will disavow the acts of which the Government of the United States complains; that they will make reparation so far as reparation is possible for injuries which are without measure, and that they will take immediate steps to prevent the recurrence of anything so obviously subversive of the principles of warfare for which the Imperial German Government have in the past so wisely and so firmly contended.

"The Government and people of the United States look to the Imperial German Government for just, prompt, and enlightened action in this vital matter with the greatest confidence, because the United States and Germany are bound together not only by special ties of friendship, but also by the explicit stipulations of the Treaty of 1828, between the United States and the Kingdom of Prussia.

"Expressions of regret and offers of reparation [illegible] destruction of neutral ships sunk by mistake while they may satisfy international obligations, if no loss of life results, cannot justify or excuse a practice the natural and necessary effect of which is to subject neutral nations and neutral persons to new and incalculable risks.

"The Imperial German Government will not expect the Government of the United States to omit any word or any act necessary to the performance of its sacred duty of maintaining the rights of the United States and its citizens and of safeguarding their free exercise and enjoyment.

boundaries of thought, government and religion that God was only a flat world maker and the majestic emanciation that 'in the beginning God created the heavens and the earth,' was an unsolved riddle to them, which put God out of His own plan and out of history. They forgot that God was the first great evolutionist and was then and is now on the job of making a world fit to express His glory. That all men are His co-workers even as all bear His image.

"To these men gathered about Him Israel was an end. Its glory and power must be restored. Jerusalem must rule the world, just as the followers of the cross and crescent expect Constantinople to rule, the Russian Petrograd to rule, the Teuton Berlin to rule, France Paris to rule England London to rule, America Washington to rule. Each an end and with uplifted voices cry, 'Lord wilt Thou at this time restore the kingdom to us?' And as truly He cries back above the din of battle, 'The Father hath set times and in His own authority.' 'When empowered ye shall be My witnesses unto the uttermost parts of the earth.' 'My martyrs' is the term used. With that vision He went up to His throne, and from His throne calls every heart and life.

"Sir Knights, splendid as is the history of your order its true glory is yet to be. The pages of your history are stained with the blood of the martyrs, who, to rescue the sacred memory of Christ and His sacrificial life from those who would narrow it and centre it within a sect or creed consecrated all on the altar of the truest patriotism. A patriotism that knows no country or people as its own, but believes that God is in the world sacrificing and suffering for men today as He did nineteen hundred years ago.

"To Christ there was no nation but all nations were of one blood. Sin had labelled some barbarians and these were slaves and food for the beasts of the arena and the beasts of the brothel. The conquering Christ, victor on the cross and above the grave, declared that the true Christian knighthood was to make His kingdom regnant even to the barbarians; that man was to be lifted by His uplifting life of sacrifice until all men should find their rightful place in 'His Throne of Glory.'

"We must not be so fascinated with the mechanics of His birth, of an opening grave and the aerial flight of the conquering Christ that we fail to catch the obligation of knighthood today. It is yours, Sir Knights, to keep the memory of the past, and yet the present task is finer, a whole world is waiting for your red blood to throb with indignation against sin of every form that would rob unborn generations the right to be well born, little children the right to strong bodies, alert minds and clear souls. Womanhood and manhood alike ought to know how to behave in God's world, and man's inhumanity to man in appetite, lust and greed, and war to cease, that all men everywhere may not only worship the ascended Christ life as a reality.

"Sheathe not your sword until the kingdoms of this world become the kingdom of our Lord and His Christ. See the Christ ready to be taken up, making the uplifting of a world dependent upon a faithful witnessing to the power of our God, who is imminent in His world today as when He began making it. Glorious task for the life crucified to self and sacrificing for others still wins. 'I ascend to your God and My God, your Father and My Father.'"

WORSE AND MORE OF IT.

The American public has been inclined to believe that the reports of Belgian atrocities, which came to us while the Germans were crossing that country last August were the result of the ravings of minds distorted by the heart-rending incidents necessary to any warfare. But that they were really committed, and committed in a way that places the German soldiers in a class with wild beasts, is now proven beyond contradiction by the report prepared by the Commission headed by James Bryce. Mr. Bryce enjoys a reputation for probity which settles beyond all doubt that the atrocities took place. In summing up the report says:

First—That there were in many parts of Belgium deliberate and systematically organized massacres of the civil population, accompanied by many isolated murders and other outrages.

Second—That in the conduct of the war generally innocent civilians, both men and women, were murdered in large numbers, women violated and children murdered.

Third—That looting, house burning and the wanton destruction of property were ordered and countenanced by the officers of the German army, that elaborate provision had been made for systematic incendiarism at the very outbreak of the war and that the burning and destruction were frequent where no military necessity could be alleged, being indeed part of a system of general terrorization.

Fourth—That the rules and usages of war were frequently broken, particularly by the using of civilians, including women and children, as a shield for advancing forces exposed to fire, to a less degree by killing the wounded and prisoners and in the frequent abuse of the Red Cross and the white flag.

Coming so soon after the murder of so many Americans on the Lusitania, it is hard to predict what will be the effect on the American people, always a race believing in justice, fair play and mercy. That human beings can be so cruel in these modern times, is almost beyond comprehension, and denials and explanations until they are blue in the face will not set the Kaiser's people right in the eyes of fair-minded men and women in any country in the world. The name of James Bryce is all that is needed to fix the authenticity of the report. No words can fittingly describe the persons who perpetrate such outrages.

INCREASED EXPORT TRADE.

The war has brought a great increase in American exports to Europe, but the desired and expected development of our trade with South America is not yet recorded.

Secretary Redfield's report to the President showing total exports for the fiscal year of $2,750,000,000 and exports of foodstuffs in March amounting to $59,000,000 as compared with only $8,600,000 for the same month of the previous year, contains the following interesting statement of the relative standing of the nations as markets for American products:

An analysis made by the Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce indicates that British territory is the market for one-half the entire exports from this country, as against 45 per cent. a year ago. French territory ranks second as markets for our products, having displaced Germany from that position; Italian territory is third, Dutch fouth, Danish fifth, as against fifteenth last year, and Cuba sixth, outranking Germany, Japan, Norway, Spain, Mexico, and Russia, and almost equaling the whole of South America as a market. Next in order are Sweden, Germany, Japan and her dominions, Norway, Spain, Mexico, Russia, Brazil, Argentina, Belgium, Panama, China, Chile, Switzerland and Turkey.

The only disappointing, though not surprising, disclosure is the comparative insignificance of our exports to the South American republics. Since last August an early development has been expected, but even with commerce between Europe and South America interrupted the growth of our trade with that vast region must be gradual owing to the need of establishing new direct lines of steamers.

George I. Sill, who has been a frequent contributor to the Daily Press, has written the editorial for tomorrow. In it he expresses his personal opinion of Billy Sunday, the doughty evangelist who is now preaching at Paterson, and who seems to thrive on criticism. Mr. Sill's subject is "Bluffing," and as has been the case in many contributed editorials he pulls the stops out in tackling the job. Mr. Sill has not the greatest confidence that Mr. Sunday is sincere, and takes the view of so many of the New York newspapers.

MONKEY ANTICS.

The Orang Outang Is a Creature of Great Imitative Ability.

In hotels and private houses of India monkeys have been found that were trained to wait at table, bringing dishes and articles of food in a more or less mechanical way.

The story of the talented orang outang of Buffon, the naturalist, is classic. This creature gave visitors his arm, walked with them, showed them to the door, ate with a knife and fork and drank from a glass, poured tea into a cup, sweetened it and waited till it cooled before he drank it.

An orang outang at the Jardin des Plantes in Paris regularly unlocked with a key the door of the compartment he occupied, opened the door, locked it on the other side after he had entered and then hung the key on a nail.

Flourens relates that he once visited the Jardin des Plantes in company with an aged scholar whose appearance greatly interested this orang outang, which was at large in the rooms of the institution. The scholar wore old fashioned clothes, one article of which was a tall hat with a wide brim. He was much bent from age and in walking supported himself with a heavy cane.

When the two men were about to depart the hat and cane of the old man were missing. Presently the orang outang was seen tottering through the room, his back bent almost double, wearing the hat upon his head and walking stiffly by the aid of the cane.—Chicago Herald.

MADISON SQUARE GARDEN.

Story of the Growth of a Famous New York City Landmark.

Madison Square Garden, indissolubly associated with the city of New York, was purchased in 1853 by the Harlem railroad after the extinction of the old eastern post road, which ran diagonally across the block. In 1854 the railroad company put up sheds for the handling of the early morning milk supply and farm products.

In 1863 the train sheds were rebuilt to house a passenger terminal of the Harlem on Twenty-sixth street and of the New Haven road on Twenty-seventh street, the trains being broken up at the present Grand Central and the separate cars being drawn down by mules.

The railway ceased to use the building in 1871, and in 1873 it was remodeled and leased to Barnum for the congress of nations. Sheridan Shook and Patrick Gilmore, in joint conduct of a museum, were the next tenants. Barnum returned with the circus and menagerie April 27, 1874. Gilmore took the place for the next season and produced the first of his concerts May 29, 1875.

On May 31, 1879, the place was first designated Madison Square Garden. The tearing down of the old building was begun Aug. 7, 1889. The present structure was formally opened June 16, 1890.—Argonaut.

Health For Canaries.

Even a canary must be cared for judiciously if its life is to be happy. Regular exercise outside its cage is desirable, if its owner has time to look after this exercise. A scrupulously clean cage, fresh water and seed every day, greens of some sort—lettuce, celery, plantain—once or twice a week, and enforced abstinence from sugar, sweet biscuits and other odds and ends that are often fed to birds—these details insure health, and, therefore, happiness to the caged bird. Perhaps the fact that it is caged, that it has so few ways of making its wants known, should make its owner more careful of its health than she would be even of the health of a dog or cat.—New York Sun.

ANNUAL RALLY OF ENDEAVOR UNION

OFFICERS ARE CHOSEN

Rev. Dr. Birney S. Hudson Speaks on "Religion a Dynamic Force in History"—First Baptist Society Gets Attendance Banner.

Representatives from the Christian Endeavor Societies of ten churches of this city and Dunellen were present at the annual rally of the Plainfield Christian Endeavor Union held in the First Presbyterian church last night. Theodore Day, of Dunellen, who was president of the union, presided over the meeting until the new president, Robert Butler, of the First Baptist church, of this city, was chosen and took charge. The other officers elected were William La Tourette, Trinity church, vice-president; Miss Marie Hahn, Trinity church, secretary, and George Hoagland, Warren chapel, treasurer.

The business meeting was preceded by a song service and a Scripture lesson, led by Rev. Dr. Charles E. Hering, pastor of the First Presbyterian church. Howard Parry, of the First Baptist society, sang a pleasing vocal solo. Miss Lucy Coriell, secretary, gave a very commendable report regarding the year's work, and William La Tourette read the treasurer's report for Miss Florence Krausse.

Clarence B. La Rue presented a resolution, which was adopted, which called for a vote of thanks from the local union to William N. Runyon, Arthur N. Pierson and Charles L. Morgan, Union county Assemblymen, for supporting and voting for the local option bill at the last session of the State Legislature. After the roll call Miss Coriell announced that the First Baptist society was the winner of the percentage banner given to the society having the largest attendance present at the annual rally. This society, which had a percentage of 74, will keep the banner for one year. The First Presbyterian society was second with 63, and Hope chapel, third, with 61.

The address of the evening was made by Rev. B. S. Hudson, pastor of the Park Avenue Baptist church, who spoke on "Religion, a Dynamic Force in History," or "Religious Movements That Have Made History." Following the address, the gathering gave a rising vote of thanks to Mr. Hudson, and also to the First Presbyterian church for its hospitality. HORSES AND RIGS BRING LOW PRICES

Progress of Motor Vehicles Demonstrated by Plainfield Cab Co.'s Auction Sale.

A striking demonstration of the manner in which auto vehicles are crowding out horses and livery rigs was evidenced on East Second street, yesterday, when the Plainfield Cab Company conducted an auction sale of almost all of its stable equipment. Something like forty or fifty wagons of all descriptions and a dozen horses were put under the hammer, but less than half of the former and only three of the latter were disposed of. Handsome broughams that were the height of fashion only a few years ago went begging and the horses sold for about three-fourths of their value. One fine big coach that cost $600 originally was let go for $11, less than the price of a new rubber tire that was put on early in the spring. Another one was grabbed up by a Hunterdon county farmer for $6, while rigs of smaller value were sold for less than the proverbial song.

The sale had been widely advertised throughout the surrounding country-side and farmers from as far as Morristown, Whitehouse, Flemington and Stelton made the occasion a holiday. Many of them brought their families along in roomy carry-alls, leaving wives and buxom daughters to roam the business district while they hung around for bargains. A large number had mammoth lunch baskets in the rigs and at noon, East Second street, near the stable property, looked like a settler's picnic. The men from the rural districts however, were slow in buying, most of them declaring that the outfits were not what they were looking for. Auctioneer William Schorb was master of ceremonies, but even the dulcet tones of his persuasive voice failed to make the crowd come across. Ordinarily, "Bill" can get blood out of a stone and no one was more surprised than he when wagon after wagon had to be sent back without a buyer.

"There's just this much about it," said one agriculturist with a North Branch accent, "the farmers now-a-days are as much up-to-date as any one else. We have just as many automobiles in our county as Plainfield has, according to population, and none of us want to buy something that is out of date. You can take it from me, horses and wagons are a back number as far as pleasure riding is concerned."

The three horses that were sold under the hammer brought $115, $120 and $125, respectively. Experts declared that each one was worth from $25 to $30 more. One fine animal that was bid up to $190 was looked over later by a dealer who offered $225 and was refused. The vehicles that were not sold were put back in storage and may be disposed of later. William Abbott, the proprietor of the stable, said today, that he was still keeping a large number of horses and rigs for public use, but like other liverymen he had found that the taxicab has come to stay. The sale yesterday netted a total of about $1,500, easily less than half what it should have been had the horses or wagons gone at anything like their value when purchased originally.

The Anti Protests

Please remember, dearest madam,
Ladies have made clothes to dress 'em
Since the Lord told Eve and Adam
He would have to dispossess 'em.

Yet with all this preparation
Women fail who undertake it.
When she wants a real "creation"
She gets tailor men to make it.

So the girls have done the cooking
Since man found combustion basted,
And the race is healthy looking
On the whole and ample waisted.

But among the wealthy classes,
Those who get the best and look it,
Scorn the food of kitchen lasses
And employ a man to cook it.

URGES TRADE INVASION OF LATIN REPUBLICS.

D. Pratt Says Now Is Time For Making Connections For Future.

Although they were separated from the scene of hostilities by 7,000 miles of ocean, they were much more severely affected than the peoples contiguous to the warring nations, he said. The commerce of Latin America was cut in half, immigration ceased, industry was temporarily paralyzed, thousands of men were thrown out of employment, and all public improvements, except the absolutely indispensable, were completely suspended.

It was only recently that the United States had come to realize that the growing countries to the south are much more closely related to Europe, except perhaps in form of government, than to the United States.

It was only natural, Dr. Pratt continued, that when the crisis arose Latin America should look to the United States for assistance. They have looked and are looking to the United States to supply a market for their surplus products, to secure the credit for making new purchases and to advance the loans to take the place of European capital which has been withdrawn.

Heretofore South American countries have known as little, or perhaps even less, about the United States than this country has known about South America. Mutual understanding and acquaintance are necessary before the United States can take, even in part, the place which Europe occupied before the outbreak of the war.

The most important aspect of the situation and one which should count most in determining our trade invasion of Latin America is not so much the present conditions there, which on the whole promise hope, but, rather, the attitude of the American manufacturer and exporter. The manufacturer or merchant who treats the Latin American field as one which is not amenable to the application of the same business methods as he would use at home is not going to be successful.

Now is the time, in spite of any handicaps which may exist in the present commercial or financial situation in Latin America, for the American business man to lay the foundations for future trade, to send out his investigators, his business diplomats, to study the possibilities, make his connections and form trade relations which he can follow up and develop in future years.

United States Leads World In Tobacco Growth and Consumption.

The United States is the greatest producer, the greatest exporter, the greatest importer and the greatest consumer of tobacco in the world, according to a report by the bureau of foreign and domestic commerce. The American production of tobacco leaf of all sorts averages somewhat more than 1,000,000,000 pounds a year, valued at $100,000,000.

An enormous quantity is exported, exceeding in value such items as cotton manufactures, electrical machinery, paper and paper products and leather and leather manufactures.

The export trade was dislocated by the war, but the extra consumption by men in the trenches has practically balanced the loses.

OPIUM IN CHRIST'S DRINK.

Given to Relieve Sufferings on Cross, Says Savant.

Christ was given an opiate as he suffered on the cross, Dr. Paul Haupt, professor of Semitic languages in Johns Hopkins university, told the American Philosophical society in a paper on "Opium In the Bible."

"Gall with wine" proffered the Saviour, as told in Matthew xxvii, 34, indicated, by strict interpretation, he said, a bitter fluid and opium. "Myrrh," told of in Mark xv, 23, denoted the drug.

"The Talmud," the professor declared, "states that a 'cup of wine with lebonah' was given criminals before their execution. Lebonah means incense, as a rule, but in this case it was used for opium."

HARRY K. THAW WILL BE GIVEN JURY TRIAL

New York, May 14—Justice Laughlin, of the Appellate Division of the Supreme Court, today handed down a decision confirming the ruling of Supreme Court Justice Hendricks, which will give Harry K. Thaw a jury trial as to his present mental condition. Justice Hendricks, at the time of his ruling, set May 17 as the date of the trial, and it is believed the case will be called on that day.

gins show cause why they should not be tried, did not do so in good faith. He knew that the prosecutor's office had instructed Kiely to get evidence and to investigate." Stockton later demanded that the court instruct Swift to apologize to him, but this request was refused.

Richard Stockton, his jaws twitching nervously and his eyes blinking rapidly, took the stand just as court was adjourned for the noon hour. Several times during the morning he had risen from his seat next to Whitemore to start the sentence "I told Judge Speer about—," but he never got any further. He was apparently laboring under a great nervous strain. He muttered incoherently on each attempt to make the court hear him, and because of his disconcerted language his demands went unheeded. Once seated in the witness stand he scanned the courtroom with his shifty, heavily lashed eyes, and made a hurried mumbled explanation. "I know nothing that happened in this case prior to February 15, 1915."

During the morning hours several witnesses were examined in an effort to show that Chief Kiely and Sergeant Higgins were guilty of contempt but when the bomb was dropped by Vanderhoef the defendants shrank into the background and from that point on were merely spectators. Not a bit of incriminating evidence was produced by the witnesses, all Plainfielders, against Kiely or Higgins, was the opinion of many in court. George Faturos, a fruit dealer; Mary Milford, a colored servant formerly employed by the Roundeys, Charles Milford, her husband, and Bruce Gordon, Jr., a Newark attorney, all testified. The Plainfield witnesses all admitted that Kiely and Higgins had done nothing but warn them that they should tell the truth and each stated indignantly that the Plainfield officials had threatened them with imprisonment if they did not tell the truth. Mary Milford swore that Higgins wore a uniform when he accosted her in Chief Kiely's office. The Plainfield officers says that he has not worn a uniform in two years. Other bits of inconsistency were divulged from time to time and it was plainly evident that the witnesses had been "schooled," but that they had forgotten their lines. These three witnesses and Vanderhoef all assumed brazen attitudes of indifference when placed on the stand but under the gruelling cross-questioning each "cowed" down.

Soon after the opening of the afternoon session of court, the case against Police Chief Kiely and Sergeant Higgins was dismissed, and was therefore abruptly terminated.

City and Borough Baseball Warriors to Meet on Hyde Oval Tomorrow.

A record breaking crowd of enthusiastic baseball fans is expected and being prepared for by Manager Roscoe VanCamp, of the borough team, for the first meeting of the Plainfield and North Plainfield High School teams in the annual fight for the interscholastic championship of the city and borough, which will be waged on Hyde Oval, tomorrow afternoon. With the Leal contenders practically out of the running for the Collier trophy, a battle tomorrow is of great importance and both teams are confident of getting away with the verdict. Umpire Brandingham, of Newark, who officiated in the big games last season to the satisfaction of players and spectators, has again been secured to handle the indicator and will start the game immediately at 3:30 o'clock.

Both the city and borough coaches have had their squads out all week practicing hard and putting on finishing touches before the teams meet. North Plainfield will have the advantage of its home field, but the majority of the city fellows have played more or less on Hyde Oval. Last year the series went to four games, North Plainfield finally winning, and they will play the part of the defender in the present series. Plainfield took the initial tilt on Parker Field last year and North Plainfield copped the second on Hyde Oval. The game that was to decide the championship went to a 15-inning tie on the Randolph road lot, and the boroughites scored a 4 to 1 victory on Hyde Oval a week later. If the series this season is as hotly contested as last year, the fans will have nothing to kick about. The price for the game tomorrow has been advanced to twenty-five cents. The field will be well policed and the only thing that will be lacking is a grandstand.

North Plainfield's only box artist, Ernest Stahl, will do the mound work and will be opposed by either Brick or Denny, probably the latter. All of the regulars of both teams will be in the lineups, which will probably be as follows:

N. P. H. S.	P. H. S.
VanMater, rf	Dunham, rf
VanDeventer, cf	Kyle, cf
Dilts, ss	Peacock, c
Townley, 3b	Rosenson, ss

COMPARING RIVALS IN THE BIG SERIES

Plainfield and North Plainfield School Players Ball History to Be Given.

Introducing city and borough school baseball players who will fight for scholastic honors this season.

Anthony Denny, P. H. S. 15.

"Tone" Denny, a brother to Jack, who pitched the red and blue team through a championship series three years ago, is following in the footsteps of his brother and will undoubtedly get a chance to show his best against the borough artillery. He is possessed of speed, several good curves and has a good head on his shoulders, which is a good advantage in his work. In 1913 he was a substitute pitcher but last season sprained his wrist and did not play. He had twirled for the Netherwood Highlanders for several summers.

Roy Apgar, P. H. S. 16.

While playing good ball in the outfield all this season, Roy "Box" Apgar was yanked into first base with one day's notice and will play around the initial sack for the rest of the year. Apgar has always had a fine wing from the field to home plate, and also has a fast accurate throw from first to all of the other bases. He will undoubtedly make good in that position. Last season he was a catcher and worked with the pitchers in all of the big games.

Before playing with the High School he played with the Monroe Avenue team, of the Sunday-school League, when that organization was running smoothly several years ago. He is right handed, weighs 154 pounds, and is 18 years of age. He still has one more year in the local institution and after graduation intends studying in Dartmouth College.

SIGHT A MIX-UP IN SCHOOL TENNIS LEAGUE

Plainfield High Appears to Be the "Goat" of Indefinite Arrangement.

A dispute has just sprung up regarding the competitors for the Collier trophy in the interscholastic tennis tournament concerning the two series which the Leal's School team has just played. Plainfield High School, according to reports, seems to be the "goat" of an indefinite agreement made by the Leal's racquet wielders with Plainfield and North Plainfield High Schools.

About a week ago, Plainfield met Leal's on the Park Club courts. An agreement had been made that one point would count for singles and one for doubles. As a result Plainfield got two points for winning both doubles and a single, while Leal got the same number for winning two singles. This made the score tie and it stayed that way.

Last Tuesday, Leal's met North Plainfield High School and made an entirely different agreement. This one decreed that "two" points would be given for doubles and one for singles. Leal's won the meet from the boroughites in the same way that Plainfield tied them, winning a singles and doubles match and losing two singles, the score being 3-2.

This being the case, either the North Plainfield High School series should be counted as a tie with Leal's, or the Plainfield-Leal's game should go in favor of Plainfield High School in order to even matters up. The latter agreement would most naturally be made, as in all big meets doubles are counted as two points. This matter ought to be settled at once by the donor of the trophy or by a meeting of players from the two schools. In any case, the meet should not continue until this has been settled.

RUNYON TO BATTLE AGAINST CLASSY FIELD AT PENN

Ralph Runyon, the star athlete of Plainfield High School, has entered the University of Pennsylvania games to be held in Philadelphia tomorrow. Last Saturday he competed in the Princeton games and succeeded in breaking the record for the pole vault and getting first in both the running broad and the running high jumps.

Runyon has gained renown throughout New Jersey by his accomplishments in some of the large meets. He has also put Plainfield High School on the track map. He will enter the running high and running broad jumps, and the pole vault. The results of his work will be watched with great interest as many prominent and clever athletes are entered as his opponents.

BIG CROWD EXPECTED TO GREET SAURER'S OPENER

The Saurer baseball club's opening game at Parker Field tomorrow afternoon will be played to the strains of the Plainfield Band, which has been chartered for the occasion and will head the auto procession that is to precede the game with the Royal Giants. The game will start at 3:30 o'clock and Saurer will have its regular lineup with Warry McLoughlin in the box. Coriell will do the officiating.

A large crowd is expected as the two teams are evenly matched and a good ball game will undoubtedly result.

HOPE AT BOUND BROOK.

A good game is looked for tomorrow afternoon, when Dick Schott, of the Hope Chapel team, and Gene Mathews, of the Y. M. A. aggregation, of Bound Brook, work against each other at Bound Brook. This will be Hope's second game of the season, and Schott is working in good form. The Hope team will leave for Bound Brook at 2 o'clock from the chapel, and the trip will be made by auto bus.

BAPTISTS VS. TABS.

The First Baptist baseball team will entertain the T. A. B. nine on the West End avenue field tomorrow afternoon. The game will start at 3:30 o'clock. Patterson or Margetti will do the pitching for the home team.

LEAL TO RETURN GAME.

Leal ballists are scheduled to play the Staten Island Academy nine at Staten Island, tomorrow. In the first meeting between these two teams, which was the first of the season for Leal, the locals won by one run.

SHOOTERS HAVE THEIR SLANG

Marksmen Speak Language Unknown to Innocent Bystander.

To the outsider the fellow who perches on the top rail of a fence or lolls in an easy chair on the clubhouse gallery watching the gun bug "bust 'em" trap shooting vocabulary is limited to "pull," "dead" or "pull," lost."

But among the elect of clay pigeon shooters is spoken a gibberish that by comparison makes baseball's "died at first," etc., the simplest of sporting vernacular.

For instance, a shooter might describe the results of five shots something after this fashion: "Yes, sir, I toed the firing line, put the iron on my shoulder, drew a humdinger from the box and killed it. The second saucer was a lazy boy, flying straight away, but I went to sleep, and the pigeon nested in the grass. The next mud pie sailed to left quarter, but the old pea shooter simply knocked the fuzz off. The fourth dickey bird was hatched. Then a cripple fluttered out and died. Next came a right wheeling streaker, and I pulverized it."

The fact that trap shooting is the humane substitute for live bird shooting probably accounts for some of the "cruel" terms that are included in the language of the inanimate target game.

FITZSIMMONS LIKES GOLF.

Veteran Heavyweight Says It's Great to Keep You Young.

Bob Fitzsimmons is the last person one would suspect of taking an interest in golf. In fact, one could as readily imagine Ruby Robert sewing shirts for sailors as driving the elusive pellet over the links. Yet—whisper it—Fitz is a golf bug!

"Of course I am strongest for boxing," quoth the Cornishman recently, "but golf is a great game. I play it every chance I get. Not long ago I went eighteen holes with a local champion in Buffalo and beat him.

"The greatest thing about golf is that it keeps you out in the open air. That's what all of us need. If the children could be taught to think more of boxing and golf and get a chance to indulge in both from early youth there would be fewer gun men developed in our big cities."

IS PROUD OF MARRED DIGITS.

Veteran Billy Sullivan Says They Were Marred by Mighty Men.

"Marred by mighty men," is what Catcher Billy Sullivan, recently released by the White Sox of Chicago, says when he looks at his crumpled hands. No two fingers look the same way, and he doesn't care a hoot.

Griffith, Callahan, Nick Altrock, Smith, Owen, White, Ed Walsh and others are among the contributors to his collection of gnarled digits. It is estimated that in the 1300 games Sullivan has caught in his sixteen years of service he has been on the receiving end of some 156,000 shoots, curves, fast ones and spitters, from a horde of twirlers.

MILLIONAIRE CLOWN IS LATEST CREATION OF CIRCUS PRESS AGENT

GEORGE HARTZELL, THE MILLIONAIRE CLOWN.

Did you ever hear of the "millionaire clown?" His name is George Hartzell and, what's more, he is coming to Plainfield next Wednesday. This notable character of the sawdust is one of a band of fifty fellows who travel with the Ringling Brothers' circus.

Of course Hartzell isn't worth a million, not by several dollars, but he is a very rich man. Mrs. Hartzell is the wardrobe mistress in charge of all the thousands of costumes which dress the circus in silks and spangles. Husband and wife have worked shoulder to shoulder under the Ringling banner for more than a dozen years. They have always earned good salaries, saved their money and invested it wisely. Today they own property in Chicago, Boston and Philadelphia and have an income quite sufficient to keep them in comfort for the rest of their lives. Should you ask Mr. and Mrs. Hartzell why they still toil under the white top when they might be leading a life of idleness they will tell you that they tried it once for just one year, the longest twelve months they ever spent.

"There's a lure about the sawdust, the blare of the band and the hoop-la of the rings that was too strong to resist," says Hartzell. "We had to get back to it all and we are never happier than when, in the springtime, the call comes and we know that we are to take to the road for another season."

And when the Hartzells "take to the road" it is not to be supposed that their business interests are neglected. Mrs. Hartzell is an expert typist and it is a common sight for those who frequent the "back of the scenes" portion of Ringlingville to see her taking a dictation from her husband. There, in the friendly shade of a tent, with typewriting machine perched on the top of a trunk and often dressed in the motley garb of the ring, the "millionaire clown" attends to his business correspondence. In addition to her duties as wardrobe mistress Mrs. Hartzell is official chaperone with the circus and to her falls the duty of looking after the social welfare of the 300 ballad girls who take part in this season's Ringling Spectacle of Solomon and the Queen of Sheba. It is this pleasant office which has brought her the title of "the little mother of the circus."

THE MASTER MIND

Novelized by Marvin Dana, author of "Within the Law," from the successful play by Daniel D. Carter

Copyright, 1913, by the H. K. Fly company.

"Why not, I'd like to know?" Walter demanded blusteringly.

The reply was explicit:

"Because you're not fit."

The contemptuous words caused the thief's fury to pass all bounds.

"Oh, I ain't eh?" he stormed. "Well, I'd have you know I'm just as fit for Helen as you are for Wainwright. See? And, if you don't help me, why, my fine lady, I'll just"—

The young man protested.

"But I only want to marry Helen."

"It is impossible," Andrew retorted.

Walter flared again.

"So, that's the game, is it?" he sneered; "well I don't go tomorrow!" the thief cried, wrathfully.

Andrew turned blandly toward Blount.

"When you go out will you be so good as to send Parker here as your man will wish to give some orders about his packing. By the way," he added carelessly, "you and Mrs. Blount also will be leaving tomorrow. Have you by any chance an objection to make?"

"Objection? No!" Blount said vigorously. "Lord, we'll be tickled to death to go home."

Blount led her from the room. But before the pair had quite reached the door the Master Mind called again to the westerner:

"Oh, Blount! And tell Parker also to send Mr. Marshall here."

Lucene sank down wearily in a chair. But Walter approached Andrew aggressively.

"Now, look here!" he exclaimed truculently. "I don't scare worth a cent, and I'm advising you that you'd better go light too. I know a thing or two." He grinned evilly.

Andrew regarded his rebellious tool with undisguised disgust.

"Very well, Walter. When Mr. Marshall comes we are going to allow you to confide in him at your pleasure."

"Aw, let him come!" Walter declaimed valiantly. "What do I care for him? Where does he get off, anyhow?"

Then Andrew replied in a whisper. "Mr. Marshall is a detective—in the Pinkerton service."

Walter was unable to control a start, and a cigarette fell from fingers that trembled. Andrew stooped and picked it up, and as he returned it to the young man he added in his most subservient manner:

"Pardon me, sir. Was it my awkwardness, or are you perhaps a little nervous, sir?" Again, he changed his tone and spoke now as the Master Mind, turning toward the watching girl, "I think that it is possible Walter will, after all, decide to depart before morning." He faced his victim and lashed the thief with scornful eyes. "I said, 'Walter.' I should have said, 'Diamond Wil' "—

The thief's hand caught at his tormentor's arm in agonized appeal.

"No, no, Andrew!" he cried huskily. "I'll do anything you say."

"It may be too late."

Walter's face was white with terror now.

"Don't give me up, Andrew," he begged. "Oh, for God's sake don't give me up! Lucene!" he called in despair. Her heart was moved.

"Let him go, Andrew," she interceded. "I don't want any trouble, for my own sake."

The Master Mind made no direct answer to her plea. Instead, he turned and spoke to Parker, who appeared in the doorway, following the message he had received from Blount.

"I think it was Mr. Walter who wanted you, Parker," Andrew said in an expressionless voice.

Walter assented with feverish haste.

"Yes, Parker. I'm going away in the morning early. I want you to help me pack."

Lucene, left alone with Andrew, gazed at him with miserable eyes.

"Oh, those dreadful people!" she cried distractedly. "I can't understand how you"— She checked her outburst with an effort out of respect for the man she esteemed so highly.

Andrew walked to her and stood looking down commiseratingly at the delicate face, in which just now the blue eyes shone a little more dimly than was their wont. He regretted profoundly that the necessities of his vengeance must thus involve in suffering the girl whom he had come to cherish very fondly—more fondly than any other living thing. Sometimes even there stirred in the man's heart a suspicion that perhaps he was growing to lavish on her a love like that he had borne his brother. But always he crushed back the thought as something wickedly disloyal to that brother who was dead—dead at the hands of an enemy who must pay the penalty, though it were to wring this girl's heart, though it were to destroy her every hope of happiness.

"I'm sorry you have been annoyed, more sorry than I can say. But don't waste a thought on Walter. He's not worth it."

"It is all horrible," the girl exclaimed. "Sometimes I—give up—hope. It is all so false."

Andrew viewed this emotion with alarm. At whatever cost this instrument of vengeance must be controlled now, when the hour of victory was close.

"I'm sorry," he stammered.

"It's true," he confessed, with evident contrition in voice and manner, "that I've been greatly imposed on by these persons. You see, my dear, I couldn't be too particular about the sort of folks I engaged to play a spurious part like theirs. Tomorrow they shall all be gone, and you'll be left to yourself in peace."

"In peace!" Lucene repeated wistfully, and her face was very sorrowful. "I wonder. Oh," she went on in a burst of feeling, "I know, Andrew, that it was wrong not to tell Cortland everything at the beginning. This secrecy between him and me is a poison that must eat out the heart of our happiness."

"Perhaps it was wrong," the Master Mind agreed unhesitatingly. "In point of fact, I am beginning to regret I advised you as I did." He added very gravely, "I am afraid that now, after all, you may be compelled to be quite candid with him."

The sudden possibility of having to do what she had so dreaded, yet desired for conscience's sake, filled Lucene with terror. She stared at Andrew. The color flowed from her cheeks and left them ashen.

"What do you mean?" she panted.

The Master Mind hesitated for a little, from sheer pity for the stricken creature before him, whom now he must hurt again. He had need to recall all his love for the dead brother to strengthen his will in order to strike the next blow on the already bruised heart of this woman toward whom all the tenderness of his nature streamed.

"Do you remember Creegan?" he asked significantly.

A shudder shook the girl.

"Creegan!" she gasped.

"Yes," Andrew went on; "Jim Creegan of Chicago. I see that you do remember him. Well, he has discovered that you are Mrs. Wainwright, and—he is coming here tonight."

A cry broke from the pallid lips.

"Here? What for?"

"Robbery." The single word came laden with horror to the girl's ears, the proclamation of her own degradation.

"No, no!" she protested in despair. "It can't be true! It must not! I won't believe it!"

Andrew maintained an attitude of sympathetic regret as he stood, a little bowed, before her. Under the piteous pleading in her eyes he felt his resolution slipping from him. He would fain have taken her in his arms, to comfort tenderly as might a father. But he braced himself to resist, though he suffered grievously at having to continue her torture on this rack of his own devising.

"I have never misled you, Lucene," he lied, firmly.

A DAINTY EMBROIDERED DRESS FOR MISSES.

There is nothing so rare as a miss who is satisfied with her dress. She may feel particularly proud in her new array and she may hold her head a little bit higher than usual immediately after donning the new costume. But, there is always something which doesn't just fill the bill. It is either too extreme, too old-fashioned or a little too old for her.

The average American girl is scrupulously insistent in her demands for what she believes is best adapted to her in every particular. Ladies' Home Journal Pattern No. 8742 will satisfy this average girl for several good reasons. The dress is stylish, yet conservative; simple and practical in structure, yet exceedinly attractive and distinctive.

It is very suitable for flouncing or bordered material. Waist with short sleeves, bib section, deep-pointed collar and chemisette. Underskirt in three gores lengthened by a straight gathered flounce. One-piece straight gathered tunic. Sizes 16, 17, 18. Size 18 requires 8⅞ yards 36-inch flouncing.

BY MRS. EVA LEONARD

"Come in here, Jo," called Nell, hearing a step on the porch. Mrs. Morton was hanging up clothes in the yard. Nell looked up with an expectant smile to greet Mrs. Parsons, and saw instead the angry face of Mrs. Ellson.

"Excuse me for asking you in here. I thought it was Mrs. Parsons," explained Nell, coloring. "Mother is in the yard."

"It is just as well. I came on business with you," answered the caller.

"Will you sit down? Draw that chair up to the bed."

"No, thank you, I shall stay only a few minutes. Last evening when your husband called up I was angry that he should be so blind as not to see through your silly make-believe, your frantic determination to get the doctor over here for one excuse or another, so I hung up the receiver. I was a fool. I might have known that you would carry your point in spite of me. You took another means to get him over here."

"Please listen, Mrs. Ellson," said Nell; "even if I were trying to do what you think, what could I accomplish with my husband and his mother right here?"

"You could pull the wool over their eyes as you do over everyone's. The doctor came home last night in a towering rage. You wanted to put me in the wrong before him, and you succeeded."

"Mrs. Ellson, no doctor could have his practice tampered with and succeed."

"That's what he said; you had talked it over, I suppose."

"My husband told him there must be some arrangement made by which we could reach him when he was needed or we should have to employ another doctor."

"I wish you would; that's what I hoped you would do," interrupted the doctor's wife.

"We have talked of it, but there is no other physician as good."

"Nonsense!" burst forth the excited wife. "Any doctor could handle your case for the reason that nothing is the matter with you."

"Mrs. Ellson," said Nell angrily, "you have no right to come into my home and talk to me in this way. I'll not stand it."

"Oh! won't you? I came over here to say my say to you; when I finish I'll go and not before. I want you to know that I see through you and I warn you to beware the wrath of an injured and jealous woman. I'll let the town know what you are, I'll——"

Here Mother Morton entered the room, having come into the house attracted by the strident voice of the angry woman.

"What is all this?" she asked looking from one to the other.

"Oh! mother, make her go! I can't stand any more abuse," said Nell, beginning to sob and hugging her baby to her breast.

"What are you saying to excite her? You can do more harm than your husband can undo in a week's time."

"I've said what I came to say, and I'll go," said Mrs. Ellson, turning toward the door.

"What did she come for?" asked Mrs. Morton, after she had seen the visitor out of the gate.

"Really, mother, I am afraid of her. I don't believe she is sane."

"Of course she isn't; every jealous woman is insane," said the old lady tartly.

"But she threatened all sorts of things because I made her appear in a bad light to her husband, and he is angry with her."

"He has had about all he can stand of her, I guess," said the old lady.

"Well, so have I," said Nell, shuddering. "Dick must tell the doctor that she must stay away from here."

"He will. Now you quiet down and go to sleep," and Mrs. Morton stroked her hair.

In a Suburban Garden

"Good morning. Don't you love to dig in the garden these early spring mornings? Oh, baby's sound asleep—he's just had his bottle. Nurse him? Why, I do, but I am preparing to wean him before summer by giving him one or two feedings a day of IMPERIAL GRANUM and cow's milk. I prepare it myself after his morning's nurse, and I don't have to think of him again until noon. Katie gives him his bottle, and I have all that time for my garden and sewing. He is simply flourishing on it. I take IMPERIAL GRANUM myself, you know, to enrich my milk.

"Such a contrast to the time I had raising Janet. She was a delicate little mite. My milk didn't nourish her at all, and then I did not know it was possible to improve its quality by taking IMPERIAL GRANUM. So I struggled along; but, oh dear, such an experience! Never a moment to myself; she was so cross and fretful, poor dear. She hardly gained at all until I weaned her and put her on IMPERIAL GRANUM and cow's milk. She picked up very soon after that, though, and she is now very well, indeed.

"When little Jack came along I had learned my lesson, with this delightful result—I know he is thriving on a wholesome, nourishing food. I am well and contented, and have more time for my husband and babies—not to speak of my garden.

"I do wish you'd tell me, though, how you manage to dress your children so prettily. Their clothes always look so attractive, and no matter how I labor on Jack's and Janet's I can't seem to achieve the style yours have. Oh, don't you make them? You buy at Hahne's? And do you mean to say you find it more economical than making them? Well, I'm so glad I asked you. The very first opportunity I have I'll investigate Hahne's Infant Wear Department. It must be a most satisfactory place for children's supplies."

Household Hints

A NEW PIE CRUST

A new, quick and easy way to make pie crust:

Take one cup lard; into this add slowly one-half cup boiling water. Work this together with a spoon into a soft, creamy mass entirely free from lumps. Add gradually three cups of flour and work until smooth.

Although this is contrary to many recipes which call for ingredients to be ice cold, this crust, when baked, will fairly melt in your mouth.

Before adding the flour, a pinch of baking powder may be sifted with it if desired.

This amount makes a two-crust pie and the shell for another.

THINGS WORTH KNOWING

Preventive of Fly Specks—Grate a fresh raw onion and with a soft, clean brush apply the juice, full strength, to gilt picture frames or fixtures to be protected. This not only removes all former fly specks, but also prevents flies from alighting upon anything thus treated.

To Clean White Silk Gloves—Put gloves on the hands and wash in lukewarm water with a soft white cloth and a good white soap, just as if you were washing your hands. In this way you can get the ends of fingers as clean as the rest of the gloves.

TENDERLOIN RECIPES

Roast Tenderloin—Place meat in roasting pan, sprinkle with salt and pepper, add hot water to baste with. Put roast in hot oven and roast till well done. Make a nice dressing to serve with the meat and gravy and bake it in a small basin, putting it in the oven about half an hour before it is to be served.

Braised Tenderloin—Lard roast of tenderloin with slices of bacon, place in roasting pan, sprinkle with salt and pepper and add about one pint hot water; add in pan two onions sliced. Baste frequently. Make a gravy as for roast beef by adding the amount of hot water necessary and thickening with flour rubbed smooth in a little water.

Tenderloin Saute—Cut tenderloin in slices, then cut it in inch squares. Brown one chopped onion in butter; add sliced meat, season, and fry till tender. Sprinkle with a little flour, add cup of milk and some chopped parsley; boil up and serve.

Tenderloin With Mushrooms—Prepare tenderloin as for serving with peas, but add in the pan one-fourth pound can of mushrooms, sliced in their own juice, and one tablespoon flour. Boil up and pour over tenderloin.

TOOL BASKET FOR HOME GARDENER

The woman who does much garden work will appreciate the handiness of a garden tool basket.

This may be had in all sizes at house furnishing stores, or can be fashioned from a right-shaped basket at home.

In it are pockets or straps, into which fit the smaller tools, such as pruning shears, dibble, trowel, weeder and gardening gloves.

As the gardener—or should it be gardeneress—moves about there will be no danger of misplaced, forgotten and rusty tools, if she carries such a basket with her.

THE TABLE

Mock Cutlet—Pass any scraps of meat, mixed with herbs, twice through meat grinder; mold it with a little egg into the form of cutlets, and place half an almond, divided lengthwise, at the small end, to represent the cutlet bone. Dip in egg and fry. Place a small cauliflower in the center of a dish, pile the cutlets around, and serve. Some clear gravy should be served separately.

Delicious Cabbage Salad—For one quart finely chopped cabbage use the following dressing: Boil together one-half cup vinegar, two tablespoons sugar, one-half teaspoon salt, one-half teaspoon pepper. Rub together one-fourth cup butter and one tablespoon flour to a cream, add to the boiling vinegar, boil five minutes, then stir in one well-beaten egg. Pour over cabbage while hot.

Rhubarb With Tapioca—Cut into small pieces three bunches rhubarb, add one cup water, stew until tender; sweeten with light brown sugar. Cook until clear two tablespoons tapioca in one cup water, inch of salt. Mix thoroughly together; serve cold.

Strawberry Gelatin—Two tablespoons gelatin, two-thirds cup water, two tablespoons lemon juice, three cups stewed fresh strawberries and juice. Heat berry juice; add gelatin (which has been soaked twenty minutes in the water), and stir until dissolved. Remove from heat, add lemon juice and the berries, and pour into individual molds to set. Serve with whipped cream. Sweeten berries after stewing them.

The Telephone In Action at the Front

FRENCH TELEPHONE STATION IN THE FIELD—TELEPHONIST AT THE THRESHOLD OF HIS SHELTER.

The ever-multiplying uses of the telephone in the conduct of the great war are described in The New York Telephone Review in an article which deals with the latest form of spying and the adaptation of the telephone to this new phase of service, as well as with some interesting evidences of the general demand for telephone equipment and service in the field.

What is known as "Lauscherposten" among the Germans seems to be the last word in the spy system. These are a series of "listening outposts" who approach as near as possible to the lines of the enemy, overhear all they can in regard to the enemies' plans, then telephone this information to headquarters. The officer spots a good hiding place during the day and under cover of darkness goes to it, carrying a telephone instrument and a reel of light wire which is connected with headquarters.

After the Allies discovered that these methods were being employed, they paid special attention to all potential hiding places, with the result that the method of subterranean passageways was adopted. When the trenches of the opposing forces came near to each other it was comparatively easy to approach within hearing distance of the enemies' trenches, by means of these underground passages. In this way the "listening outposts" can hear the commands, the conversations among the soldiers, and learn the plans of the opposing forces, without much danger of detection.

The Allies have adopted this system of spying, too, and as a method of meeting the situation, the Germans have forbidden all talking in the trenches.

In emphasizing the enormous demand for telephone service at the front, The Telephone Review points out that the service is as indispensable in war as in peace. A letter which appears in The Electrical Review, of London, gives striking evidence of this truth:

I have had the following letter from a major of the Royal Field Artillery, at present training new units at Farnborough:

"As perhaps you are aware, this war consists of the employment of the three T's, namely, Trenches, Tillery and Telephones. We are very good at trenches; in time we shall make good artillerymen, but they [the recruits] will never make good telephonists unless they get telephones, of which I see no likelihood in the immediate future. Can you suggest any means by which we could be lent, or given any telephones or buzzers, preferably of military design, to further the training of our men? They would be returned to the owners on receipt of the proper telephone equipment from the military authorities, but, as I have already stated, they have none at present to spare. I should be very grateful if you could suggest any means of obtaining these necessary instruments."

That these needs were filled is shown by a letter from the same source published in a subsequent issue of The Electrical Review, which, however, goes on to state that the Royal Field Artillery wants two hundred telephone electricians for enlistment.

After meeting the qualifications of age, term of enlistment, etc., these men must be "capable of repairing telephones and lines under fire."

Grim enough is this brief statement of the requirements. Not only must these indispensable "telephonists" be qualified to endure the hardships and dangers of the regular soldiers—the long marches, and perilous life in the trenches with bombs breaking over and among them, but they must be prepared for still finer tests of courage and endurance. For the work of the soldier telephonist is not simply sitting in the depths of a trench or in a secluded nook under a haymow, while transmitting messages from one part of the battle line to another. The wires have to be laid along the ground or strung through the treetops if they can be successfully hidden there; and when disaster comes to the wires from any of the innumerable dangers that are perpetually menacing these guiding nerves of the great army system, one or two men, or at best a mere handful, must go out and repair the line, in full view of the enemy, perhaps, and under the deadly fire of the Krupp guns.

At all costs the line must be repaired and kept in working order, for it is through the pulsing currents borne on these slender wires that the great masses of troops are coordinated. The telephone lines are indeed the nerves of the armies in the field, connecting the muscles with the brain, the trenches with headquarters, and making one compact unit of what would otherwise be a vast aggregation, difficult of adjustment and correspondingly inefficient.

The dangers of the army telephonist's work are extreme, but the satisfaction may be his that the dangers are exceeded by the importance of his toiling peril successfully and preserving intact the all-important telephone equipment.

It is said that fifty out of every one hundred persons using a public library go to the librarian at the desk and ask, "What is a good book for me to read." In other words the choice of reading is in a large percentage left to the discretionary selection of the man or woman behind the public library desk. Of course, with the open shelves, where a reader can select for himself, the percentage of those who make this inquiry is probably smaller, but, nevertheless, the proportion of those who ask for a definite book is said to be surprisingly small. Under these circumstances the responsibility of the librarian or of the attendant at the desk, is very great, and the importance that attaches itself to the position is little thought of or known. With the knowledge that it is within the power of the librarian or attendant to direct the reading of so large a number of persons, the matter assumes a gravity which calls for the most careful selection of librarians and of library attendants.—From Ladies Home Journal, 1914.

93 LITTLE FARMS TO BE OFFERED AT SALE

A topic in real estate circles just now is the auction sale of 93 little farms at Clinton avenue, which is to be held next Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

It is the ambition of almost every one to own a home and no more suitable location could be chosen for one built from one's own design, than the beautiful property offered in this city, well enough cut in the country and at the same time so near this growing town, because of the splendid trolley transportation facilities afforded.

These little farms are now ready to build upon and though sold at absolute auction to the highest bidder and without reserve, great care will be exercised as to whom this land will be sold. Only white people will be allowed to purchase. The property is carefully restricted as to the value of houses to be built, and building line is established.

To reach the site of the sale take any Main Line car and ride to Clinton avenue, as the "little farms" are only two short blocks from the trolley line and railway station at Clinton avenue. As an additional attraction $1,000 worth of valuable souvenirs are to be given away absolutely free, during the sale. The auctioneer is George G. Baker, of 7 East 42nd street, New York city.

QUALITY GASOLINE WHEREVER YOU GO

THE fuel question is an important one for the motorist. The veteran tourist makes sure of getting, not merely good fuel, but the same fuel, every time he has his tank filled.

Standard Motor Gasoline is the best motor fuel the Standard Oil Company, with its dependable sources of supply, its costly equipment, and its improved refinery methods, can produce. It is sold by the best garages and supply stations everywhere, and it is uniform wherever you buy it.

Standard Motor Gasoline is a straight-distilled product—not a "blend" or a "mixture." It is absolutely homogeneous—every drop like every other drop. It costs no more than others by the gallon, and less by the mile, because there are more miles in a gallon.

Remember this too. Good oil costs less than a worn out engine. Use Polarine—the Standard Oil for All Motors—obtainable wherever you see the "Standard Motor Gasoline" sign.

"BEAUTIFUL MARGUERITE" CARNIVAL ATTRACTION

One of the most popular and talked of attractions with the Levitt-Meyerhoff shows which come to Plainfield next week, under the auspices of Loyal Order of Moose, is the mystifying young lady known as beautiful Marguerite, a young person who has set the entire scientific world wondering about the very marvellous performance which she accomplishes. Imagine sitting in your drawing room and witnessing the flight of a beautiful young lady from one end of the room to the other, soaring up and down and around like a butterfly—as she has been rightly termed, the "Human Butterfly," so she appears. The young and fascinating woman is presented to her auditors by her escort. She walks among you, talks with you, shakes your hand and welcomes you, after which she is placed in a coma condition by her mind master, Eduardo Cavilliar, after which he makes her obey his every wish in soaring, flying and floating through space at will. In the performance of this wonderful feat the lady overcomes every law of gravitation, and her extraordinary feats have puzzled and astonished the entire world. Professor Cavilliar does not claim any supernatural power in his demonstration, but merely states that you can draw your own conclusion as to the way the feat is performed. Suffice it to say she does these wonderful tricks, as they may be termed, and how are they accomplished? Marguerite first demanded the attention of the public in Berlin, where she made her first public demonstration at the Winter Garden some two years ago, since which time she has appeared in nearly every city of note in the Old World. Arriving in America last January, she has been seen in San Francisco, Chicago, Boston and New York, where her acts have caused a sensation. She was engaged for this season by the Levitt-Meyerhoff shows, and will give her demonstration daily. In connection with Marguerite's most astounding feats, the chameleon lady will be presented in a very pretty and delicately constructed transformation spectacle. This is one of the beautiful, dainty and mystifying exhibitions that ever pleases and more than interests everyone. It is a demonstration that you want to visit over and over again both for the mystery and beauty of the production. It's a highly interesting, beautiful and sublime introduction that is well worth your attention.

COMMERCIAL CLUB HEARD AN INTERESTING LECTURE

The members of the Commercial Club, of Plainfield High School, heard a lecture on "Public Accountancy," delivered by E. L. Suffern, of New York, in the school auditorium yesterday afternoon. He traced the commercial feature from 6,000 B. C. to the present day, citing some interesting instances from Cicero. He then told of the business methods employed in the loosely run department stores of a decade ago, in which all the accounts were kept on three spindles.

Mr. Suffern contrasted the methods of teaching accountancy in America and in England. He said, in part:

"The general practice there is to have the apprentices pay for the privileges of learning. In this country the advocates of the system, themselves being expert accountants, guarantee New York University that they could not lose anything by starting an experimental course in accounting. The accountants themselves, being the first teachers of the subject, practically paid for the privilege of teaching young men so that they could employ them and pay them for working in their own offices after acquiring the necessary knowledge."

He brought out strongly the point that many stenographers fail completely in their line of work because of their faulty knowledge of English.

Somerville

Mr. and Mrs. George Schenck, Jr., of Los Angeles, are guests of Mr. Schenck's parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Schenck, at the Somerset Hotel.

The W. W. Club, of the Second Reformed church, will give an entertainment entitled, "Our Aunt from California," in the chapel tomorrow evening.

The Glee Club of the Somerville High School will give "The Creation" in the Second Reformed church on the evening of May 28. The club is composed of 175 members. Eminent soloists will assist.

The Somerset County Past Councilors' Association, Junior Order United American Mechanics, will meet at Peapack Monday night. The subject to be discussed will be "Our Public Schools."

PROCTOR'S THEATRE

One of the most notable picture productions ever brought to this city will be shown at Proctor's Theatre tomorrow afternoon and night in the precentation of "The Man-o'-Wars-Man," just released by the Broadway Picture Producing Company. The title role was posed by Thomas E. Shea, known from coast to coast as one of the greatest tragedians in America since the days of Booth and McCullough. The film is in five parts and deals with a theme uppermost in the minds of the people at the present time. "The Man-o'-Wars-Man" will be shown in New York today for the first time, playing only to Broadway prices, but will be given to the Proctor patrons, in addition to the regular program, without any advance.

Beside this big attraction other photoplay attractions at Proctor's tomorrow will include the first episode of the new serial, "The Goddess," featuring Miss Anita Stewart and Earl Williams, also a new group of the Paramount Travel pictures, which are shown every Saturday. These Travel pictures are not the "cut and dried" kind of travelogues, commonly termed instructive. They are interesting bits of scenic and sporting pictures, depicting the pleasures, occupations and natural resources of the country where the pictures are taken. While they actually are instructive, there is so much action and current interest in the pictures that the instructive feature is not thrust upon you. The fact that strikes you at once at seeing them is beauty of the scenery and the good judgment of the photographer selecting the particular scenes shown.

Mrs. Eva Fay began her second three days' engagement at Proctor's yesterday, continuing to mystify everyone by her demonstration of thaumaturgy. She was asked scores of questions during the afternoon and night performances and gave definite answers to every one, many of them causing more than a mild sensation. The vaudeville program for the last half of the week include the "Three Brownies," roller skating and dancing artists far above the ordinary performers of this kind; Samoya, the Japanese equilibrist, in amazing feats of balancing and gymnastic work; Hayes and Thatcher, presenting a comedy skit, and Elsie White, singing comedienne. In conection with the new bill for the first half of next week the World Film Corporation's newest five-part photoplay production, "The Fifth Commandment," will be shown on Monday and Tuesday. During the remainder of next week there will be extra picture attractions every day, many of them being absolutely new and heretofore shown only at prices from 25 cents to $1.

BROADWAY AND THIRTY-THIRD STREET

"NEAR SIDE" RULE FOR TROLLEY CARS

Will Go Into Effect in Plainfield Tomorrow in Accordance With Law.

Notice has been given all motormen employed by the Public Service Railway Company, that, beginning tomorrow, cars will be stopped on the near side of the street only. This is in conformity with the new State traffic regulations adopted at the last session of the Legislature, and is similar to the ruling now in force in a majority of cities of Plainfield's size in this and other States. Up to this time in Plainfield the general rule has been to bring a trolley car to a stop on the far side of the juncture of two thoroughfares. Hereafter patrons will have to notify the conductor in time to allow him to signal the motorman to stop near the far corner or remain on the car until the next stop is reached.

Another feature of the bill which will be strictly adhered to in this city is the point compelling drivers of motors or horse-drawn vehicles to pass a standing trolley car eight feet to the right of the running board or step, or if the road is not wide enough, or if the traffic is too congested to allow this, to come to a halt until the car starts again. The new State traffic law repealed all municipal regulations previously in force, and municipal regulations in the future may be passed only in regard to the following limitations: The right to designate one-way streets, regulating public hacks and bus stands, governing the parking of vehicles on streets, limiting the use of streets to certain classes of vehicle, indicating the point where street cars can stop or start again, at such places as railroad stations, public squares or in front of public buildings. All city regulations, however, must be submitted to Motor Vehicles Commissioner Dill for approval before they are put into effect.

HEAVENLY REST MEN'S CLUB MEMBERS HOSTS FOR FRIENDS

Relatives and friends of the Men's Club members of the Church of the Reavenly Rest enjoyed a euchre held under the organization's auspices in the parish house, last night, the affair proving itself a pronounced success from every point of view. While card-playing proved the feature of the evening an informal program of entertainment was provided by the committee in charge.

Handsome souvenirs were awarded to the most expert of the euchre players and the presentation of these awards also added interest to the function. This is only one of a series of similar social events under the auspices of this active association and the results last night were similar to those of the past.

PLAINFIELD THEATRE

"Mary Pickford week," which has been celebrated at the Plainfield Theatre since Monday, continues to be a big drawing card for the popular Second street playhouse. Large audiences have been the rule at every performance, and the presentation of "Hearts Adrift" Wednesday scored one of the greatest hits of the season. Pictures gave way to the legitimate last night to permit the presentation of "Diplomacy," but Miss Pickford will return to her own this afternoon. She will be seen in "Tess of the Storm Country," the five-part production which is being talked about everywhere. This play will be repeated again tonight. For tomorrow afternoon and night the screen drama will be "A Good Little Devil," from the play of the same name. In this production Miss Pickford has rare opportunities to display her talents, and the charm of her person and manner are prevalent at all times. Those who admire this dainty young actress cannot afford to miss her performance in "A Good Little Devil." The souvenir feature inaugurated this week proved an instantaneous success, and hundreds of women attending the Monday and Wednesday matinees were presented with mementoes of their favorite actress. Souvenirs will again be presented this afternon. Manager M. L. Shannon has held several conferences in New York during the past week with the foremost moving picture representatives of the East, with the result that Plainfielders are to see photoplays never before shown in a local house. The titles and details will be announced within a few days and it is safe to predict that local movie lovers will secure a treat far beyond their expectations.

K. OF C. NOTES

All members of the club who desire invitations for friends to attend the Second Night Club dance on May 24 should get the names in the hands of the committee by 8 o'clock tonight. The "bids" will be issued tomorrow.

Those appointed to serve on the committee for the reception to be given in the club auditorium a week from Monday night, are requested to meet with Chairman John Kyle tonight at 8 o'clock. Final details for the function will be completed at that time. Permission has been gained for the use of the entire clubhouse and the guests will be able to enjoy bowling, billiards and other events, besides dancing.

Instruction in dancing by "Doc" Doyle and Daniel McCormack will be a regular feature of the "Welcome Night" programs in the future. The auditorium will be set aside for this purpose.

SCOOP, THE CUB REPORTER — THIS "NO STOP" SPECIAL GOES RIGHT THROUGH — BY "HOP"

LACK OF STATE FUNDS DELAYS SOMERSET CO. ROAD WORK

Somerville, May 14—Contracts aggregating $65,000 for the improvement of Somerset county roads, under the State aid act, already awarded by the Board of Freeholders and aproved by the State Road Commissioner, are to be held up through the refusal of the State Comptroller to sign them because of a lack of funds in the State Treasury.

At a meeting of the freeholders yesterday it was announced that John La Comte, of Lakewood, who was awarded the contract for improving Larger Cross road in Bedminster Township for $53,714.12, was on the ground and ready to proceed with the work, but the comptroller had refused to sign the contract. Director Louis E. Opie, of the freeholders, advised that La Compte be notified not to proceed with the work until the contract was signed by the comptroller.

There is a strong movement on the part of the Board and several townships in the county to build roads without State aid. A delegation from Montgomery township, headed by William C. Hendrickson and William Robinson, applied to the Board for the improvement of the road between Griggstown and Belle Mead without State aid. The township offers to stand 20 per cent. of the cost of the improvement, and it is proposed to build a road without cutting for grades at 50 per cent. below the average cost of roads constructed under State supervision.

SALTS FINE FOR ACHING KIDNEYS

We Eat too Much Meat Which Clogs Kidneys, Then the Back Hurts.

Most folks forget that the kidneys, like the bowels, get sluggish and clogged and need a flushing occasionally, else we have backache and dull misery in the kidney region, severe headaches, rheumatic twinges, torpid liver, acid stomach, sleeplessness and all sorts of bladder disorders.

You simply must keep your kidneys active and clean, and the moment you feel an ache or pain in the kidney region, get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any good drug store here, take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and is harmless to flush clogged kidneys and stimulate them to normal activity. It also neutralizes the acids in the urine so it no longer irritates, thus ending bladder disorders.

Jad Salts is harmless; inexpensive; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which everybody should take now and then to keep their kidneys clean, thus avoiding serious complications.

A well-known local druggist says he sells lots of Jad Salts to folks who believe in overcoming kidney trouble while it is only trouble.

This Company invests a certain portion of its funds in gilt edge mortgages and is willing to sell these mortgages from time to time to persons desiring conservative investments.

We are always pleased to talk over investments with persons having idle funds in an endeavor to be of service and will be glad to submit our offerings to any one who may be interested.

Twenty-nine classes, from 1872 to 1918, were represented among the fifty-nine members and guests who attended the annual dinner of the Princeton Club of Plainfield, which was held last evening at the Country Club. Among the out-of-town guests were Dr. Philip Marshall Brown, of the Princeton Graduate College; Alfred G. Reeves, of the class of 1884, and J. H. Mayor Calkins, in his speech, made a plea for the increased interest of college men in the local government, and for support of the movement for "home rule" of municipalities. Referring to the present international crisis, he expressed the hope that every American would consider himself a Princeton man in his support of Woodrow Wilson.

It was voted to send to President Wilson the following message:

"The Princeton Club of Plainfield, together with its guests from Harvard, Yale and the University of Pennsylvania, at its annual meeting held at the Plainfield Country Club, on May 14, 1915, desires to say to you that it feels proud of the fact that a graduate of Princeton is at the head of the nation in the crisis now confronting it, and it pledges you its loyal and hearty support at this time when you are carrying the heaviest of burdens."

At a short business meeting during the dinner, the officers of the club were re-elected, as follows: President, Samuel T. Carter, Jr.; vice president, Brown Rolston; secretary, A. B. Beers; treasurer, P. A. Ransome.

THIEVES SEARCHED HOUSE BUT FAILED TO GET LOOT

Sometime between the hours of 7 and 9:30 last night, thieves entered the home of George Neff, at 704 Carlton avenue, and ransacked the place from cellar to garret. Although the intruders had apparently made a thorough search the owner told the police that nothing of value was missing. Entrance was gained through a side window.

In their search through the house the culprits, for some reason, turned every electric light bulb in the house around so they could not be lighted.

SUDDEN DEATH OF MRS. ISABELLA JACKSON

Mrs. Isabella Jackson, widow of Andrew Jackson, died suddenly last night, at her home at 510 Arlington avenue. She had been ailing for several months, but yesterday was about the house as usual and gave absolutely no intimation of a serious complication. Late last night she was stricken with apoplexy, passing away in a very short while.

Mrs. Jackson was a native of Castleton, Vermont, but had made her home in Plainfield for the past forty years. She had a very wide circle of friends to all of whom news of her death will come with deep regret. When her health permitted she attended service at the Congregational church, where she had been a member and devoted worker for many years. Mrs. Jackson's only surviving relative is Miss Addie Parker Jackson, physical director in the city schools. Mother and daughter have been devoted to each other and the blow to Miss Jackson is an especially sad one.

The funeral will be held at the late home tomorrow afternoon at 4 o'clock and will be in charge of Rev. C. L. Goodrich. The interment will be private.

PLAN DEDICATION OF NEW EDIFICE

Impressive Services Will Be Held at St. Bernard's Church Tomorrow.

PARADE OF SOCIETIES

First Mass Will Be Celebrated in the Morning to Be Followed by Public Exercises in the Afternoon—Many Visiting Priests Expected.

Father B. M. Bogan, through whose administration the recently completed St. Bernard's chapel on Emerson avenue, was made a possibility, will tomorrow conduct the exercises conferring the solemn blessing on the new edifice. The services will begin at 9:30 and will precede the Mass of Thanksgiving to be celebrated at 10 o'clock.

According to the ritual of the Catholic Church, the building cannot be used for divine service until the blessing has been bestowed. The congregation that may assemble at 9:30 will not be admitted to the church until the conclusion of the dedicatory ceremonies. Promptly at 9.30 the procession of altar boys and clergy will file from the chancel to the main entrance, where the ceremonies of blessing will take place, circling the church, and reciting the prayers of the ritual the building will be solemnly set apart for the service of God. At 10 o'clock the Mass of Thanksgiving will be celebrated, at which the choir of St. Mary's church will assist, under the direction of Miss Mary Smith, the organist.

In the afternoon at 3 o'clock the parish celebration will take place. The men's societies of Union county, and the neighboring church of St. Joseph's, St. Johns, of Dunellen, and Sacred Heart, of South Plainfield, will take part in the procession which will be in three divisions—the main line starting from St. Mary's church at 2:15, headed by St. Mary's Fife and Drum Corps, will march through Fifth street to South avenue. At Watchung avenue it will be joined by the men of St. Joseph's and at Richmond street by the East End division, under the direction of Jeremiah Callahan. The line of march will be South avenue to Leland avenue, to George street and Emerson avenue. At the church the solemn benediction will be imparted by the Rt. Rev. Monsignor Patrick E. Smyth, of Jersey City, and formerly rector of St. Mary's. The sermon will be preached by the Rev. John J. Dillon, of St. Patrick's Cathedral, Newark.

When the new parish has become well established, within four years, it is the intention of Father Bogan to erect a larger building on the tract of land already purchased on the Chelsea Boulevard, near by. The church of St. Bernard's seats three hundred, the interior is in quartered oak, wainscoting, pews and chancel. It is expected that twenty priests of the neighborhood will assist Monsignor Smyth at the afternoon ceremonies, with Rev. Father James Delehanty, Father Michael Giennon, Father John Butscher, as deacon, sub-deacon and master of ceremonies, respectively. Father Bogan will entertain the visiting clergy at luncheon at St. Mary's rectory after the celebration. The Main Line trolley will be found most convenient to the church on Emerson avenue.

PLAINFIELD THEATRE CLOSED NEXT WEEK

Will Re-open May 24 But is to Be Dark While Airdrome is Being Operated.

Owing to counter attractions of circus and carnival, Manager M. L. Shannon has decided to close the Plainfield Theatre all next week. After tonight's performance of Mary Pickford in the five-part photo-play feature, "A Good Little Devil," the house will be dark until Monday afternoon, May 24, when the present high-class programs of moving pictures will be presented.

Mr. Shannon and his assistants are now devoting their energies to completing work on the new airdrome at Front street and Watchung avenue, a license for which has just been granted by Mayor Calkins. It is the hope of the proprietors to have everything in readiness for the opening on Decoration Day. That it will undoubtedly prove highly popular with local people goes without saying, as airdromes are the acknowledged ideal summer homes for screen entertainment. The same Paramount series of pictures as have been given at the Plainfield Theatre all winter will be continued at the airdrome and Manager Shannon also announces that he has many surprises in store for its patrons. The West Second street playhouse will be closed for the summer as soon as the airdrome begins operations.

JUDGE "RIDES" CHAUFFEUR WHO MALTREATED AN INFANT

Charged with daubing a six-year-old child's face with grease and oil, George H. Norberg, a chauffeur employed in a Madison avenue garage, was given the option of paying a $10 fine or spending forty days in the county jail when he was arraigned before Judge DeMeza in the city police court, this morning. The offense was committed yesterday morning and the infant's mother appeared as complainant. Norberg said that he did it to keep the youngster away from the garage.

"You're one of these smart 'alecs' who think it's fun to maltreat an infant," exclaimed Judge DeMeza in an indignant fashion when Norberg was brought before him. "The place for such men as you is in jail and if you're ever found guilty of a similar offense I will not hesitate an instant in locking you up. This is one of the lowest, dirtiest and most contemptible tricks a forty-year-old man could be guilty of."

Because he received stolen goods from two fourteen-year-old colored boys, Guttman Laury, a Hebrew junk dealer, living in the West End of the city, was sentenced to pay a fine of $10 or serve forty days in the county jail by Judge DeMeza in the city police court, this morning. Dressed in his Sunday clothes and pleading to be allowed to go out and collect the necessary fine fund, Laury was led away to a cell where he will probably have to sojourn for the forty days.

He pleaded guilty to paying Joseph Moore and Joseph Robinson, two fourteen-year-old colored boys, twenty-five cents for a tire they had stolen from Alexander Milne. The boys have given the police considerable trouble in the past and they were held for the juvenile court. Efforts will be made to have them committed to the State Home for Boys at Jamesburg.

ANOTHER GAIN FOR FRENCH ARMY

Push Germans Back 500 Metres North of Arras, Says Statement.

CZAR MAKES HEADWAY

Petrograd Reports That Austrians Have Been Driven From Bukowina Positions Along 94-Mile Front—Anti-German Riots in Africa.

Paris, May 15—A gain of 500 metres for the French north of Arras is reported in an official communique issued by the French war office today. An artillery duel of the utmost violence is raging in the sector of Arras, each side putting its heaviest artillery against the other. The French gain was made toward Souchez, seven miles from Arras, in the direction of a sugar mill which the Germans occupied and fortified.

Petrograd, May 15—The following official communication was issued:

"In the region of Shavil the fighting is developing under conditions favorable to us. Yesterday we took more than 1,000 German prisoners and captured nine machine guns.

"In western Galicia the intensity of the fighting lessened on May 10. Our troops are concentrating gradually on the line of the River San with the object of occupying a shorter front.

"The Austrian army evacuated on the 11th a strongly fortified position extending from the Bistritza River to the Roumanian frontier, in length 140 versts (about ninety-four miles), and fell back precipitately on the 12th beyond the River Pruth. The enemy's cavalry, which was sacrificed in repeated charges to protect the general retreat, was dispersed by our fire.

"Our cavalry division broke through the enemy's front at various points, and, by successful charges, threw the enemy's columns, which were on the march, into disorder.

"Our vigorous pursuit of the enemy continues under conditions particularly favorable to us. The great number of prisoners we already have taken is being rapidly increased."

London, May 15—The police throughout the country are busy gathering subjects of hostile countries of a military age and despatching them to concentration camps. Many hundreds voluntarily surrendered and were sent off in batches, five hundred going to Southend to be placed aboard steamers which have been fitted up for the purpose.

The only difficulty the authorities are facing is that of finding room, as the suddenness with which the government came to its decision following the riots gave no time to prepare new camps.

Johannesburg, South Africa, May 15—Numerous clashes occurred here today between troops and antiGerman rioters. All German owned property in the city has been destroyed or damaged. Anti-German riots are also reported from Fort Elizabeth, Kimberly and Bloemfonteim.

Rome, May 15—Before its downfall, the Salandra cobinet concluded a secret treaty with the powers of the Triple Entente, England, France and Russia, according to the Giornal d'Italia. The newspaper states that the Cabinet denounced the Triple Alliance.

NO FURTHER REPORTS ON PLANS FOR BAND CONCERTS

The committee having charge of the band concert and incorporation arrangement did not have its data in proper form for presentation last night.

The last meeting of the association will be held the second Tuesday in June. At this time the annual two months' summer recess will be declared.

TWO AMERICANS KILLED.

The cable denied that the entire American settlement had been wiped out.

SHROPE GIRL BALKS IN PRESSING CHARGES

Appearing before the Hudson County Grand Jury, in Jersey City, yesterday, Miss Laura Shrope, the eighteen-year-old daughter of Melvin Shrope, of Railroad avenue, South Plainfield, made a request to have her charges preferred on March 10 last, against Rev. Walter G. Jones, of Jersey City, withdrawn. The Grand Jury accordingly threw out the proceedings and new developments are expected by the friends of the clergyman.

Mr. Jones, who is pastor of the North Baptist church, in Jersey City, was made the object of serious allegations lodged by the girl and was arrested and later released in $2,500 bonds. The case attracted wide attention in Hudson county and his parishioners in the North Baptist church, which is one of the largest of that denomination in lower Jersey City, as well as many influential and wealthy friends, have taken up the issue in his behalf. They are staunch in their belief that the charges resulted from spite and that they are of an infamous character.

Two men, representing Mr. Jones, visited Plainfield last night and interviewed relatives of the Shrope girl here. It is also known that detectives have been working in South Plainfield ever since the charges were filed.

The minister charges that the entire affair was a "frame-up" and has announced that he intends to get at the bottom of the matter with a view to clearing himself. In withdrawing her charges the girl gave as a reason that the offense was committed, "but that it did not seriously affect her health."

It was alleged by the South Plainfield girl that during the months of November and December, while she was employed as a maid in the Jones' household, the pastor became friendly with her. The accuser further stated that when Mrs. Jones and her children left for Florida the early part of December she was told that her services were no longer required, and she immediately left and returned to her home in South Plainfield. The complainant did not tell anyone of the affair until March 9, and her father accompanied her to Jersey City the next day.

PLAINFIELDERS PASSENGERS ON ENGLISH STEAMER CYMBRIC

Mr. Jackson, accompanied by his sister, Mrs. Harry Brockley, and her husband, made efforts to have their passage transferred to the American Liner St. Paul for today, but were unable to on account of the great demand for accommodation since the Lusitania disaster.

The Cymbric so far as known is not carrying any American passengers on this trip, but she is well loaded with several thousand pounds of ammunition.

SAYS HE WAS RUN OVER BY AUTO RUNNING BACKWARDS

George Raymond, an orderly in Muhlenberg Hospital, sustained injuries on Park avenue, yesterday afternoon, which he told the police were done by an automobile backing out of Martin's garage. According to the injured man he was knocked to the pavement, but picked himself up and went immediately to the hospital.

He says his arm was fractured and that he sustained a number of severe lacerations about the head and face. He is endeavoring to locate the person owning the machine.

AWAIT NEXT MOVE BY THE KAISER

U. S. Note Believed to Be in Hands of German Minister of Foreign Affairs.

REPLY IN TEN DAYS

Official Washington Believes Answer Will Be Made Within That Time—President is Believed After Strain of Past Week.

Washington, May 15.—With the expectation that word will be received at any time from Ambassador Gerard in Berlin that the note sent by the United States to Germany has been delivered, official Washington is waiting for Germany to make the next move. It was erroneously reported yesterday that the note had been delivered, and the cause of the delay in transmission is not known as yet. That the German minister of foreign affairs now has it is believed in Washington, and the next move by Germany will probably be made within ten days, within which time a formal reply is looked for.

In the mean time, in the absence of President Wilson, activity in official circles had ceased pending a possible intimation from Ambassador Gerard of the trend of Germany's reply. However, discussion in diplomatic quarters over Germany's probable attitude continued today. Although Count von Bernstoff, the German ambassador, still was silent, some of his friends said that he was pleased with the friendly character of the note and was confident that the controversy could be satisfactorily adjusted.

Secretary Bryan received a message from Ambassador Thomas Nelson Page at Rome saying the note, which had been addressed to the American embassy there to be forwarded by telegraph, had arrived at 2 p. m. yesterday and that in an hour and forty minutes it had been copied and relayed to Berlin by telegraph via Vienna.

Official Washington talks of little else than the note. The practically unanimous approval given it in the editorial comment of the American press, the statements of governors, senators, and members of the House was re-enforced by an incessant stream of messages from persons of every political party and from a variety of organizations and associations. President Wilson told callers yesterday that he was deeply grateful and appreciated the patriotic support that was being given him on every side.

The President appeared somewhat relieved at the strain of the last week. This was due to the fact that there probably would be no further development in the situation until some intimation came from Ambassador Gerard as to how the officials of the German government informally regarded the tone and requests of the note.

SOCIAL CLUB'S ANNUAL BALL LARGELY ATTENDED

The ninth annual ball of the Owl Social Club, held in Saengerbund Hall last night was largely attended. Excellent music was furnished by Halbfoerster's Tango Band, of Elizabeth. BACK DRAUGHT IN CHIMNEY.

A back draught in a chimney at the home of Ernest T. Hand, on Netherwood avenue, this morning, led the family to believe that a fire was in progress between the walls. Over fifty couples spent a pleasant time at the dance held in the Stony Hill parish house, last night, and auto bus, taxicabs and wagons from Plainfield, Westfield, Dunellen and other places were pressed into service to convey one of the largest crowds that has ever attended any of the many popular dances that have been held at that place. The Soiree Dansante held in Fanwood Hall, last night, under the auspices of the All Saints' Episcopal church, attracted one of the largest crowds that has ever gathered in the hall, people coming from Plainfield, Westfield and the 'Plains and borough. A very interesting illustrated lecture on "California—A Bad Place to Live In," was given by the Rev. Oscar Stuart Michael, who has not long returned from a year's traveling in that State in search of a home. He spoke of the numerous beguiling catch-penny advertising circulars spread broadcast throughout the country, which seek to induce people to invest in California land. He described some distressing results of such deceptive advertising. All the stereopticon views were from pictures taken by him while on the trip. The Westfield orchestra gave a short concert and later played for the dancing, which was enjoyed by about thirty couple. Refreshments were served by the women of the church.

U. S. ASTOR THEATRE

The pictorial dessert of the season, "The Juggernaut," will be shown at the U. S. Astor Theatre, Monday and Tuesday, this being its first and doubtless its last presentation in Plainfield. "The Juggernaut" is a photoplay of much excitement, the emotion attaining a climax when a complete train of eight cars plunge through a high trestle into the river, its passengers drowning, the cars being splintered and the engine boiler bursting in a hissing cloud of steam. This was one of the biggest, most daring and by far the most expensive things ever done for the moving pictures. The scene depicting the engine plunging off the bridge, men, women and children struggling to keep themselves afloat; the bodies of others wedged among the wreckage and the daring efforts of the rescuers, is beyond question the most realistic visualization ever produced. "The Jugggernaut" was produced by the Vitagraph Company of America. It was its first release under the new combination of Vitagraph, Lubin, Selig and Essanay, the four oldest and largest manufacturers of photo-plays in this country, and it well merits the distinction. The leading characters are portrayed by Earl Williams and Miss Anita Stewart, who is making Mary Pickford look to her laurels.

The Week's Work In Brief

Sow peas, beans, carrots, radishes and spinach for succession.
Set out peppers and tomato plants.
Plant more gladioli for succession.
Begin a small water garden.
Sow balsam, portulaca, dianthus, nicotiana and mignonette.
Set out cannas and caladiums; try some zephyranthes and tigridias.

IT must be the aim of the planter of the small area to get not only as much from a little space as it can be forced to yield, but to get quality and variety from it as well. Selecting only the best sorts, cultivating them frequently, planting thickly and fertilizing liberally and sowing for succession are the means toward success. Time was when, in the average family garden, vegetables were had in their "season"—no earlier and no later. There were days when peas were a surfeit; other days when there were no peas at all. And this was true, too, of all the other vegetables. But intensive cultivation has changed that. Nowadays it is only the careless gardener who plants all his peas, his beans, his carrots, his radishes, etc., at one planting. The gardener of forethought plants smaller quantities at a time and plants often and enjoys, as a result, a longer "season" for every vegetable he grows. He plants, in short, for successive crops.

String beans, radishes, spinach and peas planted earlier in the spring should all now be so far along that planting for succession ought to suggest itself. Sow seed of these vegetables as they were sown for the earlier crops—slightly deeper if the weather is unseasonably warm, but, otherwise, as formerly.

In the flower garden, if circumstances have prevented earlier sowing of the seed of annuals, get them into the ground without further delay. Observe beds and borders of hardy herbaceous perennials with the object in view of learning the names of attractive varieties that you may later introduce them into your own garden. It is well to keep a list to be referred to when the fall planting season has arrived. Many nurserymen, however, grow perennials in pots and these can be purchased now and set out immediately, to become well established before summer heat and drought are at hand. More gladioli corms can now be set out to afford bloom when those earlier planted are beginning to wane. This succession of planting, with a two weeks' interval between, may be continued advantageously until the middle of June. Plant the smaller corms earliest — the larger later. The latter withstand the dry heat of summer better than the former.

Aquatic gardening has grown rapidly in popular favor during the last few seasons and promises to be even more extensively practiced as its simple cultural details become better known. Even a small water garden is a charming feature of a city or suburban yard and can be established, if one begins on a small scale, at little cost. Not a few of the most beautiful lilies can be grown in tubs or half barrels. These, if desired, can be sunk in the ground and surrounded by a border of irises, whose foliage will conceal the containers and lend additional beauty to lilies themseves. Many persons still entertain the idea that a good-sized pond or some sluggish-moving stream is necessary for water-lily cultivation. Nothing of the sort, however, is required. Concrete pools are common and can easily be constructed, even with unskilled labor. But where circumstances do not appear to justify this expenditure, or the beginner prefers to experiment a year or two before constructing a permanent pool, the tubs or half barrels will serve his purpose admirably.

Sink them in the ground until not more than a fourth remains above the surface. A group of them can be formed, if space permits, with three in the back row and two in the front row. Place them close together and fill in between them with rich soil. In this plant cyperus, or parrot's feather, the iris already referred to or hemerocallis. The soil for the water-lilies should be a mixture made up of three parts of good, clean, rich loam and one part of thoroughly rotted cow manure. Stir together well. If cow manure is not available, pulverized sheep manure can be bought of seedsmen. But if this is substituted, use four parts of the loam to only one part of the manure.

Fill the tubs or barrels two-thirds deep with this mixture and add water to the container's capacity. The water should be added several days before the roots are set in the soil. This allows for the necessary warming of the water by the sun's rays. After the roots are planted, nothing remains to be done except to see that the water supply is maintained replenishing what is lost through evaporations. The hardy varieties of lilies may be set out at once, but it is best to wait ten days or a fortnight longer before setting out the tender sorts. When the roots are planted, cover the surface of the soil with a half-inch layer of clean, white sand. Stock each tub with two small gold fish; they will destroy all mosquito larvae and other insects. Odorata minor, marliacea chromatella, pygmaea and pygmaea helvola are nymphaeas that will prove successful in the hands of even the most inexperienced grower. All are excellent for tub cultivation. Bear in mind the fact, when selecting the site for the water garden, that all the lilies demand full exposure to the sun. Grow them, therefore, in the sunniest spot available.

In the flower garden, sow seeds of mignonette, nicotiana, portulaca, dianthus and balsam. Seed of portulaca are not covered; sow on the surface and firm with a smooth board pressed down on the soil. Nicotiana and mignonette are planted one-eighth of an inch deep, the latter where it is to bloom, as it does not take kindly to transplanting. Dianthus, or China pinks, are planted only one-sixteenth of an inch deep. Balsam is sown one-fourth inch deep and the seedlings are thinned to stand 20 inches apart. Thin mignonette, portulaca and dianthus to stand six inches apart and nicotiana nine inches apart.

Stool Of Canna, Showing How To Divide The Clump.

The development of the canna in recent years has been little short of marvelous. Blooming varieties are now to be had that bear flowers eight inches in diameter. Divide old clumps before planting, cutting so that a piece of the root stock adhered to each division. They prefer a deep, rich soil and a fairly sunny situation. Caladiums (elephant ears) are grown for their foliage. They demand sun and moisture and may be treated as cannas are. Zephyranthes or zephyr flower, or "fairy" lilies, are beautiful, dwarf bulbous plants growing about eight inches high. Set out now, four inches deep, they will bloom continuously later in the summer. Two varieties are to be had, white and rose, and both are excellent. The tigradias, or shell flowers, also deserve to be planted more generally. They attain a height of 18 inches and are to be had in various shades of yellow, in crimson and in pink. Set the bulbs three inches deep. Both Tigridias and Zephyranthes, like gladioli, are tender and must be lifted in the fall.

BLUFFING.

The spirit of bluffing runs wild in the Anglo-Saxon blood. So thoroughly does it permeate English and American character, that it may be truly said that a large proportion of individuals among these peoples are constantly "putting up" or maintaining in their daily lives, at least one of the many varieties of bluff. While in some instances this bluff may be entirely innocent and harmless, or, in rare cases even praiseworthy, generally speaking it is quite otherwise and greatly calculated to make the "judicious grieve." In recent years the meaning and application of the word, in the particular sense I'm about to use it, has become richer and much enlarged; originally restricted to a game of cards, it has now become the recognized synonym for what may be denominated in the argot of the street, as "throwing" or "putting on a front." In other words the term "bluff" often means pretension to what does not exist in character, cultivation, capacity, position and the like.

It is truly wonderful, nay, well night incredible to observe how men and women will pass their whole existence bluffing along these lines with all the guileless serenity of childhood, totally oblivious to the fact that none but the most credulous and unsophisticated are "on." In this category, the kind most commonly met with, and the one most apt to cause in a normal stomach that "all gone" feeling produced by taking an emetic, is the "holier than thou" bluff. Though it may produce nausea, strangely enough as a "money-getter," it has all other kinds beaten to a "frazzle."

In a neighboring city we have today a case in point; where a man of unusual personal magnetism has set up a business especially devoted to the saving of souls. The business is wholesale, conducted on the most approved business principles and its proprietor is said to be rapidly accumulating thereby an enormous fortune. He has already acquired the widespread notoriety so much coveted by people of his stamp. We read how the "barkers" and "pullers in," by main force drag and push the oft unwilling sinner to the tabernacle's front, that Billy Sunday with grotesque gymnastic accompaniment, may save his soul from the unending flames of perdition.

Older readers of the Press will remember that these muscular auxiliaries of Billy in his "work," once had their prototype on Baxter and Chatham streets, in New York, where the casual passerby ran imminent risk of being set upon, kidnapped and forced to buy an "elegant" suit of clothes, "varranted to fit like baper on de vall."

Think of it! think for one moment of going to this man, so evidently out for the shekels, to get information concerning the welfare of your immortal soul. Think of listening to the slangy and blasphemous imaginary conversations, the familiar and interesting little chats he holds with his most esteemed and intimate friend—the Almighty!—and then at night, consider the stars in all their glory.

Think of Billy Sunday's scurrilous (I cannot in charity call it ignorant) abuse of people who sometimes attend the theatre, dance, play cards or smoke cigarettes; people often as good or better than he is himself. Think of being taken in feeling and sentiment by his lurid vaporings about hell—for others—back to the days when:

"The stealer of sheep and the slayer of men,
Were strung up together, again and again."

It is safe to say that Mr. Sunday has been too much absorbed in the study of vituperation and the monstrous doctrine of everlasting punishment and the advantages of their exploitation from a financial standpoint, to have ever come across the following lines from Alexander Pope's Universal Prayer, and if he did so it is likewise safe to say, his reactionary and perverted nature was not at all favorably impressed. These are the words:

Let not this weak unknowing hand
Presume thy bolts to throw.
And deal damnation round the land,
On each I judge thy foe.

Teach me to feel another's woe,
To hide the fault I see:
That mercy I to others show,
That mercy show to me.

No, his ideas are different. "It's a good thing," he says, "I'm not God for fifteen minutes. If I were, I'd fill your papers with obituaries and freight cars with your dead." Admirable Christian sentiment! At another time, with all the blood-lust of the Middle Ages, he cries "To hell with the Turk! To hell with the highbrows." The words perhaps are a little crude and rude, but what a world of Christian love and charity they imply! Here are one or two more gems, taken at random from his sermons:

"Now, I hate to hear a lot of ministers talk about Jesus Christ as if he were a dough-headed, pudding-faced nonentity, that allowed everybody to make a doormat of him. If you think Jesus Christ couldn't go some, you're mistaken. You've heard some of these mutts ask: 'What would Jesus do, if he were here today?' I say, He'd skin 'em, that's what He'd do!" Noble thought, but how tough the epidermis on some of those he affectionately calls "mutts" would be! In the same exalted strain Sunday further says:

"If a minister believes and teaches evolution, he is a stinking skunk, a hypocrite and a liar!" Also, "If a woman on the avenue plays cards, she is worse than any blackleg gambler in the slums." Volumes could be filled with yawps of his such as these, but I will give one more only; to illustrate Sunday's idea of how he'll make his report at the Day of Judgment, I'll quote from a sermon he delivered (without being lynched!) before an audience in Philadelphia.

"'You were down in Phillie, weren't you Billy?' the Lord will ask me, and I'll say to Him, Yes, Sir, Lord, I was there

"'Did you give them my message of salvation, Billy?'

"I gave them your message, Lord. I gave it to them the best way I could and as I understood it. You go get the files of the Philadelphia papers. They printed my sermons, Lord. You'll see in them what I preached," will be my answer. And the Lord will say 'Come on in Bill, you're free from Philadelphia's blood.'"

Do we find this vulgar sort of impudence to the Lord of the Universe, the "King eternal, immortal and invisible," intimated in the vaguest way anywhere on the sacred page of Scripture? Does the Bible anywhere inculcate and encourage in the slightest degree, such a spirit of irreverence? Does Sunday realize, has he yet realized, that to preach a God who consigns the spirit of his own creature to eternal torment, while it may have been well enough when the world was completely darkened by superstition, is defining God as a monster is today farcical? Has he ever stopped to think that Jesus taught mankind to "love one another" and never countenanced the doctrine of hate?

It is a wonder that the clergy in the United States have not arisen as one man to disavow and denounce this mountebank's cheapening and belittling of poor humanity's idea of the unsearchable and awful Jehovah!—this virulent defamer of his fellow men. But no, scarcely more than the barest peep of a protest has as yet been heard—some among them have even approved, while their general silence has been as noticeable and about as impressive as that maintained by the well known and proverbial clam.

Of one thing, however, the reverend gentlemen can confidently rest assured and that is this: That among the thoughtful and intelligent, as the result of such teachings, scoffers at the Christian religion will grow in strength and number, and thousands of honest, earnest and justice loving people be deterred from embracing it.

GEORGE I. SILL.

THE FORUM

Editor, Plainfield Daily Press:

In common with many other residents in Plainfield, I am very much interested in having the 12 o'clock express from New York stop at Plainfield. You will recall that for many years this train made a stop, but some three or four years ago the stop was discontinued, but the 11.30 express from New York was stopped. On Saturdays particularly, it is a great convenience for those who wish to spend Saturday afternoon at home to be able to use this train, as it enables them to get home in time for lunch, and by an extra effort it was even possible to use the 11:30 during the time that this made the stop.

At present, however, there is nothing but the 12 o'clock local, which is slow and exasperating. Last Saturday it took an hour and twelve minutes for this train to reach Plainfield, and this is about the usual time. If the 12 o'clock express would stop on Saturdays only, it would be a vast convenience, while if it stopped every day, it would of course accommodate very many more people.

Some time ago I wrote to the passenger department asking them to consider the stopping of the train on Saturdays at least, and they replied in effect, that it would accommodate too many people, that is to say, so many people would use the train that in some way it would inconvenience them. I had always previously supposed that the fact that a train was extensively used was a good reason for maintaining the service.

Another matter to which I would like to call your attention, is the character of some of the cars used upon some of the commuters' trains. There is a series of these cars which vibrate and shake to such an extent that it is almost impossible to read. Whether this is due to faulty construction or the age of the cars I cannot say. It is apparently not due to the roadbed because this is not noticed upon other cars, but the matter is serious enough in my opinion to be the subject of representation to the Public Service Commission. It is absolutely ruinous to the eyes to attempt to read upon these cars and it is a matter of certainty, not mere conjecture, that many of us who are obliged to use these cars continually have felt their effects in the unnecessary strain put upon the eyes in reading.

I would be very glad to be one of a group to present this matter first to the Railroad Company and then, if necessary, to the Public Service Commission, as I think it is serious enough to merit decided action.

FRANK L. HOLT.

Editor Plainfield Daily Press:

Will you please correct an error in your suffrage column of Wednesday last? What Mr. Metcalf wrote and what I intended that he should be correctly quoted as saying was as follows:

"I acknowledge woman to be the equal or superior of man in every respect in which she appears successful in proving herself so."

ANTI-SUFFRAGE

Conducted by New Jersey Association Opposed to Woman Suffrage.

The following leading article, taken from the "Remonstrance," for January, 1915, places the situation in the suffrage question so clearly before the people that it should be carefully read by our New Jersey men, who will be called on to decide this question on October 19, of this year. "New Jersey" has been substituted for "Massachusetts" and one or two purely local allusions have been eliminated.

We find in the meagre suffrage results of last November's elections—in which two sparsely-settled mining States, with a combined population of less than half a million, accepted suffrage, while five States, with a combined population of more than ten millions, rejected it—evidence of a strong reaction against the suffrage movement.

We regard the vote in Ohio, where the majority against suffrage was more than twice as large as in 1912, as an indication that the suffrage cause is not gaining, but losing ground.

We are confident that they can trust the men of New Jersey not to thrust upon the women of the State—against the wishes of a large majority of them—the burdens and responsibilities of the ballot.

And, in order that the majority against this proposal may be so large as to avert a recurrence of the agitation for years to come, we ask the assistance, in this campaign, of all New Jersey men and women who realize how important are the issues at stake.

How Rapidly Suffrage Sentiment is Growing.

"In one State—Ohio—there was a chance to deermine whether the suffrage element is gaining or losing strength. In 1912 the proposed amendment was defeated by a majorty of 87,455; last November by a majority of 182,905."—The Remonstrance, January, 1915.

If anti-suffrage gains 92,450 in two years, how long will it take to wipe out the suffrage vote completely?

It cannot be too often insisted on that we need an overwhelming majority against woman suffrage this fall. The larger the majority the surer and easier the prompt defeat of attempts at securing a Federal amendment.

We are sometimes called obstructionists. So is a dam an obstruction, but placed in the right position, it stores up power which would otherwise be wasted, and puts that power at the disposal of the country.

We were treated in the "Votes for Women" column of May 12 to a number of endorsements of woman suffrage by men of more or less prominence. But every one of them was an interested party, dependent on votes for political power. Interested evidence is not very trustworthy.

Our opponents are very fond of telling us that woman's work has been taken out of the home, and that therefore she has time that her predecessors lacked to spend on political duties. Here is the conclusion of Mrs. Franks, speaking before the Municipal Housewives' League, as reported in the New York Times, May 6.

"To be a successful housewife requires all the intelligence that any woman can bring to bear upon the subject. She must have the business ability of a captain of industry, she must have the knowledge of a diplomatist, and she must have the sympathy which is best developed in her own important profession, that of the housewife."

Mrs. Franks was speaking to housewives who employ servants, "captains of industry;" here is the other side of the picture—the woman who does all or almost all her own work.

It really isn't hard to be a mother.
There really isn't very much to do;
The days are just exactly like each other—
You simply shut your eyes and wander through!

For six o'clock is time enough for rising,
And getting all the children washed and dressed,
And breakfast cooked—it really is surprising,
But mothers never seem to need a rest.

The lunches must be packed and jackets rounded,
And everybody soothed and sent to school.
To say that mother rushes is unfounded—
She's nothing more to manage, as a rule.

Unless it is to finish piles of sewing,
And cook and wash and iron and scrub and sweep,
To order food and keep the furnace going—
And then perhaps to hide herself and weep!

And when at last she's tucked them under covers,
And seen to doors that Dad's forgot to lock,
Triumphantly, at midnight, she discovers,
She's nothing more to do till six o'clock.

—Jane Burr.

But if the poor woman was a voter she would still have to study the papers to see how she could vote so as to "mother" the government properly and do her share in municipal housekeeping. Her husband found out these things in the couse of his day's work by talking with his fellow workers, or in the evenings when his day's work was done.

And it is such women who form the bulk of our female population. And it is in homes governed by women doing their duty that the characters of our voters are formed. Principles are taught which will make sensible, honest men, who, while not infallible in judgment will stand for righteousness in the nation because they were taught to know right from wrong by these same hardworked mothers.

"INSTINCT VS. REASON" THEME OF SERMON

Rev. Dr. Philip B. Strong Will Endeavor to Show a Radical Difference.

The attendance last Sunday at the First Baptist church, when Rev. Dr. Strong preached upon "Evolution," was very large. A notable number of teachers, both resident and outside of Plainfield, were present while the pupils of the public schools were in marked evidence. The discourse, which lasted over an hour, was listened to with the closest attention and many came forward to express their great pleasure and profit in hearing the matter discussed by one who has given it years of thought and wide reading. Dr. Strong's library, which is one of the largest private collections to be found, is full of books along scientific as well as theological and literary lines and especially well supplied with up-to-date works of reference. He is therefore able at once to verify statements that occur in print or to disprove erroneous assertions and he has watched the trend away from evolution very closely for the last fifteen years during which the drift away from Darwinism and allied hypotheses has been increasingly pronounced.

Tomorrow morning, Dr. Strong will preach upon the kindred theme, "Instinct Versus Reason," and he will endeavor to show that the two things are radically different and that the gulf between man and beast is not only one of degree but undeniably one of kind, that instinct is never reason and that reason is never instinct; that instinct both by falling infinitely below reason in some particulars and rising vastly above reason in other respects makes it plain that the two are absolutely distinct. The sermon tomorrow will not only be informing but interesting and even entertaining, several somewhat amusing features being introduced into the discourse. Preceding tomorrow's sermon Dr. Strong will give a brief resume of last Sunday's discourse with several additional items. As usual a cordial invitation is extended to all interested.

N. P. H. S. NOTES.

The eighth grade in the grammar school has established a record for punctuality heretofore unequaled in the school. There has not been a single absence or tardiness in the class for six months.

The chemistry class has been receiving a series of lectures from Mr. Earley regarding the practical commercial side of the science, and recently he has dealt with the manufacture of zinc.

But one month remains to decide the prize awards for spelling. Ethel Winn, of the fifth grade, leads in the grades with one word misspelled out of the four hundred that have been given. Anne Hull and Augustus Van Deventer are tied for the High School prize. Neither has made a single mistake.

A request has been sent by Mr Earley to the New York Edison Company for an exhibit of electrical appartus for the benefit of the High School chemistry and civics department.

MAY ARRANGE SERIES.

Manager Stites, of the local Moose baseball team, is trying to arrange a series with the Elizabeth Moose aggregation, which is a contender in the Moose League. A series will probably be arranged on Sundays, when the Betsytowners are not in action in league matches. The local team is handicapped by not having a suitable field. Manager Stites would like to hear from other teams in this vicinity for Sunday games.

P. H. S. GAME MONDAY.

The Morristown High School baseball team is scheduled to meet Plainfield High School on Parker Field, Monday afternoon.

PLAINFIELD MOOSE PLAY DOUBLE-HEADER SUNDAY

Winning one game a week is not work enough for the Plainfield Moose baseball team, and tomorrow the representatives of "310" will take part in a double bill on the Emerson avenue grounds. The Moose boys have played four games so far this season and all have been wins. The first game tomorrow will be with the Farmer A. C. and will be the initial tilt for the Farmer aggregation.

The second part of the bill is the big attraction, the Netherwood Highlanders being the second party. This will be the third game of the series between the Highlanders and the Moose and the boys from the East End need this one to stay in the running. The Moose already have two tucked away and are confident of ending the argument tomorrow. In the first game, which will start at 2 o'clock, Harry Stites, who has pitched all the games for the Moose so far, will be in the box and he will also start against the Highlanders at 3:30 o'clock. Stites and Dodd form a good combination, and with good support, will make any team play its best. The Moose team will lineup as follows: H. Stites, p; Dodd, c; L. Stites, 1b; M. Coughlin, 2b; Terry, ss; Wall, 3b; P. Terry, rf; Ferrero, cf; Hoagland, lf.

Racing in Germany is billed for revival tomorrow. Sunday meets will be held in Berlin and the other big cities, with American jockeys and trainers.

The American Association clubs today cut their teams to sixteen men each. Four more men will be allowed after August 15.

The Orientals are holding their Olympic meet, beginning today. Shanghai gets the meet this year. Japan, Korea, Siam and the Philippines are contesting.

CITY AND BORO SCHOOL FORCES AT IT AGAIN

The representative tennis teams of Plainfield and North Plainfield High Schools are scheduled to meet on the borough courts Tuesday of next week, in their first tilt for interscholastic honors. It has not yet been decided whether the Watchung Tennis Club or Park Club courts will be used. The match will probably start about 3:30 o'clock.

Neither captain has yet settled on the players who will compete, but no matter how they are paired some good matches are assured to lovers of tennis. Leal is at present leading the league for the Collier trophy and the match between the city and borough teams is of great importance.

The Mt. Pleasant baseball team has been reorganized and will play ball every Saturday during the summer months. Clifford Terry has been elected manager and is preparing a schedule.

"CHIEF-RAIN-IN-THE-FACE" ENTERTAINS BOY SCOUTS

With the assistance of a delegation of Boy Scouts from a Dunellen troop, Indian Chief "Rain-in-the-Face," gave an interesting entertainment in the Y. M. C. A. Auditorium, last night. He is a full blooded redskin and until recently lived at Manasquan, when his wigwam was destroyed by fire. With the Scouts he demonstrated various old war dances and also used an old music box to entertain.

One of the difficult feats he did was to dance on a spiked plank with bare feet. He gave demonstrations of scalping and showed his ability with knives, throwing them at one of the Scouts head. A silver offering was taken.

W. W. STRYKER SELLS HIS DUNELLEN GARAGE

Walter W. Stryker who, three years ago opened an automobile garage in Dunellen was obliged to seek a larger place in Plainfield, the business growing to such an extent. He took over the Service Motor Company's plant here and has enlarged and improved it until now it is considered one of the finest equipped garages and repair plants in this section.

Mr. Stryker recently incorporated the business and the stockholders are beside himself, Paul P. Stryker and E. K. Stryker. E. E. Waller, who purchased the branch in Dunellen, was formerly manager of the Queen City Auto Company, and his many friends have congratulated him upon going into business for himself. Mr. Stryker will remove from Dunellen to this city in the ealy fall when he will be able to be of more service to his many patrons.

RUSSELL VOORHEES HOME FROM THE PACIFIC COAST

Travelling from Jacksonville, Fla., to Seattle, Wash., and back again, over diversified routes, visiting scores of cities, Russell Voorhees has just completed a business trip for his firm covering 15,000 miles.

While away he attended the Panama-Pacific International Exposition at San Francisco, which, he states, marks a new departure in World's Fairs, and is certainly greater than any ever before held in this country or abroad.

MICHAEL DONOVAN NAMED GUARDIAN OF NEPHEW

Elizabeth, May 15.—Michael Donovan, of Plainfield, was yesterday appointed guardian of his nephew, Frank Donovan, aged nine years, of this city, whose father, James Donovan, was killed several weeks ago on the Lehigh Valley Railroad. Judge Connolly made the appointment, which step was taken in order to make a legal settlement with the Lehigh Valley Company for the death of the boy's father.

GIRL-MAN-HORSE MAKE GREAT COMBINATION

At that time Josephine Clarke was a wee mite of a girl with pigtails hanging down her back and face smeared with jam; her principal "act" with the circus consisted of getting in everybody's way. But she had one friend, tried, staunch and true, that was Tom Sheehan, the circus blacksmith. It was Tom who fought her battles, taught her to ride her first horse, and it was to Tom she went with her childish troubles. As the years passed Josephine developed not only into a beautiful girl, but became a barebacked rider of international renown.

Ringling Brothers, always on the lookout for genius, cabled an offer of an engagement to Miss Clarke, which was in turn accepted. Among the host of friends that gathered to bid her bon voyage was her old friend, Tom Sheehan. Just before the ship's officers called "visitors ashore," Tom announced his surprise and parting gift; it was a beautiful Arabian steed, which he had already christened Silver King. The purchase price represented the savings of years, but Tom was happy. Now for the tragedy; when Miss Clarke arrived at the winter quarters of the Ringling Brothers she found that Silver King refused to allow any of the grooms to come near him. The equestrian director was in a serious dilemma, but Miss Clarke saved the day by suggesting that they cable Sheehan to join the show and take care of Silver King. Two weeks later Sheehan reported for duty, saying to Miss Clarke, with a merry twinkle in his eye, "Sure, and I knowed all the time that you would have to take me with you."

The Ringling Circus will exhibit in Plainfield next Wednesday.

TITANIC OWNERS SUE TO DETERMINE LIABILITY

New York, May 15.—Whether the owners of the steamship Titanic, which sank with terrible loss of life on April 14, 1912, are fully liable for the loss of lives and property will be determined next week in the United States District Court here. A suit brought by the Oceanic Steam Navigation Co., owner of the tragedy ship, to determine this point, is set for hearing on Monday. The company contends that its liability is limited to some $91,000, the value of life-boats and other property recovered from the wreck. Suits totalling millions of dollars for loss of life and property have been filed against the steamship line.

"KINDNESS TO ANIMALS" WEEK.

Philadelphia, Pa., May 15.—The American Humane Association has designated the coming week as "kindness to animals week," during which the organization will campaign to interest people throughout the country in the more humane treatment of the dumb animals. Tomorrow and May 23 are designated as "Humane Sundays," and clergymen will preach on kindness to animals on one of these two Sundays.

NEWS OF INTEREST IN THE PLAINFIELD BUILDING WORLD

SEEK PROTECTION OF THE BUILDERS

Material Dealers Plan to Restrict Sales to Those in the Trade.

EFFECT ORGANIZATION

Special Meeting of the Building Material Dealers of Pennsylvania Held in Philadelphia—New Jersey Expected to Adopt Similar Plan.

New York, May 15.—For the purpose of protecting the building material dealers of New York, New Jersey and Eastern Pennsylvania a movement is on foot to induce manufacturers of building materials not to sell to any one who is not, strictly speaking, a dealer. The latest development in this direction was in the form of a special meeting of the Building Material Dealers of Eastern Pennsylvania at the Walton, in Philadelphia, Tuesday, when the big cement companies not only agreed with the idea, but sent their representatives there to further the plan and to induce their dealer customers to join.

This action followed the movement taken by New Jersey and New York dealers several weeks ago, when a similar call was sent out and the manufacturers at that time did as they did in Philadelphia, this week, endorsed and promised to further the enterprise. The three States are now practically a unit in the matter of protecting the dealer against outside buying to the end that the builder may derive more protection in the matter of quality and of materials supplied and against the operations of so-called "Shoe string" builders men who prey upon unsuspecting builders by telling them they can buy material cheap and build cheaper than regular supply men can put the materials in their yards.

In order to fully protect the dealer and the consumer it has been necessary to eliminate all contractors from membership in the association. If a contractor desires to buy cement, for instance, from the manufacturer, he will have to pay the five cents a barrel differential now allowed as commission to the dealer, so that it will not profit him to buy outside of his own home town.

This will not increase in the least the cost of building construction save to those who have been inclined to contract with men who have no rating as dealers. Quality is thus insured to the consumer whereas under the former condition he has been attracted by a special bargain price which has resulted in some cases in failure of concrete structures of more or less serious character. The plan is now in operation in the metropolitan districts of New York, Newark, Trenton, Philadelphia and Scranton.

Prices of materials in the New York metropolitan district are somewhat firmer, led by common Hudson brick, which has moved to $6.50 a thousand, wholesale, New York. Portland cement prices are without change, the bottom quotation being $1.23 and the top $1.33. Further stiffening is shown in iron and steel for future delivery and in art metals there is a very firm tone. Sand and gravel is steady at the same quotations ruling at the first of the month. Roofing paper is somewhat firmer because of the difficulty of obtaining Canadian wood pulp and rags and the lack of bottoms for asphaltum freight from South America. Paints are stiffening perceptibly, as the price of colors and linseed oil keeps high. Linseed oil is now at 67 and 68 cents a gallon, an advance of eight cents in the last five weeks. The top is not yet reached, say the distributing trade here.

The condition at the Portland cement mills in the Hudson and Lehigh district is still of a character to warrant concern regarding the supply three months hence. There are now 165 kilns in operation.

The condition of the Hudson River common brick supply is such as to indicate general resumption of brick manufacture up the river by the first of June. Many of the yards started to clear and get ready for brick making today. There is a general belief that the early spring decision to reduce output this year to something like 60 per cent. of capacity will undergo revision in view of the drain on the reserve supply that has developed in the metropolitan district since the first of April. Manufacturers say they can make expenses by selling brick at $6.50 and so, in order to counteract the low price of Portland cement in this market it is not considered probable that the price for this commodity will go higher between now and August first, when the price of Portland cement is expected to move up to points nearer normal levels.

A PLAIN SENSIBLE HOME IN BRICK

DESIGNED BY CHAS. S. SEDGWICK, ARCHITECT.

THE design shown in this issue is for a plain, substantial brick house, modest in appearance without any attempt at ornate or peculiar features. It is well built throughout and is suited to an east or south frontage. The size is 30 ft. in width by 44 ft. in depth, exclusive of the piazza across the front, which is 10 ft. in width. The walls are built solid of brick with the inside course of hollow brick, making a dry wall.

The size and shape makes it suitable to any ordinary city lot. The exterior is designed to be faced with a dark oriental brick from the grade line up to the first story sill course and heading courses of the same brick being used for sill and window trimmings. The interior construction and roof is frame and the roofs are shingled and stained. It is estimated to build this house for $5,000 to $6,000, exclusive of heating and plumbing.

The vestibule entrance at the right opens into a large living room extending the full width of the front with wide fireplace at the left end and book shelves on either side. A wide opening at the rear connects the living room with the dining room with a wide recessed sideboard opposite this opening and a wide projected square bay lighting in at the end of the dining room. At the left of the sideboard is a door opening onto a rear glazed piazza that may be used for dining purposes in summer weather. At the right of the dining room there is a wide opening into a small alcove or recess out of which a section of stairs lead up onto the main stairs and basement stairs extend down underneath with grade entrance. This is a very convenient space with wardrobe for coats, also a toilet room in connection. The kitchen is provided with ample cupboards, a recessed refrigerator that can be iced from the rear porch and a clothes chute extending from the basement to the second story. This main floor is finished in hardwood with oak floor. The front piazza has a concrete and cement floor, the rear glazed porch has hardwood floor same as the dining room. There is a full basement under the house with laundry, heating room, fuel room, etc.

The second floor has four good chambers provided with ample clothes closets and a convenient linen closet also a large bath room and in addition over the first story glazed porch is a sleeping porch of the same size. This story is finished in white enamel with red mahogany doors. The attic space is good height and is designed to be used for storage purposes but a portion of the space could be utilized for rooms if desired. These rooms would be low but well lighted with dormer windows. This is a very roomy, convenient house and has everything for comfort required in the modern home.

DETAILS OF NEW EAST END CHAPEL

St. Bernard's Edifice a Fine Addition to Structures in Netherwood Section.

St. Bernards' chapel, recently completed on Emerson avenue, and which is to be dedicated tomorrow with appropriate ceremonies, is an imposing addition to the substantial structures erected in the East End of the city within the past five years. It is a handsome frame structure with a concrete floor and entrance. The interior has beautiful ornamental stucco work and finished off in golden oak. The seating capacity is about 300, while many more could be accommodated in case of emergency. The chapel was erected by the parish of St. Mary's church and represents an outlay of $7,000. It is primarily intended to provide for the Netherwood communicants of St. Mary's, owing to the great distance between their homes and the church.

Michael D. O'Keefe, of West Fourth street, was general contractor in building the chapel, doing the work in such a manner as to elicit warm praise from the building committee. The details were taken care of by the following sub-contractors: Mason, Frank McInerney; plumber, Hugh Risley; painter, Andrew McCarty; electrical, Edward Kyle, concrete work, Wilson Concrete Company. The materials for the building were furnished by the Plainfield Ice and Supply Company. George H. Fisher, Jr., of Mason place, this city, is the architect of the structure.

IN THE SUBURBS

Dunellen

Dr. M. J. Whitford has purchased a runabout to assist him in attending to his practice, and Contractor Raymond Whitford has been awarded the contract of erecting a garage in the rear of the doctor's home.

A lot of land on Dunellen avenue near the Lincoln School has been sold by Edgar Shively to Elwood Gary, one of the many local men employed by the New Jersey Central. Mr. Gary will build a home on his new land at an early date.

A tract of land on Washington avenue, in the vicinity of Walnut street, formerly owned by Lawrence W. O'Donnell, has been sold through the John Fedderman agency to A. H. and Frank Burdick. The tract includes two acres. The Burdicks purchased two acres adjoining this tract last year and they now own the entire tract on Washington avenue, between Third and Fourth streets, which have not been cut through as yet. It is the intention of the owners to develop the property at an early date.

Plans are out for the erection of a new house on Lincoln avenue, near Fourth street, for Contractor Frank Broshart. Mr. Broshart owns lots at the point mentioned on which he proposes to build.

Contractor A. H. Burdick has sold his new stucco house on Washington avenue, adjoining the property of J. Alfred Wilson, to Carl Bache, of Brooklyn, who will take possession on June 1.

The 114-acre farm, which Messrs. Haight and Scandell recently purchased from Dr. W. J. Nelson, has been sold to an Italian party in New York city, who has taken possession. The party will engage in general farming. Since he has taken possession 600 fruit trees have been set out.

Middlesex Borough.

Nicolaysen and Crane, who recently purchased fifty-one lots of the Lincoln Heights development, located between Lincoln and Bound Brook, have sold three lots to John Varduar, of Newark. They have also rented a house that is almost completed to Mrs. Yostvan, of Newark. Mrs. Yostvan will take possession June 1.

The Apgar Construction Company is erecting a building for the Industrial Service Company, at Lincoln. The dimensions of the building are 25x30 feet. When it is completed the Service Company's plant at Lincoln will comprise four buildings.

Work upon the new chapel is being pushed rapidly. The concrete work is completed, and the roofing will soon be finished.

Plains and Fanwood.

Tony Albert, the local contractor, is working on the plans of a two and a half story modern house to be erected on North avenue for Charles Sheelen, and will start actual work about June 1.

Real estate in the borough has showed its first activity in several weeks by the report from H. C. Lockwood & Co. that a two and a half story stucco dwelling on Hunter avenue has been sold by them to a New York doctor. As far as can be learned he will not be a local practitioner, but will have his office in New York.

Warrenville.

The foundation of J. Kunt's house is completed and R. Zeiler has started building.

NATION WIDE GAINS NOTED IN APRIL BUILDING WORK

According to The American Contractor of New York, by which the statistics are compiled, the month of April reflected the increasing optimism in building work throughout the country. Gains and losses in the various cities are fairly well balanced. One development is that several cities show very decided increases, indicating that some big work has started. Another good symptom is that in the larger cities the comparison is generally favorable. New York and Philadelphia show substantial gains. Chicago might have done likewise but for the labor strike in that city, which temporarily paralyzed construction work.

Reports from three New Jersey cities, East Orange, Newark and Patterson, are included, all showing losses over April of 1914.

PLAN FINE RESIDENCE NEAR WASHINGTON ROCK

Local contractors are now figuring on plans for a handsome home to be built by Mr. and Mrs. Champlain L. Riley, of Myrtle avenue, off the Warrenville road, a short distance from Washington Rock. It will be located on the property Mr. Riley purchased sometime ago and on which they have had a summer residence for several years and to which they move the present week for the warm season.

The new house will be of the New England colonial type and will be two stories in height. The plan of the first floor will include a living room, porch breakfast room, dining room, a writing room or den and a kitchen. An open-air sleeping room is to be located on an extension over the porch breakfast room. The second floor will have six bedrooms, two maids' rooms and three bathrooms. The drawings have been made by Architect H. K. White, of this city, and the perspective shows distinct originality. The interior fittings will include all modern improvements, while the entire building will be of such construction that it can be used all the year around as well as for a summer home.

While all the figures have not been received, it is probable the cost will be about $12,000. The contracts are to be given out within the next week or two.

BOROUGH NOTES.

The Apgar Construction Company, of Dunellen, has been awarded the contract of erecting a house for Henry Wrage and Arthur J. Hamley, cashier of the Dunellen Bank, on Duer street, North Plainfield. The house will be of medium size and will have all improvements.

The Apgar Construction Company has completed a seven-room house, with part improvements, on Duer street, North Plainfield, for the Standard Investment Company. The investment company, since it commenced operating in this section a year or so ago, has erected seven houses and sold five of them.

SOMERSET SHERIFF SALE.

The following sheriff's sales were conducted yesterday by Sheriff Charles P. Sebring at the courthouse in Somerville:

Sarah A. Tunison against Gustave Feiring, house and 2 lots, Nos. 22 and 23, block No. 1, North Plainfield. M. Dollono was the successful bidder at $1,550, with about $60 taxes due. Codington & Blatz are the solicitors.

Solomon G. Kahn against Margaret A. Harkins. Solomon Kahn was the successful bidder at $3,267.13. House and lots at Bound Brook.

RESUME SCHOOL WORK.

Kenilworth, May 15—Having encountered several difficulties since the first spadeful of earth was turned by John Kanane, then chairman of the buildings and ground committee, on February 19, everything is now in readiness to lay the cornerstone for the new addition of the McKinley School this afternoon. After work had been started in February, an injunction was served which held up the work for a long time.

WILL ERECT HOUSES.

Ten lots located on West Fourth street, near Monroe avenue, have recently been purchased by the Standard Investment Company, of Dunellen. It has been announced that plans are already out for two dwellings to be erected on the property in the near future, and it is expected that the contracts will be awarded within the next two weeks.

RESUME ACTIVITIES IN LOCAL BUILDING

Four Permits Granted by Inspector T. O. Doane This Week.

With the carpenters' wage question settled during the past week, the conditions in the local building circles have resumed normal state, and appearances again take on their bright aspect for a strong future. Four construction permits were issued during the course of the past week by Inspector T. O. Doane, calling for the expenditure of $8,075. The documents cover the erection of one dwelling, one business building, one garage, and one alteration job. The total expenditures for the month of May to date amount to $9,755.

Several sets of plans are now being figured upon by local contractors, and will, if carried out, add materially to the varied construction movements now going on in this city. Among the plans out at present is a large three-story storage plant to be erected on East Third street, and a number of dwellings for different parts of town. The permits as granted during the past week are as noted below:

Third Ward.

Mrs. Bridget McCarthy, of New York city, is to erect a two and half story frame dwelling at 745 West Fourth street, and will be occupied by the owner on completion. The estimated cost has been placed at $2,650. The structure will have a frontage of twenty-two feet, a depth of thirty-two feet, and a width of sixteen feet in the rear. The foundation walls will be of concrete, with hemlock framework. Fred L. Lancaster, of West Froht street, is the contractor; L. S. Manning, the mason contractor, and Albert J. Rodier, the general contractor.

A ten by nine foot frame sleeping porch is to be added to the second story of the residence of E. T. Barrows, of 739 West Eighth street, at a cost of $350. William H. Pangborn Sons, of the borough, are the mason contractors, and Michael Kimmer, the carpentry contractor.

Howard H. Craig is to erect a frame garage at 910 Madison avenue at a cost of $75.

Fourth Ward.

The two-story frame business building, as described on this page of last Saturday, is to be erected by K. & G., Inc., a Newark concern, at 1352-4-6 West Front street. The first floor of the structure, which is to measure 48x65 feet, is to be occupied by two stores, while the upper floor is to be equipped with sixteen lodging rooms. The cost is placed at $5,000.

VARIED BUILDINGS REARED AT VILLAGE

Houses, Shops and Schools Now Being Erected at South Plainfield.

South Plainfield, which lost its position in the construction spotlight for a short while during which the New Market and Samptown districts of Piscataway township were brought to the fore, is again waking up in building activities. At the present time, seven dwellings are in the course of construction, three on the north side of the track, while four are on the south side. Several others are being planned by realty holders in the village.

Aside from the dwellings now being erected, the Spicer Manufacturing Company is at present completing a two-story brick building to be used for office and draughting room purposes. The same concern is at present making excavations for additional building on the south side of the present shops, to be used for making a further floor space for machines in the shops to care for increased buildings. The work on the addition to the village school has also been recently started.

Among the buildings being planned for the immediate future is the erection of a moving picture house by P. F. Kaine, on property in the vicinity of the Lehigh Valley station. It has been announced that the building will have a seating capacity of 400 people.

WORK ON SEBRING BUILDING.

The work on the building situated at 327-329 West Front street, belonging to Charles Sebring, of the borough, and on which work has been suspended during the winter months, are now underway again. The structure, which is brick, and four stories high, measures about 40x140 feet. Stores will occupy the first floor, while it is undecided as yet as to whether the other floors will be used for business purposes or apartments.

THE MASTER MIND

Novelized by Marvin Dana, author of "Within the Law," from the successful play by Daniel D. Carter

Copyright, 1913, by the H. K. Fly company.

CHAPTER XI.

On the Rack.

"We must consider this thing carefully for safety's sake. Suppose this fellow, Creegan, should be caught." He paused to give his conclusion its full intensity of significance. "To save himself he might say he knew you as Maggie Flint."

"Oh, my God!" It was a wail from the anguished woman. Dry sobs shook the slender form.

Lucene aroused herself fiercely

"You must keep him away!" she cried.

Andrew shook his head.

"I fear I can do nothing."

For a minute, there was silence between the two. Lucene fought to regain her self control, for she knew that she would need all her powers to meet this crisis in her life.

"Does he know the Blounts?" she asked.

"I am afraid so," Andrew replied apprehensively. "In fact, I'm almost certain."

"Then—then he might tell Cortland that they"— She broke off the sentence with a moan.

"Yes," the man agreed simply. "But," he continued after a moment, thoughtfully, "there is one chance—just one. You might meet him tonight when he comes, and try to dissuade him."

A sneer twisted her lips.

"Only money could do that!"

Andrew's comment was instant:

"Then give it to him."

She answered hopelessly.

"It would take a great deal of money to get him to go away without theft from a house like this. When I met him first I didn't know the sort of man he was, I learned afterward. They talked about him in the reformatory. He has a good reputation—among criminals.

Andrew drew a bill case from his pocket.

"I have here," he said, "just a little less than $5,000. That should suffice."

The girl shrank back.

"I am afraid!" she whispered.

"Think!" the Master Mind commanded, with a note of sternness. "Think what depends upon it." His voice dropped. "Lucene, if you do not fail tonight your troubles will be over." She shook her head slowly in dreary negation.

"No," she answered forlornly, "they will never be over. I have learned the lesson at last. You were wrong in what you tried to teach me. I know it now, when it is too late. I should have followed my conscience." She threw herself back and sat huddled in utter dejection. "It would have been better," she murmured brokenly, almost inaudibly, "better for Cortland and me, if we had never met again."

The Master Mind perceived that for the time being her feeling had carried her beyond his control. He waited patiently until the violence of her grief should have spent itself. Then after a time he assailed her ruthlessly from a new point of attack. The very difficulty of his task provoked him to harsher endeavor, unweakened by sympathy.

"Lucene," he said earnestly, "if it were to become necessary in order to save your husband from public disgrace you would be willing to do something otherwise wholly repulsive to your every instinct, would you not?" The girl opened her eyes and looked up at him with a new questioning of fend in her gaze. "If there were no ther way to save him from disgrace you would even pretend to go away with this fellow Creegan, wouldn't you?" There was a long pause, in which she continued to stare at him with an ever increasing horror as a vague understanding of his meaning crept into her consciousness. "Wouldn't you? I mean if it should be absolutely necessary in order to stop Creegan's mouth. Why, with ten words to the newspaper reporters about you and the Blounts he could ruin your husband's whole political career. Think, Lucene! Is your love strong enough to rise to that supreme height of martyrdom wherein you would not only sacrifice yourself in silence, but so blacken your character that he would gladly let you go? Is your love so strong, Lucene?"

There was no answer. The distracted girl remained cowering under a crushing weight of horror. And yet, despite the despair that flamed in her breast, some secret prompting stirred her toward acquiescence. That single word "martyrdom" had set her spirit fermenting for sacrifice. In the heart of her was the eternal yearning of the woman to give where she loved, the maternal instinct of total self abnegation for the sake of the one beloved, the willingness to yield all, to suffer all, to dare all, to live or die for that beloved's good. Subconsciously, already she realized the truth that she would

And finally she spoke, very softly, gaspingly, as one wholly spent.

"To save him from disgrace—yes, even that."

Andrew persisted.

"You would not falter?"

The leaden voice came:

"No, I am sure."

Then, at last, the Master Mind permitted himself the luxury of a doubtful comforting.

"It may be," he said gently, "that this supreme sacrifice will not be necessary. But if it should be—well, here is the money."

Again he held forth the sheaf of bills, and now the girl put out a languid hand, took them, and hid them in her bosom, her face masque-like in its misery. "As nearly as I have been able to learn," Andrew continued, in a brisker voice, "Creegan will make his attempt here about 2 o'clock tomorrow morning. Of course, he will come directly to this room, as he has doubtless acquainted himself with the general plan of the house and knows that the safe is in this alcove. You will meet him here when he comes."

"Yes." The word was spoken in a lifeless tone.

Nothing mattered now. She went from the room slowly, with dragging steps.

For a long time after Lucene was gone from the library Andrew stood as she had left him, with moody eyes staring unseeing into space, and the intensity of his emotion was shown in the harsh grimness of his face.

But at last that expression vanished in an instant. In place of it there was revealed a malignant exultation frightful to see. The black hate of him glowed from his face, burned cruelly from his eyes. He hurried stealthily to the large table where was lying a book he had seen Wainwright reading often, a book of love poems.

The Master Mind took from an inner pocket a card of pasteboard, blank, which he placed between the leaves of the book, in such fashion that it protruded noticeably, and so left it lying there. For a long minute he stood looking down in sinister gloating; then, with a sardonic chuckle, he turned and went out.

The card was black.

* * * * * * *

Marshall, the Pinkerton detective engaged by Wainwright to ferret out the mystery of the cards by tracing them to their source, had wholly failed in accomplishing anything whatever in that direction.

Tonight he had come to the mansion under the guise of a participant in Wainwright's campaign work, as he had done frequently hitherto, in order yet once again to review with his principal the facts of the case in a final desperate hope of chancing on some neglected item that might suffice as a clew to definite information.

"Well, what do you think of it?" Wainwright demanded in his library.

The detective's face, too, indicated a like depression of spirit.

"Might as well be frank," he said reluctantly. "I must confess, Mr. Wainwright, that this thing has got me stumped."

"Can't we get any help from the post-office inspectors?" Wainwright suggested.

"They've been doing what they could," Marshall replied, "but they haven't got anything yet."

"It's been two months now since the coming of the red card," Wainwright mused.

"The longer the better!" the detective exclaimed energetically. "It's beginning to look to me as if the chap's nerve might be petering—as if you'd never get that black card, the one to mean real business. Take it from me, Mr. Wainwright, it's just one of those cranks that are always annoying public men. Why, it stands to reason when you come to think of it. You see, the sender of those mysterious cards claimed to be Henry Allen's brother. Well, now, that fits in with my theory, because nobody ever heard of Henry Allen's brother at any other time. If there really had been such a brother he would have appeared to aid Henry at the time of the trial."

Of Interest to Women and the Home

BLACK AND WHITE TAFFETA.

Black and white being the mode in Paris must of course be the mode on this side of the water and very beautiful effects are achieved by this striking color combination. In the example above the bodice of plain black silk is straight and severe with prim little turn-over collars and cuffs of white, lace edged. Wide bretelles on the stripe are gathered into black and white striped silk covered buckles on the shoulders. The skirt of the stripe is cut bias and opens over a V shaped piece of plain black silk which like the blouse fastens with black silk covered buttons in buttonholes done in white. The belt and buckle are of plain black silk and a band of the same finishes the bottom.

A HOT WEATHER HAT.

No. 14516.

This neat, dainty hat for summer wear may be made of linen or lawn and embroidered in solid work, eyelets, outline and seed-stitch in white. A black or colored ribbon placed around the crown adds to its attractiveness and makes it more suitable for the young girl. It is 22 inches in diameter.

If you're troubled with the problem of selecting light summer millinery, this hat is ideal. You can make it yourself and it will be more satisfactory, as well as less expensive, than one you buy.

Patterns may be obtained at the store of A. E. Force & Company.

"Whoo, whoo?" asked the owl.

Daddy's Bedtime Story—The Owl And the Parrot.

"Did I ever tell you about the funny talk between the owl and the parrot?" asked daddy.

"Oh, no, daddy!" cried the children.

"Well," laughed daddy, "it was very funny, I can tell you. The parrot was owned by a family in a small town near the seashore. Her name was Polly, which is the name that has been given to a great many parrots, I remember.

"She could say quite a number of words, as can many parrots, without knowing what they really meant, though sometimes it sounded as if she did. And that is the kind of a story that I am going to tell you.

"One day the man who owned the parrot received a big horned owl from a friend who had captured the bird up in some big woods and wished the parrot's owner to keep the owl for a few days. The owl came in a great big cage, which was set on the veranda near the perch upon which the parrot was stepping about.

"The owl didn't say anything for quite some time. He just scrooged all up in his cage and blinked his round yellow eyes that cannot see in the daytime and looked toward the parrot over his funny hooked bill that was like the nose of an old witch.

"The parrot looked at the owl, and she stepped around on her perch and ruffled her feathers, and after awhile she cried out, 'Pretty Polly!' just like that.

"And the owl cried 'Whoo? Whoo?' just like that.

"The parrot looked at the owl, and then she squawked, 'Polly wants a cracker!'

"'Whoo? Whoo?' asked the owl.

"'Polly!' screamed the parrot at the very top of her voice.

"And the owl said 'Whoo? Whoo?' again, which so enraged Mistress Polly that she flew at him, with her feathers all ruffled up and squawking some words at the top of her voice which we won't put into this story because Polly had once belonged to a bold, bad sailor man and had learned some very shocking language.

"How the feathers did fly around there for a minute or two, but the owl wasn't the only one that was punished. Polly lost a few.

"But Polly was separated from the owl by her owner before she had an opportunity to do much harm.

"But now you must run along to bed," said daddy.

Household Hints

IT'S RAG CARPET SEASON

To Color Brown—For five pounds of rags allow one pound of catechu to two ounces alum dissolved in sufficient hot water to wet the goods; put this in a tin boiler on the stove; when it is boiling hot put in goods and remove from stove. Have ready four ounces bichromate of potash dissolved in hot water in a wooden pail; drain goods from the catechu, dip in the bichromate and back into the catechu. Proceed in this way, dipping into each alternately until the desired shade. This nicely colors cotton, wool or silk. Dry, then rinse.

Blue for Five Pounds of Rags—Dissolve four ounces copperas in three or four gallons water. Soak goods thoroughly in this and drain, then transfer to a solution of two ounces prussiate of potash in the same quantity of water. Lift goods from this and put them to drain. Add to the prussiate of potash solution one-half ounce oil vitriol, being careful to pour in only a few drops at a time. Stir thoroughly, return goods, and as soon as of the desired shade rinse them in clear water and dry.

To Color Green—All goods must be colored blue, then color yellow, to make a green.

Yellow for Five Pounds of Rags—Dissolve one pound sugar of lead in water enough to cover goods, and one-half pound bichromate of potash in the same quantity of water in a separate dish. Dip goods well and drain in each, first one, then the other, until desired shade. Then rinse and dry.

Dyes for Carpet Rags—Buy a five-cent package of Easter egg dyes, assorted colors, and you have all the colors desired, instead of paying ten cents a package for each color.

When using dyes, wear rubber gloves and handle goods with wooden sticks, whenever possible. Save your hands!

REMOVING STAINS.

Here are tested rules for removing the most common stains from wash goods:

Fruit Stains—Boiling water poured through most berry stains entirely removes them. Soak strawberry stains in clear cold water. Sour milk will remove fruit stains even after they have been washed. Dip the article in sour milk and lay in the sun. Repeat if necessary. Indelible pencil marks can be removed the same way. Let soak over night.

Tea and Coffee—Pour boiling water through. If they have been washed with soap use lemon juice and salt and lay out in the hot sun, wetting with the same as it dries.

Blood Stains—Soak in cold or lukewarm water in which a little borax has been dissolved. Wash with white or naphtha soap. If article cannot be washed easily, dissolve starch in water and spread the paste thickly on the blood spot. When dry rub starch off and repeat process till stain is removed.

Bluing—Soak bluing spots in kerosene, then wash with naphtha soap in lukewarm water.

MACARONI.

Break macaroni (as much as needed) in one-half inch pieces. Cook in boiling salted water twenty minutes. When done pour into colander and rinse thoroughly in cold water. Grate half a pound of cheese, or whatever amount is needed for the amount of macaroni used; make a rich cream sauce and scallop ingredients as one would oysters, one layer of macaroni, white sauce and cheese. Strew a few bread crumbs on top with small pieces of butter and bake in a quick oven until nicely browned. Instead of the cheese, finely minced ham seasoned with mustard may be used. The white sauce has the yolk of an egg beaten into it.

SCRAMBLED EGGS WITH BOILED HAM

Chop six ounces of boiled ham finely, then crack six eggs in a bowl and beat until light; add four tablespoonfuls of milk or two of cream and beat two minutes longer. Then place a small saucepan with one tablespoonful of butter over the fire, and as soon as this is melted pour in the eggs, stir until they begin to thicken and then add the chopped ham and stir one minute longer. Serve on a hot dish with slices of buttered toast.

BY MRS. EVA LEONARD

"I guess you will want to throw the Mortons over, Doctor. They make you more trouble than they come to," said Dick when the doctor called to see how Nell was getting along the day after the nervous shock caused by the baby's falling off the couch.

"I hate to make any more trouble, but I feel that you should know that Mrs. Ellson came yesterday while mother was out of the house. Nell thought it was Mrs. Parsons and invited her into the bedroom. She sailed into Nell for putting her in a bad light before you. I suppose she referred to my telling you of her refusal to deliver my message the night I called you to see her when the baby fell off the couch. She accused Nell of trying to make occasions to see you and threatened her with the revenge of an injured jealous woman. Really, Nell is afraid of her."

The doctor sat with his hand shading his face during this recital and was silent after Dick had ceased speaking. When he raised his face it was white and haggard.

"Morton," he said in a low voice, "I must tell you that affairs between Anna and me are at the worst. I have tried everything, and everything alike has failed. If Mrs. Morton were the first patient she had been jealous of I would not be so hopeless, but there is always some one who is the subject of her wrath and whom I am accused of loving. I never knew of her visiting a patient before. I have stood all I can. I think I shall send her to a sanitarium and see if the trouble is mental derangement. Her relations cannot be improved between us we must separate. I hope you see I am in a manner driven to speak to you of this painful subject."

Dick stretched out his hand and gripped the doctor's. "Nell and I have often spoken of the fine, brave manner in which you carried your heavy burden. Not many men could have acquitted themselves as well. If sympathy can help any, you have the sympathy of the entire village."

"Thank you! sympathy does help," he replied quietly.

When the docto called two days later, he said on leaving: "I start for Kansas City tonight to put Anna in a sanitarium for an indefinite stay."

Dick gripped his hand in silence. "I hope you'll not allow yourself to sit at home and be lonely. Come over as often as you can; the latch string is always out."

"Thank you." The ghost of a smile passed over his grave face. To Dick alone did the doctor show his real feeling. To everyone else he was the same gay, cheery man, carrying sunshine into every home that he entered.

The whole town breathed a sigh of relief when it became known that Mrs. Ellson was taking the rest cure.

"It's the doctor that is taking the rest cure if the truth were admitted," said Nell.

"I wonder if we can get her maid," said Dick. "She would have to leave there. I'll see about it."

T. A. B. MINSTRELS SCORE THIRD SUCCESSIVE HIT

Augmented with numerous new jokes and "knocks," the St. Mary's T. A. B. minstrel troupe performed for the third time this week before a large audience in T. A. B. Hall, last night. Many who had witnessed the performance Tuesday evening returned last night to see the third exhibition and were loud in their acclamations of the splendid way in which the show was run. Each end man was encored repeatedly and the response in each case was most generous.

Master Louis Montferrante scored another hit with his rendition of "I Hear You Calling Me, Tennessee." The little lad, who is only fourteen years old, charmed the listeners with his delightful tenor voice and his perfect ease on the stage. He wore a colonial costume. The end songs of William Mahoney, John Connolly and Frank Donnelly, all came in for their share of the applause, while Albert LaRock and Patrick Powers again gave their selections in a highly pleasing manner.

The minstrel will be repeated this afternoon for the benefit of school children and the adults who have not witnessed the night shows. Much credit for the success of the affair is due Lawrence Barret, Jr., the coach, and the minstrel committee composed of John J. Hines, chairman; Joseph T. McCue and Michael D. O'Keeffe. As a result a substantial sum was realized to add to the treasury of the society. The proceeds will be used to enlarge the auditorium of the hall.

EPWORTH LEAGUE OF GRACE CHURCH ELECTS

Russell Harden was re-elected president of the Epworth League of the Grace M. E. church at the annual meeting of the organization held last night. The other officers elected to serve one year are: Mrs. Thorn, first vice-president; Miss Myra Stebbins, second vice-president; Miss Della Voehl, third vice-president; Miss Breaky, fourth vice-president; Miss Shopman, secretary, and Raymond Miller, treasurer.

The installation of the new officers will be held at the evening service tomorrow, and Miss Adele Chamberlain, of Jersey City, will speak. Miss Shipman, the new secretary, was appointed to represent the borough society at the annual Epworth League Conference which will be held at Madison some time in June. Following the business meeting a social hour was enjoyed.

PLAN MEMORIAL SERVICE.

Following the custom of several years, Freedom Castle, No. 42, Knights of the Golden Eagle, has arranged for its annual memorial service. The service is planned to be held at the Temple Baptist church, East Third street, on the evening of Sunday, May 23, at which time the pastor, Rev. Evarts C. Conover will preach a special sermon for the occasion. The members of the fraternity will gather at the lodge rooms, Babcock building, at 7 o'clock, and proceed to the church in a body.

WANT MARBLE FOR POSTOFFICE

Congressman Capstick Will Try to Have Exterior Construction Changed.

WOULD COST $105,000

Even at Increased Figures Amount Would Be Well Within Money Available in Original Appropriation.

Congressman John H. Capstick was in town on Saturday investigating the advisability of trying to have the plans for the local postoffice changed, so that it will be constructed of Tennessee marble, instead of limestone, as called for in the contract which has been awarded. He found a number of people ready to help him in the movement, and William Newborn, president of the Board of Trade, will call a special meeting, at which time that body will go on record in the matter.

It is argued that although the amount available under the appropriation is $120,000 the contract calls for but $84,000 worth of work. When the original appropriation was made for the building it was for $100,000, and of this $30,000 was used to buy the lot at the corner of Watchung avenue and Second street. Senator Martine advised the people that the $70,000 would not erect a building which would be worthy of the city, and he suggested to the then Mayor, Percy H. Stewart, that a public meeting be held, with an idea of getting an expression of public opinion as to delaying the work long enough to get another $50,000 to carry on this work. The meeting was held, and the general feeling was that it would be better to hold up the work. The Senator then took the matter up and secured the additional appropriation of $50,000, making $120,000 available altogether, after the lot was paid for.

Early last month the bids were opened, and several options were given the contractors. Charles Gilpin, of Philadelphia, was the low bidder on the three different proposals, and the limestone was accepted by the postoffice department at about $84,000. Then George J. Tobin and others called the attention of Mr. Capstick to the fact that this was about $36,000 less than the appropriation, and that the Tennessee marble bid was only $105,000, which of course, was also well within the sum available. Evarts Tracy, the architect, also took the matter up with the Government officials.

Mr. Capstick came to Plainfield, and in company with his secretary, John E. Nichol, visited a number of local people, and talked the matter over with Postmaster A. E. Hoagland, who had been approached about it by several citizens. As a result the Congressman is going to get in touch with the department officials at Washington at once, and see whether the more expensive material cannot be used. It is said that if a change is made it will make practically no difference in the time needed to complete the building.

TO CONDUCT A MISSION.

Father John, C. P., and Father Linus, C. P., of the St. Michael Passionist Monastery, West Hoboken, will conduct a mission at St. Joseph's church, commencing Sunday, May 23, and running through the week until the following Sunday. Father John will conduct the first service Sunday morning at 7 o'clock. Services will be conducted every evening when matters pertaining to the Catholic faith will be taken up. The public is invited to attend.

HOUSEHOLD "SHOWER."

About thirty of the friends of Miss Helen DeForest, of Mt. Pleasant, and William Emmons, of this city, whose engagement was announced a short time ago, tendered the couple a household shower on Saturday night at the home of Miss Bell A. Melick, of Mt. Pleasant. A program of dancing and cards was enjoyed and later in the evening a collation was served. Many useful and valuable gifts were received by the young couple.

TO PRESENT "PANDORA."

The Washington School Parent-Teacher Association will present the Greek play of "Pandora" by Longfellow, at the Washington School Thursday night, at 8 o'clock. The play was given recently at the Seventh-Day Baptist church and proved to be highly interesting and was a success in every way. A nominal fee will be charged for admission. Home made candy will be on sale.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE LECTURE.

The public is cordially invited to attend a lecture on Christian Science, by Jacob S. Shield, C. S. B., at the High School, Thursday evening, at 8:15.

NATIONAL FLOWER DAY IS OBSERVED

Young Women of Temple Sholem Distribute Flowers in Jewish Homes.

Jewish citizens all over the country observed the National Flower Day yesterday. A committee of young women from the Y. W. H. A. of Temple Sholem divided in five sections and headed by a captain toured the city in automobiles distributing flowers and seeds. Every Jewish home in the city was visited and contributions of from 4 cents to $2 were received, which were added to the local fund, which was sent to the National Headquarters, who in turn send it to Europe for the relief of suffering Jews. A substantial sum was realized as a result of yesterdays sale, and the amount was telegraphed to the headquarters in New York, where the results from all over the country were flashed on a screen. The young women on the local committee were: The Misses Adline Nathanson, Nettie Solomon, Sadie Rothberg, Lily Berger, Jennie and Elizabeth Shrager, Bertha Frucht, Lena Bender, Dorothy Augenblick and Anna Molodeszky, president of the Y. W. H. A.

The Jewish National Fund has so far acquired over 10,000 dunams of fertile land in various parts of Palestine, promoting agricultural colonization. It has promoted rural and urban settlements and has done much in solving the serious problem of Jewish labor for Jewish colonies by providing a dwelling for Jewish laborers in many colonies. Most of these accommodations were let to the Jewish refugees from Yemen fleeing from unbearable persecution from whom Palestine is the haven of refuge. The local committee wishes to take this opportunity of thanking the merchants who loaned the organization their automobiles for the cause.

"FATHER AND THE BOYS" A REAL ARTISTIC TREAT

The Thespian Society, which will present George Ade's comedy, "Father and the Boys," has been rehearsing under careful coaching for some weeks and as a result a real artistic treat is in store for those who attend the performance, Friday night. This has proved to be an especially difficult play to produce and more than one remarked that it was altogether too hard a task to be undertaken by amateurs.

Every character represents a type and each one of the young people taking part loses himself in the character so completely as to be almost unrecognizable to his friends. The story is one of the struggle of a father to guide and influence the lives of his grown-up sons. He has sent them to college and afterward to Europe—then made them partners in his gigantic business concern.

What the boys make of these splendid opportunities and how father follows in their footsteps is the cause of screamingly funny situations—the more humorous because they are so human and logical.

Burnett Doane interprets the part of father and Harold Williams and Paul Westergarde are the boys. A dance will follow the performance. This is proving to be as big a drawing card as the play. Van Eps' orchestra will furnish music.

LITTLE WORKERS' CIRCLE HOLD SUCCESSFUL SALE

The all day sale Saturday at the home of Mrs. S. R. Titsworth, on Hillside avenue, proved very successful. The affair was given under the auspices of the Little Workers for Little People's Circle of King's Daughters, and included home-made cake and candy and fancy articles.

SCHOOLS HALF HOLIDAY.

According to the custom when a big circus comes to town, the city schools will have but one session on Wednesday, as on rainy days, closing at 12:30, so that all parents who wish can take their children to the circus in the afternoon without affecting their school record. This affects only the primary grades, since the grammar grades and the High School have no session regularly.

CHI GAMMA CHI.

CITY CELEBRATING A "BE KIND" WEEK

Mrs. Stephen G. VanHoesen, State Chairman, Issues a Proclamation.

Plainfield as well as other communities through the country is this week observing "Be Kind" week in accordance with a proclamation issued by the National Humane Society. Mrs. Stephen G. VanHoesen, chairman of the State committee, has the follolwing to say concerning the observance:

"This is 'Be Kind Week,' to be celebrated through the United States and I would suggest that all interested in deeds of charity and kindness either toward the human or animal relief association should contribute some offering to one of the local associations. Among the number are: The Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, the Charity Organization, the Anti-Tuberculosis League, the Children's Home, the Day Nursery, the Salvation Army and various other charities. If an individual act is considered preferrable an order on the butcher or grocer might be given and merchandise could be sent from local stores to some destitute or needy family which would no doubt be a real act of kindness. The Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals would feel especially grateful if the thoughts of some of our citizens turn toward the local work of the society or to shelter funds for the strays or homeless animals. But whatever we do, above all, let us be kind, not only in deeds, but in thought and word as well."

AUSTRIAN WOMEN KILLED IN RIOT

Rome (via Paris), May 17.—A revolution has broken out at Trieste, according to a message to the "Idea Nazionale" telegraphed from the frontier.

A crowd, composed chiefly of women because most of the men had been called to the colors, invaded the square on which faces the palace of the governor, Baron Friessekin. The women cried "Death to Francis Joseph! Down with Austria!" burned an Austrian flag together with a portrait of the emperor, and attempted to attack the palace.

The dispatch says 47 women were killed and 300 injured.

CATHOLIC CHAPEL IN THE EAST END

Solemn Dedicatory Services Held Prior to Opening Edifice.

NAMED ST. BERNARD'S

Visiting Clergy Take Part in Program—Father Bogan in Charge—Societies Attend in Body—Special Music a Feature.

With ceremonies appropriate to the occasion, St. Bernard's chapel, the newly established branch of St. Mary's parish on Emerson avenue, was dedicated yesterday, following the prescribed blessing and mass of thanksgiving held in the morning. A gathering of more than a thousand people were present in the afternoon while clergymen of St. Mary's, past and present, were in charge of the services. From now on masses will be held in the chapel every Sunday morning at 8 o'clock, Father Bernard M. Bogan, who named the edifice after his patron saint, being the celebrant at present.

The administration of the solemn blessing was conferred by Father Bogan at 9:30 and the worshippers for the initial mass were admitted at 10 o'clock. Father Bogan said the mass of thanksgiving with the choir of St. Mary's church assisting under the direction of the organist, Miss Mary Smith. Every available bit of seating and standing room was occupied by east end residents. Many visiting priests were present and assisted in various ways. These were afterward entertained at luncheon by Father Bogan.

The parish celebration began at 3 o'clock, following a parade from St. Mary's church in which Catholic societies from Plainfield, Dunellen, North Plainfield, South Plainfield and other places took part. Less than half the gathering was able to gain admittance to the chapel, owing to its limited capacity. The overflow occupied the broad front steps and vantage points about the building where the words of the priests might be heard.

The solemn benediction was imparted by Rt. Rev. Monsignor Patrick E. Smyth, of Jersey City, and formerly rector of St. Mary's church. The sermon was preached by Rev. John J. Dillon, of St. Patrick's Cathedral, Newark, who is supervisor of parochial schools in the Newark diocese. Among the clergymen who were present were Father Patrick Hart, of St. Joseph's church, North Plainfield; Father John Baldwin, of Mt. St. Mary's College; Father Dunphy, of St. John's church, Dunellen; Father Delehanty, of Paterson; Father Glennon, of Morristown; Father Sciolla and Father MacDonald, of St. Mary's.

In the course of his sermon Father Dillon remarked that the dedication of the new chapel meant the broadening of St. Mary's church and a further step for Christian influence in the community. Although it is now on a small scale it will only be a few years when the work will be enlarged and it practically means a new parish for Plainfield. He gave his blessing to the parishioners and bespoke rapid development for St. Bernard's.

The presence of Monsignor Smyth at the service was greatly appreciated by all. He spoke in a reminiscent vein and told of how he had planned many years ago to erect a Catholic chapel at East Third and Berckman streets. In fact, he said, the cellar had been excavated but conditions arose at the time which prevented the plans from being carried out. As matters are now, he continued, the new location selected by Father Bogan is much more convenient for the neighborhood it is intended to supply but it was impossible at the time the Berckman site was decided upon to forsee the wonderful development of the east end of the city. He congratulated St. Mary's parish upon its new acquisition and prophesied that the chapel is a forerunner of a big church. Following the exercises Monsignor Smyth was accorded an informal reception, during which he renewed acquaintances with many former parishioners and was introduced to many new friends.

When the new chapel of St. Bernard's becomes well established, within four years, it is the intention of Father Bogan to erect a larger building on the tract of land already purchased on the Chelsea Boulevard nearby.

SUDDEN DEATH OF MRS. D. C. ADAMS

Well Known Borough Resident Succumbs to a Long Illness.

Mrs. Frances U. Adams, wife of Dr. Daniel C. Adams, died suddenly at her home on Grove street, the borough, last night, following a long illness from complications. Three weeks ago Mrs. Adams went to Atlantic City in the hope that the change would be beneficial, but it did not and during the past two weeks she failed rapidly. While it was realized that her condition was critical her death was unexpected at this time.

Mrs. Adams was the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. James Honeyman, of Peapack, where she was born. She had been a resident of the borough for the past fifty years. She was widely known and had a large circle of acquaintances, among whom she was highly esteemed for her many estimable qualities. She was a member of Trinity Reformed church, where she was a regular attendant until ill health prevented.

There survives beside her husband, who is a well-known physician, two children, Miss Helen Adams and Cory Adams; two sisters, Mrs. Charles E. Dunham, of Bound Brook, and Mrs. Elizabeth A. Parse, with whom Mrs. Adams lived. There also survives one brother, John H. Honeyman, of Knoxville, Tenn., who at present is quite ill in a hospital at that place.

FIREMAN SUSTAINS A FRACTURED LEG

As a result of the alarm turned in at 3:45 this morning for the fire on the Netherwood Farm on Mountain avenue, William Gaub, driver of No. 1 hose wagon, is in Muhlenberg Hospital with a broken leg. Gaub jumped from his bed at the first tap of the gong and slid hurriedly down the pole leading from the second to the first floor. He struck the landing matt with great force and fell backward not realizing at the time that anything serious had happened. When he attempted to stand on his foot he found it impossible and was also made aware of the fact that it was very painful.

Gaub was assisted to his bed by Captain Feiring and the other members of the house, as No. 1 company does not go out for box 18. On the arrival of Dr. Albert Pittis a few minutes later the physician found that the fireman's right leg had sustained a clean break just above the ankle. It was decided to have him removed to Muhlenberg Hospital and he was taken there at 8 o'clock this morning. While the X-ray picture taken has not been developed as yet it is believed that Gaub will have a speedy recovery as there are no bad features accompanying the break. He will probably be laid up six or eight weeks.

Gaub is one of the best men in the city department and the accident is greatly deplored by Chief Doane and all the officers and privates. The injury is one that is apt to occur every time the men use the pole as the sudden descent brings them to the floor with considerable force. Gaub is quite heavy, a fact which played an important part in receiving the broken bone.

HUNDREDS OF CHICKS PERISH IN FLAMES

Early Morning Fire at Netherwood Farms Results in Considerable Damage.

The fire departments from both the city and borough sides of the brook were called out at an early hour this morning for what afterward proved to be a small plaze on the Netherwood Farm, Mountain avenue, owned by Pierre Mali and occupied by William Lindsay. A large hennery became ignited in some way, probably from an incendiary origin, and rapidly spread throughout the full length of the building, a distance of several hundred feet. Owing to a lack of water it was impossible for the firemen to accomplish anything beyond saving the nearby barns and other structures.

Although Mr. Lindsey would give no idea as to the damage, an estimate places it at about $500. This includes several hundred chickens and many settings of eggs. The loss is partially covered by insurance.

The blaze was first noticed at three-fifteen by Mr. Lindsay, the glare being quite plain in his room. The North Plainfield firemen were called on the telephone at 3:15 and on the way out Lieut. Albert Fritz pulled box 134 at Mountain and Westervelt avenues. The borough men did their best under the circumstances, but were practically powerless to prevent the spread of flames through the large hennery. At 3:40 Mr. Lindsay called the city department on the telephone. Chief Doane sent out the auto pumping engine and responded himself. The apparatus had not arrived at the scene when Patrolman Saunders, not knowing who had been called out, pulled box 18 to 3:45. As the result all the apparatus at city headquarters and No. 4 house at Netherwood responded.

The auto engine was hooked up to a well supposed to contain a good supply of water but it petered out in a few minutes. There was nothing the Plainfield men could do particularly and they returned to their respective houses in about a half hour. The borough department remained on the scene until all danger from embers and sparks had been removed.

When the fire was first noticed it was in the middle of the hennery, but shortly after Mr. Lindsay rushed out to rouse his son, Thomas, who sleeps in a tent the year around, flames suddenly appeared at the northern end of the building. It is possible that the second blaze may have been caused by a spark but at the same time it gave rise to the belief that an incendiary may have been at work.

AUTOIST SEEKS DAMAGES FROM CARNIVAL COMPANY

An automobile owned and driven by George Sacks, of Springfield, L. I., collided with a wagon owned by the Levitt-Meyerhoff carnival company at South avenue and Richmond street last night, the machine being badly damaged. According to the police the wagon had no light on it and Mr. Sacks drove his car squarely into it.

The carnival wagon was one that had been taken from a flat car and was left standing on the side of the thoroughfare prior to drawing it to the carnival grounds on West Front street. Mr. Sacks has retained Robert Newton Crane as his attorney and the carnival company will be asked to reimburse the autoist for the value of the car.

THIEVES MADE A SPECIALTY OF PORCH FURNISHINGS

What appears to be a wholesale raid on porch furnishings was made after midnight Saturday night, when thieves made the rounds of houses located on Orchard place and appropriated everything in sight. The police are working on the case and it is the opinion that the marauders worked with a horse and wagon or automobile.

Included in the reports on the police docket are the following articles stolen from front porches: Willow rocker from James C. Huston, palm plant four feet in heighth from Thomas T. Caleen, rubber plant from Daniel Carroll and rocker from Edward Feiring.

SUCCESSFUL SALE.

The sale held at the Netherwood Reformed church, Saturday afternoon from 3 to 6 o'clock, was successful and the various tables were well patronized throughout the afternoon. The Ladies' Aid Society of the church conducted the affair and home-made cake, candy and fancy articles were generously furnished by the members. Mrs. E. Pearson was chairman of the committee assisted by Mrs. Amos Andrews.

CLOSE RANGE FIRE

Germans Are Repulsed in Effort to Win Back Ground Lost to the French—Former German Cruiser Breslau Sinks the Varna.

London, May 17—The Admiralty issued the following statement in regard to the Zeppelin attack at Ramsgate this morning:

"The Zeppelin that attacked Ramsgate was chased off by East Church and Westgate machines as far as the West Hinder lightship. When off Nieuport, Belgium, she was attacked by eight naval machines from Dunkirk. Three machines were able to attack her at close range fire. Flight Commander Bigsworth dropped four bombs when 200 feet above the airship. A large column of smoke was seen to come out of one of her compartments. The Zeppelin then rose to a great height, 11,000 feet, with her tail downward and is believed to be severely damaged. All our machines were exposed to a heavy fire from the Zeppelin. There were no casualities."

Reports this morning from Broadstairs indicated that the Zeppelin that dropped bombs at Ramsgate early today flew over Broadstairs, but did not drop bombs there.

Paris, May 17—Violent attacks launched by the Germans in an effort to win back ground lost to the French on the heights of Lorette in Northern France, have been repulsed, it was announced in an official communique today.

French, British and Russian flags are displayed with the Italian colors in many places. King Victor Emmanuel received the Council of Ministers this morning at 10 o'clock at a special meeting.

Turin, May 17—The report that a company of Austrian chaussers crossed the Italian frontier and was repulsed by Italian troops, has not been officially confirmed, although the report is gaining strength.

Washington, May 17—Excitement was created here today by an unofficial report that a three-funnelled German cruiser had entered the Virginia Capes, successfully running the blockade of British warships and was proceeding up Hampton Roads in the direction of Newport News. The Navy Department is seeking confirmation of the report. The vessel is reported out of touch of shore stations. If the report is true the cruiser is believed to be the Karlsruhe, which is the only German cruiser in these waters not accounted for, although her destruction has been reported in various places at different times.

Norfolk, May 17—The report that a vessel believed to be the German cruiser Karlsruhe had steamed into Hampton Roads this morning, is without foundation. Nothing has been seen of the craft.

Berlin, May 17.—The following statement was given out at German headquarters today: Western theatre north of Ypres and west of the canal near Steenstraate and Het Sas the Germans yesterday gave up their advance positions and to avoid losses under the enemy's heavy artillery fire drew back their smaller forces to their main positions on the eastern bank of the canal. MR. AND MRS. JEFFERSON SPEND NIGHT IN JAIL

A matrimonial difference between Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Jefferson, colored, of Jefferson avenue, caused by "King Alcohol," resulted in the couple spending the night in the borough lockup and having their savings reduced to $3 when arraigned before Judge Campbell, yesterday morning. Another penalty, which was especially hard on "Jeff" was the fact that he was unable to partake of his favorite Sunday dish, baked beans. The beans are still laying along the park sidewalk where they were scattered when "Jeff" threw the bag at his wife in response to her question, "Why didn't you go home with the groceries"

The couple were arrested by Marshals Kepler and Tarpey, who had been attracted to the scene by the noise that they were making. Marshal Kepler arrested "Jeff" and Marshal Tarpey took Mrs. "Jeff. When Marshal Kepler grabbed "Jeff" the latter wanted to know where he was going. "To the borough lockup," replied the marshal. "No I ain't," replied "Jeff" with a show of resistance. Suffice it to say that he went right quick. Marshal Tarpey had no trouble with the woman as she submitted meekly to the inevitable.

MORTON GETS A BATH.

While canoeing in Green brook Saturday morning, Morton Althoen, of Mountainview Terrace, and Howard Townley, of Madison avenue, encountered trouble when their canoe became firmly wedged on a rock in the middle of the stream. After a vain ten minutes' attempt to dislodge the canoe it became apparent to the young men that one of them would have to get out and push the craft off. The waters of the stream were cold and both were reluctant to take a bath, so lots were drawn. Morton was the unfortunate and he jumped into the cold stream without even divesting himself of his clothes, which were his "Sunday best."

He did not see the machine until too late to avoid hitting it and struck the hind end of it breaking a mudguard and damaging the body and one wheel. AMBER FLUID ROBBED VILLAGE OF A COPPER

Scotch Plains' Police "Force" Sent in His Resignation Following Discovery.

Scotch Plains today has an opportunity to establish its prestige as one of Jersey's most law-abiding communities. The police force got "wind" of a committee probe Friday and handed in his resignation. Pending the appointment of a new one the village will have to carry itself straight. In the meantime several likely candidates are brushing up to make themselves presentable to the Township Committee, the body that will probably give out the plum the fore part of this week.

Until Friday "Bill" Ashton, a native son of Plainfield, sported the shield and helmet that designated him as Scotch Plains' "regular" police force. He has been the "regular" for about a year and was relegated to the retired list following an episode that occurred Thursday night in a rendezvous located in the rear of the Scotch Plains' Baptist church.

"Copper" Ashton and a number of village "pals", it is said, had been having a "bottle" party in the outbuilding and sounds of hilarity attracted the attention of certain town moguls when they were coming from the Ascension Day services in the edifice. An investigation revealed the minion of the law and his comrades in a high state of glee, and according to one of the village "fathers," the party, one and all, was under the influence of the amber fluid and gave pronounced indications of being full of "hops."

As a sequel to the Thursday night incident the Fanwood Township Committee met Friday to solve the question as to why the bluecoat and his companions had not conducted their festivities around the "gilded bar" instead of rallying in a church barn. The consensus of opinion among the committeemen, who included Sam Hatfield, Ira G. Walker and William Ward, was that the celebrants had failed to exercise due discretion in selecting a carousing place and that "Faithful Bill" Ashton must be divested of his shield and helmet.

Hence the throwing of Scotch Plains citizens on their honor to keep the peace prior to the appointment of a successor to Ashton and the optimistic look on the countenances of certain villagers who have long sought the "gravy" that goes with the copper's job in that municipality.

34TH ANNIVERSARY OF CHURCH SOCIETY

Rev. J. Y. Broek, of Trinity Church, Preaches Interesting Sermon.

The thirty-fourth anniversary of the Ladies' Christian Work Society, of Trinity Reformed church, was observed, last night, when the members attended the service in a body and listened to an interesting discourse by Rev. J. Y. Broek on "Perseverance." His text was taken from Galatians 6:9: "Let us not be weary in well doing: for in due season we shall reap if we faint not." Mr. Broek said in part:

"It is a pleasure to welcome the Ladies' Christian Work Society to this service. You have completed another successful year. Statistics will never be able to do justice to the service rendered during these thirty-four years. God alone knows and He will reward and bless faithful work done in the Master's name.

"Perseverance is a necessary virtue in gaining success in life. The constant dripping of the water finally wears away the rock. Perseverance is not simply trying. It is trying plus fixed determination. Everything that we do is beset with difficulties and we should not be discouraged because of difficulty. If work were easy at the start, it would take away all initiative, incentive and interest. The person who is looking for easy things seldom amounts to anything.

"The lack of perseverance paralyzes efforts and initiative. The worst thing in life is not to try. When laudable enterprises are undertaken and laid down, constancy is relinquished, labor is lost and perseverance is destroyed. Joshua and Caleb had pluck and courage when they brought in a favorable report after viewing the Promised Land. The want of perseverance is often akin to faithlessness.

"Perseverance has its successes and rewards. The children of Israel after wandering for forty years in the wilderness, finally won the Promised Land. A Christian should persevere in every good work because of the character of the Master he serves. The motive of service is the love of Christ and gratitude for our salvation and wonderful deliverance from sin. All service will be honored. 'If any man serve Me, him will the Father honor.'"

During the service brief reports of the year's work were presented by officers of the society showing the excellent progress made in all departments of work.

BIRTHDAY PARTY GIVEN MISS CATHERINE PHILBAN

Mrs. Annie Philban, of 729 West Third street, gave an enjoyable party at her home, Saturday night, in honor of the birthday of her daughter Miss Catherine Philban.

Guests to the number of fifty were in attendance and the hours were spent in listening to an informal program of songs, recitations and addresses, while dancing and instrumental music were additional features. Supper was served at midnight.

One of the hits of the evening was made by Alexander Potter, who made a great impression with his recitation of Roberts Burns' poem, "The Cotter's Saturday Night." It developed that Saturday was also Mr. Potter's birthday and he came in for a share of the congratulations that were accorded Miss Philban. Bernard Egilton was especially good in vocal numbers, obliging several times, while other solos were rendered by the following: Messrs. Halliwell Douglas, Page, Foy, Hennessy, Sloyan, Campbell, O'Brien, Donaldson Marsh, Pearson and Potter.

Among those present were the Misses E. Campbell, Bouzette, Regan, Mrs. Marsh, Mrs. Eackerman, Miss Brown, Miss Comar, Miss Lecce, Mrs. Philban, Miss Philban, Mr. and Mrs. Campbell, Miss Julia Cloyan, Miss Irene Hodgson, Mr. and Mrs. Lean, Mr. and Mrs. Rolston, Mrs. Milson, Mr. and Mrs. Donaldson, Mr. Douglas, Mr. Campbell, Mr. Sloyan, Dennis Sloyan, the Messrs. Pearson, Houes, Hennessy, Halliwell, O'Brien, Eglington, Derry, Cotgrave, Guinne, Foy, Cross, Morn, Page and Potter.

BUILDING STARTS TALK OF MERGER

PLANS ARE DISCUSSED

Sewer and Other Improvements Would Be Possible by Joining the Two Municipalities—New Factories a Boom to Village.

The coming of two new factories to New Market, which will ultimately employ in the vicinity of from 500 to 600 men, when completed and in full running order, has revived talk in the village of consolidation of that section of Piscataway township with the borough of Dunellen. One of the purposes behind the movement at the present time is a desire on the part of the realty holders to have their properties included in the plans of the working out of the joint sewer collecting system and disposal works now under construction by Dunellen, North Plainfield and this city.

While many of the working men's families brought to reside in this section by the new shops will make their homes at either Dunellen or this city, there is no doubt as to the large number of houses which will have to be erected at New Market to accommodate the newcomers. This fact leads many of the property-owners in the village to believe that consolidation with the borough would be a great benefit to the village, if for no other reason than to share in the sewerage system. Several of the taxpayers see other benefits to be derived from this step and are desirous of making a move to bring the question to a head in the course of the next month or two.

The fact that the borough form of government has been advocated at South Plainfield during the past winter, because of the growth of the latter place since the arrival of the Spicer Manufacturing Company at that place, thus making it possible to derive Piscataway township of considerable taxable property, has also been advanced as a reason by the New Market residents for talking seriously of the matter of consolidation at this time. The organization of the borough form of government at South Plainfield would mean the throwing of the burden of taxation on the township of New Market, and this, the citizens of the latter place desire to sidestep, if such a thing is possible.

Some two or three months ago a number of New Market people talked to some extent in favor of the borough government for New Market, but this fell by the wayside, and nothing of a definite nature was accomplished, as there was a lack of interest manifested in the subject at that time. On several sides, it is generally conceded that the borough proposition would be taken up again and public opinion properly crystallized should the consolidation movement fail to meet with popular support.

There appears to be little doubt as to the willingness of Dunellen to take over a large slice of what is generally termed New Market, especially that section laying between the tracks of the Central Railroad and the Lehigh Valley. The move would not only add considerable taxable property to the borough, but would increase materially the population of the hustling suburb of this city.

The question from the Dunellen point of view has been discussed more or less for several months, by both the Dunellen Call of that place as well as men prominent in local civic affairs. New Market advocates of consolidation will undoubtedly receive the moral support of many of the leading business men of the borough, should the question be put into definite form in the near future.

The question of the steady growth of New Market, however, is not dependent upon the adoption of either consolidation or the borough government in the immediate future, as two factories going up at the same time, together with the subsequent erection of a great number of houses to follow guarantees a sufficient growth for some little time. The additional revenue from taxes on the new buildings and personal property, to say nothing of poll taxes, would, in all probability be sufficient to cover the cost of many of the improvements in civic life made necessary by the growth in population. Other improvements, which are to be desired, because they will add to the attractiveness of the village, and make possible a continued growth, will only come after either consolidation with Dunellen, or the establishment of the borough form of government has become a reality instead of mere talk or village gossip.

"Stand by the President"

This is what a million people said on Saturday morning last when they woke up and found that the Lusitania had gone down.

Whatever race, creed, color or politics we belong to, every native-born citizen, every naturalized citizen, every person seeking for naturalization, must nail up the American flag and take his stand for it on the basis of the President's message to the world, making plain our position in the forefront of civilization, for these principles:

1—Opposing the disposition and action of any nation, under any circumstances, to attempt to control the waters of any of the oceans in denial of the equal rights of the United States.

2—Insisting upon the disavowal, as an adopted method of war, of such acts as the sinking of any merchant ships carrying American citizens in the pursuit of business or happiness.

3—Insisting upon adequate reparation for American lives lost and American property destroyed.

4—Demanding that submarine warfare on merchant shipping shall cease.

It is in these strong terms that the President has spoken, and the President speaks for the Nation.

In This Great Hour of Our Nation's History

we certainly mean to stand by the President and to this end we make the respectful suggestion, under the shadow of the Old Hall where the Declaration of Independence was signed, that the last half of the statement following this shall be signed and sent to the executive of the Nation at Washington. He will feel stronger if a million men and women of the cities, towns and villages all over the United States send him the assurance of their support. It cannot hurt anything, and it may help to strengthen him in his arduous work.

Do it today!

A Pledge of Support to the President

PROGRESS ON POSTOFFICE.

For the first time since work was started, weather conditions today interfered with the excavation of the cellar of the new Federal postoffice building at Watchung avenue and East Second street. From present indications, if bad weather interrupts no more, the work on the foundations will be started the last of this week, or the first of next.

MEN'S CLUB ANNUAL MEETING AND SOCIAL

Seventh-Day Baptist Organization Holds Elaborate Affair in Church Rooms.

Assisted by members of the Women's Auxiliary, the Men's Clubs, of the Seventh-Day Baptist church, held its annual meeting and election of officers, followed by a reception, in the parlors of the edifice, last night. In many respects the affair was similar to that of previous years, the business meeting being followed by an elaborate program of entertainment furnished by talented members of the club. The church parlors were appropriately decorated for the occasion and the program rendered was a most complete one.

During the business session the following officers were named to serve during the ensuing year: President, Franklin A. Langworthy; vice president, Alexander W. Vars; secretary, Raymond C. Burdick; treasurer, John B. Cottrell, Sr. The executive committee is composed of the officers and two other members, Roy E. Titsworth, and the retiring president, Irving Hunting. President Langworthy and William C. Hubbard were authorized to act as delegates from the Seventh-Day Baptist organization at the meeting of the Federation of Men's Clubs of Plainfield to be held in the near future.

An elaborate banquet followed the meeting, this feature being entirely in the hands of the women who composed a dinner committee headed by Mrs. E. F. Champlin. She was assisted by Mrs. J. F. Randolph, Mrs. Charles H. Dunham, Mrs. Wendell R. Mosher and Mrs. Charles F. Titsworth. Supper was served to about sixty guests, including members and friends of the clubs.

Irving Hunting, the retiring president, acted as toastmaster and introduced the following toasts and speakers: "Our Men of Yesterday," Dr. Theodore L. Gardner, "Our Club of Yesterday," Raymond C. Burdick; "Our Men of Today," Charles P. Titsworth; "Our Work Today," Orra S. Rogers; "Our Sabbath," Theodore P. Davis, and "Our Boys, the Men of Tomorrow," Dr. Henry M. Maxson. M. Maxson.

A delightful program of vocal and instrumental music was rendered by the following: Ernest Whitford, Charles P. Titsworth, O. T. Whitford, Paul Whitford and Roy Titsworth.

MISS HELEN WHITNEY GIVES SONG RECITAL

Miss Helen E. Whitney, formerly of Central avenue, this city, gave a song recital at Galen Hall, Atlantic City, Saturday evening. She was received with enthusiasm by the guests of the Hall, where Mr. and Mrs. Whitney have been making their home for several years. For the past two years Miss Whitney has been studying at the Combs Conservatory, Philadelphia, and is making splendid progress, having this year completed the requirements for the advanced vocal certificate. Miss Elnora Frantz, pianist, also of the conservatory, assisted Miss Whitney.

FINAL SPRING SOCIAL.

The final spring social under the auspices of the Men's Club of the Congregational church will be held in the parish house at 8 o'clock tomorrow night. This will afford the congregation an opportunity to meet with Rev. and Mrs. Charles L. Goodrich.

A boy arrived Saturday morning at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles VanWinkle, of upper Somerset street, the borough.

BUY IT NOW.

Read the advertisements — acquaint yourself with the price of the thing you need or want, and BUY IT NOW. In the last eight months the merchants of this country have made extraordinary efforts to buy cheaply that they might sell cheaply to their customers. The fact that the demand for certain kinds of American made goods is now confined to America has enabled dealers to secure better prices and to make better prices.

This kind of saving brings dividends to great and successful business corporations. Money kept in a stocking or in a bank is useless because it is wholly non-productive. It can be employed now, when prices are low, to very good advantage. It is to encourage people to do this that the BUY IT NOW movement was set on foot.

People are beginning to realize that it is better to pay a hundred dollars for a one hundred and fifty dollar article today than to wait a year and pay one hundred and fifty dollars for it. Buyers who visit the stores and compare the prices now quoted with those of a year ago are convinced that now is the time to buy intelligently. The piano that is so important to the enjoyment of the family and to the education of the children can be bought today far more cheaply than it could have been bought last year, or than it can be bought next year.

How profitably you can buy other articles you will find in the advertisements. You can afford things today that you may not be able to afford in another year. Ready carefully the advertisements. They tell a very remarkable story, one which it is to your interest to know. BUY IT NOW. Join the movement that will make prosperity immediate. BUY IT NOW.

WORTHY OF SUPPORT.

Plainfielders have been approached to join the National Security League, and in a short time a concerted action will be made to secure two hundred or more members in this city. The organization is one which is announced to have for its object "preparation against war," rather than "preparation for war."

The men identified with the national movement include Joseph H. Choate, former ambassador to England, honorary president; Alton B. Parker, honorary vice-president; former Secretary of War, Henry L. Stimson, chairman of the Army Committee; J. Bernard Walker, chairman of the Naval Committee; Benjamin F. Tracy, former Secretary of the Navy; and Colonel William C. Church, editor of the Army and Navy Journal.

Public support may well be given to an organization which has prepared the following program: (1) Legislation correcting present wasteful methods of military appropriations and disbursements. (2) The adoption o a definite military policy. (3 A stronger, better-balanced Navy. (4) An effective mobile Regular Army. (5) Better government support for the National Guard. (6) The creation of an organized reserve for each branch of our military service.

Former Councilman Frank L. Holt, in a letter to Saturday's Daily Press began what may result in an agitation for the stopping of the noon train from New York at this city on Saturdays. This is a matter that interests a large number of the commuters, and whatever interests them deserves serious attention from the railroad authorities. The train, as Mr. Holt points out, is one that would get many of the business and professional men from New York to their homes in time for lunch, and yet permit them to put in a full morning's work on Saturday. At present it stops here about nine times out of ten to take passengers for Trenton and Philadelphia, but the commuters are afraid to take it because Saturday might be the one day in the week when it is not flagged, and then Plainfielders would have to go through to Trenton junction. Travelers from Plainfield have made mighty few concerted requests of the Central Railroad recently, and if enough people back up Mr. Holt's suggestion, no doubt the officials of the line will have the desired stop made.

THE FORUM

Editor, Plainfield Daily Press:

In September the men of New Jersey will decide by the ballot whether or not the women of New Jersey shall have the ballot. I shall not stop to consider whether the enfranchisement of women is expedient or inexpedient. I believe in absolute democracy; I believe with Thomas Jefferson that governments derive their just powers from the consent of the governed; I believe with Abraham Lincoln that no man is good enough to govern another without the other's consent; I believe with Samuel Adams that the right of representation is an original right of nature; I believe with Alexander Hamilton that the mode and manner in which the people shall take part in the government of their creation may be prescribed by the constitution, but the right itself is antecedent to all constitutions, and can neither be bought or sold or given away; I believe with Benjamin Franklin that those who have no voice or vote in the election of representatives do not enjoy liberty, but are absolutely enslaved to those who have the vote and to their representatives; I believe with James Madison that it should be remembered finally that it has ever been the pride and boast of America that the rights for which she contends are the rights of human nature; I believe with the builders of this Republic that taxation without representation is tyranny, whether the taxes are taken from men or taken from women, and that all who must obey the laws should have a part in making the laws, whether they happen to be men or happen to be women. I know there are those who will try to avoid the principle involved and to turn the attention of the voters to other phases of the question, but to the candid mind it must be manifest that the election will decide whether or not the voters really believe in a republican form of government, whether or not they believe in local democracy; whether or not they believe in justice; whether or not they believe that women should enjoy perfect equality with men before the law, or remain in the class with paupers, criminals and lunatics who are excluded from the right to share in the government under which they live. The decision will involve vital principles of justice and liberty and the question is one that cannot be safely slighted by any one who has a just regard for elemental rights. The Civil War would have been a failure if it had not put the ballot in the negros' hands and although there will be no Civil War to free the women, we should not lose sight of the high value placed upon political liberty by those who engaged in that memorable struggle.

When I say that liberty is the gift of God, that justice is the right of every human being, I state an axiom, that is "a self-evident and necessary truth or a proposition whose truth is so evident at first sight that no process of reasoning or demonstration can make it plainer;" and to permit any one to raise the question of expediency concerning such a proposition is to surrender a principle which lies at the very foundation of human rights.

It is of the highest importance therefore that the voter should keep ever before his mind the simple truth that equality is justice, and as he approaches the ballot box let him inquire of his own judgment and conscience whether he is justified in denying to another the right he claims for himself.

THREAT BRINGS MEXICANS TO TERMS IN UPRISING

Washington, May 17—Evidently spurred by the threat that United States marines would be landed from the cruiser Raleigh to protect Americans from the Yaqui Indian uprising, near Guaymas, Mexico, the Mexican regular troops have taken the field. Rear Admiral Howard today reported to the Navy Department. The Mexican soldiers previously had shown a disinclination to enter the campaign against the Indians.

ENTERTAINED OPEN AIR SCHOOL CHILDREN SATURDAY

As the guests of Miss Mildred Miller and Miss Helen Terry, twenty-seven of the children who have attended the Open-Air School on Muhlenberg place, during the past season were taken on a picnic on Saturday. The party left the school in automobiles, and were taken to the Gables at Fanwood, where they had a lively day out of doors and a big feast at noon. The hostesses were assisted in caring for the children by Miss Sarah VanBoskerck and Miss Bateman. It is expected that other friends of the school will provide similar outings later.

WESTFIELD KNIGHTS PLAN ANNIVERSARY CELEBRATION

In commemoration of the first anniversary of the opening of the Westfield Knights of Columbus council rooms, an "Every Member Knight" celebration has been arranged for Wednesday night, those in charge having arranged for an elaborate and appropriate program for the occasion.

A feature of the evening's demonstration will be the appearance of Supreme Warden Thomas McLaughlin, who will make an address on his work in the order and his trip through Glacier Park. Warden McLaughlin is perhaps the best known worker in the order in this State and his popularity extends through Pennsylvania and New York.

A delegation of members of Watchung Council, No. 552, of this city, will take the trip to Westfield to assist in the ceremonies.

THANKS FOR WORK OF THE LOCAL BELGIAN COMMISSION

Acknowledgement in the form of an engrossed certificate, has been received by the local commission for Belgian Relief, from the American Commission in New York city, and it will be placed in the library today, or tomorrow, so that it can be inspected by the Plainfield public. The certificate says:

"The Commission for Relief in Belgium, 71 Broadway, New York. For the people of Belgium, with deep appreciation and lasting gratitude, we acknowledge the donation of women of Plainfield, New Jersey."

Although little has been said recently about the work it is being continued by the local commission, composed of a number of well known women, and contributions to be applied to the fund being used to buy condensed milk for the babies will be welcomed. Several shipments have been sent from this city, and more will go forward from time to time. Money may be sent to the Daily Press office, or to Miss E. B. Hartridge, and will be acknowledged either through the columns of the paper or direct to the subscriber.

MRS. JACKSON'S FUNERAL.

The funeral of Mrs. Isabella Jackson, whose death occurred suddenly Friday night, was held at her late residence yesterday afternoon. Rev. Charles L. Goodrich conducted the service and a large gathering of friends was in attendance. Simplicity marked the absequies, but they were none the less impressive. There were many handsome floral tributes from friends of Mrs. Jackson and her daughter, Miss Addie Parker Jackson. Burial was in the family plot in Evergreen cemetery, the pall bearers being Joseph A. Hubbard, J. D. Spicer, E. H. Holmes, H. Otis Newman and Charles Buckalew.

WENT TO RED BANK.

A delegation composed of members of the Watchung Council, No. 552, Knights of Columbus, made a trip to Red Bank yesterday, to be present at the exemplification of the third degree on members of the council in that city. Supreme Warden Thomas McLaughlin was in charge of the exemplification work.

A GOOD WORD FOR THE CROW.

Despite the Damage He Does He Is a Good Scavenger.

In spite of the crow's instinct to feed on the eggs and young of other species (which he shares in common with several other birds), who would really wish to see him quite exterminated, even if it were possible to exterminate so resourceful a fellow?

His destruction to crops is certainly far less than that of the bobolink in the southern rice fields. He is an efficient scavenger, and his destruction of white grubs, cutworms, wireworms and grasshoppers is of great value. Above all, however, his place in our landscape is such that his passing would leave a dreary void.

Winter or summer we are conscious of him against the sky, against the fields or sentinel on a patriarch pine. In the misty mornings of summer when the sun has not yet rolled up the curtains of cloud from the mountains we hear his voice far off in the woods, rousing us from slumber, and when autumn has come and our sugar groves are a glory of crimson he is still there, his distant call floating down sweetly from the upland woods and testifying in some strange way the height of the peaks beyond.—Harper's Magazine.

LAY OF THE NIGHTINGALE.

Why It Stops When the Little Birds Come Out of the Shell.

It is generally assumed that a bird sings because he is happy, but science goes deeper for an explanation of the why and wherefore of the bird's song. Nature's optimistic joy in constructive progress is expressed in the singing of the male birds who charm their mates to further their wooing and continue after eggs are laid to encourage the fulfillment of hatching.

The song stops when the little birds come out of the shell. The nightingale for weeks during the period of nest building and hatching charms his mate and human ears near him with the beautiful music of his love song. But as soon as the little nightingales come from the eggs the song changes to a sort of guttural croak, implying anxiety and sense of responsibility.

If the nest and contents were destroyed the nightingale would at once resume his beautiful song to inspire his mate to help him build another nest and start all over again the loving work of being fruitful and multiplying.—Cincinnati Commercial-Tribune.

Economizing Labor.

Two laborers were engaged to deepen a well which had become dry. One of them sent his mate down into the well while he sat at the top and directed the work. He first ordered the other man to "dig a bit on this side," then "dig a little more on that side," until the latter, tired of both the work and the orders, exclaimed, "You sit up there and use your tongue, while I have to do all the work!" "One man here giving directions," said the man at the top, "can do as much as ten men down there." Thereupon his mate threw down his pick and climbed up beside the other man. "What are you doing here?" inquired the latter. "Two men up here," answered his mate, "can do as much as twenty men down there!"—London Strand.

Skiing on the Water.

The ski is recommended as both a life saving device and a pleasure craft, combining safety with novelty. It cannot sink, makes better speed than a swimmer and does not tire the rider as swimming does. It is more practicable for long distances and can go through water where there is a heavy undertow, as it sits so high in the water that it is not caught in the grip of the undercurrent as the legs of the swimmer are. It doesn't take a long time to master, as the surf board does; requires no skill in balancing and sticking on and has the great advantage of being equipped with a motive power, whereas the ordinary surf board must be pushed and paddled out to sea before it can be ridden in.—Outing.

Where Art Ceases.

All art is a matter of nature or life acted upon by man; a part taken out of its accidental surroundings and given artistic form. At either side of the field of true art is a waste place where art ceases to have beauty. And the waste on the one side is reached when the artist becomes so enamored of life that he forgets to interpret, to give artistic form, and only brings forth a photographic image, while the waste on the other side is reached when the artist perfects his form but forgets to put life into it.—Sheldon Cheney.

It Would Be a Mighty Task for Dressmakers to Clothe Herd of Elephants With Ringling Show

MISS JENNIE TAKES HER MORNING TOILETTE

SHE VISITS THE MODISTE

Harken, all ye modists, dressmakers and moulders of fashion who mourn in efforts to cram a corpulent figure into the gowns of the day—how would you like to make a costume for an elephant?

The sloping shoulders, and high-waisted effects might prove a fairly easy achievement but when it comes to the matter of ultra-fashionable and narrow hipped phrasing; alack and alas, you would probably be rewarded with a sound whack from a trunk, especially were you catering to the modish Miss Jennie, of the Ringling Brothers' circus. For, strange as it may seem to those who have never made a study of the big grey giants, "my lord, the elephant," and his lady take, in most instances, an unexpected pride in their wardrobe. True, one will find among the 30 pachydermas who will come to Plainfield, a few old tuskers who think of nothing but peanuts and hay. In most instances they are aged bachelors who look upon the flag performances as a matter of fact and the donning of robes and trappings a necessary evil, thrust upon them by the demands of the small boy and his big-eyed sister.

On the other hand, there are Ringling elephants who take a peculiar brand of jungle pride in their dress and who would never think of tossing a trunk full of earth and straw on their backs so long as they wore their tailored suits. There's Miss Jennie, for instance,—nothing seems to please her more than to be fitted to a new gown. Upon Mrs. George Hartzell, mistress of all the wardrobes of Spangletown from the gorgeous and ermined costumes worn in this season's spectacle of "Solomon and the Queen of Sheba" to the eight-inch length dresses of Princess Tiny, falls the duty of measuring and clothing the elephant herd. Of course she is obliged to use a ladder and a surveyor's tape line and buy material by the case and spangles by the ton, but the bigger the task the greater the fun. And then she says the pleased expression of Miss Jennie and an affectionate hug from the trunk is an ample reward for the job.

The accompanying picture shows Mrs. Hartzell measuring Miss Jennie for a robe which took enough red velvet to carpet a church and fully two bushels of spangles. And Jennie is never more alert when preparations are being made to dress her in her new gown. First of all, she is given a bath. True it is not as refreshing as a plunge at Atlantic City, but then a fine hoseing is a very good substitute. And when her tub is complete and she is arrayed in style, this modish elephant is quite as pleased as the best dressed lady of Plainfield or the pretty girl who wears a fresh new print and parades it with forgivable vanity through the walks of the public parks.

This is the sixth year that Mrs. Hartzell has been at the head of the Ringling circus wardrobe department and since she and her corps of assistants have more than 6,000 customers to keep in repair, the post is not an easy one to fill.

This season there are more costumes than ever before because of the introduction of the spectacle, "Solomon and the Queen of Sheba," with its 1,250 characters and the increased number of arenic performers. Since the majority of these performers are foreigners, they love bright colors and fluffy furbelows and these increase the work of the wardrobe department. Just what a wonderful amount of color and beautiful textiles can be weaved into one mammoth show will be shown when the circus exhibits in Plainfield next Wednesday afternoon and evening.

GERMANY'S NEW SUBMARINE IS MOST DEADLY CRAFT IN WORLD

"Submersible Cruiser" With Powerful Engines and High Speed Can't Be Sunk by Ramming.

By Magnifying Periscope She Sees Foe Far Away and Deals Deathblow at Ease.

WRITING on the new German submarines, a noted naval expert gives a remarkable description of the amazing craft, the existence of which has, it is thought, made possible the recent daring adventures of the kaiser's warships in the North sea.

Since the outbreak of hostilities, he writes, Germany has launched and fitted out at least nineteen of what can only be termed submersible cruisers or supersubmarines, one at least of which is fitted with engines of nearly 7,000 horsepower. These vessels are of from 800 to 1,000 tons displacement, their length is from 213 feet to 220 feet, and they have a beam of twenty feet.

Of this class of vessel is the U-36, which captured the Dutch vessel Batavier V.

It has been remarked regarding that submersible in particular that her very size exposes her unduly to danger in the narrow seas, and the opinion has been vouchsafed that she might ultimately fall a victim to a destroyer that could easily have been evaded by a smaller and more easily handled craft.

Has Speed of Twenty-four Knots.

It is not clearly shown why this should be the case, and against the assumption it may be mentioned that the boats Germany possessed before the outbreak of hostilities had a surface speed of only from fourteen to sixteen knots and a submerged speed of ten knots. The new type has a surface speed of from twenty to twenty-four knots and an underwater speed of at least twelve knots.

They are also fitted with engines which can be reversed from full speed ahead to full speed astern in ten seconds. It would seem, therefore, that such vessels would be more likely to escape from a destroyer attack than one of the older craft.

It may be mentioned here that these new submarines are armed with four tubes, two forward and two aft, firing nineteen and one-half inch torpedoes with war heads charged with tri-nitro toluol. In addition, they are fitted with an anti-air craft gun and two fourteen pounders. These are mounted on disappearing carriages, which are automatically drawn below the surface of the deck as soon as the pumps are set to work to submerge the vessel.

Germany has always aimed at obtaining the most powerful engines possible for their size for her submarine service as well as at securing for her boats the greatest possible radius of action. For months before the war broke out Krupp's and the Maschinenfabrik Augsburg-Nurnberg A.G. had been experimenting with the Diesel engine with a view to evolving a type which should be eminently suited for use in submarine craft.

Krupps Produce New Engine.

Krupp's worked principally on a two stroke engine, in which, as there is no scavenging stroke, as it is called, the scavenging or cleansing of the cylinder from the burnt gases is effected by a separate compressor and a system of valves in the cylinder head. The design of the engine is quite away from usual lines. Three working cylinders are fitted at each side of the high pressure compressor, and two double acting pumps for scavenging are placed at the extreme end of the bed.

The M. A. N. firm also is elaborating a two stroke Diesel engine at Nurnberg, and several of the German super-submarines are believed to be fitted with engines turned out from those works. The engines are of the eight cylinder 4,000 horsepower type, and two engines are fitted in each boat.

But it is not only in speed and size that developments have been made. The sight of the submarine has been greatly improved. The modern periscope is fitted with a compass by means of which it is possible for a helmsman to steer to fractions of a degree instead of, as hitherto, to quarter points only. By this the accuracy with which a torpedo can be fired is greatly enhanced.

Can Aim While Submerged.

In the newest boats it is possible to obtain the bearings of an enemy ship from a distance of some miles away and set a course which, without its being necessary to use the periscope again, will bring the boat to a point from which a torpedo may be fired with absolute certainty of its hitting the mark.

The earlier forms of periscopes were frail and leaky and a constant source of trouble. The new type are not only robust, but the glasses have no tendency to become cloudy, and, no matter in what position the object viewed may be, the image thrown is always erect and not at times inverted, as in the older instruments. The bearing of the object viewed is indicated by a movable pointer on a fixed dial.

The new pattern of periscope is also so arranged that if desired a magnifier can be brought into operation whereby a vessel invisible to the naked eye can be seen and its exact position calculated with mathematical precision. Once this has been worked out the submarine can be submerged and her periscope drawn in and an underwater course pursued until the exact position at which the torpedo should be fired is arrived at.

In all modern vessels the firing can be done from the periscope—i. e., the officer who is watching the periscope and the telltale when they are in use can himself fire the torpedoes without leaving his post.

Unique Signaling Apparatus.

Signaling is done on a submarine in the same way as on board a surface ship, but when the vessel is submerged it is carried out by messages sent by a modified form of submarine bell, the vibrations of which are picked up by microphone. Submarines are exceptionally noisy when submerged, and in order that messages may be sent or received correctly the operator sits in a soundproof compartment.

A submarine of the new German type, if rammed by a merchantman or even war vessel, may quite easily be uninjured. Indeed, it is a most difficult thing to sink a submersible cruiser by ramming her.

These vessels are fitted with double hulls, the outer skin being comparatively thin, while the inner hull is stout, as it has to withstand the full hydrostatic pressure. The space between these hulls is subdivided by numerous bulkheads, and, while some of the spaces are water tanks for sinking purposes, in others the heavy fuel oil used with the engines is stored.

Any two of these spaces—in some boats more than two—could be flooded without the rising powers of the boat being impaired.

Consequently should a merchantman ram a submersible of the latest type and report that a film of oil rose to the surface the great probability is that all that has been done has been to pierce the outer skin of the submarine and allow the contents of one of her fuel tanks to escape.

SWORE TO SAVE FLAGS.

Austrians Tore Them In Shreds and Hid Pieces In Clothes.

A remarkable feature of the surrender of Permysl was that not a single Austrian flag was captured. The secret of their disappearance was disclosed by the confessions of prisoners.

They said that the night before the surrender all the flags were torn into strips. These strips were numbered and distributed among individuals, who hid them in the linings of their coats and caps. They were required to take an oath to restore them upon their release from captivity, so that the flag might be reconstructed, thus giving to its regiment the right to a further corporate existence. A search of the prisoners revealed many of the hidden fragments.

OLD HORSE SHOWS DEVOTION

Leaps Fence and Trots Eighteen Miles to Follow Master's Funeral.

A horse named Babe, which was driven for a dozen years by Andrew Robinson, a grocer at Lacrosse, Wis., in the days before he became prosperous, had been sent by Mr. Robinson as he lay ill to Irish Coulee, eighteen miles away.

Babe leaped the fence and appeared back home just in time to follow the hearse at her old master's funeral, without even a halter on her neck.

BLIND POSSESS SIXTH SENSE.

Blind children from Batavia and New York, the oldest about fourteen years old, under the direction of Dr. F. Park Lewis, at the meeting of the State Medical society at Buffalo, N. Y., gave a demonstration of a so called sixth sense.

A boy, placed 150 feet from a target, was equipped with a rod. In twenty minutes he determined the location of the target, walked to it and touched it with the rod. The experiment was repeated by other children.

Dr. Lewis believes the children sense the objects through their facial skin. The children themselves said that they "felt" the targets.

DRIEST SPRING IN 40 YEARS.

Crops In East Suffer From Lack of Rain, Says Weather Man.

This has been the longest early spring drought in more than forty years in eastern sections of the country, the national weekly weather bulletin says.

Cotton and truck crops in the eastern part of the south are suffering for lack of rain, but in the great wheat and corn sections of the middle west the weather has been unusually favorable. In the far western states the outlook for fruits is promising.

RUNYON SMASHES ONE MORE RECORD

Plainfield Athlete at His Best and Collects Two First Place Medals.

Ralph Runyon, the Plainfield High School's representative in most of the big college meets, again made himself famous in the way of breaking records Saturday afternoon, in the Middle Atlantic meet held in Philadelphia. Runyon clipped three-quarters of an inch off the record for the pole vault with a leap of eleven feet nine inches, one of his highest jumps to date.

He also tied for first place in the running high jump, making a jump of five feet eight inches, a heighth which he has tried to reach for a long while. H. E. Potter, the athlete who tied the jump with him, was also a close follower in the pole vault, making a vault of eleven feet six inches. He hails from the Hills High School.

Runyon's highest ambition upon entering the meet was to meet Stark, of Mercersburg Academy, in the pole vault. He succeeded in getting first place over his opponent, who only cleared the bar for a third place medal.

BASKETBALL TEAM GUESTS OF COACH RALPH S. PATCH

Another pleasant reception was given to the Plainfield High School basketball team, Interscholastic League champions, by their coach, Ralph S. Patch, and his wife, at their home on Osborne avenue, Saturday night. The members of the team and their friends enjoyed a delightful evening of dancing and playing some unique and original games, which offered a great deal of amusement.

During the evening refreshments were served and the happy party broke up at a late hour.

HOPE CHAPEL GIVEN A KALSOMINE COAT

The Hope Chapel baseball team was blanked by the Y. M. A. nine, of Bound Brook, at that place Saturday afternoon, the final score being 5 to 0. Errors were largely responsible for the defeat, as Schott pitched good ball throughout the game, allowing but six hits. Five errors were chalked up against the local players, Grisley making three on second and Johnny Heron spilling two that went between second and third bases.

The home team scored its first run in the third session and added two tallies in the fifth. One in the sixth and another in the eighth making a total of five, while the visiting batters were given goose eggs every inning. Matthews struck out eleven of his opponents and passed three to first. Hope secured five hits off his delivery, Walls getting two.

FEATURE SHARPSHOOTING PROGRAM HERE TOMORROW

Those lovers of the sharpshooters' game, and there are plenty of this species of sportsmen in Plainfield, will find some entertainment of the top-notch variety at the Brantingham rendezvous, on Park avenue, tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock, when Tom Brantingham meets William Hartman, of Morgan, in the first of a three match series. A string of 100 birds will be contested and the stake is $25. A return match will be contested at a place and date to be decided on following tomorrow's competition.

Both contestants are well-known as clay bird shooters and each has annexed a neat collection of trophies for expertness as a gunner. Only recently Tom Brantingham won the DuPont Powder Company's efficiency trophy over a big field of opponents with a mark of ninety-three of a possible century. Bill Hartman is well-known in Jersey and parts of the Empire State as a sportsman and it's a foregone conclusion that neither gunner will have a walk-over tomorrow.

BATTING AROUND THE JUVENILE BALL CIRCUITS

BY JOSEPH A. GALLAGHER.

The Nonpareil Baseball Club, a colored aggregation of this city, will elect a captain tonight. Sidney Butler and Bill Daniels are candidates for the position and both are exceptionally capable of holding the job.

The St. Mary's Cadets, a local juvenile clan of ballists, have waded through their schedule of games, to date, with a percentage of .500, having won three games and having lost as many. Their conquerors were: The Quakers, West End A. C. and the St. Aloysius B. B. C. Their victims were: West End A. C., Courier-News B. B. C. and St. Aloysius B. B. C. In two instances, a third and rubber game is yet to be played. The Cadets have faced players entirely too big for them, but rather than forfeit a chance to play the national game, have consented to put up with the disadvantage.

THIRD BEATING DEALT OUT TO LEAL PLAYERS

Staten Island Academy Youths Batted Local Into Defeat.

The Leal School baseball team lost its third game of the week Saturday afternoon, when the Staten Island Academy nine took the large end of a 9 to 8 score. This was the third game of the week that was lost by a single run. Errors were largely responsible for the defeat, the local players totalling seven; six of them being by infielders. Leal outbatted its opponents 15 hits to 7, but the eighth inning was an unlucky one for them and Parmly's error cost two runs which won the game.

PEACOCK MONOPOLIZED THE LIMELIGHT IN LOCAL'S TWELFTH INNING TRIUMPH

The first big game of the interscholastic series went to Plainfield High School on Saturday, when Captain "Bill" Peacock cracked out a two bagger in the twelfth inning and scored Denny, when there were two men down and the game was leaning heavily toward the boroughites.

Plainfield started the game with a jump, scoring in the fourth, when Rosenson was brought in by Apgar's single, and making three tallies in the next inning, when Denny, Dunham and Kyle crossed the pan. With these four against them, the home team left their side of the scoreboard a blank until the ninth round, when they came in all at once with their tardy scoring, and brought in four runs. Dilts singled to right field and was advanced to second by Denny's balk. Townley popped up a foul fly to Peacock. Van Mater took a base on balls. Conray singled to left, scoring Dilts and advancing Van Mater to third. Dawe was sent to bat as a pinch hitter in Mead's place, and drew a pass. Smalley also walked, forcing in Van Mater for the second run. Stahl came to bat and scored Conroy by a roller along the first base line, reaching first safely himself. Hebert flied out to Victorson. Van Deventer hit safely to centre field, bringing in Dawe with the tying run. Smalley might have scored on the play, but failed to take a chance, and pulled up safely at third. Dilts flied out to Dunham, ending the inning. Plainfield wasted their half of the tenth, when Peacock flied out, Hirsch, playing in Mead's position on first, caught Rosenson napping, and Mills knocked a bounder to Dilts.

The North Plainfield team came to bat in the tenth with murder in their eyes. Townley got safe on Rosenson's error, and was pushed along by Van Mater's unexpected sacrifice bunt on the third strike. He went to third when Apgar booted Conroy's grounder, and Conroy landed safely on first and stole second. With two men on and but one out, it looked as though North Plainfield had a strangle hold on the game, but Hirsch was called out on strikes, and Smalley popped up to Rosenson. Plainfield took three outs without getting a man to first, and North Plainfield also failed to make any headway in the eleventh inning.

In the beginning of the twelfth Denny hit safely to right, and was advanced by Dunham's hit to pitcher. Kyle flied to Conroy for the second out, and then Peacock added one more to his list of honors by hitting out the winning two bagger. Stahl walked Rosenson, and each runner stole a base, leaving a chance for Mills to place two more runs with a timely single, but he grounded to Dilts for the third out. The home team fell flat on their last chance, popping up two infield flies and one easy grounder.

The hitting was bunched on both teams. Denny, Peacock and Rosenson each took three hits, and Van-Deventer and Conroy were the most consistent for North Plainfield with two apiece.

WILL SELECT OPPONENT.

New York, May 17—The choice of an opponent for Jim Coffey for the opening show of the Brighton Beach Sporting Club, at the Brighton Beach race track, on Decoration Day, Monday, May 31, has narrowed down to three men, Gunboat Smith, Young Weinert and Jim Flynn. The man to get the match will be decided tonight at a meeting between Billy Gibson, who steers Coffey's pugilistic bark, and the managers of the club by the sea. The Dublin giant will be ready to toe the mark no matter who Gibson signs to meet any one selected by the club.

LOCAL BATTERY WORKED.

The Y. M. C. A. College baseball team, of Springfield, Mass., defeated the Norwich nine at Springfield, Saturday afternoon, by a score of 20 to 1. "Hub" Stine, of the borough, did the backstop work during the whole game, and George Townley, former North Plainfield High School twirler, was one of three Springfield pitchers to work. He pitched the last inning and the Norwich batters only made two hits off all three pitchers. They made their lone tally in the ninth inning.

FRANKLINS WIN.

The Franklin team, of Perth Amboy, of which Tommy Mullin is a member, defeated the Yorkville Independents at Perth Amboy, yesterday afternoon. The score was 3 to 1. The Franklins made eight hits to their opponents' six and both teams made four errors. Mullin plays shortstop.

OPENER FOR SAURER'S WAS NOT AUSPICIOUS

Band Concert Played Havoc With Local's Baseball Ability.

The first home game of the season for the Saurer baseball team was a defeat, the Elizabeth A. A. aggregation winning, 7 to 0. The game was played on Parker Field before a large crowd of rooters. In the field the Saurer champions proved a disappointment as they made five costly errors. "Warry" McLaughlin was hit hard, the Elizabethans making an even dozen bingles off his delivery. The visitors started in the first inning to score, making a run. In the third, fifth and ninth sessions two runs crossed the platter.

McLaughlin struck out nine batters and did not issue a free trip to first, while his opponent, Olde, fanned 6 and passed 4.

ABSTAINERS TOOK THE COUNT FROM BAPTISTS

Final Score Indicated That T. A. B. Outfit Was Off-color.

The First Baptist baseball team scored a 5 to 2 victory over the T. A. B. aggregation on the West End avenue grounds, Saturday afternoon. The game was featured by many errors, the "Tabs" being guilty of eight and the home team making three. The visiting nine took the lead in the early stages of the game, pulling one tally across the plate in the second round.

The Baptists tied the score in the fourth and then took a permanent lead in the sixth by getting to Denny's curves and scoring three times. The Tabs chalked up another run in the seventh, but their opponents maintained their lead by adding one more run to the list in the eighth session. Ungaretti opposed Denny on the mound and fanned nine. Randolph and Banks were the heavy stickers for the winners, the former getting a pair of singles, while Banks hit for a brace of doubles.

SCOUT TROOP DEFEATS BORO H. S. FRESHMEN

Scout Troop, No. 1, defeated the North Plainfield High School Freshmen on West End field, this city, Saturday morning, by the score of 3-1. The game was a pitcher's battle between Forgash, of the Scouts, and Perry, of the North Plainfielders, with Forgash, although he received better support and struck out one less man than Perry, having the better of the argument. The game, an interesting one to watch, was played in less than an hour. This was the first game of a series of five. The next game will be staged on Maurer Oval, Dunellen.

HERZOG DISCARDS OLD RULE.

Infielders Are to Be Shifted Five Feet to Right.

Manager Herzog of the Cincinnati Reds will make a radical change in his infield, breaking away from the fixed rules of baseball. He intends to shift each infielder five feet to the right of where he ordinarily stands.

"I am convinced," said Herzog, "that I can make the move. It's a nervy risk to take, but the practice to date has made it seem a cinch to me.

"Mollwitz, at first base, will average five feet farther down the path and toward second. Olson will play five feet nearer second base, but correspondingly outward on the grass. I shall step five feet down toward third, and Groh, at third, will take a position five feet nearer his station, almost on the dead line with the bag, but deep into the left garden, to balance.

"I think the shift will work out perfectly and save a lot of close games this summer."

AN EARLY BONEHEAD PLAY.

Cincinnati Reds' Secretary Tells One Worth Repeating.

"Take it from me," said Frank Bancroft, secretary of the Cincinnati Reds, while some of the athletes were discussing famous bonehead plays recently, "the old timers pulled some bones that had all you youngsters blocked off the map. Best I recollect right now was spring by Miah Murray when he was catching for me at Worcester about thirty-five years ago. With a runner on first Miah steamed back to the stand and made a magnificent catch of a foul fly.

BUSH CONSISTENT BATTER.

Records of Detroit's Little Shortstop Compare Favorably With the Best.

Donie Bush, the little Detroit shortstop, seems about the most methodical and consistent Tiger of them all—not even barring Ty Cobb. This is indicated by a comparison of Bush's official average for 1913 and 1914.

In 1913 Bush went to bat 593 times, scored 98 runs, made 149 hits and delivered 19 two baggers. His batting average was .251.

In 1914 Bush went to bat 596 times, scored 97 runs, rapped 150 hits and cracked out 18 doubles. His batting average was .252.

NEW JAVELIN MARVEL.

Martins of Michigan University Making Name For Himself.

Brazil has sent a freshman to the architectural department of the University of Michigan whom Trainer Farrell hopes to develop into a star with the javelin.

Roman E. Martins is the South American's name, and Trainer Farrell ran across him under the stadium stand bleachers tossing the long spear around 125 feet, despite the handicap of the arches overhead.

The youngster is said to have a mark of 160 feet in prep school, and Farrell expects the Wolverenes will have a real artist in this novel event this season.

STANAGE WORKING HARD.

Detroit's Star Catcher Will Have to Go Some to Hold His Job.

Oscar Stanage is not finding it an easy matter this spring to retain the place of the Tigers' first catcher. There are others who are looming up as having rare ability. John Peters has shown so well that Stanage realizes that he will have to hustle to hang on to the title as boss of the backstops.

Oscar has been working like a Trojan all spring. He is doing more than ever before in an effort to get himself in improved condition for the season. Stanage admits that he is not yet right, but he expects to reach his best form by the time the season is a few weeks older.

KEEP AN EYE ON MORAN'S PHILLIES

TEAM LOOKS VERY STRONG.

Philadelphia Aggregation Hitting the Pill at Great Rate—Pitching Staff Going Well—May Surprise Fans, Like Braves Last Season.

It is moved, seconded and carried without a dissenting vote from the Ancient Order of Loyal Fandom that Pat Moran's frolicking Phillies are the huge surprise of the baseball universe, and the Philadelphia fans have had to be content with "wait until next year" for the past thirty-eight seasons. Now is their time to whoop it up, and whooping it up they are.

Old Man Dope arises to remark that Moran's scorching Phils are due to hit the toboggan and become addicted to the losing ways of former Philadelphia National league teams along about the middle of July. He opines that the Phils are a fighting combination, playing the brand of ball that brought the Braves from the cellar to a world's championship last year; have the greatest pitcher of modern times in Grover Cleveland Alexander and are ably handled by wise old Pat Moran. He asserts the outfield is rather nifty, the pitching staff pretty good, catching department first class, and the whole team seems to hit the old horsehide rather consistently.

MANAGER PAT MORAN OF THE PHILLIES.

This opinion is backed only by precedent. Former Phil teams in the past thirty-eight years have started well and gradually wormed out of reach of the pennant before the dog days. Philadelphia fans concede that much, but this one time the Quaker City writers differ with them. On the other hand, Old Man Dope may be banking his argument solely on what Phil teams did in former years.

This year may mean an exception. Moran has his men in there fighting every minute. That's what wins ball games. If they can continue on their toes as they have, take the chances that won for them successes against the strong eastern teams and fight just as hard against the western clubs they will be up there on top at the finish. On paper as a team the Phils look just as good now as any set of the Tener circuit. The "blow" of the team may come; it may come to any collection of ball tossers. But isn't it possible that this year—the thirty-ninth of the Phils—is an exception to the rule of back sliding by Philadelphia?

PLAN LONG MOTORBOAT RACE.

Frail Craft to Start From New York and Run to Frisco.

Probably the greatest power boat race ever held in the world will start from the Atlantic Yacht club at Sea Gate, New York, on Oct. 1, with the finish several thousand miles away, at the Panama-Pacific exposition grounds at San Francisco, the route being by way of the Panama canal.

There have been so called long races before, notably that oft repeated one to Bermuda and the Philadelphia-Havana event, but in distance there has been none that will compare with the coming race. Ten thousand dollars has been appropriated for prizes for the race.

Boehling Is Improved Pitcher.

Joe Boehling undoubtedly is the most improved pitcher the Washington club has had in years. He is finished now in every respect, fields his position well, has a good motion to first and uses good judgment in pitching to various batters. Griffith looks for him to beat his record of two years ago, when he won twelve straight. That was in 1913, really the first year that Joe was getting a major league education.

Steele Now With Bridgeport.

Elmer Steele, formerly pitcher in the National league, has signed a contract with the Bridgeport club of the Eastern association with the intention of playing first base. Another old timer with Bridgeport is Billy Hamilton.

German Raider and Captian Interned at Newport News

When the German converted cruiser, the Kronprinz Wilhelm, darted between the lines of the allied warships guarding Newport News last month and dropped anchor, more than 100 members of the crew were seriously ill with beri-beri, the dread disease of the sea. Today, not a case of beri-beri remains, and the officers lay the change to the fact that the men have been able to get all the beer they want!

According to officers of the Kronprinz Wilhelm, which scoured the oceans and seas of the world for seven months, the supply of beer on the vessel became exhausted some weeks ago. Ship after ship was overhauled, searched and sent to the bottom, but no beer was found until the French steamer, Gaudiloupe, was sighted. Forty quarters of beer were in her hold. Again the supply of beer ran low. None was found until the cruiser reached here where she afterward interned.

ADVERTISE IN THE DAILY PRESS

THE MASTER MIND

Novelized by Marvin Dana, author of "Within the Law," from the successful play by Daniel D. Carter

Copyright, 1913, by the H. K. Fly company.

Wainwright was not in the least convinced. He remembered the fact that the unknown enemy had in fact used every endeavor in Henry Allen's behalf before the trial and throughout its course.

Marshall, content that his theory had proved acceptable, changed to another phase of the subject.

"And as I remember you got the warning red card the next day after your nomination for governor."

"Well?"

"Perhaps there's nothing significant in that fact," the detective admitted; "but I wanted to verify my memory. Now there's one other thing I must speak of." Marshall hesitated, with evident embarrassment. "It's a delicate point to touch on with a man," he explained, "but I've got to do it."

Wainwright nodded consent.

"It's about your wife," the detective declared constrainedly. "She's worried about something."

For a moment stern displeasure flashed from Wainwright's clear gray eyes; then the expression died as swiftly.

"Ah, you've noticed that," he exclaimed. A troubled frown bent his brows. "Yes," he said dully, at last, "it would seem so, perhaps, I, too, have noticed—something."

"Have you ever told her about the cards?" Marshall inquired.

"I did not wish to worry her."

"Have you questioned her?"

"Yes. I shall not tell you precisely what answer she made. It would have no bearing. It is enough for you to know that it was merely a pretty little sentimental reason—one that seemed natural enough too."

"Well, we still seem to have nothing definite to go on," the detective grumbled. "Anyhow, I'm much inclined to believe the thing is actually done with."

Wainwright moved uneasily in his chair and dropped one hand carelessly on the table beside which he sat. His fingers touched the book of poems from which he had been reading recently. He picked up the volume idly. "Then, you really think," he continued listlessly, "that the gentleman who sends the cards is just a harmless crank?"

"Yes," Marshall said confidently. "I think that's really just about the size of this enemy of yours. It's been somebody masquerading as the Master Mind. The chap will never go any further." Wainwright listened courteously, but the detective's words carried no conviction to him. He was reflecting on the fact that an ordinary harmless lunatic would be little likely to display the ingenuity and the resource and the pertinacity that had characterized his enemy in the matter of following him everywhere with the cryptic cards. The timing of the sending of the cards, one to reach him at the time of his triumph of love, another at the time of his triumph of ambition, was enough to proclaim the diabolical cunning of his foe and to augur ill of his abilities for the future. At the thought of the red card Wainwright moved nervously. The fingers that gripped the book closed tightly on it. In the movement their tips touched something that projected beyond the leaves. Mechanically, without any curiosity whatsoever, he glanced down. Then, very slowly, he stiffened in his chair, staring fixedly toward the volume. His face lost its clear coloring and swiftly showed a dull pallor and set in new lines—lines of dread. "Why," Marshall continued, "I once knew a very similar case, in which"—He halted his speech abruptly, for he had chanced to look up at the man opposite him and was astounded. "Good God!" he cried. "What's the matter, man?"

Wainwright made no answer in words; only raised the book and drew forth from between the leaves a blank black card and rested motionless, holding it stiffly in front of him.

CHAPTER XII.

The Unmasking.

THE detective and Wainwright now sat rigid and staring in a silent wonder, touched with an almost superstitious fear. For long minutes there was not a word between them, nor any movement.

It was Wainwright who at last took the initiative. Of a sudden he aroused himself to cast the torpor of dread from his spirit. He was a brave man, and he had only contempt for the weakness into which he had been surprised by this uncanny trick in the presentation of the black card. Here finally was a new point for concentration of his intellect on the mystery. He felt a curious sense of relief as the thought occurred to him, and forthwith his keen mind began to concern itself with the facts in the event and to reason from them.

He relaxed his posture and looked up at the detective sharply. His voice was crisp.

"Marshall," he said rapidly, "just before dinner I had this very book in my hands, reading from it a certain quotation. The black card was not there then." He laid the card within the volume. "See!" he continued. "It is longer than the leaves. It must project beyond them. Had it been in the book I must have seen it."

The detective nodded agreement. "So, then, my enemy has been here in this house, my own house—tonight, and this card means that the end is at hand. Yes, and the man himself is here to fulfill his promise to me. In my own home—tonight!"

"But how? What do you expect?"

"If I knew that I might plan to prevent him," Wainwright answered shortly, "in whatever thing his evil mind has plotted. But I am half convinced of one thing—that he does not mean

"The black card was not there then."

to kill me outright. Murder has never been committed by him as far as any one knows."

"Just the same," Marshall suggested, "it's well to be prepared." He took an automatic pistol from his pocket and held it out.

"Very well." The pistol was accepted and bestowed in a pocket just as the butler entered the library.

"Did you ring, sir?"

"No," was the concise answer.

"Pardon me, sir," Andrew said. "I thought I heard the bell, and, as I knew Parker was busy upstairs, I"—

"Quite so! Yes, I see, Andrew." Then he introduced the vital subject: "Has anybody been in this room tonight except the members of the family?"

"Yes, sir," was the reply, which Wainwright had by no means expected. "A person called to see Mr. Walter, though I did not see him myself."

"Then Walter Blount saw him?"

"No, sir," Andrew explained, "he did not. But he said he would come again."

"And no one else has been here except members of the family?"

"No, sir; no one—except myself."

The very fact that in the final phrase the butler had omitted the customary "sir" caught Wainwright's attention. It was suspicion that suggested his next question:

"Was the person who called left alone in this room?"

Andrew met the issue with the enormous audacity that was characteristic of him—when it did not run counter to his scheming. Now, according to his plans, the hour for unmasking was come. He spoke tranquilly:

"No, sir. He was not alone in this room at any time, I am quite sure, sir." He paused to give emphasis to his question. "Why, sir? Has anything been taken?"

"No," Wainwright replied carelessly, "nothing has been taken."

But Andrew was not yet content with the situation. He was, in fact, minded to implicate himself more explicitly, though not by a distinctly overt act. He selected as his agent in this the detective, who had been scrutinizing the butler with professional closeness.

"May I venture an observation, sir?" Andrew asked his employer. Then, as Wainwright nodded assent, "It's only this, sir, that the next time Mr. Marshall sees me he will be sure to know me." With the saying he went softly out of the room, while the detective sat staring, agape with indignant surprise at the impertinence.

Wainwright spoke in a low tone, yet most emphatically:

"Marshall," he said, "the next time your brother officers boast of their acquaintance with prominent men you may say that, face to face, you have met the Master Mind."

Marshall said not a word, only regarded the speaker with amazement. He threw a quick glance toward the doorway through which Andrew had disappeared.

"You don't mean—him?" he exclaimed.

"Precisely."

In a second Marshall was on his feet, his eyes snapping with eagerness all energy and alertness.

"It's the chance of my life!" he exclaimed gleefully.

"What do you intend to do?"

The detective grinned triumphantly.

"What do I intend to do?" he repeated. "Why, I intend to slip the bracelets on him inside of two minutes."

"Permit me to ask, on what charge?" His eagerness drooped visibly.

"On what charge?" he quoted helplessly. "Why"— He halted, at a loss.

"Yes; on what charge? Wainwright snapped. "Oh, come, man!" he exhorted. "Just sit down and think it over a bit. As a matter of fact, we're helpless against this fellow. If you have anything else to suggest"—

The detective threw up his hands in a gesture eloquent of despair. His voice was angry:

"I don't know."

Wainwright walked slowly up the stairs and along the upper hall to the door of his wife's boudoir, where he knocked gently. He entered in response to her call, "Come in," and went to her where he was standing expectant and took her hands. She was dressed in a blue neglige that emphasized the purity of her pearly skin and enhanced the sapphire radiance of the eyes. Now she looked at her husband intently as he approached her, and it seemed to him that a faint trace of anxiety lay beneath her surface greeting. He had need to put forth the full strength of his will to conceal the wretchedness of his thoughts.

A LAST SEASON FROCK EFFECTIVELY REBUILT.

Veilings of chiffon make it easy to turn last year's narrowskirted costume into a smart creation for this summer's wear. The stone gray taffeta of this frock is overdraped with a full, gathered skirt of gray chiffon which divides at the front, a knotted sash of blue and jet beads falling in the panel thus effected. Gray chiffon sleeves banded with the same blue and primrose ribbon that forms the girdle, are veiled with fuller, bishop sleeves of the chiffon.

SNAPPY OUTING TOGS.

Over half the delight in summer sports comes from the satisfaction of being appropriately dressed. Indeed, inappropriateness not only looks badly, but it spells discomfort. The girl who wants to look well—and where is one that does not—will find Ladies' Home Journal Pattern No. 8822, shown above, a very practicable, easily made, and snappy outing dress. It can be very attractively developed in white serge with the collar and cuffs of darker material. It consists of a coat middy blouse opening in front and having sailor collar, full-length sleeves and is with or without belt; five-gored skirt with slightly raised waistline and three-piece yoke. Pattern cuts in sizes 14, 16, 17 and 18, requiring in size 16, 5 yards 36-inch material with ½ yard 30-inch or wider contrasting material for collar and cuffs.

Daddy's Bedtime Story—The Little Girl Who Ran Away.

And Then She Just Stood In the Road and Cried.

"I KNEW a little girl once who ran away," said daddy to Jack and Evelyn. "But she came back again, and she was very glad to get back too.

"It was a lovely, sunshiny summer afternoon, one of the nicest afternoons you ever saw. The sun shone, and the sky was the prettiest color, and the little girl's mother was busy working in the house. And I'm afraid that is why the little girl ran away.

"She just didn't mean to be naughty, not at all. But the sun was so warm and comfy and the trees across the road were so green and everything was so inviting that she just simply had to run away.

"This little girl lived in the country, and there was a white, dusty road that ran past the house, and it just seemed to call to Dorothea—that was the little girl's name: 'Come, take a walk on me and see how nice I am. You will see what you will see.'

"So the little girl left her yard and started down the road. And by and by she came to a pasture, and she saw a cow in it.

"The little girl was not afraid of cows, and she saw a pretty flower in the pasture that she wanted. So she climbed the fence and went to pick the flower.

"Now, I don't suppose that poor old cow meant a thing. She just looked up and saw the little girl, and the cow left off eating grass and walked toward Dorothea. And Dorothea was so frightened that she dropped her flower and ran with all her might to the fence, which she climbed, very thankful that she had escaped from the cow. And the cow went on eating grass.

"Then Dorothea went on down the road, and she heard a rush and a 'honk' behind her, and she just jumped out of the way in time to escape a big automobile.

"And she continued down the road, and by and by she saw a flock of geese. And the big gander hissed at her, and then she just stood in the road and cried.

"Then along came a man in an automobile who knew her, and he took her home to her mamma. And you may be sure that she didn't run away again.

"Now kiddies must run to bed."

"Good night, daddy."

"Good night, children."

PROCTOR'S THEATRE

The World Film Corporation presents Julius Steger in the five-part photoplay, "The Fifth Commandant," at Proctor's Theatre, this afternoon and tonight only.

Carl Winters is an instructor of music. Among his pupils is Alice Winthrop, the only daughter of Stephen Winthrop, a wealthy banker. Carl and Alice love each other. Director Bergh witnesses a love scene between the two, and he informs Alice's father of what he has seen. Mr. Winthrop tells Alice that she must never see Winters again. The girl meet Carl, who has been discharged from his position at the conservatory. He asks her to be his wife, and they are married. When Alice informs her father of her marriage he orders her to leave his home. Later Carl accepts an offer to become head instructor of a college of music in Rio de Janeiro. It is agreed that Alice, his wife, is to join him when he is established. Later Winthrop persuades his daughter to return to his home. He intercepts and destroys the letters of the husband and wife to each other. A daughter is born to Alice, who dies the same day. Winthrop cables to Carl that his daughter had died. Carl, disheartened and discouraged, earns a livelihood by playing in cabarets. Carl's daughter, of whose existence he has been kept in ignorance, has grown into a charming young woman of eighteen years. Winters returns to America. He is prematurely gray and his face is that of an old man.

Winters earns a livelihood by singing on the streets, accompanied by a young harpist whom he has befriended. One day, the daughter, while out riding, is attracted by the singing. She speaks to the singer, and invites him to come to her home the next day, which is her birthday, to play and sing for her. As the young girl has given to Winters a calling card, borrowed from her aunt, who is with her, Winters does not realize that it is his own child who has invited him to the home of his wife's father. The next day Winters goes to the Winthrop home and sings for the young gril. His attention is attracted by a photograph, which is a portrait of his wife. Winthrop enters and Carl informs him who he is. Then Winthrop says to the girl, "This man is your father. Honor him in obedience to the Fifth Commandment." The story ends with the father and daughter embracing each other.

BY MRS. EVA LEONARD

Nell answered the phone one afternoon about four o'clock. Mrs. Scott's cheerful voice said:

"We are planning a picnic in a grove near our house and we want to send in the auto for you and Mrs. Parsons and the children, and Dr. Ellson will bring out the men for an out-door supper. Say you can come."

"Surely," Nell replied, "I shall be delighted. What shall I bring?"

"Oh, some sandwiches and pickles; anything you have. We are going to roast corn and potatoes in our bonfire. The auto will be there in an hour. You can leave the baby at the house with my nurse; she is very competent."

There was the bustle of preparation, and promptly on the hour set the two women and the children were speeding through the autumn sunlight, enjoying the delicious coolness of the day.

The women gathered sticks and started the fire; prepared the potatoes for roasting and made the coffee. The lunch was all spread and everything was ready when the auto full of men arrived with a basket of fruit as their contribution to the feast.

"I must tell a joke on Nell," laughed Dick, as they sat on the grass in front of the blazing fire.

"Wait till I get this coffee poured so I can hear it," called Mrs. Parsons. "Now I am ready," and she dropped into her place.

"Nell was planning the baby's education and mapping out his future career. She ended saying: 'I do hope none of his teachers will tell him how unusually bright he is and so make him conceited.'"

Nell joined in the laugh at her expense.

"That was really a compliment to the baby's father, which common politeness required him to return. Instead of doing that he makes fun of me publicly," said Nell in mock disgust.

"We will all agree that if the baby were not unusually bright he would not be like either parent," said the doctor chivalrously.

"Now, that's the proper attitude," said Nell; "you appreciate my point."

After the baskets were repacked the men brought wood and piled it on the fire. In the light of the high mounting flames they sat and told stories while the stars came out in the dusky sky.

"One would think from my carefree attitude that my young son had finished the course mapped out for him and was safely launched in life. I need not break up the party, but I must walk over to the house and see after my youngster. He will be tired and troublesome by this time, I am afraid," said Nell.

"We must all go." Mrs. Parsons rose. "It is my children's bedtime, and now that school has begun I do not like to have them irregular in their sleeping."

The men poured water on the embers, brought up the autos, and soon all were packed in and on their way home.

"What a carefree air everybody had. I can't remember ever having so perfect a time," said Nell.

"It's because Mrs. Ellson was not there. She was always a disturbing element and managed to create discord on every occasion. How glad I am she is gone," remarked Mrs. Parsons.

"I imagine the doctor is, too," answered Nell.

Household Hints

PREVENTS MOTHS

One of the serious problems confronting the housewife each spring is how to store furs and woolens so as to keep them free from moths while out of use.

Outside of cold storage, the following is the simplest, most effective and most economical plan:

First, take each fur or woolen garment, beat it well with a light wooden rod, shake out thoroughly and brush carefully; then hang on a line for several hours exposed to the sun and air.

After this sun bath, shake and brush again.

Next, secure suitable pasteboard boxes such as tailors use, and in these lay the garments neatly folded. Then seal up the box carefully by gumming a strip of wrapping paper around the edges so as to leave no cracks.

Tobacco, camphor or cedar chips may be scattered over and between the garments, but these are simply repellants and are of no value if the moth eggs are allowed to remain in the garments.

If the preliminary work of beating, shaking, brushing and exposing to the sun and air and the packing be carefully done, there need be no fear of damage from moths while the garments are stored.

A SEASONABLE HOUSEHOLD HELP

After your housecleaning is finished just look at your leather upholstered furniture, cushions and table covers of leather. This treatment will remove that shoddy look and that greasy appearance: Boil one-half pint linseed oil and allow to stand until nearly cold. Then add half pint vinegar, stir till well mixed and bottle. To apply, pour a few drops on soft duster, rub the surface to be renovated and afterward polish with soft cloth.

YOUR GARDEN

If you have some very small, fine plants that can't stand sprinkling, just take a small funnel, hold close to ground between plants and pour water through funnel.

A home-made weed puller is made by taking metal four or five feet long, cut a V shape in one end of it. Just put the V against weed, a little push, and it's out. Fine for large flower bed where you can't reach the weeds by nand.

THE TABLE

Fruit Rice Pudding—One cup rice, two cups water, one cup fruit, one cup fruit juice, half cup or more of sugar, two egg whites. Wash rice carefully. Boil with one cup water five minutes, then drain in sieve and rinse with cold water. Put rice in inside part of double boiler, mix with the fruit juice and one cup water heated until they boil. Cook this until rice is soft, then mix in sugar and stiffly beaten whites of eggs. If you have cherries or some other sour fruit you will need more sugar unless the fruit has been canned with a good deal of sugar in the first place. Let pudding become very cold, then turn it out on a plate and trim with some of the fruit that belongs to the juice. If you want an extra nice dessert, use canned pineapples and serve it with cream. Here are also a few changes for rice pudding: (1) Add two tablespoons cocoanut to rice custard and sprinkle a little cocoanut over top of white of egg before you put it into the oven to brown. (2) Use half cup grated maple sugar instead of white sugar added to the rice. Serve this with grated maple sugar and a pitcher of cream. (3) Add two tablespoons grated chocolate to rice custard and cook until it is melted. When you add chocolate, serve pudding with plain or whipped cream. (4) If you can get nice fresh hickorynuts, add two tablespoons of these, chopped very fine, to the rice custard and sprinkle a few on top of the white of egg before you brown it. These changes will be found very good.

Creamed Cabbage—Chop fine one small cabbage, cook one hour, or until it begins to turn dark, seasoning with salt, pepper and plenty of butter. Before removing from fire sprinkle with one scant tablespoon flour; add cream to make a smooth sauce.

MOOSE CARNIVAL COMES TO TOWN

Levitt-Meyerhoff Show Now Preparing for Grand Opening Tonight.

Coming on its own special train of cars from Bayonne, where it exhibited all last week, the Levitt-Meyerhoff Carnival Company arrived in this city last night. Scores of workmen are now putting the various attractions into shape at the grounds at Grant avenue and West Front street in preparation for the big opening tonight, under the auspices of Plainfield Lodge, No. 310, Loyal Order of Moose.

Everyone, old and young, seems to be interested and have entered into the celebration with more than a small interest, and it will, no doubt, a big event in the history of the city. There is not one offending feature in the big aggregation. The shows are all of the highest order, and conducted upon lines that cater to women audiences—clean, moral and edifying. There are sixteen complete and separate deparemins of attraction.

The automobile parade will leave Moose headquarters on Front street at 6:30 this evening, proceding to Grove street, to Craig place, to Duer street, to Linden avenue, to Somerset streeet, to Front street, to Watchung avenue, to North avenue, to Park avenue, to Front street, to Plainfield avenue, to West Fourth street, to Grant avenue, and thence to the grounds. In the event of rain the parade will be postponed until tomorrow night. Charles Pagliuca will be grand marshal and will also be at the carnival all week to welcome all friends of the Moose. One of the special attractions at the carnival will be an auxiliary tent conducted by wives, sisters and friends of Moose members.

It will be the object of the general committee to have everything possible done to make this affair the banner one in the history of the city. The amusement committee has contracted for the Levitt-Meyerhoff United Shows to furnish all of the attractions for the event. This is one of the oldest and largest organizations in the country and the name alone will guarantee quality. This season the aggregation has been enlarged and enhanced in many ways and will bring to Plainfield fourteen separate and distinct shows with a score of big outside sensational features. It requires cixty-four cars to transport the outfit this year. Everything around the show is new. The fronts of each attraction are works of art and were imported from the Belgium Exposition by Mr. Levitt the past winter. To describe their beauty and magnitude would be almost impossible. The big African jungle will also be a surprise to everyone, as it is the grandest wild animal exposition ever conceived. Every specie of the wild beast will be housed in departments characteristic of their native lairs and all will be displayed in a large fifty foot arena by a dozen of the world's most famous and daring trainers. The international display, as it comprises all of the world's greatest water masters, divers, swimmers, racers, etc., covering every point of aquatic sports and pastimes. The amusement plaza will be a thing of beauty and delight, as the illuminations and decorations on and over the gorgeous fronts of the different pagodas will prove a glorious and dazzling sight to witness.

STOLE TWO WATCHES.

Thieves entered the home of Carl Silbert, 426 West Front street, sometime Saturday night and stole two silver watches. The family has no clue that would lead to the identity of the burglars.

LOCAL PASTOR CONDUCTS FUNERAL OF PACT VICTIMS

Rev. Dr. J. S. Zelie, of this city, conducted the funeral service in a New York mortuary chapel this morning, over the bodies of Mr. and Mrs. Harold H. Ault, of Newark, who killed themselves in the St. Regis Hotel, early Saturday morning. The double tragedy was evidently the result of a pact made between them Friday night. Ault, who was but nineteen years old, first shot his wife, aged twenty years, and then killed himself. The young couple had been married only since last August.

Dr. Zelie's connection with the family could not be learned today, as no one was at his home who knew why he had been called to officiate. The bodies of Mr. and Mrs. Ault were buried in one grave in the cemetery at Kensico, New York, this afternoon. The couple resided on Meeker street, Newark.

ANIELLO DEL MONACO.

Aniello Del Monaco, aged fifty-one years, died yesterday at his home on Richmond street, following a brief illness. He leaves a wife and family in Italy and one son, Antonio Del Monaco, of this city, the latter being connected with the Italian Mission on East Third street, and also studying for the ministry in New York city. The funeral will be held tomorrow afternoon at Higgins' Mortuary chapel, 111 West Fourth street, and at 2 o'clock at the Italian mission. Burial will be in Hillside cemetery.

CLINTON AVE. 93 "LITTLE FARMS"

Plainfield is growing at a greater rate than any other city of its size in New Jersey.

Whenever you are in the market for land you ought to make sure that you are heading in the right direction and then get there before the other fellow. No matter how conservative you are from every angle of investment carefullness, you must realize the tremendous advantage to be gained by keeping well within the latitude marked out for you by public opinion and experience. The 93 "LITTLE FARMS" are in a direct line of this growing tide. If you purchase one or more of them it will be only a short time until you will be greatly benefitted by this TIDAL WAVE OF INCREASING VALUES.

In addition, the healthy quietude of these home sites is a good tonic after a hard day in the counting-house, school-room or business office. This quietude plus the natural scenic beauties is inspiration for the thinker, idealist and the business man. From an economic standpoint your dollar invested there on May 20, 21 and 22 will mean a ten-fold profit as Plainfield continues to grow toward and around you.

THE 93 "LITTLE FARMS" AT CLINTON AVE.

solve the universal land-longing problem.

You can read more about these "LITTLE FARMS" in succeeding issues of this paper—follow the campaign, and attend the Sale. You are not obliged to buy if you think and believe that you are not getting a "Square Deal." Whenever and wherever I have conducted land sales, I have always departed from the town with my reputation unblemished, and why? BECAUSE I gave the PUBLIC A "SQUARE DEAL."

Suppose you could BUY ONE OF THESE "LITTLE FARMS" for $300. Would you do it?

SUPPOSE I CAN'T GET EVEN THAT—I WILL SELL.

Take trolley car going east or west, get off at Clinton Avenue, walk northerly 2 blocks to the property.

TERMS OF SALE—10% down at time of sale; 10% in 30 days; balance $5.00 per month—or 10% down at time of sale; 30% in 30 days; balance on mortgage 2 years at 5%. Interest payable semi-annually. 3% discount for all cash. Deeds and contracts free.

ANNUAL MEETING SHOWS BIG GAIN

OFFICERS ARE ELECTED

Joseph McCue Again Made President —John Walsh Begins Forty-third Term as Trustee—Work on Addition to Hall to Begin Soon.

St. Mary's T. A. B. Society, which has grown to be one of the most influential and progressive social organizations in the city, completed its forty-third year, last night, and in celebration of the event the members held a jollification in connection with the annual meeting. After the business had been disposed of there was an informal program of music and addresses, members of the minstrel troupe, which recently gave four successful performances, taking an active part. The society was especially honored by the presence of Father B. M. Bogan, Father MacDonald and Father Sciolla, all of whom spoke words of encouragement, at the same time taking occasion to congratulate the organization on its rapid growth within the last year.

The T. A. B. Society has almost doubled its membership since the previous annual meeting, the enrollment now being over two hundred. Twenty-two candidates were elected at last night's gathering. Two of those in attendance last night were John Walsh and John Barry, who are now the only two living charter members. In the election of officers Mr. Walsh was made trustee for the forty-third successive year.

Joseph T. McCue, president of the society, presided over the business meeting and when the officers were selected for the ensuing year he was enthusiastically re-elected. It was the expressed opinion of all present that much of the success within the past twelve months is due to his efforts and much more good can be accomplished by his continuance in the same office. The other officers elected were as follows: Vice president, John Force; financial secretary, Frank Donnelly; recording secretary, Thomas Griffen; treasurer, John J. Hines; master-at-arms, John L. O'Keefe; trustees, John Walsh, M. D. O'Keefe and Joseph Roache; entertainment committee, Frank Donnelly, Joseph Roache, Frank Force, Harry Dunn, John Winzenreid, Jr., John L. O'Keefe, Joseph Regan, John Nolan and William Mahoney; spiritual adviser, Rev. Father B. M. Bogan.

Reports were presented by the baseball committee and the minstrel committee, both of which have done very good work. The show given last week by the latter netted a handsome profit and every member who aided in making the production what it was received well deserved praise. The T. A. B. Society baseball team, which is being capably managed by James Monahan, inaugurated its season several weeks ago. Mr. Monahan was manager of the St. Mary nine in the famous City League of 1902 and can be counted upon to do great things during the coming summer with his present "colts."

Following the business meeting a smoker was enjoyed with refreshments being served at the finish. The members voted to attend a vesper service at St. Mary's church in a body on Sunday night, June 6. The officers hope to have almost a full attendance. It was also stated last night that the work of building the new addition to T. A. B. Hall would begin in about six weeks. It will be equipped with bowling alleys, reading room, pool tables, kitchen and other conveniences, making the hall one of the best organization homes in the city.

SUFFRAGISTS HOLD FORTH.

Mrs. Percy H. Stewart, of this city, is one of the boxholders at the Polo Grounds, this afternoon. This is suffrage day and the whole upper tier of the grandstand has been reserved for the fair sex. If the players on the Chicago Cubs' outfit and the New York Giants do not make a whole lot of runs it will not be the fault of the rooters for the suffragettes have offered a reward of $5 for every tally.

EXPECT GERMANY'S ANSWER THURSDAY

U. S. Government Will Adhere Strictly to the Policy Outlined in Note.

Amsterdam, May 18.—Germany's answer to the American note will be forwarded to Washington on Thursday, according to the best information obtainable here from Berlin, and it is reliably reported that the Kaiser will refuse to yield to President Wilson's request that Germany change her policy of submarine warfare.

The German reply, it is said, will be most politely worded, but it will declare that Germany must continue her submarine warfare, and will express the hope that America will not fail to understand that the German Government owes it to the people of the Fatherland to combat the enemy with all the weapons at its command.

The sinking of the Lusitania will not be disavowed. Germany will throw full responsibility for the heavy loss of life on England and on the American authorities who permitted Americans to go aboard a vessel knowing she was laden with explosives. The German answer will quote the German Admiralty's official statement that only one torpedo was shot at the liner, and that the explosion of her ammunition cargo caused her to founder at once.

Washington, May 18.—All doubts were removed in Washington today as to the steadfastness with which the United States will adhere to the policy outlined in the note to Berlin, notwithstanding any German offers to bargain, since there has been but one interpretation of the President's speech in New York yesterday.

VICIOUS COLORED MAN ARRESTED AT CARNIVAL

After he had engaged in a quarrel with another man at the carnival grounds, last night, and had drawn a knife with evident intent to do some cutting, John Riley, colored, was arrested by Police Captain John J. Flynn and lodged in a cell at police headquarters. In the city court, this morning, the man said that his home was in New York, but that he had joined the carnival at Bayonne and followed it to Plainfield.

He could not account for his actions last night, and agreed to get right out of town if he was given an opportunity. Captain Flynn escorted him to a train and he was "shipped" to Bayonne.

NOONDAY LUNCH SERVICE.

The local Lodge of Elks has made plans to serve a noonday lunch for the members and their guests at the Watchung avenue clubhouse. The service begins tomorrow, and if successful will be enlarged. Mr. Neighbour will hereafter be the club's official caterer, and will have charge of all lunches, dinners and banquets. Saturday night lunches will be a feature, the first of these having been given last Saturday night.

COLORED BOY RUNAWAY HAS A LIKING FOR PLAINFIELD

Arrested for the third tim within two years by the local police as a vagrant, is the record possessed by James Paine, a twelve-year-old colored boy hailing from Woodbridge. The boy was apprehended on the carnival grounds, last night, and when arraigned before Mayor Calkins, who was acting as city judge in the police court, this morning, he claimed that he had subsisted on five cents since coming to Plainfield last Thursday.

The boy appears to have a mania for running away from home to this city and the local police will this time instruct the Woodbridge authorities to keep an eye on him. He told Mayor Calkins that he worked two hours for a local bootblack yesterday and received five cents with which he bought food. He is a chubby youngster and appears to be little the worse for his fast.

AGED MAN INJURED.

Archie Davy, aged sixty-seven, of 26 Manning avenue, fell on Somerset street, near Front, last night and sustained a bad cut on his head. He was removed to police headquarters, where relief was administered by City Physician Norman W. Currie, and he was later taken to his home in the borough by his son. His injuries are not of a serious nature.

BIG FLEET STARTS ON TRIP TO SEA

New York, May 18.—The battleship Wyoming, with Rear Admiral Fletcher aboard, at the head of the column of warships passing out to sea, reached the Mayflower, from which President Wilson reviewed them, anchored off Liberty Island at 11:30 o'clock this morning. As the ships passed the Mayflower they fired a parting salute.

Shortly before 2 o'clock this afternoon the Mayflower with President Wilson on board, proceeded to sea. The yacht is scheduled to go direct to Washington.

President Wilson's visit to review the fleet has resulted in the establishment of more than one precedent. In spite of any psychological depression that might have been due to days of cloud and rain the fleet and the President go away with impressions of the most stirring reception ever accorded the fleet in this city. A precedent established by the President's initiative is that of dining with the complete navy family. The dinner aboard the Wyoming last night is said to have marked the first time that the Commander-in-Chief of the Army and Navy ever sat down to dinner aboard a warship with all the admirals and captains of a fleet such as this.

The navy' own precedent was established this morning in the passing of the great ships to sea, the biggest and most stirring naval pageant that has ever passed down the bay, cheered by one of the largest crowds, jamming the waterfront from Washington Point to the tip of the Battery, that ever gathered to wave farewell.

Sailors manned the rails of the defiling ships, businesslike in their attitude. Their playtime over, the sight of the Atlantic today means business, the hunting down of an "enemy" fleet 300 miles over the eastern horizon trying successfully to approach a vulnerable point on the coast.

The tide required a later start than had been scheduled. In a narrow fairway a dreadnought is a menace in a contrary tide. So the up anchor order was set for 10:45, with the review by the President on the Mayflower to follow.

The dreadnoughts were stripped early this morning of their gay pennants, while boatswains' crews rounded up late stayers on shore. Donkey engines puffed and screeched as they swung lunches and tenders aboard. At 10 o'clock a beginning was made in clearing the roadstead of small craft and ferryboats.

THAW TRANSFERRED TO CUSTODY OF N. Y. SHERIFF

New York, May 17.—Justice Hendrick in the Supreme Court today signed an order intrusting Harry K. Thaw to the sheriff of New York county. This means that he will be taken from the Tombs and incarcerated in Ludlow street jail.

Other matters pertaining to the business of the association were discussed and disposed of and certain new questions were introduced.

POLICE RECOVER COAT TAKEN BY BURGLARS

A raincoat which was included among the articles taken by burglars from the home of George Scheelein, of Pearl street, North Plainfield, Saturday night, was recovered today. The coat was found on the New Jersey Central tracks just west of the Park avenue bridge and returned to the owner. No clue to the burglars has been found as yet.

Mr. Scheelein's home was entered between 8 and 10 o'clock while the family was out. Entrance was effected through a window and the house was ransacked from top to bottom. Goods valued at about $100 were taken.

DRUG STORE REMOVED.

The Red Cross Drug Store, which has been located at Somerset street and Manning avenue for the past six months, removed today to Keansburg.

PRAISES VIRTUE OF CIVIC PRIDE

URGES CO-OPERATION

Expresses the Hope That There Will Always Be a Bond of Sympathy Between Plainfield, North Plainfield and Dunellen.

William L. Saunders, of North Plainfield, addressed the Board of Trade of Dunellen, last night, on the subject of "Civic Pride," in which he expressed the hope that there is and always will be a bond of sympathy and interest between Plainfield, North Plainfield and Dunellen. Mr. Saunders spoke as follows:

"It is a privilege and surely a great pleasure to come here to your progressive and very much alive town and talk to the members of the Board of Trade. There is, and I trust always will be, a bond of sympathy and interest between Plainfield, North Plainfield and Dunellen. This is because we are neighbors, good neighbors, I trust, for a bad neighbor is as great an evil as a good neighbor is a blessing. The bond which ties us together just now in a triple alliance happens to be in the main a sewerage system, but even in dark places I think we have found that co-operation is better than separation. We have a maxim from Cato that man should always act in such a way as to secure the love of his neighbor. I fear that our mutual neighbor Plainfield forgot the advice from that noble Roman when several years ago it located its sewerage beds between North Plainfield and Dunellen. One has now but to stand at Washington Rock and look down over this rich and fertile plain and observe the effect of that unfortunate act. The territory all around these beds remains neglected and unsettled. It is like a blight in a field of plenty. And all to save a few dollars! For so much trash that may be grasped thus.'

"Happily a new era is upon us, an era of human interest and sympathy, where the good will of our neighbor is looked upon as a greater asset than dollars and where kind hearts are considered more than coronets.

"In this triple alliance you are when measured by figures the little

POLICE NAB ONE OF GANG OF TROUBLESOME ITALIANS

Frank Long, of Fritz place, one of the Italian laborers employed in digging the trenches in the borough for the new sewer line, was arrested by Patrolman Richard Birmingham, last night, following a period of observation. Long, in company with a number of other fellow-countrymen, has been loitering around in the vicinity of the Leader store for the past two weeks and the occupants of the flat above the store, last night, became alarmed at the actions of the Italians.

Long was apprehended following his attempt to gain admission to the flat. He startled the tenants and a complaint was subsequently made to the patrolman on the beat. The foreman of the sewer work pleaded for the man in court this morning, and on the strength of his statement, Mayor Calkins, acting as city judge, allowed him to go free in the custody of the foreman. He was warned, however, to inform his fellow-countrymen that West Front street is no loitering ground.

NO VACATION FOR SENATOR MARTINE

Local Legislator Kept Busy by Entertainers on His Trip to Honolulu.

United States Senator and Mrs. James E. Martine, of this city, who are members of the congressional party inquiring into conditions in the Hawaiian Islands, have just arrived at their destination following a careful survey of the Panama-Pacific Exposition in San Francisco. In a statement made the fore part of the week Mr. Martine expressed himself as pleased at the showing the United States government has made in the exposition exhibits and the manner in which they have been presented to the government. He will now pay particular attention to the selection of a site for Honolulu's new Federal building and in a statement made recently he said:

"Our visit to this territory is destined to redound to the good of the territory. The islands have been much heralded as a haven of rest. I had hoped to enjoy a vacation while here, but judging by the activity displayed by the various entertainment committees, members of the congressional party will be kept exceedingly busy.

"I hope to look into the labor conditions which have often come before Congress. We carefully considered a volume of data that came before the committee. Postoffices and public roads also come under my jurisdiction as a committeeman."

SUPREME COURT OFFICERS WILL ATTEND MEETING

The trip was very successful and thoroughly enjoyed by every member.

GUNS INFLICT HEAVY LOSSES

Allies' Artillery Killed 2,000 Germans Says French Statement Today.

ITALY SOON TO FIGHT

Believed in Rome That She Will Declare War Not Later Than Thursday—Russians Gain at One Point and Are Forced Back at Another.

Paris, May 18.—Heavy losses were inflicted by the Allies' artillery before the Germans withdrew from the western to the eastern bank of the Yser Canal, north of Ypres, near Steenstraate and near Het Sas, according to an official communique issued by the French War Office today. 2,000 Germans were killed by the terrific bombardment of the Allies' artillery. North of Arras the Germans are still trying to regain some of the ground lost to the French. The counter assaults of the Teutons are described as violent. All these attacks were repulsed.

Rome, May 18.—War will probably be declared by Thursday, when Parliament convenes. King, Parliament and nation are in accord for war against Austria. At the opening of Parliament, Premier Salandra will make a most important declaration, possibly the announcement of mobilization and the existence of a state of war.

The Green Book, explaining the failure of the Italo-Austrian conversations, will then be distributed, hence Foreign Minister Sonnino will not be required to unfold the Government's policy.

An official announcement today said that a clash had occurred on the border and that four Austrian soldiers had crossed the frontier near Mount Mittagskopf, where they were surprised by an Italian outpost. Three of the Austrians succeeded in making their escape. The fourth was captured and is now a prisoner in the outpost barracks.

Petrograd, May 18.—The following statement was issued at the War Office today:

"Since the morning of May 16 the battles in the Shavli region continued favorably for us. We crossed the Dubissa River and took their trenches capturing 8 guns and several hundred prisoners. Between the Pilica and the upper course of the Vistula hostile columns pursued our troops who moved to a new front near Gheleff, Ruissbrod and Sukhedineff. On the San there has been a violent artillery combat, from the mouth of the Wislok as far as Przemysl."

Washington, May 18.—Dr. Dumba, the Austrian-Hungarian ambassador, called at the State Department again today and had another lengthy conference with Secretary Bryan. Minister Van Rappard, the Swiss minister, also called at the department. Secretary Bryan blandly announced that the diplomats had called to discuss the international peace treaties. The lengthy visits of the Austrian ambassador, however, are interpreted as having to do with the critical situation in Italy.

Pretoria, South Africa, May 18.—Successes for the British in German southwest Africa continue in an unbroken period. It is officially announced that a German detachment was defeated at East Windhoek, losing 140 men and 25 wagons of supplies. The British casualties were three wounded.

Constantinople, May 18 (via Berlin and Amsterdam).—The War Office today issued the following statement: "Our troops have definitely checked the Russian attacks and repulsed the enemy's attempts to advance from Olty. Turkish volunteers at Cherkerli repulsed Cossack forces, inflicting severe losses.

Ottawa, Canada, May 18.—A Canadian casualty list issued today includes the names of William Douglas Coghill, Charleston, the Bronx New York, among the wounded and missing, while Peter O'Connor, Seattle, Wash., is given as missing.

CHAPLAIN JONES TO SPEAK.

Rev. H. W. Jones, A. M. D. D., chaplain of the United State battleship Texas, will address the members of Plainfield Lodge of Elks tomorrow night. He will give his famous address "On the Texas Under Fire," giving personal reminiscences of the navy in time of peace and war. Chaplain Jones was aboard the Texas during the fight in Santiago Harbor in 1898, when the Spanish fleet, under Cervera, was practically annihilated. He is a member of the Elks order, and the officers urge all members to be in attendance.

MISS FLORENCE LEECH TO TALK ON "SUFFRAGE"

The members of the Board of Trade who attended the monthly meeting held last evening in the Borough Hall listened to an interesting address on "Civic Pride," by William L. Saunders," former Mayor of North Plainfield, an account of which appears in another part of the Daily Press. Following the address a short business meeting was held, at which time it was voted that the Board of Trade should cast its ballot at the annual meeting of the New Jersey Chamber of Commerce for President Joseph G. Walton as a member of the executive committee of that chamber.

A letter was received from Mrs. E. F. Feickert stating that she and Miss Florence Leech would accept their invitation to speak at the June meeting of the Board of Trade. Their subject will be "Why Woman Need a Vote," and they will be pleased to answer any questions which might be asked. It was decided to hold the meeting in the Whittier School owing to its larger accommodations.

E. J. Dusel, a former president of the Board, brought up the question of the dangerous curve at Nelson's corner, New Market, and the Board instructed Secretary Deering to write New Market and county authorities, and also the Middlesex County Board of Trade, looking to some precautionary measures being taken to avoid accidents.

The railroad committee was requested to take up with the Public Service Corporation the holding of Main Line trolleys at the Plainfield Station for five minutes in order to meet the express trains arriving at Plainfield after 8 p. m., thus affording Dunellen commuters the benefit of Plainfield express service with the least possible delay.

A lengthy discussion of a Fourth of July celebration took place, and ended by President Walton appointing a committee to take steps towards arranging a celebration on a smaller scale than heretofore.

VARIED ENTERTAINMENT AT BIRTHDAY CELEBRATION

Bartley B. Biernbrauer, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Biernbrauer, of Lincoln avenue, was given a party Saturday afternoon by his parents in honor of his ninth birthday anniversary. Thirty young guests were present. Singing, dancing, music and games comprised the program. Cornelia Craig and Howard Smith were awarded prizes in the game of sticking a tail on the donkey. A pretty scene was enacted when, with Mrs. Biernbrauer playing "The Star Spangled Banner" at the piano, the children, led by Cornelia Craig, Gordon Smith and the young host, Bartley, who between them carried an American flag, marched slowly around and through the house singing the national anthem with their fresh young voices. Among those who sang individually were Hazel Apgar, Mildred Deering and Cornelia Craig. Good things aplenty were served the children, who had seated themselves on the lawn at 4 o'clock.

Cashier Arthur J. Hanley attended the annual convention of the New Jersey Bankers' Association at Atlantic City, on Friday and Saturday of last week. He was accompanied by his wife.

Alfred Osmun has received his new touring car.

Mr. and Mrs. A. L Giddes, of Lincoln avenue, entertained relatives of Mrs. Giddes from out of town over the week-end.

Miss Eva Schneider, of Front street, is visiting her cousin, Mrs. J. G. Ripperteau, at Jersey City.

LADIES' AID MEETING.

The monthly meeting of the Parent-Teacher Association will be held Thursday evening in the Watchung School. Hiram O. Hance will make an address after the business meeting.

The executive committee of the Mary E. Wilson Memorial Union Sewing Circle will hold their all-day meeting in the chapel tomorrow, when arrangements will be made for the holding of a "sock social" on Saturday night. Most of the members are attending the annual exhibit of the Westfield branch of the Needlework Guild of New Jersey, which is being held in that town today, and to which the local circle contributed considerable during the past year.

With his resignation as policeman in Scotch Plains, William Ashton also relinquishes his office as truant officer for the local schools. Although the position is vacant for the time being, it will probably be held by Mr. Ashton's successor as policeman.

Samuel W. McAnneny, of North avenue, was a member of the committee that waited on President Wilson yesterday morning when he arrived at New York to review the navy. Mr. McAnneny was named on the committee by his brother, George McAnneny, president of the Board of Aldermen of New York, and in the absence of Mayor Mitchel is chief executive.

After appearing before Judge Connolly in the Elizabeth Court three times, Ralph Venizia was yesterday granted a renewal of his wholesale liquor license, Westfield being unable to bring forth any evidence that would warrant it being withheld.

S. Dana Townsend, supervising principal of local schools, has announced May 2 as the date for "open session day," an annual event in the local schools. Between the hours of 3 and 5 in the afternoon and 7 and 10 the evening the teachers and pupils will be present to show the parents through the school, and all of the work accomplished during the present term will be on the walls for exhibition. Although Mr. Townsend has specified the above hours, visitors will be welcomed throughout the day.

Miss Hazel, of Martine avenue, has been spending several days with friends at Deal.

At the next meeting of the Rifle Club they will begin target practice. One week from tonight Major Martin, of Elizabeth, will lecture to the club in Company K Armory, Plainfield.

Members of the Baraca class of the Baptist church and their friends gathered in the Scotch Plains Memorial parish house last night on the occasion of the semi-annual dinner of the class. The dinner was prepared and served by mothers of the boys. Ivan P. Flood, secretary of the Baptist Young People's Work, of New Jersey was the first speaker of the evening, and gave a talk on "Fighting the Chances of Life." Dr. William R. Spinney, a member of the faculty at Peddie Institute, made an address on "The Conversion of People to the Real Christian Life," and told of his personal experiences in working along those lines, both at Peddie Institute and the last church he was pastor of in Philadelphia. Charles A. Beemer, State secretary of the Associated Sunday-schools, in an excellent talk, outlined the growth of the Baraca class from the few members he had seen when the local organization was first started to the large number now enrolled as members. The Rev. Dr. Birney S. Hudson, pastor of the Park Avenue Baptist church, Plainfield, had a few words to say to the boys by way of congratulating them on the excellent organization, parish house and other things they can boast of that are not to be had in many cities. The Rev. J. Madison Hare, pastor of the Baptist church, was the last speaker, and in the course of his talk mentioned some of the things that he hoped to see occur in Scotch Plains, things that he hoped he would be able to take a part in.

Robert G. Meggy, Jr., of North avenue, expects to leave before long for Virginia, where he will be a member of a company that is working on the production of a feature moving picture.

Mrs. John Z. Hatfield, of Stout avenue, is entertaining her sister, Mrs. W. E. Francis, and children, from Massachusetts, for several weeks.

fellow. But you seem to me to be a pretty big little fellow. I once heard of two Irishmen who were digging in a sewer trench. One was a big brawny son of Erin about six feet four, and the other a little bit of a fellow. A citizen, looking on, noticed that the little man was very active, shovelling half as much earth again as the big man. Reproaching the big one he said that he ought to be ashamed of himself—a great strong man to let the little one shovel most of the dirt. 'Ah, why shouldn't he,' was the reply, 'ain't he nearer to it?' So you people of Dunellen must not complain if you are expected to do most of this sewer work. Aren't you nearer to it?

"When your President sent me a very courteous invitation to speak here and said that I might choose my own subject, it was but natural that I should select Civic Pride. You people through the love that you have so often shown for your home town, through the spirit of enterprise and union which seems to pervade the whole community, are living examples of the wholesame value of civic pride. You are united in interests, united in sympathy. Like a football game you seem to be pushing in active team work, helping each other to reach the goal, and that is always the welfare of Dunellen and the health, happiness and prosperity of her people.

"Civic pride is one of the higher virtues. There is the pride of family; the pride which a father cherishes for his son as he watches him grow to manhood and strength. There is the pride which only a mother can feel for her child as she nurtures it from the cradle to a life of usefulness and honor. I remember that when President Garfield took the oath of office on the steps of the Capitol, amid the cheers of a great multitude, there was one sitting by his side who did not cheer, but as the tears fell from the cheeks of the aged mother of the President, it was plain that this silent witness was filled with a pride which could not be measured or expressed. Civic pride springs from the same note. It is born of love, that love which is greater than faith, greater than hope. Civic pride is the hand maiden of patriotism.

"'Such is the patriot's boast,
where'er we roam,
His first best country ever is at home.'

"Love of country has been called the expansion of filial love. That process of expansion seems to be compounded, first love of family and home, next civic love which reaches upward to that higher realm of patriotism which knows neither latitude nor longitude.

"A further reason to encourage civic pride in a community is that it pays. Look at the great and growing cities of the West and you will find that where the spirit of mortal is proud there progress reaches its full measure. There is a difference between vanity and pride—

"'The vile are only vain, the great

"You Dunellenites can teach us in Plainfield and North Plainfield many wholesome lessons in civic pride. You seem like a people knowing and loving your city from birth up. Some wit has said that every man loves his native land whether he was born there or not. He must have taken his cue from Dunellen. Alas, for us in North Plainfield it is hard, it is almost against nature to feel the warmth of civic pride in our breasts. We have no place on the map, no postoffice, no real identity as a separate unit. Nature has made us a part of a larger and more prosperous city. We hang like Sinbad the sailor upon its back. Every intelligent man in our midst knows that some day, at some time, we shall be made a part of Plainfield. It is inevitable. How then can we stir up the fires of civic pride in a thing that is sure to die. How can we rejoice in a town that is not on the map and which does not prosper because to do so would be contrary to the laws of nature. I envy you, you people of Dunellen with your separate independence your unity and your name, for after all there is much in a name.

"The Board of Trade is the true vehicle through which to build up a civic interest in a community. You have, I am told, a real active force in this Board. No organization of people is so truly representative as a Board of Trade, hence none can be so useful and so influential. It is composed of people in all the varied walks of business life, professional men, merchants, bankers, teachers, everyone who wants to see the town grow in prosperity and influence. Your voice speaks for that which is best for the whole people; it sounds the death knell to privilege and special interest. Long life to our boards of trade and our chambers of commerce!"

PROCTOR'S THEATRE

The final week of vaudeville at Proctor's Theatre was ushered in yesterday, with an unusually strong bill and one that met with absolute favor on the part of audiences afternoon and night. The feature number is a college musical playlet entitled "The Co-eds," and is replete with girls, music and dancing. The comedy in this production is far better than that of the average tabloid musical comedy and elicited roars of laughter. An instrumental musical novelty offered by the three Bermonds proved to be one of the best things seen a Proctor's in many weeks. The members of the company render a program of popular and classical music with a violin, bass viol, mandolin and guitars. The violin selections were especially pleasing to the audience and the soloist was repeatedly encored. There are plenty of laughs in the sketch entitled, "The Mix-Up," offered by Ethel Hume and company, while Pauline Saxon, "The Sis Perkins" girl, made good with character sketches. Although the opening number on the bill, the novelty wire act by "Jolly Johnny Jones," was one of the best received numbers on the program and the performer received a curtain applause.

The third episode of the absorbing serial, "The Diamond From the Sky," will be presented this afternoon and tonight. This continued film is being closely followed by hundreds of Proctor patrons, the majority of whom predict it will be the most successful serial ever shown in the city. Special feature films will be shown tomorrow and the big offering for Thursday is the Paramount five-part production of "The Straight Road," Clyde Fitch's highly successful drama. When this play was first presented on the legitimate stage a few years ago, with Blanche Walsh playing the leading role, crowded houses in New York, Chicago, and other cities for two seasons. None of its thrilling details have been omitted in preparing the screen while the unlimited possibilities of the camera have served to make it still better. The Proctor Theatre's other serial, "The Goddess," is presented every Saturday.

The last change of vaudeville program will be made Thursday of this week and with the close of the performance on Saturday night, the house will be given over exclusively to moving pictures. Manager Sanderson has made arrangements with several New York film agencies to supply the house with its photo-plays, thus giving the assurance that patrons of the house will have the best the country can afford. Watch these columns for announcements of the titles and all details.

NON SUIT IN FIRST CASE HELD IN NEW COURT ROOM

New Brunswick, May 12.—A nonsuit was granted yesterday by Judge Lloyd in the case of the Emerson Contracting Company against Johanna Lee, executrix for the estate of Thomas Lee. The case was continued from last Thursday until yesterday, when Judge Lloyd ruled that there was no cause for action. The case, which is the first to be tried in the main court room of the new house, involved some rent alleged to have been paid in advance on property in this city.

An action of William E. Tuttle and others against Benjamin S. Harris and others, is now being tried without a jury before Judge Lloyd. Paul Q. Oliver represents the plaintiffs and J. Henry Crane is counsel for the defendants. The case involves a lien claim on a Plainfield house. Apgar Brothers were the builders of the house. Tuttle furnished the material and Harris is the owner.

SMALL BOYS DAY TO DAWN

ling Brothers bring here the massive spectacle of "Solomon and the Queen of Sheba," which, with its picturesque scenery, glittering ballet, gorgeous pageantry and electrical effects, was the marvel of the engagement in Chicago this spring. More than 1,200 people appear in this wordless play which pantomimically and in great ensemble groups tells the familiar Bible story of ancient Israel. Incidental to this are vast processions which, with their armored soldiery, richly caparisoned horses and magnificently gowned nobility of Jerusa-lem's court have been described as the most brilliant display ever made in a spectacle. The ballet, led by two Russian premieres, will include 300 dancing girls and will be under the direction of Ottoker Bartik, late of the Metropolitan Opera House and La Scala, Milan.

The "twenty-four hour man," who makes all of the physical arrangements for the coming and establishment of the circus, spent today in the city laying out the lot, arranging the place of unloading and with the advice of the chief of police picking out the streets over which the street parade will pass. Steward A. L. Webb was also in town this morning doing his marketing, for three times a day he must feed his big family and being made up of men and women of brawn they have big appetites.

The first section to arrive tomorrow will bring the commissary department and all of the animals. The first tent to be pitched will be the "cook house" so a hot breakfast will be ready for the hosts as they arrive. So heavy is the equipment this season that the Ringlings are traveling nearly 700 men in their various working departments, while the spectacle requires the services of a large number of stage experts for it is produced under canvas with all the effects of a grand opera presentation. The second and third sections will bring heavy wagons loaded with canvas and other paraphernalia of the big outfit, while one-half a train alone will be devoted to the wardrobe department. On the last section will come all of the people of the circus and the elephants and ring stock. The canvases this season are the largest ever used by a tented organization, the "big top" alone being 560 feet long by 280 feet wide and seating 12,000 people.

The street parade will take place tomorrow morning, leaving the show grounds at 10 o'clock and it is promised that it will be the most liberal display of gold, gleam and glitter that ever traveled down a crowded highway. Besides many handsome tableau wagons and allegorical cars peopled with gaily garbed girls, there will be many open cages showing fine specimens from the zoo, zebra and pony teams and many other big novelties. Six bands will furnish continuous melody, the clowns will be on hand and in all there will be "three miles of stretched out rainbow."

Two performances will be given here, beginning at 2 and 8 p. m. tomorrow, the doors opening an hour earlier for a visit to the menagerie.

The spectacle of "Solomon and the Queen of Sheba" will be followed by the circus performance in the three rings, on the two stages and in the net-work of rigging at the pole tops. Of the 400 performers who will appear the majority are foreigners and new to America. The ends of the earth have been searched by the Ringling Brothers' agents to get the best and newest feats of daring and skill. The horsemanship this season will be unusually fine and in fact will present more new acts than ever before. Throughout the performance half a hundred clowns will make merry around the track. The tent and show grounds will be lighted by electricity from the circus' own plant.

Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Dresselt, of Nutley, are visiting relatives in this city.

H. B. Berse, of East Fifth street, spent Sunday with relatives in New York city.

DUTCH ARMS HAD SUCCESSFUL YEAR

'CLUB MEMBERS' NIGHT

Resume of the Year Shows That Much Has Been Accomplished by Men's Organization—Games and Refreshments Are Features.

The election of officers and a resume of the past year's work, together with a social time, were features of "club members' night" of the Dutch Arms, of Trinity Reformed church, last night. The reports showed that the year had been one of the most successful in the history of the organization. Last night's meeting closed the active season and the new year will begin in September. The Dutch Arms was organized on January 21, 1909, and since then has been a big factor in the work of Trinity church.

The present membership is forty-six, two new ones being elected last night. The treasurer reported a good balance on hand. During the evening music was furnished by the Dutch Arms Band. A feature was the playing of various games, which were loaned to the organization by William Olmstead, the "hustler."

President Arthur B. Cole presided at the meeting and thanked the officers and members of the different committees and members in general for their loyal support to the Dutch Arms during the past year.

It was suggested that a picnic and field day be held during the summer headed by the band. Officers were then elected for the coming year with the following result:

President, Arthur B. Cole; first vice president, Frederick S. Cutter; second vice president, Lindlau M. Leek; corresponding secretary, Ralph P. Gay; financial secretary, Charles W. Beiter; treasurer, George E. Volk. Mr. Cole is now beginning his fourth term as president.

During the evening refreshments were served by the good and welfare committee comprising Arthur B. Davis, chairman; M. Stevens, E. K. Schomp, J. Dean, C. H. Harvey, Raymond Cutter, S. A. Stover, H. R. Sturges, L. Newman, A. Hendrick, W. H. Olmstead. President Cole was notified of his election by Edgar F. Sheppard, chairman of the nominating committee, after which Mr. Cole took the chair and made a short speech of acceptance.

The Dutch Arms Band has been one of the big features of the church work, being an outgrowth of the Dutch Arms. The band during the year has made steady progress and filled a large number of engagements. E. D. Young is the leader.

WALTER SCOTT & COMPANY DEFENDANT IN PATENT SUIT

Trenton, May 18.—Charging the printing press manufacturing concern of Walter Scott & Co., of Plainfield, with infringing two patents for improvements on printing presses, the Duplex Printing Press Company, of Battle Creek, Michigan, has brought a suit against them in the United States Court here. They ask for an injunction restraining the defendants from further manufacturing the improvements which, it is alleged, are an infringement, and also ask for an accounting of all the profits made by the defendants.

The defendant firm is composed of Isabella Scott, David J. Scott and Walter C. Scott, all of Plainfield.

"AL" SAUNDERS TO SPEAK AT FIRST BAPTIST CHURCH

Great preparations are being made at the First Baptist church for the coming of Albert J. Saunders, popularly known as "Al" Saunders, tomorrow evening, preparatory to his presence the entire day upon the coming Sabbath. Tomorrow night the service will be held in the Sunday-school room, which should be filled to its utmost capacity. The public is invited to these services, and those having no other church duties tomorrow evening are urgently requested to be present and to bring their friends with them. The service will be notable every way.

Mr. Saunders has had a remarkable history, and the last year of his life has been filled with active service along religious lines and with very marked success. He is said to be one of the best answers to the criticism of "Billy" Sunday. "By their fruits ye shall know them," and judged by this standard Mr. Sunday himself is doing a monumental and lasting work for God and good. The public is urged to come out tomorrow evening and hear Mr. Saunders tell of his conversion and of his appreciation of Mr. Sunday and his work.

WE HOPE HE SUCCEEDS.

Congressman Capstick has tackled a job that should have the support of every citizen of Plainfield. He will try to get the specifications for the new post office changed so that the exterior will be constructed of marble instead of limestone. The appropriation available for the local building was $120,000, and it looks suspiciously as if the architects office was trying to "put something over," for when the bids were opened the figure for marble was only $105,000, while that for limestone was about $84,000, and the latter was chosen. It is all well enough to have economy in public work, but it is a mighty poor principle to establish it in the erection of permanent buildings. This is especially true locally for Plainfielders waited a couple of years in order to get a larger appropriation to make it possible to put up a building in keeping with the city.

Mr. Capstick has already shown although he has not as yet occupied his seat in the lower house, that he is "on the job," and if he succeeds in securing marble in place of limestone for the post office he will earn a debt of gratitude from every Plainfielder. It is too bad that our own Jim Martine is not here to aid the Congressman, for there is nothing like having plenty of irons in the fire when tackling a job like this However, in the absence of the Senator, Mr. Capstick may be depended upon to leave no stone unturned to try to bring about the change.

Some of the readers of the Daily Press have formed the impression that Mr. Sill's view of Billy Sunday as printed in the contributed editorial last Saturday, was the expression of this newspaper. We were of the belief that everyone who read the paper fully understood that the contributed editorials, which are published every Saturday, express the views of the writers, the idea being to give representative citizens an opportunity to comment on topics of the day. The writers choose their own subjects, and frequently we do not know what they are going to write about until the day before publication. Certainly with the definite note which appears at the head of the column every Saturday, saying that on that day "the editorial columns of the Daily Press are conducted by citizens who are free to express their own views," any fair minded person must realize that the column is no more an expression of the opinion of the paper than is a letter in the Forum, which is signed in the same way. Mr. Sill formed his impressions of Sunday from the newspapers. Others who have heard him say that he is an entirely different proposition when one hears him delivering a sermon. That he is a great power for good cannot be disputed, even by his critics.

Hoboken's new commission has passed an ordinance on first reading which will increase the liquor license fees from $300 to $500 a year. When that city, supposedly brewery controlled until the commission form of government went into force, sees the light, and starts raising the liquor fees there is hope for a better handling of a traffic which everywhere needs regulation of the kind that it has in Plainfield. As the Trenton Times says, there may be politics in the ordinance which was proposed by Mayor Patrick R. Griffin, but it's politics of the right kind. By raising the license fee the city will get from $40,000 to $50,000 more in revenue, some of the smaller saloons that disregard the law will be driven out of business and the men who pay the larger fee for the privilege of selling will take fewer chances of losing their licenses.

"Be Kind Week" is being observed all over the United States. While primarily started by the National Humane Society in the interests of the animals, it has taken on a broader scope. The suggestion made by Mrs. Stephen G. VanHoesen, the local representative of the S. P. C. A., that during this week everyone make some contribution, large or small, to the S. P. C. A., the Charity Organization Society, the Anti-Tuberculosis League, Children's Home, Day Nursery, Salvation Army or any other deserving local charity, is a splendid one. This has been a year when contributions have been continuously asked for, but there is always opportunity to do a little more. Do some little act of kindness as your share in the work of the week.

The conflicting reports which are being sent to the big press associations as to what Germany will do in reply to the note of the United States, prove conclusively that the reporters know nothing about the subject. It will be all guesswork until the text of the reply is given out, either in Berlin or Washington.

We don't want to be too curious, but what has happened to that survey of the city departments?

"TWIG SYSTEM" HAS BEEN A SUCCESS

Nearly 6,000 Garments Have Been Made for Muhlenberg Hospital.

The Woman's Auxiliary Board of Muhlenberg Hospital in October, 1915, voted to establish a "Twig System," which has been successfully put in operation during the past winter for the purpose of sewing and making garments for the hospital. This system consists at the present time of 13 groups of women called "Twigs"—named as follows: The Acorn Twig, the Birch Twig, the Cedar Twig, the Chestnut Twig, the Elm Twig, the Hemlock Twig, the Linden Twig, the Magnolia Twig, the Oak Twig, the Olive Twig, the Pine Twig, the Poplar Twig and the Spruce Twig.

Each group elects its own president, vice president and secretary, if desired, and each Twig is governed by its own laws. The meetings take place fortnightly at the homes of the members, where the women sew for two or three hours, with tea or luncheon served according to the preference of the Twigs.

During the past winter 5,500 complete garments and articles have been contributed to the hospital, the material for which has been bought by the Woman's Board with money raised by the "mile of dimes." The members have been most faithful to the meetings and through the sustained enthusiasm and loyalty of their workers, the thirteen Twigs, with an enrollment of 130 active members have worked hard and systematically in the interest in this institution. As the hospital grows, it is hoped that the Twig system will also grow in order that active interest in this charity may keep pace with its desire for usefulness.

The growth of the hospital service depends upon a constantly enlarging circle of personally interested people, and it is hoped that there may be in the future many women, either new members of the auxiliary board, or who may wish to become members, who will form new Twig groups, assured that each one will be welcome into the circle.

REPORTS OF SPLENDID WORK BY T. B. LEAGUE

Dr. Yood Succeeds to Vacant Position on Clinic Medical Staff.

Fifty-three men, women and children have applied for treatment at the clinic conducted by the local Anti-Tuberculosis League during the last four months, according to the report submitted to the trustees of the League, last night, by Dr. Frederick J. Hughes, the medical director. Of these four were found to have tuberculosis, three of which were new cases, the others being patients in whom traces of the disease had previously been discovered. Three were sent to Glen Gardner, the State sanatorium, and four went to Bonnie Burn, while 42 were referred to Muhlenberg Hospital suffering from conditions not coming within the scope of the clinic. Six children were sent to the open air school.

Since the clinic was started in August, 1913, there have been a total of 1,319 patients who have visited it.

Dr. Hughes recommended the appointment of Dr. Raphael Yood as one of the staff for the clinic, in place of Dr. Bernard Levinson, who resigned when he left town some months ago. Dr. Yood was unanimously elected to fill the position.

The school report, presented for Dr. Edward S. Krans, says that twenty-one children have been in attendance. The average gain in weight for each child for three months was two pounds, the greatest being 5¼ pounds. As an experiment, during the Christmas vacation period, milk was sent to the homes of all the children, and it was found that seven of them gained a total of 6¼ pounds in weight, nine lost 6¾ pounds, three were stationary and one did not return. At the Easter vacation, when no milk was supplied, it was found that four children gained two pounds twelve lost 7½ pounds, two were not weighed and two were withdrawn from the school by their parents, the net loss being five pounds. In previous years the children have always lost during vacations.

Reports of committees and routine business occupied the time of the meeting. A committee was named to nominate three persons to fill vacancies in the board of trustees, caused by resignation.

GAS EXPLOSION VICTIM BURIED AT NEWARK TODAY

The funeral of William Murphy, of this city, who died in Muhlenberg Hospital as the result of burns received in an explosion at the acetylene gas plant, near Lincoln, was held this morning, in St. Michael's church, Newark. A high mass of requiem was said in the presence of a large gathering of relatives and friends, many of whom were from Plainfield. Burial was made in the cemetery of the Holy Sepulchre.

Mr. Murphy was forty-five years old and resided on Laramie road. The explosion which resulted in his death occurred on May 11 and at the same time severely injured John Worth, another employe. The latter is now in Muhlenberg Hospital with excellent chances for recovery. Mr. Murphy is survived by his wife, one sister, Mrs. Terance Donnelly, of Clay street, Newark, and one brother, John Murphy, also of Newark.

"BE KIND WEEK" HAS HIT THE COUNTY JAIL

"Dr." Chester L. Brown Urges Humane Treatment of Prisoners.

Preaching to the Union county jail officials seems to be a specialty among prisoners committed to the Elizabeth institution from Plainfield. C. Edward Schumacker, a Plainfielder, who was confined in the county jail pending extradition to New York State, where he was wanted for perpetrating a land fraud, several weeks ago gained renown by inaugurating classes for Bible study in the institution, and yesterday "Dr." Chester L. Brown, a negro prisoner from Plainfield, tried his hand at preaching morality to the inmates.

Brown is now on the homeward stretch of a thirty-day sentence inflicted on him by Judge James C. Connolly, after he had been found guilty of practicing medicine in this city without a license, and yesterday was the leading factor in a devotional service held in the jail. He made an address to his fellow prisoners on the general subject of jails, penal management and classification of criminals. His remarks evidently accomplished their purpose, for they were made particularly sweet to the ears of the jail officials, and made him an individual worthy of more than ordinary consideration in their estimation. He praised the management of the jail and the efforts of Sheriff Otto and Acting Warden Johnson to be humane, while fully adhering to the lines of their duty.

He said that boys might better be spanked in court than be committed to jail for minor offences. Any jail however well administered, was only a school where the vicious and the first-termers were in close association. The result was that the novice became learned in criminal lore during his first term of penal servitude. Upon being released he was ripe for the further commission of crime, each act being on a larger scale until finally these men became confirmed thieves, burglars and hold-up men.

Brown urged the policy of kindness in the treatment of prisoners, believing that it would accomplish more than harsh measures. He instanced the dog, showing that kindliness made a friend of a dog, while abuse would induce the animal to bite at the first opportunity to get even.

In the same way he urged that kindness to prisoners, especially first-termers, opened up great possibilities in the way of individual reform. On the other hand, abuse embittered prisoners guilty of first offences and made them reckless on being released, while criminals are by abusive treatment made even greater enemies of society.

Brown advocated the formation of classes among jail prisoners, believing that radical reforms could be made easier of accomplishment if prisoners had something to think of other than the tales of confirmed criminals.

CLERICUS DISCUSSED THE SUBJECT OF "SOCIALISM"

Discussion dealing with the topic of "Socialism" occupied the attention of the Plainfield Clericus at a meeting held in the home of Dr. William H. Neilson on East Ninth street yesterday. Rev. BOROUGH BOARD MEETING.

A rumor has been in circulation to the effect that the North Plainfield Board of Education will hold its May meeting next Monday night instead of the last Monday in the month, owing to the fact that Decoration Day falls on this date, but this was positively denied by a member of the Board this morning. The holiday will in no way interfere with the plans for a monthly session on the usual date.

Health Notes

Published by the Plainfield Health Department Every Monday.

This article may be interesting to the general public, but as it concerns stable owners in particular, they are the ones to whom it is addressed.

So much has been written and said about flies that the public is fairly well informed as to their life history and the menace to health and comfort which they constitute. The slogan "Swat the Fly" has been echoed in every household. The real meaning of this phrase is that the fly shall be annihilated. Everyone knows that this can never be accomplished just by killing the flies—they must not be allowed to develop into flies; the eggs and maggots must be destroyed. Experiments made this past year by the U. S. Department of Agriculture have resulted in giving us some practical information as to the best way of doing this. It is well known that while flies breed in garbage, old rags, papers or any decaying matter, the largest percentage of them—at least 90 per cent. and probably 95 per cent.—are bred in manure. The most effective means then of getting rid of flies is to attack them in the places where manure collects. It is not enough to remove the manure from the stable frequently—it may become fly-infested before it is possible to remove it, for it is in the fresh manure that the eggs are laid. It is evident that it must be treated in some way to prevent the hatching of the eggs and the development of the maggots into flies. For this purpose, Bulletin No. 118, U. S. Department of Agriculture, says that "by far the most effective, economical and practical of the substances is borax in the commercial form in which it is available throughout the country."

The Plainfield Board of Health has hesitated to advise the use of any particular substance, because there did not seem to be any reliable information at hand in regard to the matter. Some substances, claimed to be effective, were too expensive, too poisonous or too destructive to the fertilizing properties of the manure for general use. We are, therefore, glad to be able to recommend something that answers every purpose.

Commercial borax (which may be obtained at any of the hardware stores in Plainfield at small cost in 100-pound lots) should be used as follows:

"Apply 0.62 pound (nearly two-thirds of a pound) borax to every ten cubic feet (eight bushels) of manure immediately on its removal from the barn. Apply the borax particularly around the outer edges of the pile with a flour sifter or any fine sieve, and sprinkle two or three gallons of water over the borax-treated manure * * *

"The treatment should be repeated with each addition of fresh manure, but when the manure is kept in closed boxes less frequent applications will be sufficient. * * * In addition to the application of borax to horse manure to kill fly ralvae, it may be applied in the same proportion to other manures, as well as to refuse and garbage. Barox may also be applied to floors and crevices in barns, stables, markets, etc., as well as to street sweepings, and water should be added as in the treatment of horse manure. After estimating the amount of borax, a measure may be used which will hold the proper amount, thus avoiding subsequent weighings."

The bulletin advises that the public be warned against the injurious effect of large amounts of borax on the growth of plants. One should, therefore, be careful to see that the right amount is used.

The treatment outlined above will reduce the number of flies very materially and costs less than two cents per horse per day.

Stable inspections will be started this week, and all the stable premises in the city will be inspected as soon as possible. As there are nearly 400 of them, however, it will take some time to cover the ground. Reports of particularly bad conditions would, therefore, be apreciated, that prompt inspection might be made in such cases and measures taken to have the nuisance abated. All stable owners who fail to comply with the stable ordinance, particularly in regard to the care of the manure, will be dealt with according to law.

Ever alert to present the best photoplays obtainable, Frank G. Hall, manager of the U. S. Astor Theatre, Plainfield, will show an array of banner attractions this week, beginning yesterday with the collossus of modern railway drama, "The Juggernaut," the first release by the Vitagraph Company of America under the new V. L. S. E., Inc., combination, which comprises the four oldest and largest picture manufacturing concerns in the world—Vitagraph, Lubin, Selig and Essanay, the latter of which controls all the Charles Chaplin films. "The Juggernaut" is a picture of supreme emotion, the excitement attaining a climax when a complete train plunges through a high trestle in the Passaic River, passengers drowning, others being rescued by daring swimmers, the boiler bursting in a cloud of steam. The death struggles of drowning passengers in the big scene of the film are beyond question the most realistic ever put on the screen. It was while acting for this picture that Miss Anita Stewart and Earle Williams, who play the principal roles, were flung from an automobile into the Passaic and nearly drowned. A motion picture machine operator jumped in and rescued them in the nick of time. Most of the pictures in the big moments of the film were photographed along the Passaic River not far from Newark. Others were taken on the Central Railroad near Plainfield. Plainfield folk will recall the accounts which appeared in the papers concerning the wrecking of the train some time ago. But aside from these thrilling episodes, "The Juggernaut" tell a story which holds the interest of the spectator throughout. The plot abounds in heart interest and thrills. This is the first time "The Juggernaut" has been shown in Plainfield. It doubtless will be the last time. Rarely have local theatregoers had an opportunity to witness a picture which so splendidly combines the dramatic, artistic and the natural as "The Juggernaut."

"The New Governor," a five-part visualization of Edward Sheldon's powerful drama, which won him fame in New York three years ago, will be the dramatic feature at the Astor Wednesday and Thursday. The Mayor of Plainfield his given Mr. Hall permission to show this film. After viewing the picture, censors declared that it heroized the colored man instead of slurring him, and that there was no ground for objections against its so-called delicate subject.

N. P. H. S. NOTES.

The pieces which have been selected by Miss Utter, who is to direct the commencement chorus, will include Shubert's "Serenade," "Over the Hills at Break of Day" and "The Miller's Wooing."

The senior English teacher, Miss Ray, has received a first copy of the senior essays from each member of the fourth-year class. It is a requirement for graduation that the faculty shall have accepted from each pupil an essay of 1,500 words.

An article by Mr. Earley on "Discipline in Public Schools" will be published next month in the American School Board Journal.

Members of the junior class who have not met their financial obligation to the class will not be admitted to the banquet Friday night, by Mr. Earley's orders.

The Leal School-Bernardsville High School baseball game, scheduled to be played on Crescent Oval, tomorrow afternoon, will be the only scholastic game in town, both the city and borough teams playing in other places. The private school aggregation will be out to win this game from the boys from over the mountains as they had a rather disastrous record last week. Three defeats all by one run were registered. The game will start at 3:30 o'clock.

JACK MARTIN SPORTING A FIELDING AVERAGE OF .975

A St. Paul paper has the following comment to make of Jack Martin's playing in the American Association:

"Jack Martin, who has been playing a sensational article of ball at shortstop for the St. Paul team, of the American Association, made his second error last Sunday, of which he has been guilty since the team opened up for its home stay, April 23. Jack has had eighty-two chances in the last fourteen games and has accepted eighty of them, for a fielding average of .976, which is pretty close to first base standard. Martin isn't picking out the soft spots either and making the hard ones look impossible as some shortstops do for he has an average close to six chances a game."

MOOSE BASEBALL LEAGUE DISBANDS FOR SEASON

It was definitely decided to give up the proposed Moose Baseball League at a meeting held at the home of the Elizabeth "Paps," Sunday. Lack of interest is given as the reason for this action as only three teams were represented at the meeting, those being Rahway, Elizabeth and Orange. The teams will probably play independent ball this summer and the manager of the Elizabeth team has already started to arrange a schedule.

A home and home series will be arranged between the local lodge and Elizabeth in the near future. The Elizabeth team will play on Priest Field every Sunday afternoon, opening this week.

SECOND MEETING.

The second game of the season between the North Plainfield and New Brunswick High School teams will take place tomorrow afternoon at the latter place In the first game, which took place on Hyde Oval, the borough team scored a 5 to 2 victory and look for the large end of the score again tomorrow. Stahl allowed only six hits in the first game and the local batters collected the same number from Bergen.

FLYNN VERSUS COFFEY.

New York, May 18.—Jim Flynn, the Pueblo fireman, will box Jim Coffey at the Brighton Beach Race Track on Decoration Day. Flynn was officially chosen last night by the management of the Brighton Beach Sporting Club to face the fighting Irishman at the opening show of the seaside club.

WORLD'S BEST BOXERS MAY MEET

McFarland and Gibbons Likely to Clash In Near Future.

SHOULD BE A GREAT BATTLE

Both Past Masters of Art of Self Defense—Mike Has Some Advantages Over Packey, Who Has Been Out of Ring For Over a Year.

These two high priced stars, Packey McFarland and Mike Gibbons, are on the point of signing articles for their long deferred battle.

No particular title will be at stake, but the winner will be declared the world's most clever boxer. That is an honor that both covet, and no doubt it will influence their work in the ring, as each will endeavor to excel in exhibiting the finer points of boxing rather than to drop over a knockout wallop.

On the face of things McFarland seems to be too badly handicapped to have much chance of carrying off the honors. So far as actual weight is concerned there will be little difference. But McFarland has been out of the ring for more than a year. No doubt he has taken good care of his health, but at his age a long layoff cannot fail to be detrimental, affecting his stamina, speed and that coordination between brain and muscle that can be maintained only through constant practice and actual fighting.

As the weight agreement calls for 145 pounds at an early hour, it will be no surprise if McFarland enters the ring the heavier of the two. Since he last appeared in the ring he has grown into a fair sized middleweight. But the added poundage is the weight that comes with age. It cannot be removed without weakening him, and it is bound to affect his speed.

Even should McFarland's condition be all that he could wish it still would be doubtful whether he could win from the man who is easily the best ten round boxer among the middleweights. The Chicago wizard has done nothing to indicate that he is in his rival's class as an all round fighting man. As a lightweight he lacked the punch, although he usually outweighed his opponents by many pounds.

Why McFarland was not more of a punisher has been explained in various ways. According to his own version of the matter, he was satisfied to sacrifice all the prestige that goes with a long string of knockouts for no other reason than that he was too tender hearted to win in that manner. This fantastic explanation, however, carries little weight with the initiated. It is far more reasonable to believe that it was concern for his own welfare that caused him to adopt safety first tactics.

But for his lack of ability to get results with his hitting McFarland would deserve a higher rating than Gibbons He was a better boxer in all other respects. In the art of hitting without being hit he probably was the best man since Young Griffo. But parlor boxing is not fighting, and McFarland's general average is seriously affected by the serious fault.

Gibbons, on the other hand, is only a shade less brilliant, and he also enjoys the advantage of being a great hitter. As good hitting is as much a part of good boxing as any other feature, Gibbons can be said to average up better than the old time lightweight.

If McFarland is defeated no doubt he will retire in earnest. If he wins he may decide to proclaim himself welterweight champion and defend that honor a few times in order to go down in ring history as a genuine champion. It always has been conceded that McFarland can have that title for the asking, but he preferred to compete in the lightweight class for financial and other reasons.

ROGERS AND BAKER TIE FOR FIRST PLACE

D. Ogden Rogers and J. Whitney Baker are now tie for first place in the weekly competition for the Golf Committee cup at the Plainfield Country Club. Each player has four points, while A. M. Tweedy and C. E. Lipscomb are tied for second place with three and a half points each. Under the new system of distributing four, three, two and one points each week the interest in their competition has been increased considerably.

J. Rex Schoonmaker was the winner of the "tombstone" competition, finishing on the seventeenth green. Through an error it was announced yesterday that H. D. Hibbard was the winner.

ONLY TWO MAJOR LEAGUES IN 1916

One of Them Will Be Federal, Declares Fielder Jones.

NEW CIRCUIT HAS MONEY.

St. Louis Manager Opines That There Is No Peace In Sight at Present, but Believes Matter Will Be Smoothed Out Next Winter.

In an interview recently Fielder Jones, manager of the St. Louis Federals, insisted that he picked the right club when he took the managership of the St. Louis team and he was just as positive that his club is in the strongest major league.

"I am not discouraged over anything just now," said Jones. "Why should I be? I now have a team in which I have the utmost confidence."

Then Jones switched off to the Federal league as a whole and to baseball prospects in particular. For the first time in his life he stands on the same platform as Ban Johnson, head of the American league, in regard to the outlook for the minors.

"There is a mighty slim show for the minors this year," he said, "and if there are three or four leagues running by July 4 they will be doing pretty well. As for making money, none of them will, that is a certainty.

"As for the major leagues, I think there will be two running next year, and one of them will be the Federals. I do not expect to see them get together this year, as they already have their men under contract; but there will be an awful howl go up in many a city in the National and American leagues next year. Why? Because a lot of them are ready to quit the game now.

"There is no chance for the Federal league to be a failure. I thoroughly investigated its chances before I signed a contract with St. Louis. Some mighty solid men are behind it, and they are willing to spend the money. The chances are that we will not make much money this year, but neither will we lose any. The other two leagues are likely to drop a big wad with their inflated salary lists.

"As for the artistic end of the game, the Federal league teams will give the fans as good a run for their money as the others. We have some of the best talent of the older leagues, and besides we have already developed a promising set of youngsters, who shortly will shine just as brilliantly as do the other stars of today.

"Should we need any more talent next year we will go out and get it, and there is where the older leagues will suffer. Most of their contracts are for two years and that means the majority will be up at the end of this year. There is no way they can hold their players unless they outbid us, and by that time they won't be in a condition to do much bidding.

"The backers of the Federal league are willing to go the limit, not only this year but next and following years. It is simply a case of the survival of the fittest, and that will mean that the Federal league will be the major circuit.

"I do not look for peace overtures this year, but when the other magnates see us line up for the barrier next year there will be a mighty scramble to get into the peace wagon."

Heinie Groh of the Cincinnati club is hitting the ball hard this season. He has a batting average well above .400 and the averages last week showed him leading the league in batting. Heinie is making a good all-round showing, and this helps to explain while the Reds are now traveling in the first division.

REPORTS OF BIG ORDERS FOR MUNITIONS DENIED

Washington, May 18.—Army and Navy Department officials are annoyed by persistent reports of heavy orders being placed for munitions in the mills of the country. Assistant Secretary of War Breckenridge said today that all such reports were without foundation, so far as the War Department was concerned. "We have not the appropriations to order, even if we deemed is necessary," he said, "such orders as now are being placed are merely the usual orders for the maintainance of the standard supply."

IMPORTANT EXTENSION OF POSTAL SAVINGS SYSTEM

Acording to a letter just received by Postmaster A. E. Hoagland from Postmaster General Burleson, every person in the United States ten years old or over may open an account in a postal savings bank after July 1. This important extension of the service will be made possible by permitting persons living in communities so sparsely settled as not to justify the designation of their local post offices as regular postal savings banks to open accounts by mail.

Under the plan adopted by the Postmaster General for opening accounts by mail any intending depositor, residing where there is no regularly designated postal savings bank, will apply to Postmaster Hoagland, who will see that necessary identification data is prepared and forwarded to a nearby postoffice authorized to accept deposits. The intending depositor will then be given permission to forward his first and subsequent deposits by money order or registered mail direct to the postmaster at the banking point for which receipts or certificates will be issued. He may withdraw all or any part of his postal savings by mail and on demand together with any interest that may be due him.

Any person ten years old or over may open an account in his or her own name; that an account may be opened by a married woman free from any control or interference by her husband; that postoffice officials are forbidden to disclose to any person, except the depositor, the amount of any deposits; that withdrawals may be made without previous notice, and that the government guarantees to repay all deposits on demand with accrued interest.

PETITION FOR A WRIT.

Washington, May 18.—A petition for a writ of certiorari in the National Cash Register case was filed today in the Supreme Court by the Department of Justice. Attorney General Gregory asks for a review of the decision of the Federal Court in Cincinnati absolving John H. Patterson and other officers from indictments for violation of the Sherman law. The release of the defendants was granted some months ago in spite of the government's protestations.

INJURED IN AUTO ACCIDENT.

New York, May 18.—James Strassberg, James Hinckey and Peter Delaney were severely injured this morning when an automobile driven by Strassberg, a chauffeur for Jules Bernstein, was wrecked in Central Park. Delaney, the most badly hurt of the three, is suffering from concussion of the brain.

FIELDER LEAVES SAN DIEGO.

KING IMPROVING.

Athens, May 18.—King Constantine of Greece, who is suffering from pleurisy, passed a quiet night and his pain has diminished, according to a bulletin issued today.

DOES NOT REGARD THE EVIDENCE CONCLUSIVE

Washington, May 18—The most important feature of the injunction proceedings in the Riggs National Bank case today was the admission by Judge McCoy that he did not regard the evidence presented by counsel for the bank as showing conclusively that Secretary McAdoo, Controller Williams and United States Treasurer Burke had entered into a conspiracy for the purpose of wrecking the bank, as alleged in the bank's bill of complaint. The statement was made by Judge McCoy in the course of colloquy with Frank J. Hogan, of counsel for the bank. Judge McCoy said, however, that he did not wish to be understood as prejudging the case.

MEASURED BY INCHES.

Tiny Things Sway Calamity or Success In Human Affairs.

Everybody knows what a little thing an inch is, but few realize what a big thing it is. Few stop to contemplate what the difference in an inch really means. A tailor knows when an inch too much or too little has cost him anywhere from $18 to $80. A dressmaker knows when an inch too little of the goods on hand may cause her, after an arduous day of planning, to abandon a chosen pattern for another. An engineer knows when his train, with its carload of human freight, has gone one inch off the track over a precipice.

Some men have minds one inch off the judgment track, and that causes all their schemes, gigantic and brilliant as they may be, to run amuck.

Every calamity and every success in life is controlled by inches.

Men rarely go to their doom in an hour. It is inch by inch.

All successes are won inch by inch.

As inch by inch the waters of life creep in to engulf us, so inch by inch the obstacles that impede our progress move aside.

The man who attempts to leap over the inches to reach his goal gets there with a broken leg.

The word inch has a forbidding sound. It is because it holds us in its clutches. We cannot ignore an inch or it immediately thwarts our intentions. Every simple thing is performed by man, as the saying goes, "within an inch of his life."

All diseases move inch by inch. Before the scarlet fever breaks out in a child it has been developing inch by inch for nine days.

The overstepping of an inch in the proprieties of life brands us. If a girl in a theater laughs an inch too loud the audience looks around and puts upon her the stamp of "not a lady."

Deportment is measured by inches, and woe unto the man who fails to observe its dictates. Even in the deepest grief if one goes too far in his wailings the grief is questioned, if not ridiculed, and sympathy turned aside. An inch too far in the poet's flight to imagination's realms and the world laughs at his best efforts.

A single inch in any direction may throw away a man's chances for the world's approval, and yet some men do not even consider the yards.

It is the man who considers life within an inch of every detail presented who succeeds.—New York American.

THE MASTER MIND

Novelized by Marvin Dana, author of "Within the Law," from the successful play by Daniel D. Carter

Copyright, 1913, by the H. K. Fly company.

"I'm sorry if I disturb you, dear," He regarded her searchingly. "You are looking a little fagged."

"I have a right to be tired," Lucene answered brightly, "for I've been helping—mother with her packing."

"Now, what does that mean?" the husband inquired, surprised. "Are your estimable parents planning to leave us?"

"Yes," the wife replied. "I didn't know that you hadn't heard the sad news."

Wainwright's lips tightened. To him, mindful of the symbolism of the black card, this swiftly arranged partial breaking up of his household appeared as a confirmation of the worst fears.

"And Andrew?"

"Oh, yes; he goes with them, of course, since he was really only loaned to us."

Then he added, curiously: "It's all a bit sudden, isn't it?"

"Yes," Lucene said contentedly, "it all came up and was decided—like that." She snapped her fingers airily.

He spoke very gravely:

"Lucene, I came to you to say something of a certain important matter."

The wife drew her hands from his, and moved a little away from him, dejectedly.

"Please, Cortland," she pleaded, "can't you wait until tomorrow? I am so tired."

"Lucene," he said very seriously, "I have an enemy—one in particular, I mean, a man who is powerful."

"An enemy—you!" she cried, incredulously. To her, who worshiped him, the bare idea seemed preposterous, absurdly impossible.

"Yes, an enemy," Wainwright repeated, with added energy "Didn't you know it?"

"No, I never guessed anything of this," she said, now thoroughly frightened at the thought of peril for him. "How should I know anything of it? You never told me!"

Wainwright answered frankly.

"I have told you already, Lucene, that I sometimes feared lest you had some anxiety you kept secret from me. You explained the cause of your distress to me. Yet I thought there was a remote possibility that you might be able to tell me something more."

The wife watched her husband as he thus spoke with an astonishment into which blended reproach.

"What is it you wish to know?" she said, with a trace of bitterness in her tone. "I know nothing of any enemy, but I am ready to tell you whatever I do know."

Wainwright shook his head.

"Since you know nothing of my enemy," he said, "it would be vain to bother you with questions. You cannot help me." He turned and went toward the door, but halted as his wife called to him.

"But you haven't told me," she exclaimed. "Who is your enemy?" she asked tremulously. She sprang up and advanced a little toward him, then paused to look at him with fear dilated eyes. "What is the danger that threatens you?"

Wainwright spoke very softly.

"I mustn't tell you now, dearest," he said. "Later on, I will."

"Now—now!" she begged.

The husband, however, persisted in his refusal.

In the library he spoke to the waiting detective in a voice cautiously restrained, but with sharpness:

"Marshall, the Master Mind will strike tonight."

In reply to the astonished inquiries of the detective he explained the manner in which he had arrived at this conclusion as to the plans of his enemy.

"This man, Andrew," Marshall ventured, "is the Master Mind, as you believe—and I, too, for the matter of that. Now, he has arranged to leave here tomorrow, along with his real employers as they pretend to be, Mr. and Mrs. Blount, and their son, Walter. It seems likely to me that there's some close relation here between this Master Mind and the Blounts. He's not the man to be really a servant to folks like that, eh? And so there's your wife, their daughter. They all seem to be mixed up together in this thing."

Wainwright turned away with a brief good night.

"But surely," Marshall exclaimed, greatly astonished, "you're not going to bed!"

"Why not?" he questioned, with entire sincerity.

"But, good Lord!" Marshall ejaculated. "You must take precautions. You yourself know this man is dangerous—deadly!"

Wainwright shrugged his shoulders.

"I can't very well hide from the fellow in my own house," he objected.

"I'm going to arrest him at once," was the gruff announcement.

Again Wainwright shook his head.

"We can do nothing whatever until he shows his hand. Good night."

Marshall was still staring at the doorway through which the master of the house had disappeared when he was startled by the sudden coming of Andrew.

"Well, what do you want?" Marshall demanded.

Andrew answered in a way that was disconcerting to his questioner.

"I was afraid I offended you a little while ago, when I was here before, sir. So I have come, sir, to ask your pardon. And there was another thing, too, sir," he continued more briskly, at last raising his eyes and meeting the other's wondering stare with inscrutable gaze. "To be quite frank, sir, I am aware that you are a detective."

"Well, what of that?" Marshall demanded, still brusquely, but with a lively curiosity as to the outcome of this strange interview between himself and the celebrity of the underworld who masqueraded as a butler for the ensnaring of an enemy.

"I am aware that you are a detective."

"Well, sir," Andrew went on serenely, "since you are a detective and in this house tonight, I would advise you to watch that safe in the alcove there." He pointed toward the curtained recess. "Especially, say, at about 2 o'clock in the morning."

"Now, what the devil are you driving at?"

"I mean the Wainwright jewels, sir," was the reply. "They are in that safe, as perhaps you know. At least it is no secret."

The detective scowled at the butler standing before him, apparently quite unconcerned. "Is it an attempted robbery you're hinting about?"

"It is more than a hint," was the ready correction. "In fact, it's almost a conviction."

NEWS AND VIEWS

Conducted by THE W. C. T. U.

The Baker Stove Company, of Belleville, Ill., not long ago issued an order that its 400 employes no longer will be permitted to drink intoxicants while at work. In an effort to increase the efficiency of the men and decrease the number of accidents, the foundry managers are encouraging the men to drink milk in place of beer, and are providing ice with which to cool the milk.

The managers of the sixteen other foundries in Belleville are said to be watching the experiment, and may issue similar orders concerning drinking to their workmen.

"We are not posing as prohibitionists," said George Baker, superintendent of the Baker Stove Company, "but we believe we can increase the efficiency of our men and reduce the number of accidents in the shop if the men are not allowed to drink when at work.

"Statistics gathered by the Illinois Manufacturers' Association and the American Foundrymen's Association show that liquor and good work in foundries are enemies. Under the new Illinois workmen's compensation act the employer is liable for all accidents that occur in his plant, and we wish to reduce the number of accidents in our place to a minimum."

Charles L. Huston, vice-president of a large steel company at Coatesville, Pa., has stated the decrease in accidents in his mills was 54 per cent. in six months, says the St. Louis Post-Dispatch. He attributed the reduction in the number of accidents to the removal of the saloons from the town. Wallace H. Rowe, president of the Pittsburg Steel Company, in a letter to the license judges of Westmoreland county, Pa., said: "We have experienced a growing inefficiency in the service of our men in the mills, resulting in accidents and death, largely attributed to the heavy use of beer and whisky." He said that 8 per cent. of the accidents in his mills were due directly or indirectly to liquor.

In an effort to find something to take the place of beer for the men during working hours, William H. Barr, president of the National Founders' Association, of Buffalo, N. Y., had a large ice box built, and finally persuaded his men to buy milk and keep it in the ice box until ready for consumption. It was after studying the reports of these men high in the foundry world that the Baker plant at Belleville decided to prohibit beer drinking in their plant. "Our men never drank to excess," said Superintendent Baker, "but the fact that they did drink increased the danger of accidents. I called them together one day and explained the whole situation to them. I told them it would be a move for safety first, and they finally saw the thing the way I did. Now there is no objection to the rule at all. Some of the men bring milk with them and keep it on ice, while others buy milk during the day instead of beer."

The board of directors of the Monmouth County Fair, who were so full of bluster last year because of the exposure made by the law-enforcement department of the Anti-Saloon League, of gambling, drunkenness and disorderly conduct last year, have discreetly decided not to apply for a beer license this year. It will be remembered that last year a Newark brewery, through a Monmouth county "dummy," held the beer concession, and conducted two saloons, with a license for only one. Editor Cook, of the Red Bank Register, one of the directors, became very abusive of the president of the Monmouth County Church Federation and the assistant superintendent of the Anti-Saloon League because they told the truth, and with much loquacity betrayed his ignorance of the law.

Preparation was made for renewal of the license application this year, but Dr. Lovell, of the Church Federation, got busy, and circulated remonstrances in the churches, and arranged for the attendance of Attorney Munroe, Assistant Superintendent Wilson and the expert investigator of the Anti-Saloon League; and the W. C. T. U. retained Attorney C. F. Dittmar, of Asbury Park, and the prospects were bright for a right enjoyable field day in court. Evidently the directors were afraid of subpoenas and consequent uncomfortable interrogations, and, believing discretion to be the better part of valor, withdrew their application.

This is another indication of the truth expressed so vigorously by an Elizabeth bartender that "the Anti-Saloon League is raising Tophet all over the State," only he didn't say Tophet.

Now, let these directors who claimed they wanted beer sold "as a temperance measure," use some good sense methods to keep out bootleggers and refuse concessions to gamblers, and try to make the institution a real agricultural fair, instead of a sporting affair.

"Yes, I'm getting out of the saloon business after twenty years of it," remarked Barney Grogan, a well-known Chicago liquor dealer to a reporter for the Chicago American the other day. There's no profit in it. Why stand the abuse and lose money at the same time? Not one saloonkeeper in one hundred in Chicago is making money. If the saloonkeepers of Chicago had to pay their debts tomorrow they'd be broke."

Referring to the prohibition wave, Mr. Grogan said:

'If they voted the 'wet-dry' question in Chicago some Sunday morning the whole city would go dry. It's the men and women who are wet personally who will finally decide the issue. They are flopping about and will try it as an experiment. Maybe they will go back—maybe not. They don't know exactly where they are at—especially the morning after pay day. But the prohibition wave is getting bigger every day."

Daddy's Bedtime Story—The Big Tree That Changed Its Home.

And Dug Away Around It.

"YOU wouldn't think that a big cedar tree that had stood for years in one spot could move to another, many miles away, and continue to live and grow and thrive, would you, kiddies?" asked daddy.

"But that is just what happened, and I will tell you about it. This cedar tree was very tall and noble and majestic, and it was the tallest and the proudest of a number of cedars that grew all around it. It had lived and grown for many years, ever since it first came up out of the ground as a tiny little sprig and fluttered in every light breeze that swept across the grove. But as time went on the little sprig grew stronger and taller till it was a little tree. Then, little by little, it got to be a bigger tree, and then finally it was a really big tree, and then it got to be the biggest tree of any of them.

"It stood in the midst of a stately grove, the tallest among them, what I would call the king cedar. And nobody harmed it, for it belonged to an estate which had men stationed to care for the trees and to see that they were protected from fire and that nobody should come with axes to cut them.

"But one day the man who owned the estate—he was a very rich man, children—came to look at his cedar trees. He had bought another larger estate many miles away and was looking for ways to beautify his new grounds, for the new estate was by the sea, where there were but few trees.

"With this rich man was a famous man whose business it was to beautify grounds and gardens through the country, and they called him a landscape gardener. And the rich man picked out a number of trees he wanted moved till he came to the great big cedar tree that was king of the grove.

"'Can you move that big fellow?' asked the rich man.

"The landscape gardener looked it over. 'To be sure I can!' he replied.

"So the two men went away. And after awhile the landscape gardener returned, and there were other men with him. And they worked on the tree.

"And they dug away down around it, and they had special machinery, and they took it up out of the ground, roots, soil and all, for you see, children, in planting a tree over again you must carry its native soil with it, for in removing it to new ground it won't be healthy and live unless this soil remains with it for a year. And then they loaded the great big tree on a great big carrier, so called, roots, soil and all, and several pairs of horses drew it many miles, and it was planted again, and now it stands in a grove near the seashore in a beautiful town and looks out upon the ocean."

"And I suppose it's king of the trees yet," said Jack.

A BECOMING HAT.

SMART SURPLICE WAIST.

8873

In spite of the vicissitudes of taste, a really good thing, although often superseded by the whim of the moment, cannot long remain in the background. Another evidence of this truth is in the surplice waists that are again in such high favor. Ladies' Home Journal Pattern No. 8873 cuts a very sweet design of this sort, having a chemisette collar to be worn high or low, full-length or short sleeves, and a shaped belt. It can be trimmed to give various delightful effects. Sizes 32 to 42. Size 36 requires 3¼ yards of 27-inch, 2⅝ yards of 36-inch or 2 yards of 42-inch material.

BY MRS. EVA LEONARD

"How grateful we are for all your motherly help," said Nell when she kissed Mrs. Morton goodby. "I hope sometime we can do something for you."

"I'd rather do than be done by," said the old lady with a twinkle in her eyes.

The Ellsons' maid had gone home for a vacation, promising conditionally to return to Nell.

"I hate to spend so much for help." Nell was spending the afternoon with Mrs. Parsons and Dick was coming to tea. Our doctor's bill is appalling. Of course he is not pressing us for the money, but a debt is a debt and it worries me."

"If you would let some of your worries drop you would be able to dispense with the doctor's services."

"Dick wants that above everything and it's the first essential to our happiness, so I am trying to do the sane and wise thing, debt or no debt."

"Has anyone heard how Mrs. Ellson is doing?" continued Nell, picking up the baby.

"She was perfectly well physically and I very much doubt their finding any trace of insanity. She has allowed her hateful, jealous thoughts to dominate her whole life, until she has succeeded in killing out every spark of love the doctor ever had for her. If women would only see that when there are signs of lack of interest the thing to do is to make themselves more interesting. Instead, they either make themselves hideous by crying or show an ugly, jealous temper, creating an atmosphere of suspicion and bitterness that drives all love from them."

"My mother is a very wise woman," said Nell. "She had a long talk with me before I was married; she told me love was a very tender plant and required careful nursing to keep it alive." To which Mrs. Parsons replied:

"If only more mothers were like that! I really think the attitude of most married women is, that their husband's love is their due, that he must give it to them regardless of what they do or say, and they arraign him sharply if he fails to show that love in any way that they consider important. Mrs. Ellson did just that. I think the doctor never gave her any cause for jealousy. We came here about the same time and lived neighbors. They had not been married three months when she became jealous of one of his patients and for no cause that anyone could see. Seven years of that sort of thing would wear out the strongest affection."

"I wonder if there will be a divorce," mused Nell, rocking her baby.

"I hope so," replied Mrs. Parsons.

"Hope so!" echoed Nell.

"Yes, I mean it. I think divorce is a very terrible thing, but there is one thing worse, and that is for two people to continue to live together after all love and respect between them are dead. Notice, I say love and respect."

"They go together, don't they?" asked Nell.

"Not necessarily. I can see how two people might have thought they loved each other and found they were mistaken, but each determines to make the best of it and so they keep a mutual respect for each other and patch up a tolerable life, each respecting the rights of the other." Mrs. Parsons sewed away in silence.

"Would they not love each other under such honest relations?" asked Nell after a pause.

"Not what I call love," answered Mrs. Parsons softly. "With love, every joy is doubled, every sorrow divided. There is unity of aim and companionship in spirit. You understand, for you too are really married."

Household Hints

NOVEL SCRUBBING PAD

Get an ordinary market basket. Have one side and part of each end cut out; glue linen over the raw edges to bind them. Make a cushion for the bottom and secure it with stout cord.

The side of the basket which is left is not high enough to prevent leaning over and working with the arms, but it protects the dress from wet floors, and the cushion protects the knees.

Useful when cleaning floors or kitchen linoleum.

POULTRY HINTS

This is the time of year when you should look for cholera among poultry. Here is a cure:

For fifty or sixty hens and turkeys, take three cups brown sugar; put water with it so as to make syrup; when boiling, add three tablespoons rosin pulverized, three tablespoons alum pulverized, four tablespoons sulphur and two tablespoons (or one-half of five cents' worth) of gunpowder. Let boil till all is dissolved. Mix while hot in a mash made of bran or middlings. If any are so bad they won't eat, put it in their mouths and rinse down. Feed this amount one morning and repeat the next morning.

To keep poultry house from getting lousy, take ashes in a pail or pan and, with a fire shovel, throw them all over, up against roof and sides of hen house and put plenty where chickens will alight in them when they come off from their roost. Wood ashes are better than coal.

A good way to keep track of the date a hen was set is to mark date on several of the eggs.

THE TABLE

Hot Buns for Breakfast—When kneading your bread into the pans, set aside a piece of dough as large as a coffee cup. About 4 o'clock in the evening take a quarter cup sugar, two tablespoons lard, pinch of salt and one teacup warm water. Mix well together with the hands, then thicken with flour as stiff as for bread; knead well and set in warm place. About 9 o'clock, or just before going to bed, form into small cakes about the size of walnuts and place apart in pan. In the morning they should be raised more than double the size. Have your oven hot, and bake twenty or twenty-five minutes. This quantity makes twenty-eight good-sized buns.

Coleslaw—One small head cabbage, two onions, two large apples, one small bunch celery cut fine, salt to taste. Mix one-half cup vinegar, one-half cup sugar, one-half cup milk or cream, one-half cup water and pour over cabbage.

Tapioca Dessert—Put one quart milk in saucepan and let come to a boil, then stir in slowly enough tapioca to thicken, add half cup sugar and one egg well beaten. Let this cook fifteen minutes; remove from stove, flavor with vanilla and let cool. Slice in one or two bananas, serve with whipped cream.

Maple Sugar Cake—One cup sugar, one slightly rounded tablespoon butter, one egg, two-thirds cup water, two tablespoons baking powder, one and one-half cups flour. Icing: One and one-half cups maple sirup; boil until it makes a soft taffy, stir until it begins to grain; spread over cake quickly.

Sugar Pie—One and one-half cups brown sugar, one level tablespoon flour, pinch of salt and not quite one-half cup sweet milk. Line pie plate with rich pie crust, put in dry ingredients, then pour milk over and put little pieces of butter on top; bake till crust is done.

DEATH TO SPOTS

If the articles are very dirty and contain grease spots, dissolve a little strong soap in warm water and mix with it a small quantity of ox-gall; touch over all the spots, and rub them well with a stiff brush until they are entirely removed, after which the garment should be rubbed all over with a brush or sponge and warm water, to which should be added more of the soap and ox-gall. Rinse until the water passes off clean, then hang up to dry.

SERIOUS LOSS OF LIVE IS AVERTED

Wild Scramble in Which Women and Children Participate Caused by Engines.

NO WARNING OF ALARM

Fire Apparatus Dashed Through the Crowd—Presence of Mind by Police Chief Kiely Responsible for Saving Many Lives.

Corroboration of the opinion harbored by many public spirited individuals that a fire tapper is an essential feature at Park avenue and Second street, was never more clearly or forcibly demonstrated than during the incident that occurred after the circus parade had passed that juncture this morning, when the fire apparatus came dashing down Second street unannounced. In answer to an alarm from box No. 41 the headquarters trucks raced down the thoroughfare just as the parade had passed the Park avenue intersection and when a crowd of hundreds of persons and many automobiles and wagons was surging across the street.

That no one was injured or killed appeared as a miracle in the minds of the eye-witnesses. Due only to the presence of mind of Police Chief Kiely was the fact that loss of life was avoided. The department head, single-handed, occupied a point of vantage at the intersection and with sheer human strength and lung power held the big line of automobiles and people in check. His level-headed warnings to drivers of the fire apparatus went unheeded, a fact that has been subjected to much criticism this afternoon. Despite the fact that he entreated the men to slow down at the crowded point where many persons stood unmindful of the danger the firemen ran their vehicles past the juncture at high speed. Several hair-breadth escapes were recorded and the high pitch of indignation aroused was exemplified by the 'phone calls and number of personal messages that have come to the Daily Press office since the occurrence.

Kiely had just dispatched his squad of men to Front street to be ready for the parade at that point when the fire apparatus came through and he was forced to handle the situation single-handed. The fact that no intimation was given of the direction the fire department intended to take, whether they were going to turn into Park avenue or continue straight ahead, added to the excitement and there were many who did not know that an alarm of fire had been sent in, owing to the inability to hear the bells or sirens on the machines above the din of the steam calliope. Had there been a tapper on the corner, or if the discarded fire gong had been in use to make it known that box No. 41 had been called, there would have been some chance for the people on the corner to gain a point of safety.

As No. 1 apparatus came from the West Second street house the herd of twenty-six elephants was directly in front of the place. The fact that Captain Feiring and his men kept their heads and that the circus men held the big pachyderms from stampeding prevented fatalities at this point. Only a narrow space allowed the firemen to turn into Second street from the house after the elephants had been crowded upon the sidewalk and some expert guidance on the part of the driver was necessary.

The consensus of opinion seems to be that the fire department, especially that portion at headquarters, used poor judgment and that the only certain remedy for the prevention or recurrence of the thrilling scene is the installation of a tapper and the return of the gong to a state of usefulness.

RELATIVES TO ATTEND WEDDING IN PROVIDENCE

A. M. Line, of 248 East Front street, left this morning by boat en route to Providence R. I., where he will atend the wedding of his son, Charles H. Line, formerly assistant physical director of the local Y. M. C. A. and a graduate of the Plainfield High School in the class of 1908, which will take place Friday night. Mr. Line was accompanied on the trip by his daughter, Miss Minnine Line, and Miss Viola Garda, of Fanwood.

ALL IN READINESS FOR AMATEUR PLAY

"Father and the Boys" Gives Promise of Being a Real Treat.

Philip Schuyler, as "Tuck Bartholemew," the apostle of manly sports, is absolutely true to life. His description of the race will take the audience by storm. Miss Lamson is impersonating the western girl. Her effect upon father and how it results in changing the lives of other characters in the story will keep the audience "on edge" throughout the entire four acts.

Burnett Doane, as father, the leading character in the play, gives a powerful, masterful interpretation of a splendid part. Harold Williams, as "Billy," next in importance, will charm everyone with his easy, blase manner and fastidious notions.

William Anderson, as "Ford," the lawyer, is especially good, and Jack Britton, in the part of the "Major," a man about town, presents a splendid characterization. Miss Billings, as "an imported matron," is perfect in her part, and with Miss Sullivan, as a second importation, will add much to the charm of the play.

Miss Brownlee, Miss Durar, Miss Dunn, Mr. Meggy, Mr. Westergarde and Mr. Uhler are all taking prominent parts.

APPORTIONMENT OF STATE SCHOOL FUNDS

Union County Will Receive the Sum of $638,422.

Commissioner Calvin N. Kendall, of the Department of Public instruction, has announced the tentative apportionment of school moneys amounting to $9,713,236. The amount is made up of $6,724,413, which will be derived from the State school tax; $2,638,816 from railroad taxes; $250,000 appropriated by the Legislature from the State school fund, and $100,000 appropriated by the State.

Owing to the operation of the new law under which pensions to teachers are paid directly by the State instead of the school district, as heretofore, the apportionment is only tentative. The money will not actually be turned over to the counties until September 1, and in the meantime the total will be reduced by whatever amount is paid out in pensions.

Warrants for the first pension pay roll, being for the month of April, has been sent out from the State Comptroller's office, and if the warrants are signed and returned promptly by the recipient checks will probably be forwarded by the State treasurer next Tuesday. Retired teachers throughout the State have been complaining of the delay in making remittances. It was explained in the State comptroller's office that this was due to the work entailed in putting the new system into effect. Now that the pay rolls have been completed, it is promised that future payments will be made promptly. The pensions for April amounted to something over $12,000.

The tentative apportionment made to nearby counties is as follows: Union, $638,422; Somerset, $237,339; Middlesex, $310,110; Warren, $106,618.

BRIGHT SKIES MAKE IDEAL DAY FOR GREAT CIRCUS--THOUSANDS IN TOWN

There are three particularly happy days in the American calendar—Christmas, Fourth of July and circus day. Of these, circus day is easily the merriest. As if drawn by an irresistible magnet, youth and age respond to the lure of the eductive posters, the same old posters that have charmed and controlled our imagination since boyhood.

In the world's history circuses have always been interesting features in the entertainment of humanity. They bring into each city or town visited an amount of enjoyment for old and young which cannot be calculated. The children are simply wild with delight from earliest dawn of circus day—the eager expectancy of the street parade, home for the hurried dinner, then the show grounds, all the marvelous wonders of the menagerie tent, nothing but joyous merriment clear up to the last act of the enormous three-ringed circus.

And now the day of days has come and joy is unconfined. Also wherever there is a tent flap unconfined there will be joy confined to the boy who can make his entrance unobserved. First there was the parade, oo-o-h what a parade! Just miles of wagons with pictures of ancient warriors and dazzling females on the outside piquing the curiosity to the bursting point as to what was inside. There was a chariot for every nation with the national flags floating and folks dressed up like the natives of each are supposed to dress and sometimes ten horses (two working) drawing it. Russia had a bevy of "Russian" ladies with fur caps and coats carrying white linen parasols and surmount-

SUICIDE LEFT LETTER FOR TEN EYCK BEARDSLEY

Allan D. Weitbrac, a widely-known writer for newspapers and magazines, drank a synanide solution while sitting on a bench in the Central Park ramble yesterday afternoon, and died before the arrival of the ambulance surgeaon. The victim was identified by F. A. Nankivill, an artist of New York, who said that Weitbrec had worked on newspapers in New York and the West, and that the latter had an office near his place of business.

In a letter to the coroner, Weitbrec wrote that no one was to blame for his act, that he was ill, despondent and had no money. Among other letters found in his possession was one addressed to TenEyck R. Beardsley, of Fanwood, who is a practising lawyer in New York. The contents of the letter to Mr. Beardsley were not made known. Weitbrec was a graduate of the University of California.

One of the first engagements to be announced from the debutante ranks in Washington this season was that of Miss Alexandra Cochran Ewing, daughter of Commissioner of Patents and Mrs. Thomas Ewing, and a niece of Mrs. Percy Hamilton Stewart, of this city, to Newbold Noyes. Mr. Noyes, who is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank B. Noyes, of Washington, was graduated from Yale last year. He is a grandson of the late Crosby Noyes, founder and publisher of the Washington Star, of which his father is one of the publishers. Following the family tradition he will take up newspaper work as a profession. The marriage of Miss Ewing and Mr. Noyes will take place in the autumn.

Following closely upon the announcement of the engagement, Mrs. Stewart will give a dinner-dance tonight, at her home on West Eighth street, for her niece, Miss Ewing, and her fiance, Mr. Noyes. About thirty-five guests have been invited to the dinner, and as many more will attend the dance to follow. The guests will all be of the younger set and will include a few from New York city.

SECOND VICTIM OF LINCOLN EXPLOSION

Death of John Werth Follows That of Wm. Murphy as the Result of Burns.

John E. Werth, whose home was at 31 Romney road, Bound Brook, died in Muhlenberg Hospital at 6 o'clock last night, the second victim of the explosion in the plant of the Commercial Acetylene Railway Light and Signal Company at Lincoln on May 11. William Murphy, who was also terribly burned as a result of the accident, passed away in Muhlenberg Hospital, Saturday night, and was buried in Newark yesterday.

Werth seemed to be the least injured of the two when they were first received at the hospital and up until yesterday it was thought he would recover. He was frightfully burned about the head and body and was in great agony until the end came. His condition suddenly became worse late yesterday afternoon, and he died almost before his relatives could be summoned. Werth was thirty-six years old and previous to making his home in Bound Brook had lived at Port Jervis, New York. He was a member of Port Jervis Council, Knights of Columbus, and was very popular with a large circle of friends in that city. He is survived by a wife and three children.

The body was removed to Higgins' Mortuary chapel at 111 West Fourth street, and the funeral will be held there at 5 o'clock this afternoon. Burial will be in the family plot in St. Mary's cemetery, Port Jervis, tomorrow.

The details of the accident which resulted in the death of Werth and Murphy were withheld from the public by the officials of the acetylene company. A Daily Press reporter who talked over the telephone with one of the office staff at Lincoln was told that the people knew nothing of any explosion. The superintendent of the plant was afterward put on the wire and referred the inquirer to the engineering department in New York. When the former was asked direct if the Lincoln people were not in a better position to give facts, he replied:

"The accident did not amount to much and the two men were not badly hurt. We don't know exactly what happened to them here; they were taken away. We are not privileged to give information here and you will have to call New York for anything further."

NOTE FROM GREMANY WILL BE DELAYED

Kaiser Said to Be Wating to See What Action Italy Will Take.

Washington, May 19.—Germany's reply to this government's recent note of protest against the continuance of submarine warfare is to be delayed several days. Ambassador Gerard cabled this information to the State Department from Berlin today. The Ambassador did not explain whether any difficulties have arisen in the consideration of the demands of the United States. It is believed here that the delay is only a natural one by reason of the grave questions raised.

The next few days are expected to decide whether Germany will be confronted with a new military situation by the entrance of Italy into the war and the cutting off of all supplies through the Mediterranean.

Interested diplomatists here believe the interim of delay will reveal whether the United States of its own initiative will send a general protest to the Allies with respect to their alleged violations of international law by interfering with commerce between American ports and neutral countries of Europe.

The Austro-Italian situation may absorb the attention of the German government during this week and delay the final composition of the reply. Such information as the United States government recently has received is of a positive nature, indicating that Italy will soon enter the war, though Austro-German officials here claim to believe that a break will be averted.

FUNERAL OF MRS. WALLS.

The funeral of Mrs. Mary A. Walls, whose death occurred in Muhlenberg Hospital, Monday, was held at the home of her son, Joseph Walls, of Essex street, this afternoon. The service was conducted by Rev. F. L. Greene, pastor of Hope chapel, and was attended by a large gathering of relatives and friends. Many handsome floral tributes were extended by friends of the family. Burial was in Hillside cemetery.

GERMANS SINK ANOTHER SHIP

Although It Had Been Intimated That Submarine Warfare Had Stopped.

GOVERNMENT PUZZLED

Cannot Understand German Front on the Frye Matter in Completely Ignoring American Note of April 28—Seek Explanation.

Cardiff, Wales, May 19.—The British steamer Drumoree, which left Barry yesterday, has been torpedoed in the English Channel. The members of her crew have been saved.

The steamer Drumcree was built in Sunderland in 1905. She was of 2,557 tons net register, and 374 feet long. She was owned in Liverpool.

Washington, May 19.—It had been intimated to high officials here that Germany, without making any official announcement, has in reality called off for the time being her submarine warfare against merchant vessels.

Officials point out that since the suggestions of the German and Austrian embassies here that the submarine program be suspended had reached Berlin and Vienna, there had been no such attacks, although many opportunities had presented themselves.

The sinking of a British merchantman today, however, destroyed the State department's optimism.

It was understood in Washington that, at least while the diplomatic conversations between the United States and Germany are in progress, there would be little fear that any merchant ship would be torpedoed.

But while the State Department was pleased at the friendly outlook on sea attacks it is puzzled by the new Germant front on the Frye matter.

Henry H. Morgan, American consul-general at Hamburg, has cabled the State Department that Germany has completely ignored the American note of April 28 and has placed the William P. Frye case before a prize court.

The State Department immediately cabled Ambassador Gerard, at Berlin, to ask for an explanation.

Officials of the department cannot understand the precipitate action of the German government in failing to answer a formal note from this government before taking an action which this government had specifically protested against. This is particularly strange in the face of strained relations which already exist between the two governments.

Paris, May 19.—The French War Office gave out the following statement this afternoon:

"The bad weather continues. There was no development on the front during the night except cannonades at various points and to the east of the Yser, where two attempted attacks by the enemy were stopped by our fire."

Athens, May 19.—Reinforcements for the Engl-French Allies have been landed at Kum Kale at the entrance of the Dardanelles, says a despatch from Mitylene. The Allied fleet is bombarding all the Turkish forts on the coast of Asia Minor. Adalia Phoenicia and Halecarnasse are being shelled.

Constantinople, May 19.—There was no change Tuesday on the Dardanelles front. Enemy warships unsuccessfully bombarded the Turkish batteries at the entrance. The batteries hit an armored ship. Turkish airmen made a successful flight over Sed Ul Bahr.

Woods, of Caldwell, Idaho, and Frederick Danforth Stover, formerly of Plainfield, but now of New Meadows, Idaho, were married this afternoon at the home of the bride's parents at 822 Belmont street, Caldwell. A large number of invitations were issued for the wedding and reception. The couple will live at New Meadows.

The crack baseball team of Scout Troop No. 2 will play the Bound Brook Scouts on Maurer Oval, Saturday afternoon. The Bound Brook team defeated the Scouts quite decisively at Bound Brook several Saturdays ago and the local Scouts have it in for them. They will place their strongest team in the field and everything indicates a good stiff struggle.

SEWER WORK PROGRESSING.

The sewer trench digger commenced operations on Front street yesterday afternoon, working west from Madison avenue. The streets on the north side of the railroad tracks are getting pretty well cleaned up. In fact, the only streets that remain for the digger to do on the north side after finishing Front street, are Sanford avenue of the Equator tract, Jefferson avenue and Third street, east of Washington avenue. Owing to water North avenue and Bound Brook road will be dug by hand.

The grass is being cut and everything being put into such shape that the residents of the borough can enjoy the shade of the beautiful trees in comfort. Plains & Fanwood.

During the course of his address at the banquet of the Baraca class, of the Baptist church, on Monday night, the Rev. J. Madison Hare touched on several things he would like to see occur in this place, and they have been heartily received by those who heard him. Visitors at the estate of William Cook & Sons, on Springfield road, so far this year, have noticed a number of improvements and the record attendance of last summer bids fair to be eclipsed by a large margin. Growing out of many requests to the place, a perfectly appointed tea room has been opened at one side of the entrance to the grounds. The walls are artistically hungw ith tapestry and over the windows and doors and placed at other points in the room are stuffed animals, ranging from a leopard's head to Egyptian geese, trophies of Mr. Cook's big game gunting expeditions. Attendants are now employed on the grounds to show visitors about the premises. Mr. Cook is constantly adding to his menagerie of wild birds and animals from all parts of the world and the most recent of these is a baby leopard from Africa, which he will try to tame. It is doubtful if there is any such collection as Mr. Cook posseses outside of a zoo and the fact that as many as 5,000 persons have visited the place in a single day shows that the features of the place are widely known.

Mrs. S. Driscoll, 540 West Front street, Plainfield, says: "I had a dull pain across the small of my back and in my sides that clung to me constantly and any hard work made me worse. I was subject to headaches and dizzy spells, especially when stooping or lifting and I felt weak and run down. I used plasters and other medicines, but nothing helped me until I procured Doan's Kidney Pills at Randolph's Drug Store. They made a lasting cure."

ITALY RECEIVES NEW OFFER FROM AUSTRIA

Royal Decree Places All Railroad Lines in Charge of Military Authorities.

Rome, May 19—Foreign Minister Sonnino is reported to have informed the Council of Ministers at its session last evening that offers of additional territorial concessions had been received from Austria.

A royal decree under which all railroad lines and stations in Italy are placed entirely under the supervision of the military authorities is published by the official gazette.

Under the provisions military officials are given power to prohibit suspected persons from traveling on the railroads or even approaching the lines.

All travelers are warned that at certain points they must not look from the carriage windows, but must keep the shutters closed.

Any person approaching a tunnel or bridge will be imprisoned for six months. If war has been declared when the offense is committed they will be court-martialed.

It is said here Austria already has decided to intrust to the United States the protection of her subjects in Italy in the event of war, which is considered inevitable.

Owing to the feeling caused in the United States by the sinking of the Lusitania, Germany is reported to have decided to ask Switzerland to undertake the task for German subjects. It is understood the Swiss minister here already has been unofficially informed the mission would be intrusted to him.

Roumania's attitude regarding the war is being watched with keenest interest, as no official announcement has been made as to whether the cordial relations which always have existed between that country and Italy have been transformed into an actual alliance.

FEW NOW DIE OF OLD AGE.

Why This Is So and Why the Patriarchs Lived So Long.

Scientists who see today how few people live to be 100 years old find themselves at a loss to explain how Methuselah managed to live 969 years, while Noah reached the respectable age of 595 years. Recently, however, a discovery has been made which helps to explain this mystery.

When the causes of short life nowadays are counted up it is found that most of the deaths are due to disease. Very few people die from old age. And the reason why people die from any one disease is that they have been weakened by other illnesses which they have had or which have been handed down to them by their ancestors. For example, one widespread social scourge which weakens the constitution of many men and women today was probably unknown in primitive times.

To some of these diseases the human race has become so accustomed that it is immune. Measles will kill off a whole Indian tribe, but among the white races it is only an annoying childhood malady. But the variations of disease increase far more rapidly than the immunity.

Noah and the patriarchs didn't have nearly as many different kinds of diseases to face because they hadn't had enough ancestors to hand them down a variety. Consequently their constitutions were not constantly being weakened as are ours today. For example, there is no reference in very ancient literatures to a cold in the head. The Greeks and Romans seem to have been the first peoples to suffer from it.

The real reason why the patriarchs lived longer than we do now was because in those days the fount of humanity was fresher. While immunity to certain diseases has been handed down to us by our parents, we have also received the weakened vitality which was theirs as a result of their fight against disease. Sooner or later the race will become immune to tuberculosis, but with that immunity will come the diminished power as a result of mankind's long fight against the white plague.—Washington Post.

NATIONAL OFFICIAL BOOKS.

They Are Named by Colors and Cover a Wide Range of Hues.

British government publications are called "blue books," because they are usually bound in blue paper covers and because blue is the officially recognized color in parliament and law. In a few departments, however, "blue" books are printed in yellow covers to distinguish the department. Diplomatic correspondence with foreign countries and short acts of parliament are often left unbound, or "white," because there is no strict rule for binding any documents less than an inch in thickness.

In addition to the "blue book" there is the "red book." This contains a list of persons who hold appointments. The only other color used by England is black. A black book contains an exposure of some abuse, the name "black book" originating from the famous "black book" compiled in the reign of Henry VIII. to expose the abuses in monasteries.

In France the chief color for government publication is yellow. Although the latest French government report has been called a "black book," in reality it is published in yellow covers. It forms, in fact, one of a long set of "yellow books" which France has been issuing annually ever since the year 1861 upon the affairs of the country for the use of politicians and historians.

The chief color of Russian government publications is orange. Belgium uses gray, Italy green, the United States blue and red, Spain and Austria red and Germany and Portugal white or drab.—New York Press.

"The clock is all right," was the reply. "It's the pendulum that won't go. As soon as I pulled that out the rest went like the very dickens."—Judge.

"Oh, yes!" said the lady without a suggestion of a smile. "A man named Train stopped here at one time."—Yonkers Statesman.

ENGLAND NOW FACES SWEEPING CHANGES

Breach in the British Navy Brings a New Cabinet Into Power.

London, May 19.—The British empire is today facing the necessity of completely reconstructing its government and forming an all national cabinet while it is at war with the most powerful enemy that it ever faced.

Differences between Baron John Fisher, admiral of the fleet, and Winston Churchill, his civilian chief, which ended in Fisher's resignation, brought the crisis.

The Liberal ministry was already weak from a variety of causes—the failure of the Lloyd-George anti-drinking program and the reported inability of the arm to secure needed ammunition, among others.

It is reported today Winston Churchill will not accept a post in the new "national cabinet," but will prefer to go out on active service at the front. He is a major in the Oxford Yeomanry.

These are some of the contingencies with which England is, in consequence, faced today:

Earl Kitchener may leave the War office, to be succeeded by David Lloyd-George, the present chancellor of the exchequer, and go to France to take an active command in the field.

Lord Haldane, the lord chancellor; Lewis Harcourt, the colonial secretary, and Reginald McKenna, the home secretary, probably will resign, to be succeeded in their respective offices by the present lord chief justice, Lord Reading; by Austen Chamberlain, son of the last Joseph Chamberlain, and Unionist leader, and by Andrew Bonar Law, leader of the Opposition.

Both John Redmond, leader of the Irish Nationalists, and Sir Edward Carson, leader of the Ulster Nationalists, may enter the new cabinet as colleagues, the former as secretary of state for Ireland, and the latter in an equally important post not yet in view.

TOMORROW AT 1:30 P. M. I sell the cream of Plainfield's suburban property two blocks north of Clinton Avenue Station.

TOMORROW I am going to play the game like a gentleman, and the "SQUARE DEAL" principle governs.

You need two things in farming; brain and land. The land is waiting for you at CLINTON AVENUE STATION—bring a good brain there and you will find the land cheap.

Do not forget that the value of real estate is measured by its accessibility. Values here will increase and not decrease. 10% is all you need as a deposit; balance on easy payments.

This means that $20 will buy a little farm selling for $200.

This means that $30 will buy a little farm selling for $300.

This means that $40 will buy a little farm selling for $400.

Remember that this is an ABSOLUTE AUCTION SALE—that means that all of the 93 LITTLE FARMS will be sold, absolutely without reserve to the highest bidder, no matter what they bring.

Go Thursday, Friday and Saturday

The sale commences at 1:30 P. M. RAIN OR SHINE under MAMMOTH TENT on the grounds, corner

LESS SALOONS.

Hoboken, as was noted in these columns last night, through its new city commission, is planning to raise the liquor license fee from $300 to $500 a year, and it is expected that this will materially reduce the number of places in the city. Now we are told that Paterson, another municipality notorious for the large number of gin mills, is beginning to see the light, and thirty-three less licenses are asked for this year, than was the case last. There were 497 retail, 25 wholesale and 18 bottlers doing business then. 464 have applied for renewal. Paterson does not reject many applications because of the brewery control of politics, so it a healthy sign when thirty-three less men ask for permits to do business than was the case in 1914.

No doubt, as an exchange suggests, the coming of Billy Sunday had some effect in reducing the number of places, and the movies and business depression may have had something to do with driving the smaller dealers out of business, as is said to have been the case in Trenton.

The financial loss to the city of Paterson in license fees will be about $12,000 this year, but this will be more than offset by the indirect gains in other directions. When we look about us, and see the conditions in the liquor business in other cities it is indeed a pleasure to be able to say that we are residents of Plainfield, where the question is handled as well as it is possible to handle it short of national prohibition.

JITNEYS.

Plainfield has no jitney bus lines, and probably never will have, for the wave is said to be subsiding. Those who started it find that the wear and tear on their cars, coupled with competition which became so general, has knocked all the profit out of the business.

But there is one lesson that it has taught us, and that is that if many men can make a living at five cents a passenger, with uncertain traffic conditions, as has been proven with many of the jitneys, there is no excuse for raising taxi-cab fares, as has been suggested in Plainfield. Twenty-five cents is enough for a fare within the prescribed limits in this city, and any move to raise it will meet with determined opposition.

The jitneys have also taught a lesson to the trolley companies in many cities, and out of it may grow more serious and permanent competition. People have become tired, as the Trenton Times says is that case in that city, of being compelled to go to and from their places of business in overloaded and unventilated trolley cars that are run at irregular intervals. The companies have lost many thousands of dollars by the competition of the jitneys, and with the perfection of the Edison storage batteries they may find that their monopoly is ended.

"No vacation for Senator Martine" says a headline. We always thought that he was so much in love with his work that it was one long vacation from one year's end to the other. Surely he gets plenty of opportunity to make speeches without number, and if there's anything he enjoys better, we don't know what it is.

The United States Navy may be all that the alarmists say that it is not, but an inspection, from a short distance, of the fleet in the Hudson River the last few days leads the average citizen to believe that we are in a position to give a pretty good account of ourselves, if need be.

The Barnes-Roosevelt libel case is the only thing that has succeeded in staying on the front page, from start to finish, since the war broke out. The Metroploitan papers cannot keep Teddy down.

Perhaps something was accomplished in school this morning, but we doubt it. Might as well make it a full holiday next time a big show comes to town.

THE FORUM

An Answer to George I. Sill.

Editor Plainfield Daily Press:

In the editorial columns of the Daily Press for Saturday, May 15, is a severe criticism of Rev. William A. Sunday which not only entirely misrepresents his teaching, but which is erroneous in the extreme. I am, therefore writing this answer to correct any unfortunate impressions which may have been created as a result of this attack.

In the first place, the writer of the editorial claims that Mr. Sunday is "throwing a bluff" or "putting on a front," for the sole purpose of money-making; that he is preaching the Gospel "on the most approved, systematic, financial basis," merely for pecuniary gain. But how can this be? I grant that Mr. Sunday is getting a comfortable living from his work, but at what a cost. Every ounce of energy, every bit of life is poured into his sermons by Mr. Sunday. After his meetings, he is often so exhausted that his weakness overcomes him; he puts his whole soul into his work. This man's very life blood is being sacrificed to save souls. Out for money, sir? If he is out for money-making, why does he not accept the Chautauqua offer which would mean $1,000 a week? Why not in vaudeville for $500 a day? Why doesn't he pose for moving pictures and receive $175,000 a picture? He has been offered that. Oh, no! If he were out for money he could receive three times what he now earns for one-tenth of the effort. And what does he do with much of the money he receives? He gives over one-tenth to the needs of others.

You have chosen, sir, certain extracts "at random" from Mr. Sunday's sermons and have called attention to them as "blasphemous yawps," saying that their author was a "virulent defamer of his fellow men." It is not fair to judge a man in this fashion in-as-much as you omit the context and lose sight of the manner in which the words are spoken, "the inimitable Sunday way." "Blasphemous yawps," sir? Where in any sermon of the evangelist do you find such language as Jesus Christ himself used against sin? You quoted from Mr. Sunday's sermon on "Pharisee and Publican." I will quote from Jesus Christ's sermon to the Pharisees and Scribes:

"Ye blind guides, which strain at a gnat, and swallow a camel."

"Woe unto you, Scribes and Pharisees, hypocrites! for ye are like unto whited sepulchres, which indeed appear beautiful outward, but are within full of dead men's bones and of all uncleanness."

"Ye serpents, ye generation of vipers, how can ye escape the damnation of Hell?"

No, sir, I am not blaspheming. I am wondering how you can criticise Mr. Sunday's language when Christ's teachings contain such passages as these. I did not dig far to find them, either.

You claim, sir, that many are forced to "hit the trail" against their will; that the "barkers" and "pullers-in" force men to go up. You are mistaken. Every man is invited, yes, encouraged to stand firm. But forced? Never. I have seen men go into the tabernacle sullen and antagonistic; I have seen them afterwards go up and shake Mr. Sunday's hand with tears streaming down their faces. But forced! no, never!

"By their works, ye shall know them." The fairest way to judge Mr. Sunday is to consider his results. Testimonies from hundreds upon hundreds of men tell of homes made happier, vice knocked out, saloons closed, after Mr. Sunday's campaigns all over the country. He has driven thousands of saloons out of the United States; he has increased the power of the churches he has visited three hundred per cent. In Paterson alone, at the end of six weeks, Mr. Sunday has driven over one hundred saloons out of business, not only because the saloon keepers have become converted, but because men will not buy their booze.

It is our duty, sir, not to criticise Mr. Sunday in his wonderful work, but to uphold and pray for him, as one man who is following Christ's last wish when he said, "Go ye into all the world, and preach the Gospel to every creature."

HAROLD W. TOMLINSON.

BIG CIRCUS IN TOWN

ing Egypt was Cleopatra so gorgeous she must make Anthony's bones rattle every time she bumps over a crosswalk.

The parade was led by a phalanx of blondes on cream horses, and interspersed along the huge caravan were blondes and brunets with a few titians by way of variety escorted by noble cavaliers.

But though the excitement ran high because of all the joys mentioned there was a riot of ecstacy when a dozen huge cages with sides off rolled by. First came the leopards and their spots, then wolves and tigers and then oh, rapture, somebody down the line shouted "lions." Sure enough, with a gaily dressed guide riding beside them, rode Mr. and Mrs. Lion and what dy'e think, Mr. Lion was asleep. Surest thing you know. His tousled head in a corner and his big paws pointing skyward. "Just like the lazy man," some one with a suffrage button was heard to murmur, and all the time Mamma Lion was doing a marathon around the cage. There panthers and more leopards and another family of lions where Mamma Lion managed to keep her liege lord awake. And then the elephants.

"Keep back, Micky, or they'll getcha," shouted one small kid.

"Naw, dey won't nudder, if ye ain't got no tobaccy widja," was the scornful reply.

There they were, sure as you live, marching just like the animals did going into the ark and each had a red coated and white hatted keeper on his head with a long sharp hook (ugh, betcha it 'ud hurt, gotcha, bet it would). There were 24 of em and they each hung onto the tail of the one in front of them with their trunks. There was on whopper, too, with iron chains on his feet hooking him to those in front and behind and, oh, gee, but they sure were great.

The last thing was the steam piano, and the deluge of the thousands of those who braved the broiling sun and the heat of the pavements and pushed and shoved and oled and ahed while the mile of parade passed by.

The circus is transported this year on four trains, comprising 86 cars which, when stretched out, are over a mile in length. The big top, the largest the Ringlings have ever used, is especially constructed, not only to accommodate the circus with its three rings, stages and hippodrome track but also arranged for the massive spectacle, "Solomon and the Queen of Sheba," which is presented on a stage five times the size of that found in the largest theatre. The Ringling circus is a perfect city in itself traveling every night, making a new city every day and moving with more system, rapidity and less fuss and noise than any branch of the army. To prepare for its coming exactly 106 representatives, each with a various mission to perform, have visited this city.

All of the cooking for this enormous enterprise is done by steam and in ranges built in a wagon weighing six tons and drawn by eight horses. As a mere detail of the marketing the circus consumes daily 4,500 pounds of fresh beef, 300 dozen eggs, 800 pounds of bread, 150 pounds of butter, 150 pounds of coffee, 500 lbs. of sugar and other items equally as large. The first order to the cooks in the morning is for 5,200 griddle cakes and yet, as large a number as this may seem, it is only four a piece. For the stock and animal department there are used daily: 10 tons of hay, five tons of straw, 300 bushels of oats while no well behaved elephant would think of starting his day's labor without his morning cereal—a bale of hay. Most of all these purchases are made from local merchants.

The circus travels on its own trains and only requires engines and crews from the railroads. The show also carries its own blacksmiths, horseshoers, wagon and harness makers, tent makers, rope splicers and a corps of decorators are kept on hand continually touching up the gilded and brilliantly painted tableau wagons and cages. Two men are employed eight hours a day doing nothing else but greasing axles. In the wardrobe department, presided over by Mrs. George Hartzell, known as "the little mother of the circus," nearly 6,000 costumes have to be handled daily and kept in repair. Five dressmakers and six tailors, besides armorers, are in this department. The circus has its own physician who carries with him a complete surgical and medical outfit. There is also a barber shop and, incidently, no driver or man appearing before the public is allowed to leave the show grounds until he is shaved. This also suggests another rule strictly enforced by the Ringling Brothers, which absolutely forbids the use of whips by any of their drivers.

It costs $8,000 a day to run this circus and it represents an investment of nearly $4,000,000. The show maintains winter quarters and shops at Baraboo, Wisconsin, and Stoke-on-Trent, England. The firm is now planning an expedition of its town to trap animals in the jungles of India and the wilds of the Egyptian Soudan. In every part of the world its agents are on the alert to secure novelties.

Starting as mere boys with a borrowed tent in which were given a few juvenile attempts at entertainment, these five brothers have seen their dream realized and have become the master showmen of the world.

The afternoon performance began at 2 o'clock and the big tent was crowded. Opening the bill came the spectacle, "Solomon and the Queen of Sheba." Nothing so richly costumed or so effectively presented has ever been given here before. The opening pageant, the ballot of dancing girls and the dramatic action were veritable surprises. The spectacle was followed by the circus performance in which 400 men and women appeared. More novelties than ever before are presented, the Ringlings having brought from Europe the majority of their people.

The final performance will take place tonight at 8 o'clock, the doors open an hour earlier, allowing time to visit the extensive menagerie and also to enjoy the operatic concert rendered by the military band of eighty pieces.

MISS ANNA TODD IS CHOSEN REGENT

Camp Middlebrook Chapter, D. A. R., Hold Its Annual Meeting.

Election of officers, and reading of reports from the various departments of the chapter took up the main portion of the annual meeting of Camp Middlebrook Chapter, D. A. R., which was held at the home of Mrs. A. L. Pumb, on Union street, Bound Brook, yesterday afternoon. The meeting was unusually well attended, many of the members from this city being included. Miss Anna Todd, of Dunellen, presided at the meeting, and was unanimously re-elected regent for the coming twelve months. The other officers elected were: First vice regent, Mrs. J. H. Vail, of Plainfield; second vice regent, Mrs. Augusta K. Smith, of Somerville; recording secretary, Mrs. W. B. R. Mason, of Bound Brook; corresponding secretary, Miss Gertrude Lane, Somerville; treasurer, Mrs. W. H. Dunham of Bound Brook; chaplain, Mrs. George Stryker, of Bound Brook; historian, Mrs. C. W. Phonae, of Bound Brook, and librarian, Mrs. A. I. Codington, of Bound Brook.

The chapter voted to have a pilgrimage to New York on June 11, to visit the various historical places at that place, including the Cortlandt Home, the Fraunces Tavern, and the Junel Mansion. Following the trip, the guests will be entertained at a luncheon at the home of Mrs. E. C. Wise, a member of the local chapter, but whose home is in New York. The local delegation will make the trip in automobiles.

PROCTOR'S THEATRE

The last change of vaudeville at Proctor's Theatre, previous to the departure from the present policy to that of pho[illegible] will be made tomorrow afternoon. Five specially selected acts will mark the finish of the mixed program. The feature will be Mlle. Louise's Monkey Carbaret., in which twenty-five Simians with almost human intelligence imitate men and women with such aptitude that old and young are delighted. This offering has been imported from Europe and is positively as unique as it is entertaining.

Another big number on the bill will be the four Slickers, two men and two women, in an original conception and have been playing the big circuits all season. A special scenic setting adds to the finish of the act. The Elsie May trio, three girls, also present a singing and dancing act that is sure to please, while further excellence of the bill is assured by the remaining two numbers, Swain Ostman's trio of acrobats, and Gallagher and Martin in a comedy skit.

In addition to the photo-play features that are always a part of the Proctor programs, the patrons will have an extra pleasing number today in one of Charles Chaplin's greatest comedies. It is entitled, "The Fatal Mallet," and the ridiculously funny Charlie does things in it that he never did before. Another of his comedies will be shown Friday, the title not yet having been announced.

Lovers of the dramtic in pictures have a treat in store for them tomorrow, when Clyde Fitche's successful play, "The Straight Road," will be the headline screen attraction. The film is in five parts and is one of the kind that makes devotees settle back in their seats and give their entire attention from start to finish. The succeeding episode of "The Exploits of Elaine" is scheduled for Friday, and the continuation of the newest serial "The Goddess," which began last week, will be offered on Saturday.

U. S. ASTOR THEATRE

Following a private exhibition at the U. S. Astor Theatre of "The New Governor," the five-reel film which under the name of "The Nigger," has created disorder in several cities, more recently in Elizabeth, the Mayor and chief of police of Plainfield declared they would permit a public display of the picture. "The Nigger," which is a stirring visualization of Edward Sheldon's master work which ran an entire year in New York, will open a two-day engagement at the Astor Theatre this afternoon. Although designed primarily as an attack on liquor and its evil influences, the picture shows a free use of firearms in race riots, to which the police chiefs in some cities, especially in the South, have objected.

"The Nigger," as the production was originally called and which is admitted to be a close adaptation of a play of the same name, has been slightly modified since being known under its new title.

One modification is said to have been the elimination of some of the preliminaries to the burning at the stake of the child's assailant. In the original picture, it is said, the lynching, shown in almost all of its fury, even to the flames in the distance, brought closer to the eyes of spectators the mob's preparations of the fire to receive the negro. Against these episodes frequent objection has been lodged by representatives of colored leagues in all parts of the country.

Aside from these two changes the original films could not have portrayed anything more realistic than the race riots, and the frenzy at the discovery that the young Governor of Georgia has negro blood.

The authorities lost no time in informing Frank G. Hall, manager of the Astor Theatre, that the visualization contained nothing offensive to either whites or blacks and that he could give the exhibition. The private exhibition had also been arranged for a delegation of negroes, including clergymen and others who figured in disturbances in Elizabeth and other cities, but no one appeared.

Some time ago a delegation of negroes appealed to the Mayor to use his influence to prevent an exhibition of the pictures in Plainfield. The matters was turned over to the chief of police, and a censor committee consisting of Allen E. Beals, Leslie R. Fort and Dr. J. C. Anderson, who viewed it at a private exhibition.

The authorities indorsed "The Nigger" as a play of exceptional merit to young and old alike with a strong religious significance. They asserted it possessed also powerful educational interest.

REV. WILSON R. STEARLY CHOSEN SUFFRAGAN BISHOP

At the annual diocesan convention of the Episcopal Church in Newark, yesterday, the Rev. Wilson R. Stearly, rector of St. Luke's church, of Montclair, was elected Suffragan Bishop of the diocese. It was the second time that a Suffragan Bishop had been elected. Last fall a diocesan convention elected the Rev. Dr. Alexander Mann, rector of Trinity church, Boston, but he declined the newly created position

Other candidates were Venerable Roy Duffield, Archdeacon of Queens and Nassau, Diocese of Long Island; Bishop Benjamin Brewster, of Western Colorado, and the Rev. Dr. D. Stuart Hamilton, rector of St. Paul's church, Paterson. Mr. Stearly received 65 votes of the clergy and 57 of the laity. On the motion of the Rev. David N. Kirby, of Essex Fells, the election of Mr. Stearly was made unanimous.

Bishop Edwin S. Lines in his annual address pointed out the need of wisdom in the church and touched upon the European war and the perplexities of the nation. He urged spiritual fervor among the clergy, and the people of the country as important to the church and the nation.

ANNUAL MEETING OF WOMAN'S ASSOCIATION

Much interest was manifested in the annual meeting of the Woman's Association of the Congregational church, which was held yesterday afternoon in the parish house. In the absence of the retiring president, Mrs. C. L. Goodrich, Mrs. H. B. Hubbard presided at the meeting. The reports submitted by the various committee chairmen were most encouraging, each telling of the splendid work the organization has been doing the past year. The following officers were elected for the coming twelve months: President, Mrs. J. M. Whiton; vice-president, Mrs. H. B. Hubbard; recording secretary, Mrs. Thomas F. Hylan; corresponding secretary, Mrs. C. A. Rice; treasurer, Mrs. Philip Suffern.

Following the routine business a social hour was enjoyed during which refreshments were served by Mrs. Frank Weeks.

PRESENT D. L. COLEMAN WITH EMBLEMATIC RING

The monthly meeting of Queen City Homestead, No. 4998, Brotherhood of American Yeomen, was held in the Exempt Firemen's Hall, at 109 Park avenue, last night, a large number of the members being in attendance. District Deputy W. T. Morgan presided at the routine business, following which a social and refreshments were enjoyed.

A feature of the gathering was the presentation by W. T. Morgan, on behalf of the members of the Homestead, of an emblematic gold ring, to Honorable Foreman D. L. Coleman. The occasion was the forty-fifth anniversary of Mr. Coleman's natal day and the gift was a complete surprise to him. He responded, thanking the members.

PHI PI PSI SOCIETY GUEST OF H. NEWTON SPENCER

H. Newton Spencer, of Grove street, entertained the members of the Phi Pi Psi, of the borough, at his home last night, at the monthly meeting of the organization. A business meeting, over which President P. D. VanMater presided, was held after which the usual "feed" was enjoyed.

Those present were Ralph Smalley, Charles Beckman, Duclos VanMater, H. N. Spencer, Frank Dunning, Franklin Lowe, Roy L. Love and Ashley Burner.

North Plainfield High School lost her second match in the interscholastic tennis championship to Plainfield High School, yesterday afternoon, on the Park Club courts by a shutout score of 4-0.

Captain Dall and Parvin, of Plainfield, defeated Captain Tomkinson and Dunning in the doubles, two straight sets, 6-2, 6-4.

Chandler, of North Plainfield, and Blanchard, of the city team, furnished the only excitement in the match, when Chandler pushed Blanchard hard for the third set, after the Plainfield man had taken a 6-2 beating in the second set, and had won the first by a 6-4 margin. Blanchard won.

The two captains were to come together for the second choice singles match, but it was rendered unnecessary, Plainfield's 3-0 lead being impossible to overcome in the remaining two matches.

SECOND INTERSCHOLASTIC COURT MATCH OF WEEK

In a return match on the Park Club courts, the North Plainfield High School and Leal School tennis teams will meet in an interscholastic match for the city title and possession of the Collier Trophy. In the first matches the private school boys took a doubles and singles match, while the maroon and black players copped two singles. Although there is at present some dispute regarding the scoring of matches, Leal was awarded the match at the time, 3 to 2, putting them in the lead in the league.

The teams will be composed of the following players: Leal, Lyon, Stewart and Garrigues; N. P. H. S., Tomkinson, French, Chandler, Dunning and Ball.

ROD AND REEL

Working out plans that will make it possible for a Jerseyman to catch in the streams and lakes of his own State many varieties of the great games fishes of America, the New Jersey Fish and Game Commission is arranging for the introduction of the famous Chinook salmon into New Jersey waters. This kingly inhabitant of Pacific coast rivers, the Federal Bureau of Fisheries has demonstrated, can be transplanted to deep water interior lakes and within the last few years remarkable success has been attained in stocking New England ponds with the Chinook, with the result that Yankee anglers this season are catching many of these big fish.

That New Jersey has many lakes in which the salmon would flourish is the belief of the State Commission and President Ernest Napier is arranging with Commissioner W. I. Finley, of Oregon, for the first shipment of 500,000 Chinook eggs to the New Jersey hatchery at Hackettstown. The young salmon will be reared at the big hatchery until they are large enough to care for themselves and then will be liberated in public waters.

The acme of all angling is salmon fishing, but it is a sport heretofore enjoyed only by the few with the big pocketbook and the time necessary to seek out the Western streams where the big fish run. In the very near future this royal sport will be within the reach of every holder of a New Jersey fishing license, and at a minimum expenditure of time and money.

Other fish, new to this region, which the New Jersey Commission plans to rear this season for restocking purposes, are the celebrated Loch Levin trout, of Scotland, and the giant steelheads—the sea-running varieties of the rainbow trout. It is the policy of the New Jersey Commissioners to make every available stream and lake a source, not only of sport, but of food supply for the average citizen. The results attained with the big hatchery at Hackettstown in operation only two years have made a New Jersey fishing license, costing residents only $1.15 and non-residents $2.15, a permit to enjoy some of the finest fishing to be had in America. Thousands of New Jersey fishermen, especially in the rural communities, can now find within a half hour's ride by train or trolley, one or more well-stocked streams. To enjoy the varieties of angling sport which his own State now offers him, the Jerseyman heretofore had to go to Canada or some equally distant territory.

Rainbow trout, brook trout, brown trout, land-locked salmon, various kinds of bass, white perch, yellow perch, crappie, pike and pickerel are the chief of New Jersey's game fishes that now offer the angler a choice to suit any whim of the fisherman. And so great is the output of fish that can be produced at the new hatchery that within a few years the State will be able to boast of waters that teem with fish like the streams of an untapped wilderness.

Sportsmen can gain some idea of what the Fish and Game Commission has planned for the coming year from the records available at the Hackettstown hatchery. Heading the list are 8,000,000 eggs of the yellow perch and 6,000,000 eggs of the white perch hatching or to be hatched this year. Hundreds of thousands of brook and rainbow trout eggs have been hatched each month during the winter and early spring.

More than sixteen and a half millions of fish were distributed in New Jersey streams under the direction of the State Fish and Game Commission during the twelve months ending January 1, 1915. This is the most extensive restocking work ever attempted in this State, but it will be surpassed, the commissioners assert, by the records of the coming year, during which time the big fish hatchery at Hackettstown will be in full operation. The varieties of fish and approximate numbers of each that were handled by the State hatchery were: Perch, both yellow and white varieties, 13,000,000; brook trout, 773,500; rainbow trout, 116,700; land-locked salmon, 98,400; black bass, 8,528; pickerel, 5,548; crappie, 8,085; catfish, 5,026; bait fish, 10,000; pike perch 2,500,000.

Four Newark anglers took a trip to Green brook, near Scotch Plains, for trout, yesterday morning, and returned home with a nice mess. They were Fred Rohleder, William Sorge, George Loeffler and William Diehl.

THE most spectacular feature of the Penn relay races at Franklin field, Philadelphia, recently, was the finish of the two mile championship relay. This race was a struggle between Princeton, Chicago and Yale pretty much all the way. In the final relay McKenzie was running for the Tigers, Campbell for the Illinois institution and Poucher for the Elis. When they turned into the stretch the Yale runner was in the lead. McKenzie put every pound of energy in his body into the sprint and forged to the front, with the Chicago runner at his heels. The Tiger appeared certain to win, although pushed hard by Campbell. But McKenzie was almost exhausted, and just as he reached the tape, with the western runner by his side, he plunged headlong across the finish line.

The crowd cheered wildly and then awaited the verdict of the judges. It was that McKenzie's heroic plunge had carried him across first by a fraction of an inch, and Princeton was the winner. When the time was announced and it was seen that it was only a little above the world's record of 7 minutes 53 seconds and set new collegiate figures the spectators nearly went wild.

AN EVEN TRADE.

It Wasn't Made Simply Because the Law Wouldn't Allow It.

A traveling salesman for a Gansevoort street wholesale grocery firm, recently back from a trip through rough lands of a neighboring state, tells this possibly true tale:

"One day on my last trip I had a six mile ride to make to the county seat, and the small village in which I was had only one horse that I could hire and no other form of conveyance. I may say that a friend had landed me in the town that morning from his car, and I had sold goods enough to pay the expenses of the trip.

"Well, I got away on the sorriest specimen of a horse I ever straddled, and I was to send him back by the mail carrier, though not as a parcel post package. It took me two hours to cover the distance—I was sorry enough I hadn't walked—and as I passed the county jail on my old bag of bones a face grinned at me from between the bars of a small square window. I was too sore to smile, but I nodded to the grin, and the prisoner called to me:

"'Say, mister,' he said, 'how'd you like to trade that critter for thirty days in jail?'

"Just then I would have been glad enough to have traded, but the law wouldn't let me, and I rode on."—New York Sun.

THE THIRD NAPOLEON.

Spicy Pen Picture John Hay Drew of the French Emperor.

One of the best things John Hay ever wrote, says William Roscoe Thayer in his presentation in Harper's of Hay's unpublished diaries, is this pen portrait of Napoleon III.:

"Short and stocky, he moves with a queer, sidelong gait, like a gouty crab; a man so wooden looking that you would expect his voice to come rasping out like a watchman's rattle; a complexion like crude tallow—marked for death whenever death wants him to be taken some time in half an hour or left, neglected by the skeleton king for years perhaps, if properly coddled.

"The mustache and imperial which the world knows, but ragged and bristly, concealing the mouth entirely, are moving a little nervously as the lips twitch; eyes sleepily watchful—furtive, stealthy, rather ignoble, like servants looking out of dirty windows and saying 'Nobody at home,' and lying as they say it.

"And withal a wonderful phlegm! He stands there as still and impassive as if carved in oak for a ship's figurehead. He looks not unlike one of those rude inartistic statues. His legs are too short, his body too long. He never looks well but on a throne or on a horse, as kings ought."

Conserving the Joy of Life.

The most hopeful feature of the development of a new attitude toward youth is the willingness to conserve the spirit of the joy of life—the great gift which youth has to offer to life. To youth has been given this great joy of life, and it is the right of the individual to carry its spirit on into age making it fuller and deeper as the years roll on. The new movement is asserting the right of youth to its joy, recognizing that this is the creative force which will raise life from a dull level. It means less of the disenchantments of age, a keeping alive of the glow of life, cultivating an ever deepening optimism, so admirably expressed by those simple lines of Browning:

Grow old along with me,
For the best is yet to be.

—George F. Kearney in Forum.

Making a Changeless Ink.

In shops where it is damp or chemical fumes are present it is usually difficult to cause labels to stick to bottles or cans. An ink for use on such containers is made as follows: Shellac, 20 grams; dissolve it in a hot solution of borax containing 30 grams of borax to 400 cubic centimeters of water; filter while hot and add a solution made of aniline black, 8 grams; tannin, 0.3 gram; picric acid, 0.1 gram, and ammonia, 15 grams, in water, 10 grams.

It will be found that this ink works nicely and resists the usual chemical and corrosive fumes.—Cincinnati Commercial Tribune.

Golf Ball's Strange Flight.

That a golf ball does not travel in a parabolic curve was asserted by Professor C. Vernon Boys during the trial of a patent suit in the British chancery court. Professor Boys, who had been called as an expert on ballistics, described experiments he had made with mechanically propelled golf balls and said that these when driven hard more than counteracted the attraction of gravity. "A good flight," he said, "is very nearly straight for a long time, then gradually rising and then falling."

Aztec Emeralds.

Among the Aztec treasures of Mexico were found many fine emeralds. They were exquisitely cut, and it is from this source that the magnificent emeralds now forming part of the royal collection of Spain were supposed to have come.—Exchange.

Imagination.

"A poet needs a great deal of imagination."

"Yes; if he really waded around in the wet grass looking at sunrises and listening for robins he wouldn't last long enough to write much poetry."—Washington Star.

NORTH BEACH GIRL DIES IN MUHLENBERG HOSPITAL

Miss Alice Schlipp, aged fifteen years, whose home was at North Beach, L. I., died in Muhlenberg this morning following an operation for an abscess. The girl had been ailing for sometime and came to Scotch Plains four months ago for a visit at the home of his sister, Mrs. LeRoy Peek, of Front street, in the hope that the change might prove beneficial. She continued to grow worse and was removed to the hospital on May 5.

Beside Mrs. Peek, the young woman is survived by her mother, two sisters and a brother, all of whom reside at North Beach. The body will be taken to the latter place for the funeral and interment. The death is an especially sad one and the sympathy of the Scotch Plains residents has been extended to Mr. and Mrs. Peek. The former is employed in this city and is a member of the well-known Peek family, manufacturers of pianos.

THE MASTER MIND

Novelized by Marvin Dana, author of "Within the Law," from the successful play by Daniel D. Carter

Copyright, 1913, by the H. K. Fly company.

CHAPTER XIII.

An Admission.

MARSHALL, the detective, attempted a diversion and replied to Andrew:

"You can hardly expect me to place much confidence in the statement of a person who is a total stranger to me," he objected.

"Of course, sir, it is true that I am practically a stranger to you," Andrew admitted without the change of a note in his monotone to give warning of the supremely audacious speech to follow. "You've known me only since Mr. Wainwright told you who I was a few minutes ago. But I have known you for a long time, sir."

The detective glared with round eyes at this amazing man, who dared flaunt the helplessness of the law in its very face.

"Oh, you have, have you!"

"Yes," came the placid answer. "You were an obscure detective when you recovered those bonds in the Fourth National bank case. Your present excellent position is really owing to that besides the medal you received at the time and also the $10,000 reward paid to you. But through it all you said nothing of the anonymous note you received advising you of the facts in the case and giving you explicit directions as to how to capture Denver Jones."

Marshall sat spellbound.

"Then it was you who sent the letter?"

Andrew bowed.

"I simply mentioned it, sir," he continued sedately, "in order to show you that when I give information my motives are by no means always selfish. Good night, sir." The butler's voice was still that of the excellent servant trained to a becoming humility. But before he had reached the door he was arrested by the voice of the detective.

"One minute. Why did you double cross Denver Jones, and what made you pick me for that Fourth National capture?"

"Well, you see, sir," the Master Mind explained blandly, "Jones had the misfortune to offend me. Besides, sir, I knew that on account of your success in this case you would be promoted to a high place in the detective service, and as I was then situated it was not well for me to have skillful men in high places. Good night, sir."

Marshall was at pains presently to seek Wainwright, whom he found on the point of retiring, and to make known the information he had received from Andrew concerning the projected burglary. It was agreed between them that the detective should maintain a strict secret watch over the whole establishment throughout the night, with the twofold object of being ready for any move on the part of the sender of the black card and of foiling the expected effort of the robber against the jewels in the safe.

Wainwright was to hold himself in readiness for a summons at any time, but chose not to share directly in the watch. It seemed certain to both men that the Master Mind would be aware of their conference. Undoubtedly he had intended that his announcement of the visit from a thief should be passed on to Wainwright, as it had been. Yet the exact reasons for his course defied analysis.

Meanwhile Lucene was in despair because of the desperate situation with which she was confronted. A just judge must have taken into consideration her youth and inexperience, her feeling of devoted gratitude and reverence for the man who guided her choice, and the judgment must have been lenient, though it might find her guilty. But she had no mercy toward herself. She had come to know the truth at last—the truth she had voiced to the Master Mind—that it is impossible to build happiness on lies. She had lived a lie, for the hoodwinking of the man who loved her, who had honored her above all women, who had given into her keeping his honor by making her his wife. Thus she had foully betrayed his faith. Whatever the penalty for truth at the outset, the truth should have been told. She understood now. Her conscience had warned her. She had stifled conscience at the dictation of the man whom she esteemed for his goodness to her, Andrew. Now realization of her passive guilt was fully hers. But the ruin had been wrought. It was too late to undo the evil accomplished by her treachery. There was nowhere any hope of redemption. She had sinned; she must do penance with a life of agonized mourning for the bliss she had lost. There was left to her only the ability to spare her husband in some measure. That she must do, though her heart break.

It was just five minutes before the hour of 2 when Andrew, in his cupola room, extinguished his light, which had shone from the tower windows like a beacon. Creegan, lurking within the shadows of clustered shrubberies a hundred yards from the mansion, heaved a sigh of relief. Then, as the calm of the place remained unbroken, he began stealthily to make his way toward the massive bulk of the house.

Marshall had established himself in a window seat of the library, from which he had an extensive view of his surroundings.

Farther down the room toward the rear, the alcove, in which was the safe, showed its draperies of portieres along the line of the opposite wall. Facing him, a little further toward the front, was the wide doorway into the hall, through which was to be seen a part of the stairway. The softly burning hall light cast its illumination over the stairs and hall itself, and shone through the doorway into the library, though the radiance here was dimmed so that objects were only barely visible in shadowy wise. From time to time the detective had undertaken a cautious round of the house to make sure that nothing of a nefarious sort was anywhere under way. But as the appointed hour of Andrew's promised burglary approached he held his position immovably in the window seat, where the drawn hangings hid him well while permitting his espionage. Then a faint sound from the stairway caught his ear, and he peered forth in anxious expectancy.

Presently a soft noise near at hand caught the attentive ear of the detective. A gentle creaking sound followed and Marshall was speedily aware, out of his professional experience, that the window further down the room was being skilfully opened.

Then, after an interval of silence, a pencil of light, the beam of an electric torch, shone from between the hangings of the rear window. The light moved slowly to and fro, taking its survey of the room with a leisurely thoroughness that again provoked Marshall to appreciation of the marauder's adept methods. Then, at last, the radiance rested for a second time on the alcove, and there continued for an appreciable period. The light vanished. There was no sound, but Marshall knew that the thief was stealing on silent feet through the shadows of the room, that he had come to the safe, that he was ready to—yes, a glow of light became faintly visible within the recess.

The detective prepared for action by pulling a blackjack from his pocket. He parted the curtains, and would have issued from his retreat, when again his attention was held by a wisp of sound. He waited, in tense silence, his eyes roving, for he was uncertain as to the direction whence the noise had issued. Then his glance caught sight of a form moving slowly on the stairway. In the first instant he perceived with a start of astonishment, that the new intruder on the scene was a woman, in the next, as the face was lifted so that the feeble light of the hall lamp fell full on it, he recognized Mrs. Wainwright, and his earlier feeling of surprise was lost in total dismay.

For the woman's manner was plain proof of guilt—of what guilt the spying man could hazard no guess, but guilt none the less. Her gait was not merely slow, it was stealthy, with the awkward stealthiness of one wholly unaccustomed, and the gaze that darted here and there so hurriedly was furtive, laden with fear of discovery. These evidences were re-enforced by the shudder that now and again shook her visibly. Marshall was appalled by this latest development in the mystery that beset the man he sought to serve.

The soft gleam in the alcove became discernible to her. At first glimpse of it she halted, and a smothered gasp of terror broke from her lips. She stood rigid, looking straight before her with dilated eyes. Then, at last, she swayed a little, tensed swiftly and went forward again. When she was come to the alcove she pushed the draperies apart and resolutely stepped within.

The portieres closed behind her. Marshall crushed back an oath of amazement.

Yet for a brief season the detective was held inactive by stark bewilderment. Then, to his astonished ears came a hushed sound of whispering from beyond the curtains of the alcove. It was incredible, monstrous, that this should be. Nevertheless, the truth was palpable. There was no outcry, no shriek for help from the woman, no flight by a safety seeking housebreaker. Instead there was only whispering, this secret conference in the dead of night between the thief and the mistress of the mansion. Suddenly another idea flashed in his brain, impelled him to immediate endeavor: Was it necessary, after all, that Wainwright himself should ever know the whole hateful truth? Perhaps, even, there might be some explanation of the wife's guilt that fell short of infamy.

Firm of purpose at last, Marshall crept slowly across the room to the alcove. Now he could hear the two within more plainly, and he listened eagerly, but the words were unintelligible. Convinced that longer effort at eavesdropping would avail naught, the detective, with his weapon ready, put forth a cautious hand and parted the draperies.

Of Interest to Women and the Home

VOTES FOR WOMEN

Conducted by the Equal Suffrage League of Plainfield and North Plainfield.

Phoenix, Ariz.—Close attention paid by women to legislation since they were granted full suffrage in this State two years ago, together with the strengthening interest manifested by women all over the State in public affairs, is looked upon generally as evidence that they regard the new responsibility seriously. Two women now are members of the State Legislature, seven are county school superintendents, and it is conceded that the votes of women contributed largely to carrying through the amendment to the Constitution eliminating the liquor traffic in Arizona. Women's organizations are studying public questions and political science from a non-partizan standpoint, and the "parliamentary drill" is a general club feature. Department clubs are emphasizing civics and in Phoenix one club devotes itself entirely to the study of civic questions; this winter it is examining into the laws that apply especially to women and children.

It may be regarded by many as significant that the prediction that if Arizona went dry business would be irreparably injured has not been verified. With the exception of those who were engaged in the liquor traffic, business men assert that their business has increased and that collections have improved. Many who were bitterly opposed to the amendment now declare unqualifiedly that if the issue is ever again submitted they will champion the cause of prohibition.

The exercise of the rights of full citizenship, it is declared, has not made the Arizona woman less womanly or interfered with the performance of her domestic duties, but has given her the power to carry her ideals beyond her home.

Because of the fact that Arizona's electorate is comparatively small, it is easier to trace the work of the woman voter than otherwise might be the case. Before the last general election—the first one in which they exercised their newly acquired right—the question of how the women would vote perplexed many office-seekers. The fact that a candidate had or had not supported the suffrage amendment was made campaign material. Women were shown every attention; all parties endeavored to win the feminine vote; their indorsement of candidates and measures was eagerly sought, and an invitation to speak before any organization of women was welcomed by candidates for local or State offices. They were given places on both State and county tickets, selected as campaign speakers and invited to preside at public meetings. Few women, however, aspired to public office. Mrs. Frances Willard Munds was elected State senator from Yavapai county and Mrs. Rachel Berry representative from Apache county, and seven of the possible fourteen school superintendents elected were women.

The deference shown toward the women members of the Legislature is noteworthy. Mrs. Munds, as senator, was called to the chair on two occasions in committee of the whole when important matters were under consideration. She was roundly applauded the first time and persistent cries of "Speech, speech!" came from every quarter of the Senate chamber. But with vigorous raps of the gavel she secured order and proceeded with business. She has stated clearly that her principal aim in seeking the office she now fills was to "blaze the trail" for those who will follow and to encourage women to take an active interest in public affairs, becoming a power for good in this way. She owes her election to the loyal support of the women of her county.

Mrs. Munds was chairman of the committee on education and public institutions and a member of the public health and land committees. She introduced bills indorsed by the State Federation of Women's Clubs relating to social and moral questions, and others indorsed by the State Teachers' Association relating to schools.

Mrs. Berry, member of the House of Representatives, was a member of several important committees and introduced a number of measures in which women were particularly interested.

The women of Yuman county were the first to demonstrate the power of the ballot when, a few months after the acquisition of suffrage the members of an influential women's club circulated a recall petition against a county superintendent. They won the contest and Miss C. Louise Boehringer was elected. Her work, especially as it applies to rural schools, has attracted wide attention among educators.

Daddy's Bedtime Story—The Black Faced Puppy and the Cross Old Gander.

With Great Hissing and Flapping His Wings.

"ONCE there was a wriggly, wiggly black faced puppy and a cross old gander," said daddy. "But really I mustn't speak of the gander yet. It would be getting ahead of my story, and you like to hear a story told right through, don't you, kiddies?

"This black faced puppy was the funniest puppy you ever saw. He had the silliest face, good natured, but silly, and he had a black nose, and his face was black, and the rest of him was yellow. And he was the most mischievous puppy, and when you had caught him in mischief he would sit up and open his mouth and run his red tongue out and smile at you.

"And when you had caught him in more mischief than usual he would all scrooch down, with his stomach near the ground, and fawn at you and wag his tail very slowly and look very sorrowful. That was his way of begging not to be punished, don't you see, and he would look so sorry that his owner couldn't seem to help but laugh, and the bad dog would not be punished. Then he would caper and hop and jump and run around and look happier and sillier than ever, and he would at once get into more mischief.

"Dear me, the mischief that dog used to get into! He should have been whipped often. He would do all sorts of tricks—steal your rubbers and bury them with his bones, go into stores and take things and bring them home and look happy as if he expected to be praised, and I can't begin to tell you of all the mischievous tricks that black faced puppy did.

"He had one trick that was very naughty indeed. He chased the hens that belonged to his master, and because he was afraid that harm would come to the biddies the black faced puppy's master used to whip him sometimes. The black faced puppy would take his whipping, and then the next time he got a chance he would chase the hens again.

"But one day the black faced puppy's owner brought home a flock of different hens than the black faced puppy had ever seen, for you see, kiddies, they were not hens at all. They were geese, and one was a cross old gander.

"The black faced puppy was so silly that he didn't know a hen from a goose, and he didn't know a gander from a goose, either. So he put after the geese, thinking he would chase them.

"And then up came that cross old gander, with a great hissing and flapping his wings, and he pecked the black faced puppy. And the puppy yelped and ran away as fast as he could leg it, with the cross old gander after him. And, would you believe it, the black faced puppy never chased a hen again."

BY MRS. EVA LEONARD

"Nell," said Jo Parsons, bursting into the kitchen where Nell was washing dishes, "Mrs. Ellson is back home. I saw her in the yard this morning. I wonder what that means."

Nell had turned to prop the baby up in his buggy and did not look up for a minute. When she did her friend laughed and said: "You look as if a blow had fallen."

"It has. That woman oppresses me; I hoped she had gone for good. Dick can find out from the doctor what it means."

That evening the doctor's auto stopped in front of the house. Don't you want to go for a little ride, Morton? I want your advice on a matter," he said, as Dick sauntered down to the gate.

"I hope you will find out what the prospects are for getting rid of her," whispered Nell, as Dick kissed her goodby.

"Morton," began the doctor, when the village streets were behind them, "I suppose you know Anna came back last night."

"Yes, Nell told me this noon." Dick was gazing far ahead.

"I had hoped the thing could be settled quietly and out of court, but it seems that is impossible. When the doctor informed me that there was no insanity, although there was an unbalanced condition, I wrote to her and proposed that we live apart for a year or an indefinite period. I was to send her half my income and allow her to take the furniture if she cared to do so. She agreed to this, and I was preparing to send on the goods when she descended upon me without warning. She says she will expose me before the town and country, that she will ruin my practice, and, worst of all, that she will sue for divorce, bringing your wife's name before the gossiping public. And I do not know what I can do to stop it."

Dick was silent for a minute. "Can't you head her off by suing for divorce yourself?"

"She would file a cross-petition or appear against me, and in either case the publicity would be the same. I would not mind so much for myself, but to have your wife, the innocent bystander, dragged in, completely unnerves me."

"Everyone in town knows her," said Dick. "She can't hurt Nell or you either with her lies. Of course it will be very disagreeable, but—."

"I am not so sure about the country people, where I am but slightly known, and Mrs. Morton is not known at all. I could stand a mud bath if I did not have to drag your wife in too."

"You can't buy her off in any way?" asked Dick uneasily.

"I've tried everything, and everything alike has failed."

The two men rode on in silence for a while. The stars pricked points of light in the somber sky and a clear crescent hung over the trees.

"She threatens to send letters to all my patients, telling them of my supposed infidelity. She has the books in her possession, so she can get all the addresses," continued the doctor.

"Can't she see that if she lessens your income she lessens your power to support her?" asked Dick.

"She seems to care more for revenge than money. She declares she will not stop till she has driven me out of town."

"You can prove what she says is a lie, but you know that will keep her from getting a decree, and you want the divorce."

"I shall file a cross-petition, for I shall have to appear against her to clear your wife's name."

"Poor Nell," whispered Dick under his breath.

Household Hints

A TOOTHSOME DINNER

Mock Turtle Soup—The material for this soup is one turkey carcass, two tablespoonfuls of flour, two tablespoonfuls of butter, one pint of tomatoes, two eggs (hard boiled), one lemon, allspice, pepper, salt, celery, parsley, wine or good vinegar to taste. Instead of a turkey carcass two chicken carcasses or a calf's head may be used. Cover the meat with cold water, boil until meat falls from the bone. Put through chopper. Brown the flour in the butter, add tomatoes (strained), eggs, sliced lemon, celery, spices and parsley to taste.

Oysters and Potato Balls—Boil a kettle full of potatoes with jackets on and let stand until the following day, so as to allow them to become firm, the next day peal and grate them and fry in rather deep lard. Allow the lard to become smoking hot, then turn in the grated potatoes, sprinkle two tablespoonfuls of flour on them, enough salt and pepper to suit the taste. While stirring them they will form into little balls; fry good and brown. For the oyster dressing, take one quart of oysters, add one cup of vinegar, one-half cup of catsup, salt and pepper to suit the taste. Pour this over the potato balls. Serve the oyster dressing in little bowls and as the potato balls are served, each one pours the dressing over.

Welsh Pastry—Roll out a good sized piece of pastry and put in center a thick layer of sliced (fine) onions, then a layer of sliced raw potatoes, then about a pound of raw chopped beef, season. Turn over the pastry like an apple turnover, press down around edges and bake slowly about three-quarters of an hour.

Egg and Tomato Salad a la Brighton—Hard boil four eggs, remove from shells, cut in halves crosswise, and remove yolks. Remove a slice from end of each cup thus made so that they will stand upright. Fill cups with the following: Wipe and pare a cucumber, cut in tiny cubes, to make one-half cupful. Add two tablespoons of chopped sweet cucumber pickles. Arrange lettuce leaves on plates, on lettuce place a thick slice of tomato and upon this the filled egg cup. Mash yolks of eggs and moisten with salad dressing until tin enough to suit. Garnish tops of egg cups with this mixture and diamond shaped pieces of cucumber.

Whipped Cream on Chocolate Muffins—One-half cup sugar, one-quarter cup butter or one heaping tablespoon; two eggs; three teaspoons (heaping) cocoa, dissolved in hot water, making a smooth paste; one cup good, sweet milk, one and one-half cups flour, one teaspoon baking powder, vanilla. Stir up as you would cake and bake in muffin tins one-half hour in oven as for cake, and eat warm, not hot.

SIMPLE CAKES

Economy Cake—Two cups granulated sugar, two cups water, one tablespoon lard, one cup seedless raisins, one teaspoon ground cinnamon, one teaspoon ground cloves, one-half teaspoon salt. Boil ingredients five minutes; when quite cold, add one teaspoon baking soda, stirring well; three cups sifted flour and small quantity of grated orange or lemon rind. Bake in moderate oven from forty to fifty minutes. This cake improves with age.

Delicious Cake—Mix to a cream one and one-half cups sugar and two-thirds cup butter; add whites of five eggs beaten to a stiff froth. Stir and beat until light as foam, then add one-half cup cornstarch dissolved in a little sweet milk. Stir in a scant two-thirds cup sweet milk and two and one-half cups sifted flour into which two teaspoons baking powder have been sifted. Add one teaspoon vanilla flavoring. For icing boil one and one-half cups sugar in one-half cup water until it threads, then pour it on an egg white which has been beaten stiff; add one teaspoon orange or lemon flavoring and beat until almost cold.

White Cake—Put whites of two eggs in a cup, then put in enough of melted butter to make a half cup, and fill with milk. Have in mixing bowl one cup sugar, two cups flour, one and one-half teaspoons baking powder. Flavor, then pour in the cupful, beat five minutes and bake in moderate oven.

For the Kiddies

Here are shoes that let the children's feet grow naturally—the sturdy, healthy way that means comfort now and in later years as well.

There are no nails in Trot-Mocs; they are even sewn around the heels. Easy on feet, floors or furniture.

Trot-Mocs dry out soft and flexible after wetting, not stiff and apt to crack like regular shoes.

SUDDEN DEATH OF W. J. R. HEGEMAN

Well Known Borough Resident Succumbs to Stroke of Paralysis.

A CIVIL WAR VETERAN

Took Part in Historic Battle of Mobile Bay—Connected with Lackawanna Railroad Quarter of a Century—Leaves Three Sons.

William J. R. Hegeman, a well-known resident of North Plainfield for the past fifteen years and a veteran of the historic battle of Mobile Bay during the Civil War, died at his home, 120 Sycamore avenue, the borough, shortly after midnight this morning. He had been enjoying his usual good health until Sunday last, when he suffered a paralytic stroke. It did not seem severe at first and was not regarded as being dangerous, but a few days ago he suddenly became wore and sank rapidy until the end.

Mr. Hegeman, who was sixty-eight years old, was the son of the late Benjamin A. Hegeman, one of the best known residents of the borough at the time of his death eleven years ago. The former resided at Newark for a long time, having been connected with the Lackawanna Railroad for more than a quarter of a century in the capacity of fast freight line representative. He retired from active business in 1899, since which time he had made his home in North Plainfield, his death occurring in the same house where his father died.

Mr. Hegeman enlisted in the United States Naval service at the outbreak of the Civil War and was assigned to the medical staff of Admiral Farragut's fleet. He served through many important engagements, concluding with the great battle in Mobile Bay which stands as one of the greatest achievements of the Northern naval force during the four years' conflict. In the midst of the fusillade from the enemy's guns, the young medical officer was badly injured by the bursting of a shell. His hurts brought on internal complications from which he never fully recovered, even in the past few years suffering keenly at times from a result of hurried operations in the naval hospital.

While Mr. Hegeman never took any part in political affairs, he always evinced a keen interest in local topics, his opinion and advice often being sought by others. He attended service at the First M. E. church although still retaining membership with the Methodist church at Roseville. He was a member of Roseville Lodge, F. & A. M., and of Plainfield Council, Royal Arcanum. Beside his wife, Mrs. Katherine M. Hegeman, one brother, B. Arrowsmith Hegeman, Jr., formerly Mayor of the borough, but now living in New York, and three sons, survive him. The latter are W. J. R. Hegeman, Jr., of Newark; J. W. Hegeman, of Cranford, and E. LeC. Hegeman, Jr., of the borough, who returned only recently after an absence of twelve years in South America.

The funeral will be held at the late residence Saturday afternoon at 2:15 and burial will be at Newark.

MRS. FRANCES N. ADAMS LAID TO REST AT HILLSIDE

Attended by a large gathering of relatives and friends the funeral of Mrs. Frances U. Adams, wife of Dr. D. C. Adams, was held at her late home on Grove street, yesterday afternoon. The service was conducted by Rev. J. Y. Broek, pastor of Trinity Reformed church, assisted by Rev. Dr. Philip B. Strong, of the First Baptist church. Both clergymen read Scripture and offered prayer, otherwise the service was very simple. The floral tributes were many and handsome, a number of beautiful set pieces being contributed by organizations of which Dr. Adams is a member. Among the latter were a large cross from Jerusalem Lodge of Masons, Jerusalem Chapter and Trinity Commandery, Knights Templar, and a beautiful floral star from Lydia Chapter, Order of the Eastern Star.

Burial was made in Hillside cemetery, the pall bearers being R. F. R. Huntsman, B. Frank Coriell, Dr. T. S. Davis, Dr. J. Hervey Buchanan, Thomas S. Armstrong and Guy Peck.

HOWELL-GONZALES.

A quiet home wedding was solemnized last night at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Robinson, of Johnston avenue, when Miss Carmena Emily Gonzales became the wife of Othello G. Howell, of New York city. Rev. F. D. Tildon, formerly pastor of Bethel chapel, officiated at the ceremony. A reception followed during which a few intimate friends of the couple were entertained at a wedding supper.

CRACK "PRO" GOLFERS TO MEET AT P. C. C.

O'Loughlin and Hoben to Meet Tellier and Reid on May 29 for a Purse.

Members of the Plainfield Country Club have arranged a professional golf match to be played on the local course, Saturday, May 29, which should not only produce some fine golf, but should attract an unusually large "gallery" of enthusiasts from this section of the State. "Marty" O'Loughlin, the resident professional, and "Jack" Hobens, the Englewood "pro," will meet Louis Tellier, of the Canoe Brook Club, and Wilfred Reid, the new Seaview professional, for a purse, which has been subscribed by members of the club.

The match will be thirty-six holes, the morning round starting at 10, and the afternoon round about 2:30. O'Loughlin is too well known to Plainfield golfers to need any introduction. Hobens is a former Metropolitan open champion, noted for his long driving, who invariably finishes "in the money" each year in the open events. Golfers will remember Reid as the man who came over from England with Vardon and Ray in 1913 for our open championship—the memorable championship which Ouimet won after a tie with Vardon and Ray. In that tournament Reid was leading the field at the end of the first day, which is proof enough of his ability as a player. Since then he has taken the position of professional at the new Seaview couse at Absecon, N. J., one of the finest in the country. Tellier, a former French champion, who, by the way, is Reid's brother-in-law, has been in this country for several years and is now very well known. Like Hobens, he almost always finishes well up in competition and at Shawnee in 1913 finished fourth to McDermott, Vardon and Ray.

Members of the Country Club are keenly interested in the match and anxious to see how low the scoring will be, because the scores made will indicate in a very fair way how severe a test of golf the Country Club course is as compared with others. The play of the professionals will also be very instructive and the "gallery," which is sure to be large, will have a splendid opportunity to observe the fine points of the game.

Spectators who follow the match should remember not to crowd the players. They are particularly requested also not to walk across the putting greens, but to go around them when walking from one hole to another, and in order to save the turf women should be sure not to wear high-heeled shoes. Members of all neighboring golf clubs are invited to witness the match.

GIVES PARTY IN HONOR OF MISS JENNIE HIRSCH

Mrs. Simon Hirsch, of Watchung avenue, gave a party in honor of her daughter, Miss Jennie S. Hirsch, at her home last night, during which the young woman was the recipient of numerous handsome and useful gifts. Mrs. Hirsch was assisted in the arrangements and receiving by the Misses Bessie Adelberg and Ruth Martin. Games, dancing, vocal and piano selections, and recitations were enjoyed throughout the evening, several of the guests present favoring with the latter.

Among those present were the Misses Dorothy Sklaeew, Minnie Richards, Sadie Wientrob, Esther Wientrob, Rose Mann, Cecil Mann, Ruth Schwartz, Violet Benger, Lena Goldstein, Pearl Gennisman, Pauline Fass, Dorothy Adelberg, Rose Braum and Walter Silbert and Leals Canter.

REV. DR. W. T. MANNING TO ADDRESS CLERICUS

The Plainfield Clericus will hold its last meeting for the season and election of officers at St. Luke's rectory, Roselle, Monday, June 7, the clergy being the guests of Rev. Clarence S. Wood. At that time Rev. Dr. W. T. Manning, rector of Trinity church, New York, will make the address. The clericus will then adjourn until October.

MRS. BROCK'S FUNERAL.

The funeral of Mrs. Adaline Brock, whose death occurred at her home on New street, Sunday, was held at the late residence yesterday afternoon. Rev. E. Vicars Stevenson, rector of Grace P. E. church, was the officiating clergyman and a gathering of relatives and friends was in attendance. There were many handsome floral tributes. Burial was in Hillside cemetery, the following acting as pall bearers: David Sharp, Frank Jones, Harrison Coddington and J. Worth Coddington.

LOCAL DENTISTS ENJOY AN OUTING

Golf, Tennis and Dinner Features of Gathering at Somerville Country Club.

INTERESTING TALKS

Drs. Rood and Fowler, of Newark, Discuss Topics of Value to the Profession—Annual Meeting of the Association to Be Held June 9.

Twenty-five members of the Plainfield Dental Society, at the invitation of Dr. George W. V. Voornees and Dr. W. V. Naylor, of Somerville, spent yesterday afternoon and evening at the Somerville Country Club, the affair being held in connection with the May meeting. The afternoon was spent in playing golf, tennis and other outdoor games, the local members participating in an informal program of friendly competition. Drs. Voorhees and Naylor are members of the local society and acted as an entertainment committee of two for their colleagues. The event was held in conjunction with the policy of the organization to visit towns in the immediate vicinity of Plainfield which have representation in the local body. The entire club and expansive grounds which surround it was turned over to the reception of the dentists, many of whom took advantage of the excellent weather and motored to the rendezvous.

Following the outdoor amusement the society convened in the country club's banquet hall, where a sumptuous repast was served. This was an informal affair and speeches were made by many of the guests on topics particularly appropriate to the occasion.

The society held its May meeting after the banquet and at that time Drs. Rood and Fowler, of Newark, delivered interesting discourses on dental topics. Dr. Fowler's talk was of a general nature dwelling on the good that may be accomplished through organized efforts and lauded the local professional men for the interest they displayed in their society and the progress that has been made to date.

DELEGATES PRESENT INTERESTING REPORTS

Mrs. E. S. Ralston and Others Tell of McCall Association Work.

The managers of the McAull Auxiliary, with a few friends met yesterday afternoon, at the home of Mrs. John Gray Foster, to hear an account of the annual meeting of the American McAll Association just held in Hartford. A most comprehensive and interesting report was given by the delegate from Plainfield, Mrs. Edward S. Ralston, and a few words added by the others who also attended, Mrs. Frederick G. Mead, Mrs. Foster and Mrs. S. T. Carter. The McAll Mission, in France with its many long established stations, has been doing an immense amount of good this year through very practical relief work for its friends.

A relief fund for the women and children, amounting to $2,246.40, was gathered by the American association and sent over. A wonderful spirit of peace, good-will and helpfulness was shown in the many letters and reports from the distressed people, read at the conference.

A total of $92,510.25 was raised for the McAll work by the American McAll Association this year, of which $1,171.44 was sent by the Plainfield auxiliary. Tea was served following the very interesting program.

Miss STRONG HONORED.

DR. JONES TELLS OF NAVAL BATTLE

Former Naval Chaplain Describes Conflict in Santiago Harbor.

A gathering of 150 members of Plainfield Lodge of Elks listened with marked interest to Rev. Dr. H. W. Jones in the Watchung avenue clubhouse, last night, when he gave his famous lecture "On the Texas Under Fire." It was replete with personal reminiscences of Dr. Jones' experiences during his seven years in the United States Navy as chaplain of the battleship Texas. This vessel was one of the fleet which destroyed the Spanish ships in the battle of Santiago harbor during the Spanish-American War.

During the memorable fight of seventeen years ago, Dr. Jones was exposed to shot and shell but escaped with a slight injury. His lecture was vivid in its word picture of the great combat and held the breathless attention of his auditors throughout. He spoke only an hour, but to many of his listeners it seemed but fifteen or twenty minutes, so interesting was his description. In telling of other experiences in the navy, Dr. Jones injected original humor at frequent intervals, lending a lighter touch to what otherwise might prove a serious discussion.

Dr. Jones is a member of the Order of Elks and since his retirement from the navy has been engaged in ministerial work. At the present time he has a flourishing congregation in a Baptist church at Oswego, N. Y. The lecture last night was only one of a number which he frequently gives and owing to the interest manifested in his appearance the officers of the lodge asked him to return. He has already given his consent and will again visit the clubhouse within a very short time.

DISCOVER OLD WELL.

An eighteen foot well which has been instrumental in reviving memories of the old volunteer fire department days in North Plainfield, was uncovered recently by te laborers excavating trenches for the sewerage collecting system in the borough. The well is located at Somerset and Race streets, and those in a position to know say that the well was drilled forty years ago, shortly after the organization of the old Warren Engine Company, the well being used for the fire department. Chief Jones was in charge at that time. Another well, located on Manning avenue, was uncovered last week by the laborers.

TO GIVE A LUNCHEON.

The Woman's Home Missionary Society of the New York, New York East, New Jersey and Newark Conferences of the Methodist Episcopal church, will give a luncheon to Mrs. Wilbur P. Thirkield, the national president of the society, at the Great Northern Hotel, West 57th street, New York city, on Tuesday at 1 o'clock. Tickets may be obtained from the corresponding secretaries of the respective conferences.

URSULA JOHNSON CELEBRATES.

A score of playmates and friends gathered yesterday at the home of Ursula Johnson, of 319 North Front street, in honor of the latter's fifth natal day. The afternoon was passed in playing games, singing and automobile riding. The young guest of honor was the recipient of many handsome presents. Following the social portion of the afternoon, Mrs. N. Johnson served refreshments to those assembled.

A SLIGHT FIRE.

A slight fire occurred in the rooms of the Rescue Mission at 116 Park avenue at 8:27 this morning. It is believed to have been caused by a careless smoker who threw a cigarette or cigar butt in a pile of old papers. A passerby noticed smoke issuing from the upper windows and turned in an alarm from box 12. The fire department put the blaze out with hand chemicals. There was practically no damage.

LOSES VALUABLE HORSE.

Daniel McCarthy, of West Sixth street, is today mourning the loss of a valuable colt which died this morning as the result of blood poisoning. The animal was a two year old and had already knocked several seconds off all local trotting records. It was known as "Irish Lad, Jr.," and Mr. McCarthy says he refused an offer of two thousand dollars for it less than a week ago, some of the amount to be in real money.

ENJOYED A PROGRAM.

The Woman's Society for Christian Work, of the Seventh-Day Baptist church, held its regular monthly business meeting in the parlors of the church yesterday afternoon. Following the routine session, a program of musical and vocal selections were enjoyed and refreshments were served.

VERDICT GRANTED TO MRS. POINIER

Mrs. Roundey or Counsel Not in Court to Press Alienation Charges.

SWEEPING VINDICATION

Judge Speer Immediately Awards a Non-suit—Mrs. Poinier, Together With Walter L. Hetfield, Jr., and Witnesses in Court.

Elizabeth, May 20—Failure on the part of Mrs. Florence E. Roundey or her counsel, Richard Stockton, of Newark, to appear in the Supreme Court here, this morning, as complainants in the $25,000 alienation suit brought against Mrs. Mina Poinier, of Plainfield, resulted in a non-suit verdict being decided upon by Judge Speer. The trial date had been set down for today and Walter L. Hetfield, Jr., of the firm of Reed & Hetfield, who was counsel for the defendant, together with his client and twenty-four subpoened witnesses were on hand ready for the hearing. The result is taken as a sweeping vindication for Mrs. Poinier and was not entirely unlooked for, following the outcome of a hearing given Police Chief Kiely and Sergeant Higgins, of Plainfield, on contempt charges last Friday morning, when Harold Vanderhoof, Mrs. Roundey's "amateur detective" broke down and confessed that he had taken $100 from the woman as a bribe for perjuring himself. It was said at that time that with the wilting of young Vanderhoof went the bulwark of Mrs. Roundey's evidence.

Mrs. Poinier is the wife of Elmer K. Poinier, of East Second street, and is well-known in local society circles. In court this morning her counsel had numerous character witnesses ready to go on the stand to combat the allegations of Mrs. Roundey, which are said to have resulted from "spite."

In her complaint Mrs. Roundey, who lives at Truell Court, Plainfield, charged that on July 18, 1914, and at various other times Mrs. Poinier attempted to deprive her of the support of her husband by specific acts of indiscretion.

TWO FALL VICTIMS TO POCKET-PICKERS

One Man "Touched" for $35 and Another Has $2 Taken From His Person.

That pick-pockets are operating at the carnival grounds at West Front street and Grant avenue was evidenced in returns on the local police blotter this morning. David A. Teeter, of 224 Clinton avenue, reported to Roundsman Charles Flynn that his pocketbook containing $35 was taken sometime around 9:30 o'clock last night, and a similar entry was made by William Clarkson, who gave his address as 420 West Front street, and said that he had been "touched" for $2.

Although no trace of the guilty parties has been obtained to date, Chief of Police Kiely and his men are doing everything possible to co-operate with the carnival management to round up the guilty parties. The committee representing the Moose took a hand in the matter last night, and took it upon themselves to individually warn all patrons to be careful of their money on the grounds.

AWARD SETTINGS OF EGGS TO POULTRYMEN

Rufus Dedafield, of South Plainfield, and Professor Thompson, of the experimental station at New Brunswick, were the holders of the lucky numbers at the monthly meeting of the New Jersey Association for Poultry Improvement, last night, and were awarded settings of eggs donated by O. V. Markel, of Dunellen. Mr. Delafield was awarded the leghorn setting and Prof. Thompson the barred rocks.

Professor Thompson made an interesting address and a representative from the West Morland Chemical Company, of Philadelphia, also spoke on "Sanitation." The meeting was largely attended.

MRS. WILLIS' FUNERAL.

The funeral of Mrs. Ann Willis, mother of William Willis, of West Fifth street, will be held in St. Patrick's cathedral, Elizabeth, tomorrow morning at 9 o'clock. The body will afterward be brought to this city at noon for burial in St. Mary's cemetery.

ITALIAN PARLIAMENT GIVES WAR POWERS TO THE MINISTRY

Ultimatum Will Probably Be Sent to Austria Within Twenty-four Hours—Vote Was 365 to 54—United States Government Will Be Asked to Represent Italy in Austria and Germany.

Rome, May 20.—By vote of 365 to 54 the Italian Parliament this afternoon passed the bill giving to the Salandra government full power to act in the matter of declaring war on Austria, which is virtually a formal approval of the war program of the administration. It is expected that an ultimatum will be sent to Austria within 24 hours. This action is identical with that adopted in 1859 against Austria.

Rome, May 20 (Central News Cable).—Foreign Minister Sonnino early this morning held a long conference with Thomas Nelson Page, the American ambassador to Italy. The nature of the conversation was not announced, but no one doubts that the United States will act as Italy's diplomatic representative in case of war.

The final Austrian offer promised immediate territorial concessions, but it is believed that the cabinet in a long session last night finally rejected it. The Tribuna declares that the final Austrian offers came too late, while other newspapers comment similarly.

Volunteers are being enrolled in the army in addition to the vast number of men already under arms and equipped to take the field and mobilized at points where they will be immediately available. Men who are not liable to service are being accepted.

The Tribuna today publishes an interview with a prominent Greek diplomat who expressed his confidence that Italy's intervention will be followed closely by action on the part of Roumania, which has an army of half a million men ready, and that Greece and Bulgaria will both follow Roumania's example.

As Parliament assembled today Italy was prepared to strike. Her troops were massed along the Austrian frontier. Great cheering crowds surrounded the Chamber of Deputies, where the Government was to make its declaration. Unless the debate should be long drawn out, Parliament was expected before midnight to pass a bill entrusting the fate of the nation to the Salandra Cabinet.

The day's developments in the crisis were:

Pope Benedict approved the text of a prayer to be recited by Italian soldiers on the battlefield and was reported to have added his hope for a victory for Italian arms.

The Italian Foreign Office issued a summary of the Green Book, explaining Italy's position to the world. The summary confirmed the report that Italy on May 4 denounced her treaty with Austria and Germany, paving the way for war. It also declared that the concessions Austria was willing to make were entirely inadequate.

Gen. Cadorna, chief of the General Staff, arrived at Vincenza, near the Austrian frontier, and immediately assumed active charges of the Italian forces. With other staff officers he was awaiting the signal to open hostilities.

Pro-war newspapers announced that a canvass of the Deputies showed an overwhelming majority in favor of war. Nearly 300 of the 508 Deputies will enlist, it was announced, and no opposition to the Government's war program was expected, except from a portion of the Socialist group.

Following an official announcement made yesterday, the military today assumed control of all the Italian railways. The Government at the same time issued strict orders to the newspaper to publish no reports of troop movements.

Geneva, May 20.—A despatch received from Budapest today states that the Kaiser narrowly escaped death last Sunday, while he was watching the fighting near the River San.

It appears that the Kaiser had just left his automobile and moved up with his staff to a position from which he could watch the operations better. He had only been away from his machine about fifteen minutes when a shell fell among the automobiles that were parked near by, wrecking the Kaiser's machine and killing his chauffeur.

His narrow escape made the German Emperor very nervous and as more shells began to fall in his immediately vicinity he promptly left the scene with his staff and sought a safer place from which to watch his soldiers fight.

ASKS COMMUTATION OF FRANK'S SENTENCE

Walter C. Linbarger Circulating Petition in Behalf of Condemned Man.

Firmly believeing that Leo Frank, the Georgia factory superintendent, is innocent of the crime of which he stands convicted and condemned to die next month, Walter C. Linbarger, of the borough, has started a movement in this city to enlist the sympathy in the man's behalf. Mr. Linbarger has worded a petition to Governor J. M. Slaton, of Georgia, asking that Frank's sentence of death be commuted to life imprisonment, thus affording justice to meet its ends in the event of new evidence arising later. Judging from the signatures which Mr. Linbarger has already received, there is a decided belief in Frank's innocence and his petition will undoubtedly be of decided import when it is forwarded.

The gist of the petition as prepared by the borough man is as follows: "To His Excelleney: Governor J. M. Slaton, State House, Atlanta, Georgia. We, the undersigned, citizens of Plainfield, N. J., entertaining a firm conviction and belief in the innocence of Leo M. Frank, now awaiting execution for the murder of Mary E. Phagan, respectfully petition your Excellency to exercise your merciful prerogative of clemency vested in you under the laws of Georgia to commute the sentence of death to life imprisonment, believing that if such mercy is shown, the errors of justice, if any should ultimately appear, may be rectified while the accused is still living."

Mr. Linbarger's only interest in the case is the fact that he has followed it closely through the newspapers and through personal motives alone is seeking to serve Georgia from the everlasting disgrace of sending an innocent man to the gallows. One of the petitions will be at the Daily Press office.

THINK NEWARK BOY RAN AWAY WITH THE CIRCUS

The local police have been asked to aid in the search of Frank Munelley, a sixteen-year-old Newark boy, who has been missing from his home at 168 South Eighteenth street, that place, since Tuesday. His mother, Mrs. Mary Munelley, who communicated with the Plainfield department, is of the opinion that he left with Ringling Brothers' circus, which exhibited in that city Tuesday night.

A search among the circus employes and "hangers-on" failed to reveal any clue yesterday. He is described as wearing blue trousers, a grey Norfolk coat and has light hair. He is cross-eyed.

NEW FACTORY TO BE COMPLETED BY JULY 1

Thomas Hartman and Charles Wyckoff, of Front street, have accepted positions in the carpentry department of the construction force that is erecting the Gabriel & Schall refining factory on the old MacKinnon farm at New Market. The foundation of the factory has been completed and forms are being put up for the concrete.

The factory will cover 200 square feet. It is expected to be completed and ready for operation by July 1. The proprietors will commence operations with a force of between 35 and 50 skilled men. It is said that this force will gradually be increased.

The band of the Dunellen Social Club has been engaged to take part in the program of the approaching open-air demonstration of the Sunday-schools of the vicinity on Saturday, June 5.

BOROUGH COUNCIL WILL PROBABLY REJECT OFFER

Superintendent White, of the Public Service Railway, has submitted an offer to the borough for his company in connection with the matter of laying sewer pipe along North avenue. At a recent meeting of the Common Council it will be remembered that Mr. White was present and endeavored to show the Council how it would be to the advantage of the borough as well as to his company to have the sanitary and storm sewer pipes both laid on the north side of North avenue, whereas the Council had favored laying the storm sewer pipe on that side of the street and the sanitary pipe under the south bound trolley tracks.

Mr. White's plan would necessitate the using of permanent sheathing to protect the water main which would lie between the pipes of the two systems, and the matter was left in abeyance at the aforesaid meeting for Mr. White to find out from his company what percentage of the cost of this sheathing they would be willing to stand. The Public Service has estimated the cost of that sheathing at $7,000, and through Mr. White has offered to stand $2,500 of this cost. With the pipes of the two systems laid as the Council has favored, it is said that it would only be necessary to place sheathing in sections of the trenches and as the following of the Public Service Company's proposition would therefore mean an additional expense to the borough, it is believed that the proposition, which is at present in the hands of the collecting sewage committee, will be rejected.

Borough Engineer Churchill has been given charge of the engineering of the storm sewer work. The Garafano Construction Company has been working for a week on the construction of the Madison avenue system, and T. Foster Callahan has commenced work on the Front street system. Camiello Massa, of Cranford, the successful bidder for the North avenue work, was present in the borough, last evening, and executed his contract and furnished his bond. It is said that Mr. Massa will commence work next week.

It is said that a petition is being circulated to have all of North avenue, between Prospect and Washington avenues, curbed and guttered in concrete. As far as the curbing goes this petition would only effect the railroad property.

John Rinehart, of Fenfield place, has been appointed as one of the borough's sewer inspectors, and has been assigned to see that the specifications and contract of the Front street storm sewer work are lived up to.

SAFETY FIRST.

That some fire department members need to be taught to use discretion and good sense in driving apparatus through crowded streets is evident. The fire committee should see to it that a circumstance similar to the one which thrilled and frightened hundreds of people at Park avenue and Second street, yesterday, following the circus parade, does not recur. Because certain firemen thought of nothing else but to get to a fire at all possible speed lives of men, women and children were endangered. Absolute neglect of warnings signalled by Police Chief Kiely and others was flagrant and astounding.

The incident made the blood of level-headed citizens boil and gave rise to a wave of indignation. Fire drivers need not adhere strictly to every traffic regulation, but it is expected they will use some good, sound judgment. Chief Doane is in no way to blame as his machine was not one of those involved.

An instance like yesterday's may never occur again, but there will be times when the fire fighters will be called upon to use more sense than was then shown. Police Chief Kiely was right in warning the drivers to slow up at the juncture of these two streets and had he not placed his own life in peril and acted as he did, wholesale injury would probably have resulted. The chauffeurs of the auto engines paid no heed to Kiely's warnings and had they run down a bystander they alone would have been to blame. It wasn't because the firemen did not know Chief Kiely that they ignored the warnings, for it is safe to say that he would be readily recognized at a distance by every man in the department.

On the other hand, some good may develop from the incident. Had there been a tapper at Second street and Park avenue, or had the fire whistle been in operation, the crowd would have been warned and had an opportunity to seek safe shelter. The people did not see the engines come down Second street, until they were almost on them and the fact that no injuries were recorded is little more than miraculous.

"If in one day the average food of a woodpecker or flicker consists of 3,000 insects injurious to the farm, garden and forest; of a robin, 175 caterpillars; of a meadow lark, hundreds of insects and thousands of weed seeds; of a quail, 100 potato bugs or other devastating insects, and of a song sparrow, 25 grasshoppers and spiders, what is the economic value to the New Jersey farmer in one year of the cat that frequently catches and devours in a single day birds of all these species?"

The above question is asked by the New Jersey Fish and Game Commission in a press sheet recently sent out, and it deserves serious attention from the general public. The Legislature refused to pass the bill which the Commission asked for, which provided that all cats be licensed. Many farms, the commission contends, will spend hundreds of dollars a year in fighting insect pests, and yet will permit a big family of half-wild cats to roam their farm, subsisting largely upon insect-destroying birds. Those farmers who attempt to work out in dollars and cents an answer to the above problem, the board predicts, will eventually view every feline inhabitant of the farm as a liability, instead of an asset.

A petition to the Governor of Georgia for clemency for Leo M. Frank has been left at the Press office for signatures, and can be signed by anyone who wishes to do so. The numerous articles which have appeared in the newspapers and magazines of the country prove conclusively that this man has been unjustly convicted of a crime which he never committed, and the only recourse left is to present a monster petition to the Governor from people in all parts of the Union, to show that the great mass of the people believe him innocent.

The regularity with which various organizations are commending Wilson for his stand in the war situation, leads to the belief that were he a candidate for re-election tomorrow no one could defeat him.

This is the day when the men are explaining that they went to the circus "just to take the kids."

Now it's Italy with a green paper. About every color has been used, except pink and purple.

WAR NEWS

committed suicide by hanging in Brixton prison during the night.

Two Lascar sailors were drowned when the Newcastle steamer Dumfries, from Cardiff for Leghorn, was torpedoed by a German submarine off Hartland Point, yesterday morning.

Swedish steamship companies, whose boats ply between Stockholm, Worrkoping, London, and Hull, have decided to suspend, owing to constant interruption of traffic caused by German warships in the Baltic, which have resulted in serious delays and made trade impracticable.

A despatch to the Evening News from its correspondent at Copenhagen declares that it is reported in German naval circles that seventeen German submarines have been lost since February 18.

Basle, Switzerland, May 20.—The Russians, after their successful advance in Bukowina, are again in control of the railway lines from Kolomea to Czernowitz and from Kolomea to Karosmezo and are advancing on Maramaros Syiget in Hungary.

New York, May 20.—Dispatches to evening papers from Berlin state that Germany's reply to the American note regarding the Lusitania will probably be ready on Monday, and will be in the hands of the Administration at Washington early in the week. It is stated that a very carefully drafted paper is being prepared, but that in spite of the fact that the German newspapers are very bitter against this country, there need be no apprehension on the part of the American people as to the outcome, as Germany does not want to break diplomatic relations with the United States.

Constantinople, May 20 (via Berlin and Amsterdam).—The Turkish War Office gave out the following official statement today.

"Our hidden batteries forced the English battleships to leave their anchorages and cease firing Tuesday. French warships were also driven off by our batteries on the Asiatic shore. As a result the Anglo-French fleet remained inactive during the rest of the day.

"French warships have recently been active south of Smyrna. A cruiser entered the port of Marmoras, Saturday, confiscated the flags of the various ships, and captured two vessels carrying cargoes of wood."

Geneva, Switzerland, May 20.—A despatch from Petrograd to the Tribuna states that an English submarine penetrated the Baltic Sea and sank a German transport off Libau.

Sofia, May 20.—Following the receipt of despatches from the Bulgarian envoys in Rome and Bucharest, Premier Radoslavoff presided today over a meeting of the cabinet and later spent some time in conference with the Minister of War. It is stated that while Bulgaria has not altered its policy of neutrality, it will be prepared for any action which may become necessary or advisable.

Paris, May 20.—The French War Office gave out the following statement this afternoon:

"Not a single development was reported during the night."

Philadelphia, May 20.—Italy has placed orders for 200,000 tons of bituminous coal with two concerns in this city, for immediate delivery.

DENTISTS ENJOY OUTING

Dr. Rood followed his fellow-townman's idea, making remarks of a complimentay nature concerning the good that may accrue through a society of this calibre and urged the encouragement of social service. Dr. Fowler is in line for the next presidency of the State Dental Association and Dr. Rood is a member of the New Jersey Board of Dental Examiners. Both are well-known to the local dentists.

The next meeting of the Plainfield society, which will be the annual one, will be held Wednesday evening, June 9. Announcement was made to the effect that the annual meeting of the Union County Dental Society would be held in the Cranford Golf Club, Thursday night, May 27, and a delegation from the local body will be in attendance. Election of officers for the year will be held at that time and matters of importance to dentists will be discussed. Among the latter will be the matter of having the county organization join the State Dental Society, a question which was informally discussed yesterday at Somerville. This movement has for its object the upbuilding of both the State and Federal societies. An attempt is being made to have all the county or district societies in the State join the larger body, making all members of local societies members of both the State and National societies. As far as it is known the matter will be taken up at the forty-fifth annual convention of the State organization to be held in Asbury Park, July 21-24, arrangements for which are already underway.

During the convention four members of the State Board of Examiners will be named by Governor Fielder. The new law making the Board of Examiners an eight-member board, instead of five as at present, will go into effect September next and as the term of one of the present members expires this year there will be four vacancies to fill in the fall. The local dentists now serving on the State society's committees are: Exhibit committee, Dr. Frank T. Clawson; executive committee, Dr. Frank W. French; clinic committee, Dr. Frank W. French; registration, Dr. B. F. Leonard; clinical conference, Dr. Clive W. Montfort; county prosecutor committee, Dr. O. B. Whitford; electrical supervision, Dr. Charles L. Moore; dental science and literature, Dr. W. S. Stelle; publicity, Dr. Ray S. Stevens; oral hygiene, Dr. Charles G. Davis; entertainment, Dr. George S. Moore; membership, Dr. Guy H. Hillman.

U. S. ASTOR THEATRE

William Farnum, America's highest salaried motion picture actor opened a two days' engagement at the U. S. Astor Theatre, yesterday afternoon and last night, in Edward Sheldon's master work, "The Nigger." There was no sign of trouble at either performance over the delicate subject with which the picture deals. None is anticipated today, as colored folk who have viewed the film agree that it embodies nothing at which the negro might take offense. As pointed out in these columns last night, "The Nigger" heroizes a colored man and is just as much an indictment against the corruption of the whites as against the negroes. The many thrilling episodes of the picture held last night's big audience spellbound from beginning to end. All the old thrills of Sheldon's famous play are still there together with some new ones that increase the interest.

The riot and campaign scenes are staged with considerable realism. The acting of Gus, the colored man, is beyond question as artistic a bit as has been seen at the Astor this year. Altogether "The Nigger" registered as big a hit as Frank G. Hall, manager of the Astor, claimed it would. As the audience filed out last night many expressions of delight with the high-class films Mr. Hall is showing was heard.

Tomorrow the famous story of childhood in picture form, "Rumpelstilskin," will be shown. Who doesn't remember the thrill that shot up their spine when they had read to them the adventures of the little elf. The story is fully as interesting to adults as children.

The feature attraction Saturday will be "God's Witness," a Mutual Master picture which tells a powerful story. It is up to the high standard of pictures Mr. Hall is presenting. Next Monday Miss Kathlyn Williams will appear in the picturization of Harold McGrath's famous novel, "The Carpet from Bagdad." There are desert scenes in this film which were photographed in Arabia and many other notable features commend it to spectators.

DECLINES INVITATION.

Washington, May 20—Because of the convention of the Pan-American Commercial Conference Monday, Secretary Bryan has been compelled to decline an invitation to speak in Paterson, N. J., that evening on prohibition.

THE TEMPERATURE.

The temperature report from The State Trust Company for today is as follows: 9 a. m., 60 degrees; 11 a. m., 67 degrees; 1 p. m., 70 degrees.

"AL" SAUNDERS TELLS A PATHETIC STORY

One of "Billy" Sunday's "Trail Hitters" Speaks at First Baptist Church.

The service at the First Baptist church, last night, even exceeded expectations both as to attendance and interest. The large Sunday-school was filled to its capacity and closest attention was accorded Alfred Saunders as he told of his remarkable conversion and his work since. During the year since he "hit the trail" he has been in demand for religious services, having spoken in Philadelphia alone twenty-seven times and frequently in each of several other cities.

Mr. Saunders has been called into States north, south and west and been recalled repeatedly. New York has heard him four times with reference to the proposed Sunday campaign in the metropolis. His manner is simple, sincere and exceedingly heartsome, and last night again and again his auditors were moved to tears by the simple recital of occurrences in his own life and the lives of those with whom he has been associated. And he has reached not only those of his own class but has touched all ranks of society.

The merchant prince, John Wanamaker, has entertained him in his home for a day at a time and it is said that the Lackawanna Railroad will stop any of its trains at any time to assist him in his evangelistic work. These facts indicate partially the magnetism of the man who in his way is as remarkable as "Billy" Sunday himself.

Mr. Saunders will be in Plainfield all of the coming Sabbath and will speak five times in the First Baptist church,—briefly at the Sunday-school session before the morning service, at the morning service itself, at the men's meeting at 4 o'clock in the afternoon, at the Christian Endeavor service at 6:45 and at the evening service at 7:45. All of these services will undoubtedly be largely attended, but special emphasis is being put on the 4 o'clock men's meeting, when the pastors and men of the city generally will be present.

This meeting will be opened by a praise service at which Miss Violet Jewell, of White Plains, the regular Bible-school cornetist, will be present for the commencement of the service. Dr. Strong and the officers of the church desire to emphasize that this meeting is for every man in the city and that an equally urgent invitation is not extended to the other services simply because they do not wish even to appear to draw people from other churches during their own services.

MOTHER'S DEATH SUMMONS DR. R. YOOD TO BOSTON

Dr. Raphael Yood, of Grant avenue, left for Boston early this morning in response to a telephone message from that city telling him of the death of his mother, Mrs. Esther Yood. Mrs. Yood had been ill for some time, but her demise was unexpected. She was the wife of Dr. Yood, a prominent physician of Boston, and beside her husband leaves four sons and one daughter. One son and daughter live in Manchester, England; another son in Atlanta, Ga., and a third son in Augusta, Ga.

Dr. Yood will remain in Boston several days in order to attend the funeral service, after which he will return directly to Plainfield.

LOCAL PASTOR TO PREACH.

The Middlesex Ministers' Conference, an organization of colored pastors, opened its annual session at noon today at the Ebenezer Baptist church, New Brunswick, and will continue until 9 o'clock this evening. Rev. D. Y. Campbell, pastor of the Calvary Baptist church, this city, and former pastor of the church in which the gathering is being held, is to preach the sermon this evening.

BAPTISTS PLAN WORK.

Los Angeles, May 20—Baptists are taking keen interest in the Northern Baptist convention, which opened here yesterday, for a united project for Baptists of the North and South for the founding in Mexico of a girls' school, a high school for boys and a theological seminary, which will come up for consideration. Another matter of interest is the expected report of a commission on efficiency and administration. For some months this commission has been studying the Baptist societies and their handling of funds.

PRESS ASS'N CELEBRATES.

Chicago, May 20—The golden jubilee of the Illinois Press Association, one of the oldest press organizations of the country, will be celebrated here for three days. The festivities opened yesterday, when J. M. Page, of Jerseyville, Ill., who was the founder and first president of the association when it was organized in 1865, again presided. The Chicago Association of Commerce tendered the editors a dinner today.

The Young People's Society of the Temple Baptist church will have charge of the service at the Rescue Mission tonight.

C. E. SOCIETIES TO HEAR "BILLY" SUNDAY

The New Jersey Christian Endeavor Union, through Miss Emilie Edwards, of Paterson, district secretary for Passaic county, has had 2,000 seats reserved at the Billy Sunday tabernacle for Saturday afternoon, May 22. Owing to the big parade and demonstration that is to be held in Paterson on that afternoon, and to begin promptly at 2 o'clock with the Rev. Mr. Sunday at the head of the line, the service in the tabernacle will begin at 1 o'clock instead of 2, the usual hour. The arrangement has been made by Mr. Sunday himself in a desire to accede to the request of the Endeavorers. Both Mr. and Mrs. Sunday were active members of the Christian Endeavor Society before entering the evangelistic work and Mrs. Sunday still retains her membership in the organization.

Bergen county Endeavorers expect to be present 500 strong, and correspondingly large delegations will attend from other counties. All Plainfield Endeavorers are urged to plan to attend. Arrangements have been made to meet Elizabeth Endeavorers at the Broad street arch, Elizabeth, Saturday morning at 10:30 o'clock and all go up to Paterson in a body. It will be necessary to reach the tabernacle by 12:30 o'clock to obtain good seats.

127TH GENERAL ASSEMBLY MEETS IN ROCHESTER

Rochester, N. Y., May 20—Many matters of national importance in the Presbyterian church are up for settlement at the 127th general assembly of the church, which opened here this morning. Nearly 900 commissioners of the church from every section of the country are present. The assembly convened this morning, with Rev. Dr. Maitland Alexander, of Pittsburgh, the retiring moderator, in the chair. After religious services this morning, organization for the coming year was effected. Aside from the regular assembly meetings, popular meetings will be held, at which famous speakers will be heard.

One of the features of the convention is the call issued by Dr. Alexander and others prominent in the church for a getting back to fundamentals and the emphasizing of the integrity and authority of the Bible. It is expected that the dispute between the assembly and the Union Theological Seminary of New York, will be settled at this session and the status of the seminary definitely fixed. A committee has prepared a statement of facts in the controversy. The assembly will also be asked to settle the status of Rev. Percival H. Barker, of Newark, N. J., who was twice tried in Kansas on the charge of falsehood. A new board of education will be suggested to the assembly.

During the year ending March 31, $2,287,076 was contributed for foreign missions. The mission board consists of 4,512 workers, maintaining 809 organized churches and aiding many others.

GIVES SECOND "LECTURE" IN COUNTY JAIL COURSE

Elizabeth, May 20 — Chester Brown, of Plainfield, a negro serving a jail term for practising osteopathy without a license, gave a talk to his fellow prisoners at the jail yesterday after Sheriff Otto had given his permission. The "lecture" course is one of the many reforms at the jail and it was a success.

Brown urged his hearers to lead good lives and not to boast, as some of the prisoners had done, that if they "went in again it would be for something worth while." He urged them to be obedient and said that brutality never accomplished results. He praised Sheriff Otto for his consideration of the prisoners. The sheriff made an address also, urging the prisoners to remember The Golden Rule. He joined in the singing of "Columbia, the Gem of the Ocean" and "In a Prison Cell I Sit."

IN THE SPORTING SPOTLIGHT

LOCAL Y. M. C. A. BOYS PREPARE FOR THEIR ANNUAL VISIT TO ASSOCIATION'S STATE ENCAMPMENT AT LAKE WAWAYANDA

Island On Which Sleeping Tents Are Located.

The Plainfield representation to the New Jersey Y. M. C. A. Boys' Camp at Lake Wawayanda this summer will number about forty, which will be one of the largest delegations ever sent from the local association. There are already twenty boys and two leaders signed. The first section will leave this city on July 1 for a two weeks' stay. The four sections begin as follows: First, July 1; second, July 15; third, July 29, fourth, August 12, and the camp will close on August 26. Last season 363 campers from 52 different cities in the State were in attendance.

"Wawayanda" will celebrate its fifteenth anniversary this year as a distinct camp for New Jersey boys and will be in charge of Charles R. Scott, the State secretary for boys' work, who has served as camp director from the first day it was opened. The camp is located on the shore and island of Lake Wawayanda, in the midst of a 6,000-acre forest. The lake is in Sussex county, the Highlands of New Jersey, which abound in grandeur and beauty and no section within an equal radius of New York can boast of a better camping ground.

The program of the camp takes up all phases of out-of-door living and the smallest boy is given as much, if not more, attention than the older ones. Besides the physical side of the camp, the religious and Bible study is a feature every morning that is looked forward to by the campers with pleasure, as it is one of the most interesting parts of the daily program. Boating, fishing, baseball, aquatics, tennis, hikes and athletic meets are worked into the program of every section, besides campfires, illustrated lectures by well known men on well known subjects, and over night camping parties. Trophies are donated each year for the various activities, which stimulates the interest and creates more rivalry, which, although purely friendly, is always keen.

The lodge, a large building on the mainland, which is reached by a hand ferry from the island on which the tents are located, is used for a dining room and lecture room.

OUTDOOR FEATURES FOR Y. M. C. A. BOYS

Open-air Recreation Substituted for the Winter Program.

Physical Director Meermans, of the Y. M. C. A., is planning to lay out a tennis court on the ground in the rear of the gym which has recently been fixed up into an outdoor gym. All of the exercises of the boys' classes are now held there instead of in the regular gym. Indoor work is only done on rainy days. A baseball diamond has been laid out and the game is played according to indoor rules because of the lack of space and that accounts for the large scores that are made in every game. Besides baseball, volley ball is also played the same as on the indoor court, a net being stretched from fence to fence. When the running events are started a track will probably be made near the fences where the events may be held.

This is the first year that regular out-of-door work has been held, the ground being practically a waste. It has now been graded and is level and hard.

"CANNON-BALL" REDDING ON ELIZABETH DIAMOND

With "Cannon Ball" Redding and "Fence Buster" Santop as the battery, the famous Lincoln Stars will appear at the T. A. B. field, Elizabeth, Sunday afternoon, to battle Joe Burns' Abstainers. The Elizabethans are prepared to give the colored folk a hard battle and a nifty exhibition is anticipated.

The Stars have established a splendid record this year, having won sixteen straight games. Redding is back to form this season, and is twirling better than ever. Santop has procured a new bat and some long hits may be expected. The grounds are situated at the Elizabethport station of the Central Railroad.

LAST MINUTE HITCH.

An eleventh hour cancellation by the Bernardsville High School baseball management left the Leal School aggregation without a mid-week game yesterday, the game being scheduled to take place on Crescent Oval. Saturday afternoon the annual game with the graduates will be played on Crescent Oval at 3:30 o'clock.

PLAINFIELD WOMEN ARE WINNERS IN BIG EVENT

Two Plainfield women were successful in the first round of the invitation doubles tourney being held under the auspices of the Pelham Country Club, yesterday afternoon. Mrs. S. Fullerton Weaver, playing with Miss Florence Ballin, had a hard match with Miss Florence Sheldon and Miss Jane Rowson, winning two out of three sets. The scores were 6-0, 2-6, 6-1.

In another match of the same round, Miss Edna Wildey, of this city, with Mrs. Alfred Graham Miles, defeated Miss Eleanor Coward and Miss Bessie Wilson in straight sets, the scores being 7-5 and 6-3.

CAMPERS TO MEET.

The members of the Y. M. C. A. boys' department who expect to go to Lake Wawayanda this summer, will meet in the association parlors tomorrow night and discuss plans for the camping season.

P. H. S. SPECIALIZING IN HEART BREAKERS

Locals Jollied Westfield Until the Ninth and Then Opened Fire.

Denny, the Plainfield High School boy who pitched his team to victory in the North Plainfield-Plainfield game last Saturday, added a pinch-hitter's laurels to his list against Westfield High School at that place, yesterday. He started a ninth-inning rally with the score 2-1 in Westfield's favor with a pretty one base bingle, sending Apgar in ahead of him with the tieing run. Then, with the bases full, Masenghi walked Kyle, who brought in the necessary tally to win the game. But they did not stop at this. Peacock got up to bat and handed a hit to Stevens, so hot that the Westfield youth could not field it and as a result Denny came home with a fourth tally.

Brick deserves a great deal of credit for his cool-headedness in the pinches of yesterday's game. His support in the initial inning was enough to dishearten any pitcher. Four errors were made, which resulted disastrously in the scoring of the two runs that held his opponents in the lead up to the ninth inning. He allowed but four hits throughout the game, two of which were gotten in the ninth.

Westfield, as well as Plainfield, tried a rally in their half of the ninth, realizing that they had three more runs to get in order to even the game. Gilmartin, the home-run hitter, was the first man up and drove a long fly to centre field, which Mills stabbed for one of his four spectacular catches. The next man up got Westfield's first twin sacker and was sent in home by Davies' single. That ended things, however, for the next two men were easy outs.

After the first inning, the Plainfield High School's work in the field was of high calibre. The locals fielded every chance without an error and made several pretty plays. Mills, the centre gardener, crowned himself with honor by catching four almost impossible flies. Peacock, as usual, was right there with the stick. He was responsible for his team's first run, with a clean triple into left field.

The score:

NEW ZEALAND CRACK VISITS LOCAL CLUB

F. M. B. Fisher, Former Champion, Competes Against Local Talent.

F. M. B. Fisher, a former holder of the New Zealand tennis championship, was a visitor at the Plainfield Country Club last Sunday. Mr. Fisher, who was for eleven years a member of the New Zealand Parliament, is planning to stay a month or two in this country and may compete in some of the big tournaments. He has frequently played matches with Norman E. Brookes and the late Anthony F. Wilding, and has been a frequent visitor at the Wilding home, Fownhope, near Wellington, New Zealand.

Mr. Fisher was much pleased with the club and its courts, and in a doubles match with S. W. Merrihew against W. B. Cragin, Jr., and Philip Van Deventer, executed many shots of a remarkable character and demonstrated that he is a player of the first class. He hopes to visit Plainfield again and make further trial of the Country Club courts.

UPSETS RECORDED IN P. H. S. GIRLS' TENNIS

The Misses Crane and Eaton Lost Out in Trial Doubles.

The trial "heats" of the Plainfield High School girls' tennis tournament have been run off, and the semi-finals will be played this week. The most surprising outcome of the whole match was the defeat of Dorothy Crane and Margaret Eaton in the doubles by Jean Peacock and Marion Blanchard. The losers put up a stiff fight, but could not get the necessary points. As a result, the meeting of Dorothy Crane, last year's champion, and Jean Peacock, in the singles, will be watched with keen interest.

The results are as follows: Edith Peacock beat E. Mumford, 6-3, 6-4; Florence Alpaugh lost by default to Lora Loizeaux; Katherine Stevens beat Marion Blanchard, 6-4, 9-7; Dorothy Peacock beat Josephine Smith, 6-3, 6-4; Irene May lost to Jennie Peacock, 6-1, 6-2; Marguerite Jahn beat Elizabeth Marchant, 6-5, 9-7; Marguerite Eaton beat Edith Davis, 6-4, 6-1.

In the doubles the results are as follows: Marion Blanchard and Jean Peacock beat Dorothy Crane and Marguerite Eaton, 8-6, 7-5; Mary Simons and Helen Peacock beat Marjorie Henwood and Irene Moy, 6-0, 6-2; Katherine Stevens and Elizabeth Mulford beat Josephine Smith and Elizabeth Marchant, 6-1, 6-0.

"FLUKY" EXHIBITION GOES TO BRUNSWICK

North Plainfield High School Baseballers Downed by a 10 to 5 Score.

New Brunswick High School baseballists played North Plainfield High School to a standstill at New Brunswick, yesterday afternoon, and won by a score of 10 to 5. Captain Smalley was forced to make four substitutions before the game was half over, Kirch for VanDeventer in center field, Hirsch for Mead on first, Dilts to the box and Dawe to Dilts' place on shortstop.

Townley was the only man on the borough team that did any work with the stick, and he made two hits out of five trips to the bat. New Brunswick garnered thirteen hits from the two pitchers placed against them, five of the players getting two apiece. Dilts featured in the sox with seven putouts in five innings, while Stahl got but two, and the opposing pitcher the same number.

The home team scored seven runs in the second inning, when five men were advanced a base on the fielders' throw-ins to the plate, three bases on balls were handed out and there were four steals. The boroughites were unable to overcome this lead, though they scored one run in the first, fourth and sixth, and two in the seventh, when Hebert crossed on a fielder's choice, andd Kirch came came across on the third baseman's fumble of Townley's hot grounder. Kirch got on base again in the eighth, hit by pitcher, and was advanced to second by the throw-in of Dawe's fly, but the inning was closed by Hebert taking three counts from the umpire. The ninth went out tamely without a man reaching first.

Bergen fielded in right for New Brunswick perfectly, getting six fly balls. Conroy made four putouts on second Tor the local team. Aside from this there was not a great deal of shine to the fielding of either team. Ringle, the New Brunswick second baseman, made seven errors.

S. S. M'CLURE ACQUIRES NEW YORK EVENING MAIL

S. S. McClure last night gave out the following statement:

"The S. S. McClure Newspaper Corporation, with $1,250,000 of issued stock, is being formed today to enter the newspaper and syndicate service field. The new corporation will acquire, to begin with, the ownership of the New York Evening Mail."

The Mail, which is the successor of the old Mail and Express, has been for the last fifteen years under the control and managemept of Henry L. Stoddard. Mr. Stoddard will remain associated in the management of the paper.

Frank Parker Stockbridge joins the staff as managing editor. Mr. Stockbridge was for two years city editor of the Globe, later political editor of the Cincinnati Times-Star, and, since 1912, managing editor of Popular Mechanics Magazine.

S. S. McClure, founder of McClure's Magazine and originator of the newspaper syndicate business in America, will be president of the new corporation and editor in chief.

It is stated on behalf of the new owners of the Mail that the editorial policy of the paper will be constructive, with especial emphasis upon clean and efficient government in the same spirit in which McClure's Magazine dealt with public questions.

The new owners will take possession in a few days.

THE MASTER MIND

Novelized by Marvin Dana, author of "Within the Law," from the successful play by Daniel D. Carter

Copyright, 1913, by the H. K. Fly company.

Notwithstanding all his painstaking, something betrayed this new presence to the keen senses of the burglar. As the portieres moved slowly apart under Marshall's careful fingers there came a sudden flash of light full in his face. Blindly he sprang forward and found himself in grapple with the thief. A scream came from the woman. The torch fell to the floor, to be crushed a moment later under the feet of the men. The woman shrank in a corner, half swooning. The men writhed and tottered to and fro, scuffling over the thick pile of velvet. The weapon of the detective gave him an advantage. One fierce blow struck the back of Creegan's head, and the man lurched heavily to the floor.

Marshall, after an instant's panting pause, got out his own torch and turned its light on the scene. He saw the woman crouching miserably against the wall. On the floor the thief was moaning faintly. Then the detective's eyes caught sight of another object on the floor. He bent and picked it up—a sheaf of bills of large denomination.

Here was more mystery. But there was no time now to bother with it! He thrust the bills into his coat pocket. Marshall stepped to the main electric switch and flooded the whole room with radiance. Once again Lucene stifled a cry as the brilliant illumination blinded her. The stricken burglar stirred and groaned, and then unclosed his eyes and lay blinking dazedly for a few seconds. But soon he sat up, very clumsily, and put a wavering hand to his head. He brought away the fingers all bloody, and regarded the stains with disgust.

"He'll do well enough now," Marshall stated, as he looked up and met the alarmed gaze of the woman.

Creegan, following the direction of the detective's glance, turned his head weakly and perceived the girl, where she stood against the wall. His coarse face twisted into a grin.

"Hello, Maggie!" he mumbled. "Say the bull near croaked me."

"But you will be able to go in a minute," Lucene urged, wringing her hands in desperation. "Oh, please! You must! Mr. Marshall will give you the money. He picked it up."

"I'll take you along when I go," Creegan snarled.

"What do you mean?" she gasped.

But Marshall interrupted roughly.

"Here, you!" he snapped at Creegan. "You get a hustle on yourself." He seized the burglar by the collar and jerked him to his feet. "Go on and get out of here! Didn't you hear what the lady said?"

"Gimme back that roll she give me!" he commanded surlily.

"You stand a fat chance of getting that," Marshall exclaimed with a sneer. Then, as the thief moved a little: "None of that side stepping, either!"

"Oh, I ain't trying to beat it," Creegan declared. "I don't have to."

Marshall rested wordless, stupefied by the colossal impudence of this criminal, caught in the very act of burglary. Then the woman darted to him:

"Oh, Mr. Marshall, please let him go!" she besought him frantically. "Give him the money and let him go! Oh, you must!"

The detective, however, could no longer accept this way out of the tangle of events. His first instinct of desire to shield the woman for her husband's sake, if not for her own, was overcome by the responsibility involved by such a coarse.

"It is impossible," he said.

"Oh, if you only knew!" she breathed.

Marshall remained unshaken.

"Madam," he said coldly, "I am in your husband's employ."

She twisted his argument in her own favor:

"But it would be doing him the greatest possible kindness to let this man go." She made a despairing gesture. "Oh, I know just how strange it must seem to you, but it's true—it's true!"

Marshall found that it required all his strength of will to withstand her supplication.

"You mean, without your husband's knowledge?"

"Oh, yes, yes!" was the instant answer. "He must never know—never; I can't tell you why—I can't, I can't! If I only could!— But I swear to you, on my honor as a woman, that my husband's happiness, his career, his honor even, everything, depends on your doing as I ask you. Please—oh, please!"

Nevertheless Marshall had the courage to deny her prayer.

"It is impossible."

"Why, I'm his wife, and I love him. It's for his sake that I beg of you to let this man go." She made a slight gesture toward Creegan. "He'll go—if you will let him. Yes, he'll go, and never come back again." She glanced for an instant into the brutal face, as she added her question confidently: "You will go, won't you? Tell him!"

"Sure thing!" was the harsh answer. The thief's small eyes, bloodshot now, were leering. "Sure, I'll go fast enough if you'll go with me, Maggie."

Lucene seemed not to hear the vile utterance. Certainly she gave it no apparent heed, only persisted in her wild petitioning.

"Don't you see, Mr. Marshall, no one will ever know—not a living soul—ever!"

The voice of Creegan sounded.

"Say," he cried to the detective, "are you such a bonehead you can't see that me and the lady was goin' away together?" Marshall made a threatening movement. Creegan spoke again, reckless of the menace. "Aw, cut it out, cull. Just ask the lady."

Marshall looked down into the face of the trembling woman. But the denial for which he longed did not burst from her lips. Instead, she stood in mute abasement.

"Did you hear what the man said?" Marshall asked.

"Yes," came the muffled syllable.

"Of course he lies?"

There was a pause, pregnant of a hateful possibility. And then, at last, there came from the girl the word that was the seal of her degradation:

"No." It was hardly a breath of sound.

CHAPTER XIV.

In the Alcove.

THE spirit of mistaken martyrdom which had driven Lucene to this confession for the sake of the man she loved now again nerved her to struggle in his cause.

"And now," she cried, "you'll let him go! Won't you? Yes, yes! You must!"

There came an interruption which turned the eyes of the three to the archway of the alcove, where a tall figure stood contemplating the group. The woman uttered a faint cry that was rather a moan and shrank away as if in mortal fear, for the tall form, with the face set so sternly, was that of Wainwright. His voice came with a dominant severity:

"What have we here?"

Marshall answered:

"I caught this man monkeying with the safe. Guess I'd better get him out of here." He scowled at the thief. "Come along, you!"

Creegan returned the scowl.

"I won't go!" he shouted. "I wa'n't trying to crack no safe. I told ye I come here 'cause the lady"—

Marshall fairly throttled the thief for a moment.

"One more peep from you and I'll make you wish you'd never left jail!"

"Who is this fellow?" Wainwright demanded.

"He's a cracksman, all right," the detective replied. "I caught him as he was going to work on the safe here. Beyond that, I don't know anything about him, though it's certain he's a professional."

Wainwright put his next question directly to the criminal:

"Who are you?"

But, for the time being, Creegan had become subdued under the buffeting he had just received. So now he did not venture to answer.

"Are you deaf?" the sleuth rasped.

"Well, if you want to know so bad," he replied sullenly, "why, I'll just tell you. My name's Creegan, and I'm from Chicago."

"You seem to have wandered a considerable way from home," Wainwright commented dryly.

"Ah," Creegan said, with an attempt at airiness, "a guy'll go further than that to please a lady. What?"

Marshall broke in:

"Cut that out!" Then he faced his employer somewhat doubtfully. "You see, sir," he explained, "I caught him trying to take this money away from Mrs. Wainwright." He drew the banknotes from his pocket.

"It's a d——d lie!" Creegan bellowed ferociously. "She give it to me!"

"Shut up!" The detective poised as if about to spring on Creegan.

But Wainwright interfered.

"Marshall," he directed shortly, "leave the man alone. Lies don't hurt—if they are lies." He put forth a hand and took the money. Briefly his eyes ran over some of the bills, scrutinizing them closely; then he bestowed the packet in a pocket. For the first time he let his gaze go for an instant to his wife, who in frightened grief watched his face unremittingly. Immediately he gave his full attention again to the criminal.

"Why should my wife give you money?" he inquired.

Creegan wriggled uncomfortably.

"Well, I guess the game's up, gov'nor," he whined. "I guess they ain't nothin' to say, except you got me and the lady dead to rights."

Marshall interposed.

"Ah, say, Mr. Wainwright," he protested, "what's the good listening to this crook's pipe dreams? Come on, you!" He strode to the thief and caught him by the shoulder.

But again the detective was stayed from his purpose by the command of Wainwright:

"Wait!"

Now finally excess of fear goaded Lucene to the bravery of despair. She straightened, held forth her arms imploringly.

MOTHERS' WORK

Conducted by the Plainfield Mothers' Association. Every Thursday

Contributing Staff.

Mrs. Joseph Smith and Mrs. J. L. Evans.

The Daily Press for Thursdays containing the column on Mother's Work will be sent by mail for one dollar a year, in advance.

Summer's sunny days have come,
Soft and sweet the wind is blowing;
Bees across the meadows hum,
Where the golden flowers are growing;
Fields and trees are green and fair,
And sunshine's sleeping everywhere.
—The Child's World.

Building Character.

"Remember that a child which is suppressed becomes limited in his ideas. He may be trained to do things in a certain way, and he may be told not to do other things. Often no reason for what he must do is given him. His resulting conduct is therefore like something plastered on his character, leaving his real true self imprisoned within the walls. A child thus trained may be good to all appearances, but is not positively good because his real goodness has not had a fair chance to grow. Only the ideas which another person holds about goodness are his.

"Remember that every soul must be free to be happy and strong. Certainly children need training, but they need guidance more than they do repression. Show a child why he should be good; get him interested in doing his best, and lead his good out instead of telling him he must do or not do this thing or that."

Fathers Association.

The men of Council Bluffs, Iowa, have decided that it is a "man's size job" to bring up children properly; that it is all wrong to place so much responsibility on a mother's shoulders and in order to learn how best to become efficient, intelligent fathers they have formed a "fathers' club" in every schoolhouse in the city. At the first meeting the only light available was a candle hastily borrowed from a neighbor. When they were told they were to blame and asked if they knew or cared how the children managed on dark afternoons they acknowledged they had voted the taxes down.

As a beginning to helping the community children, the members of the club made a personal canvass of their district and gathered data as for a census, thus getting acquainted with all in the district and picking up much information about the town. One father reported this: "Medical inspection looked good to me when I voted for it, but I'm not so sure now. My little girl was inspected today. How do I know the spoon that doctor used was sterilized after each inspection? And we have diphtheria in this town." Another found that the children had been dismissed that day after roll call because the school was to be disinfected after the discovery of a case of scarlet fever. The attendance record was so important!

When the Fathers' Club came against the enforcement of the tobacco law they came to the conclusion they would "have to be good human beings before you can succeed as a parent."

Above the sign "Go Slow, Public School," these fathers have placed another sign, "What Sort of a Father Are You?"

The United States Bureau of Education has issued a bulletin on these Fathers' Clubs and the only thing that seemed wrong is that the fathers and mothers are not working together as they should. Council Bluffs has Mothers' Clubs. Why not Parents' Clubs?

And He Jumped Out the Window With Them and Ran Away.

Daddy's Bedtime Story—The Lazy Boy Who Got Over It.

"ONCE there was a lazy boy who just hated even dressing and undressing," said daddy.

"Oh," cried Jack, "he must have been lazy!"

"He was," agreed daddy. "But he was cured of it.

"Well," he went on, "this little boy used to snarl about the uselessness of having to dress. He used to wonder why people couldn't just as well sleep in their clothes. He said it was so silly to have to fuss so much with big old buttonholes and strings. He said his underclothes got all full of bumps when he tried to put them on, and his stockings, he said, seemed to get all lumpy so they hurt him. And he always got them twisted all around him, and then he would snarl some more. My, what a snarler that boy was!

"His garters got all twisted, too, and he always got his waist on wrong side out, and he made the greatest fuss getting into his knickerbockers. And then what a face he made when he had to wash and use his toothbrush and manicure his nails and all that! You would have thought he would have been a happy little boy, with a chance to be clean, but he wasn't.

"But I was going to tell you how this little boy was cured. He was going to a picnic one fine summer day, and the night before he went to bed full of joy, for he expected to have a merry time.

"And in the morning he woke up bright and early in his pajamas, and for once he sprang right out of bed. And he reached for his clothes that he had put on a chair the night before. And what do you think? A great big monkey that the little boy had never seen before jumped out of a corner and grabbed all the clothes in his arms and jumped back into the corner again.

"The monkey looked so grinny that the little boy was not scared at all, and he thought the monkey was playing. But the beastie ran around the room, just ahead of the little boy, and finally leaped over the bed, clothes and all.

"'Say,' said the little boy, 'give me my clothes, you little mischief. I've got to go to the picnic.'

"'You never cared much for clothes till now,' gibed the monkey. 'I'm going to keep them myself.' And he jumped out of the window with them and ran away.

"Then the little boy cried. And what do you think? He woke up in bed. You see, he had dreamed of the monkey. But after that—well, you never saw such a changed boy."

Mrs. Stover's "Nevers."

The following is a list of Mrs. Stover's "Nevers," of whose little daughters we are reading such wonderful things:

Never spank
Never scold
Never say don't or must Never lose self-respect
Never frighten
Never refuse to answer questions
Never ridicule
Never tease
Never say "I can't"

Never let any place be more attractive than home and always keep the fairies.

Mrs. Stover also says more can be taught with a typewriter than in any other way. That the finding of the correct letter on the machine and the comparison of the copy fixes the matter firmly in the mind for all time.

PROCTOR'S THEATRE

Patrons of Proctor's Theatre will have two chances to see the final vaudeville program at the West Front street playhouse prior to the installation of a bill of feature photoplays only. The succeeding episode of "The Exploits of Elaine" will be shown tomorrow afternoon and night, also a two-reel Charlie Chaplin comedy entitled, "The Property Man." Charlie keeps the audience in a continuous roar of laughter in this production and is a sure cure for the "blues."

The second episode of "The Goddess," featuring Anita Stewart and Earle Williams, will be the feature on Saturday, while the second series of Travel pictures will be the added feature. The latter film opens with unusual scenes of picturesque St. Augustine, one of the quaintest spots in the New World. The theatregoer is then transported to Jamaica, where visitors are amazed at the aquatic skill of the negro boys, the human fish of Kingston Harbor. When diving for coins, they remain beneath the surface unbelievably long.

Next come scenes of net fishing for the Jamaica market, showing the "Pound Net" and the many varieties of deep-sea inhabitants—a veritable silver horde—that are dragged into the boats. Among those given an opportunity to make their bows in "close-ups" are: A baby sturgeon, baby shark, a cowfish, a horned toad fish, a garfish, and a sea spider.

By special permission of the Florida Bird and Game Commission the Paramount cameramen were enabled to secure some interesting views of the pelican on his native islands.

The $10,000 prize serial, "The Diamond From the Sky," is shown at Proctor's every Tuesday afternoon and night, and patrons who have witnessed the preceding numbers are unanimous in their approval of the picture, saying it is the best ever.

HUGHES AS A FARMER.

The Editor and Publisher, a newspaper trade paper, recently contained the following item about a well known Watchung justice of the peace and politician: "George E. Hughes, city editor of the New York Globe, says that this back to nature stunt is no good. Mr. Hughes has a farm near Plainfield, on which he carefully laid out and planted an asparagus bed. Some days afterward, when the asparagi was beginning to bud or shoot, or whatever it is they do, Mr. Hughes instructed his hired man to weed the bed, with the result that the man weeded up all the asparagus plants. It is the unanimous opinion of the Globe staff that as a farmer Mr. Hughes is a fine city editor."

COTTON VOILE.

One of the leading shops is showing this distinctly individual frock of sand-colored voile trimmed most effectively in navy blue satin bands. The very demure collar and cuffs of white organdy give the effect of Puritan simplicity. The girdle is of crushed navy blue satin with buckle effect of embroidery at the front. The full skirt is tucked in clusters of three and between these tucks and on the bottom of the skirt were bias bands of the navy blue satin.

ATTRACTIVE HAT FOR THE HOT DAYS.

This attractive hat design may be developed in white or color in solid work with eyelets. It has French knots and an outline-stitch, using lawn or linen. A ribbon run through the large eyelets, gathers the hat into shape. 22 inches in diameter.

BY MRS. EVA LEONARD

Dick did not tell Nell that there was a prospect of her being dragged into court in a scandal over the Ellson divorce proceedings. It seemed too horrible to be true; surely there must be some way to head off that woman who strewed her path with wreckage. He simply said that there would be a divorce, and Nell had not been surprised at the news.

Dick talked the matter over with Parsons on the way home from dinner a day or two later, and from his friend's grave silence he saw that he regarded the affair as serious. Parsons left him with, "I must think this thing over and see what can be done."

When he entered the door, he heard the baby crying and Nell came hurrying toward him, her eyes red with weeping.

"What is it, darling?" he asked tenderly. "What has happened?"

"Oh, Dick," moaned the dejected little creature, burying her face on his shoulder, "that woman will be the death of me yet. Read this."

He took the paper from her trembling hand and read:

"Mrs. Morton: I am sending you a copy of the letter I am mailing to all the doctor's patients. I intend they shall be informed as to his character. After all the countryside has read this I imagine it will not be so easy for you to go about with your head in the air, for you will be unmasked.

"One you have deeply wronged.

"Anna Ellson."

Then he opened the circular letter.

"Dear ———: You are a patient of Dr. Ellson. I am sending you this letter to tell you what kind of a man you are receiving into your home in the intimate capacity of doctor. I shall not go into details, but when I say I am driven to petition for a divorce on account of his relations with Mrs. Richard Morton, you will understand what I mean, and I will have done my duty.

"An injured wife,
"Anna Ellson."

Dick drew his hysterical wife down on his knee and held her close while he said, "Now, Nell dear, you must stop crying. We will find some way out of this thing. We must quiet the poor baby. He is surely in trouble judging from the way he cries," and he led the way to the bedroom.

"There's no dinner ready or——"

"Never mind that; just cook a couple of eggs and make some tea while I quiet the baby." Dick's manner was so calm that it helped to quiet Nell. When they sat down to the impromptu lunch with the baby sitting in his carriage, Dick said:

"The doctor told me this was impending when we went for the ride the other night, but I had no idea she would strike so soon. I hoped we could work out some plan to make her malice harmless and I could tell you the whole thing at once. I told Parsons about it this noon. He has a good head on him, and he will work tooth and nail for you."

"Oh, Dick, to think of every patient of the doctor's reading that awful letter and thinking I have done something disgraceful. They will think there is some truth in it, if she is driven to get a divorce on my account, as she says. I can never hold up my head again," and she showed signs of fresh tears.

"Now, dear, drink your tea. I'm going to take you over to stay with Mrs. Parsons before I go to work. You are not able to be alone."

Household Hints

ALMOND ROLLS

One layer white cake flavored with vanilla.

Use cake pan nine inches square and one and one-half inches deep.

By cutting seven strips each about one and one-quarter inches one way and three inches the other way will make twenty-one oblongs.

Spread oblongs all over with cream paste made with three-quarters pounds of soft sweet butter (not melted), creamed with one pound of powdered sugar and one tablespoonful of sweet cream.

Beat smooth.

Roll cream covered oblongs in browned almonds which have been put through fine food grinder.

KEEPS MILK COOL WITHOUT ICE

Milk may be kept sweet during these first warm days before ice is taken regularly by placing in a shallow pan in which is an inch or two of water. Cover the bottles completely with a wet cloth so that the cloth touches water in the pan and set in open window or wherever breeze but no sun will strike it. The cloth will remain damp, but the constant evajoration keeps the milk cool.

HOW TO CARE FOR FERNS

You can have splendid success with ferns by following these simple directions: Every month give thorough overhauling, cutting away all dead or yellow fronds—cut close to earth, thus giving new fronds a chance to grow unhampered; place plant in bathtub and give good spraying with medium temperature water, thus getting all dust off the fronds; give one tablespoonful castor oil, and if you see signs of any worms in the earth place a few matches, heads down, in ground.

Every other day—One glass of water, medium temperature; let all water drain through pot before returning to jardiniere or saucer, as ferns MUST NOT be allowed to stand in water, as this decays the roots. Plenty of good, strong light; endeavor to keep children and grown-ups from brushing against all plants, as this is harsh treatment they cannot stand.

POTATO RECIPES

Delicious Potatoes—Wash, peel and boil about twelve or fourteen medium-sized potatoes, drain off water, rub through a sieve, add three egg yolks, two tablespoons butter, one teaspoon cream, seasoning with salt and pepper. Mix well, put in buttered tin, brush over with beaten whites of egg and put in oven till well browned.

Potatoes in Custard—Peel and finely slice twelve medium potatoes and place in baking dish. Crack three fresh eggs in bowl, beat them up, add pint of broth or milk, season with teaspoon salt and pepper and a little grated nutmeg; pour over potatoes and bake about forty-five minutes. Serve in same dish.

French Fried Potatoes—Pare potatoes, cut lengthwise in slices like quartered apples (if large potato in eight or sixteen slices), drop in cold water over night; drain on cloth and drop in boiling lard (or drippings, as preferred); brown nicely, put in covered dish, sprinkle with salt and send to table hot.

CLEANING HINTS.

Sweet oil will remove finger marks on varnished furniture, and kerosene from oiled furniture.

Salt will remove the stain from silver caused by eggs when applied dry with a soft cloth.

Straw hats may be cleaned with a piece of velvet dipped in alcohol.

Rub a piece of crinoline over suede or velvet shoes, purses, etc. This will remove dirt, rub up the pile, and make them look like new.

Camphor remove peach stains.

Ink stains on linen are removed by chloroform.

Scorches will disappear if diluted peroxide is applied.

When washing or cleaning dresses, woolen or cotton, hang on a coat hanger on the clothes line and the garment will retain its shape and will also be easier to iron.

Rub cornmeal in panama hats to clean them.

THE LETTER E.

Some one has advanced the opinion that the letter "e" is the most unfortunate character in the English alphabet, because it is always out of cash, forever in debt, never out of danger and in hell all the time. But we call his attention to the fact says the Charleston Gazette, that "e" is never in war and always in peace. It is the beginning of existence, the commencement of ease and the end of trouble. Without it there would be no meat, no life and no heaven. It is the centre of honesty, makes love perfect, and without it there would be no editors, devils or news.

Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Beattie, of 1430 East Second street, are the parents of a girl born to them Monday.

ROOSEVELT GETS JURY'S VERDICT

Say That Charges Against Barnes by Colonel Were Justified.

COSTS CAUSE TROUBLE

Verdict For Equal Division of Latter Causes Judge Andrews to Send Men Back for Reconsideration as Verdict is not Legal.

Syracuse, May 21.—The Barnes-Roosevelt libel suit jury today found for Theodore Roosevelt, with costs equally divided. Judge Andrews sent the men back because this is not a legal verdict.

After deliberating all night the jury reported to Justice Andrews at 11:30. There was no indication that an agreement had been reached up to the time the jury came in.

Justice Andrews announced at 2:25 o'clock that the jury will not be discharged until 10 o'clock Saturday, in the event of a verdict not being returned before that time.

At 3:30 the jury was still out trying to agree as to costs.

Just before court adjourned last night the jurors filed back into the room and Foreman Walter Zuill asked Justice Andrews to repeat what he had said in his charge about politics. Justice Andrews told the jurors that he did not want them to think about politics at all, but to devote their attention to the facts brought out in the testimony and decide whether they thought these facts justified a verdict for Mr. Barnes or Col Roosevelt.

The request of the jurors led to the belief among many that the jury had been fighting out the case along political lines and that it was this that had kept them from reaching a verdict.

Foreman Zuill is a Progressive, and it is believed that he is one of the jurors reported to be holding out against a verdict for Barnes. When he asked Justice Andrews to repeat his instructions, the Court looked rather surprised, and after repeating them Justice Andrews remarked rather caustically:

"I hardly think it is necessary to go back to that. I thought that my instructions were perfectly clear."

Col. Roosevelt's statement upon which Barnes based his libel suit was made on July 22, 1914, prior to the direct primaries held to select candidates for State offices. The paragraphs in the statement which Barnes chiefly objected to were these:

"In New York State we see at its worst the development of the system of bipartisan boss rule. The outcome of this system is necessarily that invisible government which the Propressive party was in large part founded to oppose. It is impossible to secure the economic, social and industrial reforms to which we are pledged until this invisible government of the party bosses working through the alliance between crooked business and crooked politics is rooted out of our governmental system."

Mr. Roosevelt also stated that the two older political parties were completely dominated by Mr. Barnes and Mr. Murphy and that "the State Government is rotten throughout in most of its departments."

He asserted that this rottenness was due to the co-operation of Mr. Murphy and Mr. Barnes, acting through Governors Dix and Glynn, that "the interests of Mr. Barnes and Mr. Murphy are fundamentally identical and that when the issue between popular rights and corrupt and machine ruled government is clearly drawn the two bosses will always be found fighting on the same side openly or covertly, giving one another such support as can with safety be rendered. . . . They really form the all powerful invisible government which is responsible for the maladministration and corruption in the public offices of the State."

In his answer Col. Roosevelt contended that he had a right to criticise individuals and events and that his comment and criticisms were fair and privileged.

The trial began on Monday, April 20, and therefore occupied the attention of the court and public for almost five weeks. Col. Roosevelt was on the witness stand portions of nine days, during which time his career was raked over from the Spanish War period down to the 1912 campaign.

PUPILS ENTERTAIN AT PIANO RECITAL

Delightful Affair Attracts Large Audience to St. Joseph's Villa.

The pupils of St. Joseph's Music Class entertained their parents and friends at a piano recital, in St. Joseph's Social Hall, last night. Decorations in the large hall were red, white and blue, a large number of palms and flowers being distributed throughout. Messrs. Daniel R. McCormick, James Whelan, Frank Hart, Jack Harper and Jack Daley were the ushers for the event.

The rendition of the various numbers was most creditable and the participants received numerous encores. A duet by Master Joseph Seidel and Miss May Maag was especially pleasing, the young people standing under an old umbrella and rendering the quaint song, "Under the Old Umbrella," in an original manner.

The program in full was as follows:

"Awakening of the Lion," Kowalski, by the Misses Elsie Moulton, Adelaide Stiglitz, Gertrude Blimm and Nora Meaney; "Valse," Godard, Master Vincent and Miss Nora McDonough; "Mistletoe," Englemann, the Misses Minerva Neidig, Helen Schmidt and Nora McDonough; "O'er Hill and Dale," Englemann, the Misses Phoebe Hogan, Alice Greenwood, May Maag and Hannah Stiglitz; "Belsario," Goria, Misses May Hand and Nora Meaney; 'In the Arena," Englemann, Masters Francis and Joseph Seidel and James Reilly; "The Minuet," by the juniors; 'March Hongroise," Kowalski, Masters Elmer and Vincent and Misses Gertrude Blimm and Nora McDonough; "Music Box," Mueller, Misses Maag, Phoebe Hogan, Alice Greenwood, Hannah Stiglitz, Nora McDonough and Minerva Neidig; "Melody," Rubenstein, Masters Martin McDonough and Elmer Blimm; "Polonaise," Englemann, Misses Lillian Pettingill, Mary McCormick, Phoebe Hogan and Phyllis Daley; "Tripping Thro' the Heather," Holst, Misses Grace and Carrie Williams, Adelaide Stiglitz, Elsie Moulton, Josephine Hanon and Helen McDonough; "La Balladine," Lysberg, Misses Lillian Pettingill and Mary McCormick; "Under the Old Umbrella," Master Joseph Seidel and Miss May Maag; "March Militaire," Schubert, Misses Elsie Moulton and Adelaide Stiglitz; "Lustpiel," Kebar Bela, Misses Nora Meaney, Carrie Dentz, Helen Meaney and Minnie Smith, "Valse," Durand, Misses Helen Meaney, Helen McDonough, Phyllis Daley and Mary McCormick; "Caprice Hongoise," Ketterer, Misses Gertrude Blimm and May Hand, "Piccolo," Brahm, Misses Adelaide Stiglitz, Carrie Dentz, Elsie Moulton and Minnie Smith.

VARIED PROGRAM PROVIDED FOR CLUB'S WELCOME NIGHT

Entertainment of an informal and pleasant nature was provided for members of the Columbus Club and their friends in the West Front street auditorium, last night, the affair being the second of a series of "Welcome Night" affairs planned for the summer months. Dancing, bowling and billiards were enjoyed by the guests, music for the terpsichorean portion of the program being furnished by "Al." Squires.

The members of the club acted as an entertainment committee and will serve in a like capacity during the remainder of the season, similar events having been planned for every Thursday night.

HEARING IN SEWER MATTER TO BE GIVEN

The application of the three municipalities interested in the construction of the joint sewerage collection system and disposal works to condemn lands in North Plainfield township, and owned by Wenzel Kroha, is to be given a hearing tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock at Jersey City.

It is expected that Justices Charles W. Parker, of the Supreme Court, will preside at the hearing. The applicants will be represented by Lindabury, Depue & Faulks, attorneys.

"TAPPED" FOR YALE KEYS.

"Tap day" at Yale University, when forty-five members of the junior class are elected to membership in the three senior societies, was celebrated yesterday, the general public again being barred from the affair. John Vincent, son of George Vincent, who formerly lived on West Fifth street, was tapped for the "Keys" and was one of the two who were refused membership in the Bones," after being "tapped."

BIG ALUMNI GAME FOR LEAL COHORTS

Leal School spirit, exemplified by lusty-lunged graduates and frolicsome schoolboys, will hold forth on Crescent Oval tomorrow afternoon, when the cream of Alumni baseball talent will engage in the annual skirmish with the undergraduate Ty Cobbs, Christy Mathewsons, Johnny Eversand Fred Merkles. It stands to reason that the "Merkleites" will probably be the most prominent of the galaxy of material, and it goes without saying that each instance of special import will be "touched up" by a record squad of side-line warmers.

Captain Bill Glenney will keep the graduate stars in surveillance, while little Chauncey Stewart will pilot the 1915 team's rudder. The strongest fronts will be sent to the diamond-shaped arena of battle and if optimism and confidence signify anything, the affair will be a battle-royal from the time the first ball is hurled from the rifle-pit until the last out is chalked up.

Relieved of his burdensome duties as Plainfield's chief executive, former Mayor Percy H. Stewart will pitch the first pellet across the plate and from that point on the representatives of the present and past generations of the private institution will take charge of the festivities.

Roy Voorhees, the Walter Johnston of local schoolboy baseball, will do the mound work for the undergraduates. His formidable string of strikeouts compiled to date, coupled with his ability to "steam-'em" across will probably keep the old-timers guessing during the afternoon and will incidently be the 1915 team's big bone of contention. Opposing him in a uniform of the class of '90, will be "Cliff" McGee, being well-remembered for his knowledge of curveology and the rest of the features that go to make a Mathewson.

Another big gun in the Alumni battle-front will be Fred Shaw, '93. Any other player whose name does not appear in the lineup published below may get into action tomorrow by communicating with Captain Glenney.

The Alumni outfit will have the following notables sporting its regalia: "Cliff" McGee, '90; Fred Shaw, '93; George Schoonmaker, '95; Morris Dumont, '97; Owen Fleming, '99, "Bob" Tilney, '01; Ralph Schoonmaker, '02; Will Schoonmaker, '03, Clinton Ivins, '03; Charles Lyman, '06; Will Glenney, '06; Kenneth Browne, '08, and John Houghey, '04.

EXPOSED KEROSENE TANK DISCOVERED

Slight Blaze Threatens Destruction of S. Mann's Grocery Store.

Within a few feet of where a tank containing a large quantity of kerosene stood expored because of an open top, fire was discovered in the basement at the grocery of Soloman Mann, West Third street and Stebbins place, shortly before 6 o'clock last evening. When the firemen arrived in response to a telephone alarm at 5:52, smoke was pouring from the building and it was several minutes before the blaze could be located, so great was its volume. It had started in a corner among some rubbish and was evidently caused by spontaneous combustion.

In searching for the fire Chief Doane and Captain George Mehl, the latter of No. 3 Hose Company, discovered the exposed kerosene and as quickly as possible took steps to prevent an explosion or ignition. The tank was about five feet high and six or eight feet square, filled almost to the top with the inflammable fluid. Pipes leading from it to an auxiliary tank in the rear of the store were so hot the firemen could hardly place their hands upon them, but through some unknown but fortunate manner did not spread to the kerosene itself. The blaze was put out by chemicals from No. 3 engine and the damage is reported as being slight.

Chief Doane not only forcibly reminded the owner of the store how narrowly the building had escaped destruction, but also gave him immediate instructions to have the danger removed. No explanation was given as to why the tank was allowed to stand where it was without being properly covered and safeguarded.

MULFORD B. CULVER LEAVES HIS FAMILY

Aged Borough Man Disappears Leaving Mysterious Note for Relatives.

Brooding over the condition of business, Mulford B. Culver, for fifteen years a resident of 237 Somerset street, North Plainfield, left home Monday afternoon and has not since been heard from or seen by relatives or friends. Whether or not he has attempted self-destruction is a matter of grave concern because of the despondent frame of mind in which he was when he disappeared. Before leaving he wrote a carefully written note to his daughter, who lived with him, and in this he stated the reason for his act was lack of work and informed her that he did not intend ever to return to North Plainfield.

Culver has been engaged in carpenter work in the borough for many years, together with his son, Percy D. Culver, under the firm name of M. B. Culver & Son. He was well known in that municipality and many have expressed surprise over his action. In the opinion of many he had a prosperous business until recently and the sudden falling off is said to have preyed heavily on his mind.

He was a man of nervous temperament and was subject to frequent spells of brooding. With him at his Somerset street home lived his wife and one daughter. A second daughter married and moved away sometime ago. When questioned by a Daily Press reporter yesterday afternoon, concerning her father's disappearance the married daughter said that the family knew nothing of his present whereabouts and "did not intend to take any steps to locate him."

Continuing she said: "If he chose to leave us this way it is up to him. We do not care where he is and if he wants to come back to us he will do so of his own accord."

She was reticent concerning the details of the man's business troubles but admitted that he had left the note. The daughter furtner stated that he was fifty-five years of age. She told the reporter that the family was packing up and intended to move away from the borough before the story of her father's disappearance swept broadcast, possibly the forepart of the week.

WEDDING EVENT QUIETLY OBSERVED

Mr. and Mrs. George McGinnis, of Borough, Married Forty-two Years Today.

Mr. and Mrs. George S. McGinnis, of Somerset street, are today quietly observing the forty-second anniversary of their wedding. The event will be marked this evening by a family dinner at the celebrants' home, and will include their daughters and sons-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Cook, who make their home with them, and Mr. and Mrs. James Quackenboss, of New Brunswick. The couple have received numerous congratulations from neighbors and friends throughout the day.

Mr. and Mrs. McGinnis were married at the home of the bride on Harmony street, May 21, 1873. The latter was Miss Tabitha L. Bird, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Bird. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Dr. T. R. Howlett, then pastor of the old Second Baptist church, at West Second street and Central avenue, the building now being known as Reform Hall. Only a few relatives and friends were in attendance, and of these but two are now living in this vicinity. They are D. L. Hulick, of Grove street, who was best man, and Mrs. Casper Bolsterle, of Watchung avenue, sister of Mrs. McGinnis.

Mr. and Mrs. McGinnis have a wide circle of friends throughout the city and borough, all of whom will wish them many "happy returns of the day" on learning of the anniversary. Mr. McGinnis is foreman of R. H. McCullough's planing mill on Steiner place, and enjoys the full confidence and respect of his employer and fellow-workers.

SPRING MUSICALE CHARMS AUDIENCE

Society was unanimous in its opinion that "the musicale" given yesterday afternoon in the Hartridge Auditorium was the most successful affair of this season, a capacious audience of music-lovers attending. Hartridge Hall never presented as beautiful an effect as it did yesterday, flowers, palms and candelabras being arranged artistically, here and there, while the stage was a veritable bower of spring.

Each artist performed in a meritorious manner, receiving numerous encores from the appreciative audience, which were favored by a generous response on the part of each performer. Much interest was manifested in the work of Master Oscar Wasserberger, the boy violinist. Master Wasserberger, who is only fourteen years of age, charmed the listeners with his wonderful playing of the violin. The ease, purity and sweetness of tone with which the lad rendered his numbers was marveled at. He was accompanied by Miss Catherine Maurice Moore.

The soloists for the afternoon were Miss Leontine De Ahna, contralto, and Hugh Allen, baritone. Both were in excellent voice and commended the attention of the auditory throughout their selections. Miss De Ahna, who is a member of the faculty of the Institute of Musical Art in New York city, and contralto soloist at the First Baptist church, is well known to the Plainfield public, and on her appearance yesterday she was accorded an enthusiastic reception. Her voice is a genuine contralto, rich, powerful and well managed. Miss De Ahna was accompanied by Ward Lewis.

Hugh Allan, of the Deutches Opera Haus, Berlin, received encore after encore, his voluminous tone and pure enunciation winning instant applause. Mr. Allan favored the attendants with a beautiful Neapolitan song in conclusion. Mrs. Waldemar Kaempffert accompanied the baritone.

The complete musical program was as follows:

Violin solo, (a) "La Precieuse," Couperin-Kreisler, (b) "Berceuse," Tschetschulin, (c) "Variations," Tartini-Kreisler, Master Oscar Wasserberger; contralto solo, (a) Mainacht," J. Brahms, (b) "Einkehr," A. Reisenauer, (c) "Esblinki der Tau," A. Rubinstein, Miss Leontine de Ahna; baritone solo, "Cavatina" from "Barber of Seville," Donizetti, Hugh Allan; violin solo, "Zigeunerweisen," Sarasate, Master Oscar Wasserberger; contralto solo, (a) "Ah, Love But a Day," Mrs. Beach, (b) "The Loveliest of All," G. Henschel, (c) "Printemps Nouveau," P. Vidal, Miss Leontine De Ahna; baritone solo, (a) "I Know a Lovely Garden," d'Hardelot, (b) "Si Tu Veux Mignonne," Massenet, (c) "Bin Kein Prophet," Rachmaninoff, Hugh Allen.

The musicale was arranged by Miss Maude Von Boskerck to end up her musical season, and much of the credit for the success of the affair is due to her efforts. Following the program tea was served, the following pouring: Mrs. William Tyler, Mrs. Marion S. Ackerman, Mrs. C. Lincoln, Mrs. J. P. Stevens, Mrs. Raymond W. Charles, and Mrs. C. E. Murray. Miss Von Boskerck's pupils assisted in serving.

JOSEPH H. WHITE DIES IN SEVENTY-FOURTH YEAR

Joseph H. White, whose home was at Wilton, Conn., died early this morning at the residence of his son, Henry Crofut White, of 99 Rockview avenue, following a short illness with heart trouble and complications. He had been spending the past three months in the borough and while he had been ailing his death was unexpected.

Mr. White was seventy-three years old and previous to his retirement some years ago was one of New York's well known business men. He made his home at Wilton for a long time, but frequently visited his relatives here. Beside Henry C. White he leaves one other son, T. Phillips White. The body will be taken to Bridgeport, Conn., his boyhood home, where the funeral and interment will take place.

GERMANS MAKE GAINS IN RUSSIA

ITALY-AUSTRIA BREAK

Expected That It May Come Without Formal Ultimatum—Battle Near Dardanelles With Fleet Supporting Army on Land.

Berlin, May 21 (By wireless).—Field Marshal Von Hindenburg has won another victory over the Czar's troops. Today's official report from the German general staff states that the Russians have been defeated in the Niemen River district of northern Poland and are retreating to Kovno, the fortress on the west bank of the Niemen.

In the three weeks of fighting in Galicia the report states General Von Mackensen has captured 104,000 prisoners, 72 cannon and 253 machine guns. Another German success has been won on the Dubissa River, a confluence of the Niemen, 1,500 Russian prisoners having been captured.

In the western theatre of war English attacks at Neuve Chapelle and French attacks at Flirley have been repulsed.

Venice, May 21.—Austria has begun interning all Italian males between the ages of 17 and 60. Fifty thousand Italians in the country around Barbariga, Dignano and Marzana, in the Trieste region, were today placed aboard trains bound for concentration camps in Carniola and Croatia, according to advices received here. Several prominent Italians in Pola have been arrested and others have been terrorized by Austrian mobs.

Naples, May 21.—The Italian authorities today seized a Greek steamship carrying 2,000 tons of rice destined for Germany.

Rome, May 21.—Armed with power to declare war immediately, the Italian Cabinet was summoned into session at an unusually early hour today while the nation rested on a volcano of excitement.

Premier Salandra today obtained a royal decree suspending diplomatic immunity for the Austrian and German Ambassadors to the Vatican. Both Ambassadors to the Vatican will leave Rome tomorrow.

Wild rumors that hostilities already had begun, that the Italian and Austrian forces had clashed along the border and that an Italian fleet had sailed with orders to engage the Austrian naval forces, kept Rome feverishly expectant throughout the night. Until daybreak today a crowd of 200,000 persons, aflame with the war spirit, surged through the streets bearing aloft the flags of Italy, France, England, Russian, Servia, Montenegro and Japan.

Baron Sonnino, the Foreign Minister, was the first to arrive at the government offices. A few minutes later a big limousine bearing Premier Salandra and his secretary pressed through the crowd. Carabinieri formed a lane through a great throng that closed in about the Premier, shouting "Long Live Salandra!"

The public believed that before night the decision of the government would be known. One report was that it would be an ultimatum fixing a time limit of forty-eight hours in which Austria might yield to the full Italian demands. Another forecast was that the government would declare war without further recourse to diplomacy. Military circles were expecting an order to begin hostilities within twenty-four hours.

The whereabouts of the Italian fleet in the Adriatic is a deep mystery. Though great bodies of troops are known to have been massed along the Goritz frontier and along the border of the Tyrol, the government has for weeks permitted not the slightest hint regarding the position of the naval forces to leak out.

A report telegraphed here from Venice that an Italian torpedo boat stopped the Austrian steamer Cosulich when it tried to leave port last night was passed by the censor, but it is without official confirmation.

The captain of the Cosulich was said to have been placed under arrest and his contraband cargo confiscated. It is known that torpedo

MRS. T. E. AYERS DIES AFTER BRIEF ILLNESS

Mrs. Thurman E. Ayers, aged 34, passed away suddenly at her home on Centre street at 2:45 yesterday afternoon. She was taken ill two weeks ago with chills and fever. Later pleurisy and an extreme nervous condition developed. Death was caused by heart failure. It came as a great shock to the family and relatives of the deceased, who had supposed that she was on the road to recovery.

Mrs. Ayers was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Crawford, of Holmdel. She married Mr. Ayers fourteen years ago, and the couple immediately went to housekeeping in the present home. Mrs. Ayers was a member of the First Baptist church, of New Market, and also of the Ladies' Aid Society of the church, and her loss is a severe one.

Mrs. Ayers is survived, besides her husband and parents, by two sons, Arthur, aged 13, and Everett, aged 10. She is also survived by two sisters and two brothers, Mrs. Albert Bennett and Mrs. Gary Thorn, both of Holmdel, and George and Holmes Crawford, of Atlantic Highlands and Holmdel, respectively.

The funeral will be held at the late home on Sunday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. Rev. T. E. Vassar, the departed's pastor, will be in charge. Interment will be at Hillside.

Miss Eva Schneider, of Front street, has returned from Jersey City, where she visited a cousin.

ALLEGED THAT PARENTS ABUSED THEIR DAUGHTER

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Van Pelt, of North avenue, were given a hearing before Judge Rene P. F. von Minden, in the Borough Hall at 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon, on a complaint made by M. A. Gallagher that they were guilty of neglecting and abusing their ten-year-old daughter. Besides the complainant the other witnesses against the Van Pelts were Mrs. Robert Roskell and Mrs. George Lee. The Van Pelts have lived her six months and during that time their child has only been to school eleven days, it is said. In addition to this fact the witnesses swore that the child was whipped, poorly fed and clothed.

The court severely reprimanded the parents and in letting them go warned them that if the child was not sent to school and accorded proper treatment from now on that the case would then be turned over to Mrs. Day, guardian of the State of New Jersey Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children. "This society presses all cases which comes before it to the limit," the court added as a final warning.

Bartholomew Kelly, of Madison avenue, is planning a brief vacation for Memorial Day, during which he will visit his daughter, Mrs. Joseph Neff, at Brooklyn.

BOY SCOUTS TO DIVIDE BALANCE IN TREASURY

The fathers of the disbanded Boy Scout Cadets met in the upper room of the Borough Hall, last evening, to decided as what to do with the ninety odd dollars that has been in the hands of Mayor E. B. Latham since Treasurer Mrs. E. L. Field, of the advisory board, removed to New York several months ago. The meeting was called by Arthur J. Hamley.

Mayor E. B. Latham was appointed chairman of the meeting and after considerable discussion a committee, consisting of E. R. Smalley, Charles Johnson and John Pierson, was appointed to call on the parents of the boys still owing a balance on their outfits and after collecting this money to then have the total in the treasury divided equally among the cadets, who number thirteen.

Before arriving at this decision several other propositions were discussed at length by the meeting. Mayor E. B. Latham proposed that the money be used towards purchasing and adding to the public library suitable books for the cadets, and A. J. Hamley proposed that the cadets reorganize.

FOUND BUSINESS SOUTH AND WEST MUCH IPROVED

E. O. Spurdle, of Washington avenue, returned to the borough last evening, after an absence since Monday, on a business trip. He visited Pittsburgh and went as far south as Norfolk, Va. While in the Pittsburg district Mr. Spurdle was the guest of honor at a banquet given by this year's graduates from Susquehanna University, located at Selins Grove. Speaking of business conditions, Mr. Spurdle said that he noted a wonderful improvement in the Pittsburgh district over his last trip and he also found business unusually brisk in the South for this time of the year. Mr. Spurdle is of the opinion that President Wilson's speech at Philadelphia and his note to Germany has had much to do with the improvement.

SUIT AGAINST UNION SEMINARY IS LIKELY

Rochester, N. Y., May 21.—A committee of the General Presbyterian Assembly, which is holding its big meeting here, is expected to report a recommendation that the Assembly institute a suit against the Union Theological Seminary of New York, to compel the seminary to give up some of its millions. The committee has been delving into the legal aspects of the controversy between the Assembly and the Seminary, and it is said that drastic action will be recommended. The seminary has now no official connection with the assembly, but it once had a large sway, and many Presbyterians claim that the seminary holds vast funds that rightfully belong to the church. For a long time the seminary was Presbyterian, and its charter required all its professors to be of that faith. Much money was willed to it under that regime, the givers stipulating that doctrines of the Westminster confession be taught by professors maintained on income from the funds. It is notorious, say orthodox Presbyterians, that the seminary teaches anything but the confession.

Miss Elinor Coons, daughter of Mrs. Charles Coons, of Somerset street, who underwent an operation for appendicitis a few days ago at Muhlenberg Hospital, is reported as being out of danger, although it will be sometime before she will be about again.

Hall, criticising the teachings of Pastor Russell. Those who have heard these discussions are urged to hear Mr. Siewert, who will give these subjects full consideration from the scriptural point of view. All are invited. LAY IN ROAD AFTER BREAKING AN ANKLE

Dr. C. A. Griffin, of Orange, Picked up Near Somerville After Accident.

Somerville, May 21.—Freeholders Frank W. Remsen and Herbert Van Cleef, while traveling through Somerset county in the former's automobile yesterday, near Neshanic, found a man who had been injured in a motorcycle accident. One ankle was broken in two places and he was suffering from many cuts and contusions. They hurried him in the automobile to the Somerset County Hospital, where it was learned he was Dr. C. A. Guffin, a well-known physician, of Orange.

He was making a motorcycle trip, and early yesterday morning, after stopping Wednesday at a hotel in Somerville, approached two roads which lead to Princeton. In looking to determine which he should take the doctor lost control of his motorcycle and was thrown to the road.

He lay stunned for some time. His machine was partly wrecked. It was brought to Somerville by a local dealer, who was sent after it by Remsen and Van Cleef.

Y. M. C. A. BOYS' COUNCIL AIDING THE SECRETARY

The Boys' Council, of the Y. M. C. A., is getting a list of all the boys in the city and borough for Boys' Secretary Edwin Glaentzer. Permission has been obtained from Superintendent Henry Maxson, of the city schools, and Supervising Principal D. Fred Aungst, of North Plainfield, for the use of the school registers and files which will make the work easier.

The members of the council, aided by the members of the department, will address all envelopes and then deliver Y. M. C. A. circulars personally. The council, which was only recently organized with Martin Snyder as president, has been a great help to the boys' secretary.

ELECT TRUSTEES.

WATCHUNG COUNCIL HOST FOR "VISITATION" GUESTS

Members of the Watchung Council, No. 552, Knights of Columbus, will be the hosts for visiting councils of New Jersey at a visitation meeting to be held in Columbus Club Auditorium next Tuesday night. Plans have been completed for the event and a local committee will furnish entertainment for the guests, following the usual ceremonies.

This meeting is one of the series being held in the State, it being arranged on a rotation basis, Plainfield having been singled out as the council to make provision for this session.

TO VISIT NAVY YARD.

If the weather is clear on Saturday, May 29, the members of the Omaha team, of the Y. M. C. A., Indian League, will take a trip to the Brooklyn Navy Yard. They will be accompanied by Boys' Secretary Edwin Glaentzer. There will be about ten in the party. Similar trips will be planned for the other teams of the league at later dates.

The Probasco Bible Class held its monthly meeting at the Y. M. C. A. last night, when the members enjoyed interesting informal talks by Rev. Dr. Philip B. Strong, Dr. Norman H. Probasco and J. Henry Crane. Several plans were considered for an especially interesting meeting in June, the date to be announced later. During a social hour refreshments were served.

The members of the class wish it known that young men not affiliated with other classes are cordially invited to attend the meetings and a hearty welcome is extended to all such to join the class.

HEALTH EDUCATION

Public education is now recognized as an indispensable part of any health promotion program. Whether the organization be municipal, State or national, some method is necessary whereby the salient facts may be presented and the proposed work outlined to the public. Many State boards of health have developed elaborate and effective methods for educating the people of the State on disease and its prevention, but only a few larger cities have undertaken to do so.

A marked recognition of the growing demand for such work is the recent creation, by the Department of Health of New York city, of a Bureau of Public Health Education, in charge of an experienced man, carefully chosen after a civil service examination. One of the recent innovations inaugurated by this bureau is the publication of a series of neighborhood bulletins for use in different quarters of the city. It is a significant commentary on the growing complexity of our largest city that pamphlets which are of great value in one part of New York are practically useless in another. The recognition of this fact and the effort to meet it by preparation of special pamphlets for each section is an evidence of the careful study that is being given to the problem and the effort that is being made to adapt methods to needs and conditions.

Physicians of the middle ages dreamed of a panacea, a single marvelous remedy which would cure all diseases. But they dreamed only. In the public health field, as well, we must learn that there is no single remedy. No one plan, says The Journal of the American Medical Association, will apply everywhere, and in no single method does success lie. Careful study of each locality and its needs and the devising of educational methods which will be effective under actual rather than ideal conditions should be one of the most important duties of each health organization.

How generously the help of the American people has gone out to sufferers through the national antagonisms in Europe is instanced in a recent report of The Commission for Relief in Belgium, which shows that, counting cargoes arranged for, food and clothing to the value of many millions of dollars, have been sent from this country for distribution among the destitute Belgians. There are some 7,000,000 persons in Belgium, as now figured, requiring support. It is a crippled, hungry nation, and here the cry of destitution has been heard. The United States is not only the almoner of the destitute in the ravaged Eastern Hemisphere; it is the exemplar and the instructor in the better way of living. Our emissaries carry them the food, without which they must starve, and they show them how to model their manner of existance upon lines of health, and how to combat effectually the epidemics of disease. It is a great and noble role that Uncle Sam is playing in the theatre of world events—and he is playing it well.

The Bayonne Review, a newspaper which has worried along for many years without making any particular impression in its field, has been taken over by a corporation headed by Congressman Edward W. Gray, and the improvements and changes that have been made give to the city the first real daily paper it has ever had. It has become a welcome visitor to the exchange desk.

The contributed editorial for tomorrow has been prepared by Charles Hillman Fountain, who has taken as his subject, "Billy Sunday and His Critics." Mr. Fountain's article is in reply to the one printed last Saturday by George I. Sill, and it gives us pleasure to be able to present both sides of the argument by such able writers.

Plainfelders will have another opportunity tonight to learn more about the splendid work being done by the Recreation Committee if they visit the High School and see the performance to be given by the Dramatic Club of that very active and successful local organization.

These are the days when we are called upon to pay $20 more a month for a summer "bungalow" than we did when the same building was called a cottage.

THE FORUM

Editor Plainfield Daily Press:

The enclosed clipping from the New York Times speaks for itself, and should be carefully pondered by those who are to vote on the suffrage amendment next October. That the criticism is colored by disappointed ambition may be true, but the facts on which the criticism is based are also true.

Women working as women for a needed reform or for a philanthropic measure have proved their power all over the land. But when they become voters the party element enters in, and only too often renders their efforts of no avail. "United they stand, divided they fall," and party feeling is a sure cause of division. The Suffragists have been practically in politics for many years, and look at the result. The suffrage camp is divided into factions which hasten to disavow each other's actions. Take warning from Colorado.

Denver, May 18.—The lightest suffrage vote ever polled in Denver, since Colorado became an equal suffrage State, was cast in today's municipal election, according to politicians and other experienced observers. A violent snowstorm raged most of the day and kept a large percentage of voters from the polls.

The Suffragists admitted, however, that the inclement weather was not the cause for their poor showing.

"I'll tell you what's the matter," said Mrs. Martha J. Cranmer, member of the State Board of Pardons, and a pioneer in the Suffrage movement in Colorado. "Most of the women have become disgusted and quit voting. One might as well be frank about it. Only a few more elections and all the women in Denver will quit voting. The women have shown they can't stand together. They have divided into factions, and instead of 'going down the line' for a good cause, they spend their time 'knifing' one another. I am completely disgusted. I shall never vote again. Suffrage is a failure. The facts speak for themselves."

The only woman candidate was Mrs. Nora Wright, who ran for Commissioner of Social Welfare. She was endorsed by two women's leagues, but their promised support failed to materialize. One of Mrs. Wright's supporters said:

'Suffrage is hopeless, I guess. Like the men, women workers on election day want to be paid. Their slogan is 'No pay, no work.'"

Three amendments voted on today were thought to be of special interest to women—a proposed bond issue for a women's industrial home, one for city hospital improvements, and the home rule amendment to decide whether Denver shall be "wet" or "dry." The "Wets" won by a large majority, and the prohibition question will be fought out in the courts.

LUNCH BOX SOCIAL.

ROCKEFELLER ON STAND.

Washington, May 21.—John D. Rockefeller, Jr., told the Commission on Industrial Relations today of the efforts made by his associates and the mine officials of the Colorado Fuel and Iron Company in Colorado to better working conditions of miners. His testimony followed closely along the line of evidence which the commission has been collecting during the past week of conditions in the Colorado camps.

BIRMINGHAM "FIRED."

Cleveland, May 21.—Joe Birmingham was today deposed as manager of the Cleveland American League Club by President Somers. Birmingham, who succeeded Harry Davis as leader of the Naps in midseason, 1913, has met with many reverses during his managerial career. His successor has not been named.

WOMAN ARRESTED.

Marion Brown, colored, was picked up by Patrolman Martin Welsh on Park avenue, this afternoon, while acting in a mysterious manner. The woman will be detained at police headquarters until she is examined by City Physician Norman W. Currie to determine her mental condition.

ADMITS MURDER OF HUSBAND.

Buffalo, May 21.—Mrs. Cynthia Buffun today pleaded guilty to murder in the second degree in connection with the poisoning of her husband, William Buffun. She was at once sentenced to twenty years' imprisonment at Auburn, with a maximum life sentence.

THURSDAY NIGHT DANCING CLASS GIVES RECEPTION

A reception to mark the closing of the season, was given by the members of the Thursday night dancing class in the Doyle and McCormick dancing studio, on West Front street, last night. There were fifteen couples present. This class has met twice every month during the winter and the meetings have been pleased.

A farewell party was held in connection with the reception in honor of Charles Rice, who was an assistant dancing instructor, who leaves for the West next Tuesday. At 11:30 a course dinner was served and the festivities did not come to a close until a late hour.

QUEEN MARY'S PANTRY.

A Dazzling Array of Gold and Silver Plate at Windsor.

Among the famous pantries of the world is that of Queen Mary at Windsor. This pantry comprises two rooms of no great dimensions, but it contains treasures in the form of plate and household articles that are valued at more than a million pounds sterling. Many of these possess historic interest. For example, there is a conspicuous exhibit in the form of a table of solid silver. This is nearly a yard in length, and its top, with an area of several square feet, bears the royal arms and exquisitely chased designs of the symbolic rose, thistle, harp, etc. Every reign since that of Elizabeth has contributed to this table a design of some sort.

The most imposing of all the dazzling array of plate is the so called gold dinner service for occasions of the highest state.

The walls of the two rooms of this royal pantry, the larger of which is 30 by 16 feet and the smaller a square of sixteen feet, are lined with cases of plate glass and mahogany, and in these and similar cases occupying the center of each room are some of the most extraordinary examples of art in gold, silver and precious stones that the world has ever seen.

There are tall, graceful epergnes, each of which would tax the strength of two men to lift; there are dishes in gold and silver any one of which would be too heavy to run away with; dainty toilet services in gold and silver, candelabra, communion services, flagons, vases, punch bowls, wine coolers, fountains and fonts, in silver, wrought in designs of great beauty by the most skillful of artists.—Washington Post.

BARBED WIRE IN WAR.

It Is Used In Various Ways and Is a Deadly Defense.

Barbed wire is today as necessary a part of an army's equipment as pontoons or trenching tools. In war barbed wire is used in various ways, but its main object is man stopping. It is interlaced with ground pegs in front of trenches for the purpose of tripping charging troops, it is strung across bridges and main roads to prevent the passage of cavalry, and it is used for fencing in camps to guard against rushing tactics on the part of the enemy.

Whenever possible barbed wire entanglements are hidden in long grass or in hedges, so that advancing troops will be trapped while the enemy rakes their lines with shot and shell. Barbed wire concealed in undergrowth is particularly deadly where cavalry is concerned, for the wire grips the horses' hoofs, causing them to fall on the spike strewn ground.

At times certain roads that it is desirable to have passable to townspeople have to be rendered impassable to an army. To accomplish this zigzag fences of barbed wire are built from one side of the road to the other until they form a maze. A peasant with time to spare can pass this barrier by laboriously threading his way through the narrow zigzag passage left open, but an army of several hundred men, especially if they have guns or are mounted, must halt to destroy the entanglement.

The barbed wire used for military purposes possesses long, jagged joints, which inflict most painful wounds on the body, especially when men and horses fall on to them headlong, as so often happens.—Philadelphia Press.

The Daffodil.

Originally the daffodil was known as the asphodel. From this to daffodil was the first verbal transition. The name gradually rounded itself into daffodilly—the form adopted by Milton in the beautiful line, "The daffodillies fill their cups with tears." However, before Milton wrote, the flower had come to be generally known as the daffodil, and it figures under this name in John Parkinson's "Garden of All Sortes of Pleasant Flowers," published in 1629. Parkinson found more variety in the daffodil than in any other flower, nearly a hundred kinds being described in his work.—London Chronicle.

The Right Place.

"Really, Kate," said the young man, in considerable agitation, "I am very sorry I lost my head and kissed you. I didn't think what I was doing. It is a sort of temporary insanity in our family."

"Well, Roy," replied the young woman, "if you ever feel any more such attacks coming on you had better come right here where your infirmity is known, and we will take care of you."—New York Times.

RINGS ABOUT THE SUN.

Superstitious Plainfielders were worried over the appearance yesterday of two great rings about the sun resembling clouded rainbows. They were first noticed shortly after noon. The rings stood out markedly against the clear sky backing them. Scientists say that they were solar halos caused by a condensation of atmosphere. Throughout Delaware and Pennsylvania, where they were much plainer than in this city, many of the inhabitants in the country districts are reported to have been frightened, expecting the worst to come. Some even prophesied the end of the world was at hand.

boats are guarding the harbors at Venice and Genoa to prevent interned German ships from putting out to sea.

The German Ambassador, Prince von Buelow, and the Austrian Special Envoy, Baron von Macchio, have not yet left Rome, it was stated at their embassies early today.

Presumably under orders from their governments they were making final arrangements for the protection of their national whose business interests require them to remain in Italy after hostilities actually begin. Von Buelow, according to one report, confided to attaches of a neutral embassy here that he did not expect to leave Rome for at least two days.

London, May 21.—A news agency despatch from Athens reports heavy fighting near the neck of the Gallipoli Peninsula. The great guns of the British battle ship Queen Elizabeth are being fired from the Gulf of Saros, thus assisting in the Allies' attack. The Turks are supported by the guns of the Sultan Selin, formerly the German cruiser Goeben, which are being fired from the Sea of Marmora. Turkish troops from Aivali, in Asia Minor, are said to have been transferred to the Dardanelles.

A news agency despatch from Athens says that the British legation there has offered $10,0000 reward for the destruction of German submarines in the Mediterranean.

A despatch from Petrograd says that the following official statement was given out there today:

"In the fighting of the last three weeks since the beginning of the operations of the enemy in the Carpathians their losses on May 10, 11, 12 and 13 have been great. Certain regiments of the enemy were entirely wiped out. During this period 40,000 prisoners have been captured by us.

Paris, May 21.—The French war statement issued this afternoon says:

"The fighting north of Ypres took place on the east bank of the Yser Canal, to which the Germans retired some time ago. The Germans first succeeded in gaining a foothold in the French trenches, but counter attacks were begun immediately by the French, which not only won them their old trenches but additional ground beyond their original positions. A severe artillery duel took place all during last night on the Notre Dame De Lorrette-Souchez-Neuville front, north of Arras."

Geneva, May 21.—The entire Swiss army has been mobilized and stationed on the north, south and east frontiers to prevent violation of Switzerland's neutrality. The national forces will be increased to 400,000.

Washington, May 21.—Concern over the course and position of the United States in the present crisis between Austria and Italy and other matters of international importance today resulted in the State Department drawing close censorship around official news. Secretary Bryan informed the Washington correspondents that hereafter he will refuse to answer two sorts of questions: Those which have to do with negotiations with other countries which might embarrass him through his inability to answer them, and questions having to do with his communications with President Wilson.

Warrenville.

Mr. and Mrs. W. Howard Toms entertained the Coontown Ladies' Aid at their home, last night. A large crowd attended and $8 was added to the treasury. Several solos and duets were rendered by the young folks who attended.

Fred Possiene took a load of fifteen people to Plainfield last night, and attended the Christian Science lecture that was given in the Plainfield High School Auditorium. Among those who attended were Mrs. Rudolph Steffens, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Possiene, Mr. and Mrs. George Martin, Mr. and Mrs. L. Cole, Mr. and Mrs. George Tatum, Henry Williams, John C. Cooper and Rudolph Steffens.

The Misses Bertha and Lent Buttleman, of Jersey City, are visiting friends here.

Mrs. Rudolph Steffens will spend the week-end with relatives in Brooklyn.

Miss Viola Hauer has been visiting her sister, Mrs. Howard Toms, of Plainfield.

The Mt. Bethel Grange, No. 201, will hold an entertainment and dance at Mountain House Hall, Mt. Bethel, tonight. Burrell's orchestra from Bernardsville will furnish the music.

PLAINS' FISHERMAN REGULAR IKE WALTON

Eighty-three Year Old Constable Walpole Still Enjoys Sport.

Although eighty-three years of age, Constable Robert Walpole, of Scotch Plains, is one of the most enthusiastic and successful anglers in this section. In the belief of some old residents, Izaak Walton never had anything on the veteran constable when it came to showing his hand in hooking the elusive brook trout and bass. Only recently Constable Walpole hung up a local record when, in company with Hobart Peddit, of Brooklyn, he caught eighteen trout in Greenbrook stream, near Feltville.

"B'gum, I guess that'll hold 'em for a while," declared Walpole, in relating this wonderful catch. Green Brook stream was stocked last year by the State Game Commission, and the catches have been numerous this season.

Constable Walpole, or "Uncle Bob," as he is known by the village folk, does not confine his operations to this section. Almost every fall and winter he takes a trip to Florida or Virginia in quest of fish and game. He is also credited with being the best rabbit shot in this section.

On August 10 Mr. Walpole will be eighty-four years old. Accordingly, he is probably the oldest fisherman and hunter in New Jersey. He was born in Scotch Plains and has been a lifelong resident. His longest "leave of absence" was during the Civil War. He enlisted with Company I, New Jersey Volunteers, and served throughout the conflict. He tasted smoke and heard the bullets whistle at Chancellorsville, Antietam and other battlefields.

NEW RIVAL FOR N. P. H. S.

The North Plainfield High School nine will take on a new opponent tomorrow at Hyde Oval, when the High School team, of West Hoboken, will play. This team has never before been placed on a borough athletic schedule, and is only one of several new ones that Manager Van Camp has placed on the list. A good game is looked for. It will start at 3:30 o'clock, and Ernest Stahl will occupy the mound for North Plainfieled.

"YE OLDE HAS BEENS" ARE USING LINAMENT

Rusty Joints of N. P. H. S. Graduates Being Limbered up for Big Game.

The annual baseball tilt between the North Plainfield High School team and the graduates is scheduled to be staged on Hyde Oval one week from tomorrow afternoon at 3:30 o'clock. Last year the schoolboys took the short end of the score and are aching for revenge, while the "grads" are confident of again taking the measure of the maroon and black supporters. On the alumni team this year there will be several players who wore High School uniforms last year against the graduates.

The team has practically been formed, and Percy Bailey, the hero of the 1911 city championship, or Carlton Smith will occupy the mound with Pierson Bailey behind the bat. All three of these players are sluggers of the first order. Although Bailey has not pitched regularly for several years he still has plenty of "stuff" with which to make the boroughites sit up and take notice. On first base will be "Ash" Burger, who played that position last season, while "Bill" Taylor, '12, will receive the throws at second base. The shortstop position has not yet been filled, but "Rus" Conroy will play at his old position, third. In the outfield will be Spencer and Dunning, playing centre and left respectively. The right garden has not been filled. "Mac" Krewson and Harry Jackson, both of whom played on the 1911 championship outfit, are also in line, as well as "Ed" Bodin, who was a shortstop for two years.

Captain Smalley will have his best team on the field as he is still thinking of last year's defeat when he was also leader of the school delegation. Stahl will occupy the box.

BUZZERS HAVE SOME BEES IN THEIR BONNET

Bound Brook Promises to Spring Some Surprises Tomorrow Afternoon.

The Bound Brook Bees are scheduled to meet the Saurer champions on Parker Field tomorrow afternoon at 3:30 o'clock. This will be the second meeting of these teams, the first being played at Bound Brook, which resulted in a 6 to 4 win for the motormen. Harriman will not appear in the lineup tomorrow, and Tommy Mullin will cover the third sack. Manager Martin will play second, Jaeger short and Garretson first, which makes one of the best infields obtainable in this city.

McLaughlin will do the twirling for Saurer and will be opposed by McFadden or a new man which the Bee manager is ready to spring.

The teams will probably lineup as follows:

Saurer.	Bound Brook.
Mullin, 3b	Frezza, cf
Martin, 2b	Coughlin, 3b
Garretson, 1b	Walker, 1b
McLaughlin, p	Wall, lf
Bergen, c	Dougherty, 2b

The board of directors of the Plainfield High School Boys' Athletic Association met yesterday with Physical Director Ralph S. PUBLIC SERVICE EMPLOYES HAD A GALA FIELD FESTIVAL

The Public Service Railway trainmen had a field day at Hilton Oval, South Orange, yeserday. Special cars carried conductors, motormen and their families from all parts of the company's system to the athletic grounds, where many track and field events and a baseball game made up a fine program. Many officials of the company were in attendance, including President Thomas N. McCarter, who threw the first ball in the baseball game.

In the baseball game the southern division, made up principally of Camden men, was pitted against a team from the northern division. Smith and Frett were in the points for the southerners, and Furman and Heckel were the battery for the other side. A good game resulted, with victory going to the southern division by the following score:

Southern ..... 2 0 1 0 3 2 3—11

BIRTHDAY PARTY FOR LODGE MEMBERS

Mrs. Marie C. Claassen and Charles F. Meyer, Jr., Honored by Iona Council.

Iona Council, No. 14, Daughters of Pocahontas, gave a reception and birthday party last night in honor of two of its members whose natal day anniversaries occurred on that date. The guests of honor were Mrs. Marie C. Claassen and Charles F. Meyer, Jr., both of whom were the recipients of numerous congratulations. The attendance numbered nearly a hundred, and was confined exclusively to members of the orgapization.

Miss Carrie Forbes, who is Pocahontas of Iona Council, was in charge of the ceremonies. Under her direction the gathering enjoyed an informal program of vocal and instrumental music, recitations and addresses. Both Mrs. Claassen and Mr. Meyer made responses to numerous well-wishing speeches directed especially to them. A feature of the program was the presence of Naylor's band, which rendered several concert numbers and afterward played for dancing. Refreshments were served in conclusion.

The affair was arranged by the council's good and welfare committee, composed of Mrs. Julia Hallerd, Miss Ella Sebring, Miss Carrie Hoffered, Mrs. Millie Bunn, Miss Agnes K. Clarke and Miss Viola Mundy.

Previous to the birthday reception the council held a regular business meeting, at which one candidate was elected and one proposition for membership was received. The council also received an invitation to attend the first anniversary of Chippewa Council, of Newark, on June 7, and voted to attend in a body. Chippewa is the "baby" council of the State, but already has a very large membership, and the anniversary promises to be one of the most successful fraternal celebrations in New Jersey this year.

THE EXHIBIT OF THE PRUDENTIAL AT THE PANAMA-PACIFIC EXPOSITION.

The officers of The Prudential have been notified by Charles C. Moore, president of the Panama-Pacific International Exposition, at San Francisco, that May 27 has been designated as Prudential Day, and that it will be observed in the entire Exposition as such. To mark the occasion, the officials of the company have arranged for a luncheon at the New Jersey building for that date, and the members of the Ordinary Agencies' $100,000 League will be present on New Jersey Day, May 24, and Prudential Day, May 27.

The company will give a dinner at the St. Francis Hotel on New Jersey Day, and invitations for the affair have been accepted by Governor Hiram Johnson, of California; Governor Fielder, of New Jersey, and his staff and President Moore. There will be a number of officers of The Prudential present, as well as the members of the $100,000 league.

The big exhibit of the company in the Social Economy section of the Palace of Mines and Metullurgy is now open, covering a floor space of 6,500 feet, the fundamental principles being the relation of life insurance to public welfare and the facts of insurance experience in their relation to social and economic problems.

While the exhibit is primarily scientific, it has been popularized as much as possible, and includes models of the home office building, in Newark, a replica of the Rock of Gibralter from stone from that fortress and a stained-glass window of the rock.

The exhibit is divided into eight sections, illustrating, first, the methods and results of The Prudential; second, the mortality experience of the company; third, American public health progress; fourth, the mortality of the Western Hemisphere; fifth, life insurance methods throughout the world; sixth, the documentary history of insurance from its origin to the present day; seventh, life insurance architecture; and, finally, some historical and interesting facts about Gibralter, symbolized in the advertising legend that "The Prudential has the strength of Gibralter." The exhibit also includes a model of the home office buildings and the original certificates and medals of all the origial awards received by the Company at international or national expositions.

This work entailed exhaustive study and the expenditure of large sums of money, as most of the originals of the documents photographically reproduced are owned by the company. The exhibit, a work of years, was prepared by Frederick L. Hoffman, statistician of the company.

The section illustrative of the work of life insurance companies throughout the world represents the co-operation of practically all the leading companies. Life insurance methods in Bulgaria, China, Dutch East Indies, Finland, Greece, India, Jamaica, Japan, Russia and South Africa, as well as in the leading European countries, are represented by charts, and these are believed to constitute a valuable contribution to the aims and purposes of the World's Insurance Congress.

The architectural plans of the big companies all over the world are represented in another section of photographs of the home offices of the companies of every race and clime.

The exhibit has been arranged with special regard to sympathy of interior decorations, carried out in solid oak of dark flemish finish. All the charts which constitute the scientific exhibit have been specially prepared for this Exposition and have never been shown before.

The whole exhibit has been so constructed that it can be removed and installed at the Home Office of the company after it has served its purpose in San Francisco.

It is urged upon every policyholder of the company who intends to visit the San Francisco Exposition to call at the company's exhibit, where every possible courtesy will be extended by the attendants in charge.

THE WOMAN'S COLUMN

Boston.—That more than thirty women have served as Mayor of cities is the declaration of Alice Stone Blackwell the suffragist leader, who takes exception to the reports that an Illinois woman recently elected is the second woman to serve in this high office. "Generally speaking," continues Miss Blackwell, "they have served so quietly, smoothly and successfully that nothing about them has got into the papers outside their own States.' A long series of women have been chosen mayors in Kansas in the smaller cities. Occasionally a full city government of women has been elected. Several women mayors have served in Oregon and other far western States. Since the British Parliament, in 1907, made women eligible, many women have been elected councillors, three have been chosen mayors and one in Scotland, Lord Provost. Mrs. Lee, Mayor of Oldham, England, is so much beloved in her city that when a street car strike occurred she succeeded in bringing about a settlement, and conducted the first car through the city herself."

Seattle.—Threatened with deportation, which means suicide in her own country, and asking only the right to live, Ah Fak, a comely Chinese woman of 26, recently sought police protection here. She came to Seattle ten years ago and married Eng Yan, a Chinese merchant, in Chinese custom. Her marital troubles brought about a separation, and her husband has offered a reward for information as to her whereabouts and declaring she is a subject of deportation. The Chinese custom would oblige her to end her own life, should she be deported, she said, for a discarded wife is without social standing in the Orient.

St. Louis.—Mrs. Minna Mollman, of East St. Louis, has the unique distinction as the "Mother of Mayors." Two of her sons were elevated to be chief executives in the April elections. Fred W. is now mayor of East St. Louis and his brother, Julius, is Mayor of Mascoutah, Ill. Mrs. Mollman, who is 73 years old, is proud of her boys. She says they have never forgotten her, and have been more devoted to their families than to politics.

Brooklyn.—Society women of Brooklyn will stage today and Saturday the Brooklyn Historical Pageant, the biggest show of the kind that the borough has ever seen. Events since the first settlement here 300 years ago will be portrayed by the society women in a dozen episodes of spectacular beauty. Mrs. August Dreyer is head of the pageant committee. The schools, military and civic organizations have joined with the society women in the presentation.

Salem, Ore.—The remarkable political career of Miss Fern Hobbs, who, as secretary of former Governor Oswald West, put the saloons of Copperfield, a wild border town, out of business, and became nationally famous, will be brought to a close, at least temporarily, today, when she retires as a member of the State Industrial Accident Commission. She offered her resignation if the Legislature did not amend the workmen's compensation act, and when the amendments failed, held true to her word. She sacrifices a $3,600 position for a principle.

Vienna, Austria.—Countess Stephanie, the second daughter of the late King Leopold, of Belgium, who reached her 51st birthday today, is among the most active of the royal Red Cross nurses in Europe. She is drowning the sorrows of tragedy and royal edicts in her present work. Her home is on the Austrian frontier at the Castle of Orosvar. When a young girl a marriage was arranged for her with Rudolph, the Crown Prince of Austria. Rudolph's habits and character were the gossip of Europe. Princess Stephane was exceedingly beautiful, but proud and headstrong, and little inclined to bear with patience the scandalous conduct of Rudolph. The union lasted for eight years and a daughter was born. Then came the tragedy of the Crown Prince's death. Shortly afterward the Princess fell in love with a Hungarian nobleman, Count Lonyay, and she married him despite the resentment of King Leopold and the Emperor Francis Joseph. Her father would not permit her to her mother's funeral. She has not been at court since the wedding of her daughter, Princess Elizabeth, in 1902. She was reduced in rank, and has found her present station difficult to endure. She further aroused the wrath of her father by inventing a chafing dish and putting it successfully on the market. But she demonstrated that she possesses her father's rare business ability.

CHASED "AFRICAN DODGER" WITH A SMALL-SIZED TREE

"Boss, dat's der closest I eber come ter gettin' a crack on the bean wid a club," said Joe Green, an "African dodger," when arraigned before Mayor Calkins in the city police court this morning, to answer to a disorderly conduct charge preferred against him by Patrolman George Muir. Green is employed in a "three shots for a nickel" stand at the carnival grounds and his scuffle with a white man yesterday afternoon led to his capture by Muir and incarceration in the local jail over-night.

According to Green an employe in a rival tent has for a long time been jealous of his ability to dodge 42-centimeter bullets of horseside hurled at his cranium by pleasure-seekers and yesterday afternoon sought to put his skull out of commission with the trunk of a small-sized tree.

When Muir happened along the white man was wielding the big piece of lumber in a menacing fashion over the head of the negro and upon being informed that the attacker had threatened to measure Green for a wooden kimono he gave chase. The white man, however, proved himself just as adept at "ducking" as Green did at "dodging" stray baseballs and Muir lost the scent when his quarry made himself scarce under a tent-flap.

With shivers running up and down his spine, Green ran up to Muir shouting: "Please, mister, save nuh from dat beast," and the copper considerately took him into custody for safe keeping.

It developed later that the two men had engaged in a verbal fight preceding the cross-lot chase and a charge was accordingly preferred against Green as a party to the crime. In the city court it was brought out that Green was not the aggressor and he was given a suspended sentence. Mayor Calkins at the same time, however, instructed Chief Kiely to warn the carnival manager to keep all of his ferocious beasts in captivity, whether they be two-legged, four-legged or split-toed.

HELD FOR A HEARING.

Arraigned in the city police court this morning on a charge of disorderly conduct preferred against him by Florence Schriven, Harry Wilson, of 205 View avenue, was held in $500 bail by Mayor Calkins, acting city judge, to appear for a hearing Monday morning.

HELD IN $100 BOND.

Mrs. Jennie Goldstein, of the borough, appeared in court before Justice Thomas Snape yesterday on a charge preferred by Mrs. Katherine Judge. The defendant was charged with calling Mrs. Judge names and threatening her. There were several witnesses, and Judge Snape, after hearing all testimony, placed Mrs. Goldstein under $100 bond to keep the peace. The bond was furnished by Mrs. Goldstein's husband. Mrs. Judge was represented by Robert Newton Crane, and William Newcorn was counsel for the defendant.

TOUCHED FOR $38.

Hayman Semer, of 902 West Third street, reported to the local police yesterday that his wallet had been taken from his pocket at the carnival grounds, Wednesday night. It contained $38. That pickpockets are operating at the show grounds is taken from the fact that another man lost $35 and still another lost $2 in the same way Wednesday night.

A library offers the advantages of good society to many who otherwise would not enjoy them, and, as we all know, society is one of the most important influences that tell on individual character. A man is not only known by the company he keeps, but he is largely made or unmade by it. Now books are written—at least the good books—by men and women of the better sort. They are people of marked intelligence and refinement, and constitute the best society in the world. To be intimate with them is to be in good society. If, then, we can bring all of these choice people, by their books, into our homes, and introduce them to our children and let them talk to us, we will have done much to raise the tone of our homes up to the level of what we call good society. And these people do not keep us at arms' length. They will talk confidentially to us and will tell us many things which are in their hearts, and which a man or woman would not tell us unless he were upon terms of the greatest intimacy with us. And what they say will start new trains of thought and suggest new ideas, and what is more, perhaps, will afford us sympathy and companionship when we need it very much, for everyone is lonely.

Let the library introduce you to a few choice spirits of this sort. If you do not know whom you wish to meet, ask the librarian for suggestions.

There are branches of the library at the following points, and books can be obtained at the hours indicated:

Jefferson School, Fridays, 7:30 to 9:00.

Washington School, Mondays, 7:30 to 9:00.

Netherwood Reform Church, Saturdays, 3:30 to 5:00.

Potter's Works, every second Tuesday, 9:00 a. m.

Y. W. C. A., East Front street, Mondays, 11:00 to 12:30; Wednesdays, 11:45 to 1:15; Saturdays, 7:00 to 9:00.

PROCTOR'S THEATRE

Proctor Theatre patrons need not leave off the by-weekly performance today or tomorrow for the sake of going elsewhere to see trained animals, monkeys in particular, for a whole troupe of this species of living beings is appearing this week at the popular Front street house. "The Monkey Cabaret" is being presented by these small animals in a way that is appealing to both young and old. This act is by far the most startling of its kind ever presented on the stage in this city.

The remainder of the vaudeville program through this evening and at all performances tomorrow, includes the following: Gallagher and Martin, in a comedy skit; the Swain Ostman trio, clever comedy acrobats; the Elsie May Trio, presenting new songs and steps, and the Four Slickers, in a variety of smiles, laughs and screams.

The picture program at Proctor's Theatre for today includes Charley Chaplin in catchy capers, the latest episode of "The Exploits of Elaine," while the new serial, "The Goddess," and Paramount Travel Pictures will be continued at all performances tomorrow afternoon and evening. Next week's bill of blue ribbon feature films will be announced through these columns tomorrow.

THE MASTER MIND

Novelized by Marvin Dana, author of "Within the Law," from the successful play by Daniel D. Carter

Copyright, 1913, by the H. K. Fly company.

"Cortland," she said falteringly, "I beg you not to ask him any more questions. Let him go—please! Oh, for pity's sake! I can't stand it! I"—She broke off, panting.

Her white face was drawn in agony, for Wainwright gave no least heed to her prayer. He contemplated the thief and spoke quietly.

"Who sent you here?"

"Aw, nobody sent me," the man replied flippantly. "I was invited."

"By whom?" Wainwright persisted.

"Ask the lady." Creegan's grin was frozen by the cold fury of the husband's low spoken phrase:

"You lie!"

"I do, do I?" he sneered. "Well, just take it from me. I don't. I knew her a long time before you ever did. Pipe that, mister! Aw, say! Don't kid yourself. What was she doin' down stairs by the safe at 2 o'clock in the mornin'? Eh? Havin' a cup of tea? Huh!"

Wainwright was dead white from the fury of his passion. His hands clinched.

"Take him away!" he ordered.

The wife dared a forlorn hope, crying out her plea wildly:

"Oh, Cortland! Let him go!"

Wainwright repeated his command.

"Take him away!"

Wainwright's face had settled into a mask of coldness as he turned to address his wife. But before he could speak his intention was halted by the surprising change that came over her within an instant. Where she had been shrinking, pallid, seeming even near to collapse from the misery that afflicted her, she now suddenly stood alertly upright, and a color burned hotly in her cheeks, and her eyes, filmed by suffering before, shone in their full violet radiance, unveiled again. Her hands were abruptly reached forth in a gesture of welcoming. Wainwright, following the movement of her arms, took in the figure of Andrew, standing motionless just within the doorway of the library. At sight of him there was a harder compression of Wainwright's lips. His voice, as he spoke, was suave.

"Ah, I was expecting you."

Andrew was undaunted.

"Pardon me, sir, but may I ask a question?" he inquired.

"Oh, certainly," Wainwright retorted. "Do you intend sending to prison the man whom Mr. Marshall just captured?"

Before Wainwright could answer the question put by the Master Mind there came an interruption by Lucene. It was despair that found tongue.

"Mr. Andrew, Mr. Andrew, what have you done to me?" she wailed. "Oh, what have you done?" Her voice broke in a storm of sobbing.

If a slight shiver touched the man under the clasp of the girl's hands it was imperceptible, arrested ere it began by the iron sway of his will. He spoke gravely.

"Mrs. Wainwright will excuse me, I know, if I say that I must speak with you alone," he said to Wainwright.

At this saying Lucene lifted her head and stared desperately into the granite face. The assured voice carried conviction to her.

"I am quite sure that she will trust my judgment in the matter." Ostensibly the sentence was spoken to Wainwright. In effect, it was directed to Lucene. She went slowly out of the room.

When she was gone the Master Mind, with a swiftness of movement utterly unlike his usual placidity of behavior, darted to the door and shut it. Then he faced his employer, standing fully erect, a smile of triumph bending his lips, at last. The humility of the trained servitor was vanished. In its place was a dominant personality, boldly proclaimed.

Wainwright met the transformation fairly.

"Well, Mr. Allen?" he remarked. His tone as he spoke the name that explained his knowledge of the other's identity was a challenge.

"That is quite correct," Andrew replied, with an enigmatic smile. "Incidentally this is the first time in twenty years that I have been addressed by my own name."

"The full name is Richard Allen, I believe?"

"Precisely."

"Alias, the Master Mind?"

"I believe that name has been given to me by some," Andrew replied, with unconcealed egotism. "I might even say by many."

"It is rather an ostentatious title," Wainwright commented indifferently.

"At least, it is not of my choosing," was the retort. "I merely adopted it after it had been given me by others."

"You had a brother," Wainwright suggested.

A spasm of emotion contracted the features of the other.

"My brother," he said in a hushed voice, "was Henry Allen, whom you sent to the chair. You—you!" The fury of hate vibrated in the voice.

"No," Wainwright declared sternly; "not I, but the law."

Andrew shook his head.

"You!" he repeated, with the emphasis of a supreme wrath.

Wainwright disdained insistence.

"May I ask why you so constantly reminded me of your enmity throughout all this time since the trial of your brother, which, one might suppose, would have no other effect than to put me on my guard?"

"I knew her a long time before you ever did. Pipe that, mister!"

Andrew admitted the implied statement as to Wainwright's freedom from petty cowardice.

"Exactly," he agreed. "I meant it to put you on your guard." Again he revealed his massive egotism. "To one such as I there could be no triumph in victory over a sleeping victim."

"Triumph!" Wainwright repeated the word thoughtfully. To his logical mind the inference was precise. "Then you think that you have triumphed?"

"Yes," came the confidential reply.

"Indeed!" The ejaculation of the word was replete with skepticism.

Andrew responded with fierceness.

"Yes, yes, Mr. Wainwright!" he cried savagely. "It is well that you should understand the truth at once. This night you are delivered into my hands, bound and helpless—into my hands!"

"Very well," Wainwright returned calmly. "In that case suppose you give me the details." There was to him a considerable relief in the arrival of this hour when there must be explicit evil, something real and tangible, in the stead of vague, imaginary horror, of the sort that had striven to haunt him since the receipt of the first white card.

Andrew grinned malevolently.

"With pleasure!" he declared. There could be no doubt as to the sincerity of joy with which he pronounced the trite phrase. It summed the culmination of weary years through which he had toiled for hate's sake to this end. Yet he hesitated still for a little before he began the elucidation of his scheming to compass the ruin of the man before him. "For every human action worthy of the name, Mr. Wainwright," he said at last, speaking with a new formality, "there is a motive. Mine, as you must already understand, was to avenge the death of my brother at your hands."

Again Wainwright interposed.

"At the hands of the law," he said quietly, yet determinedly.

Of Interest to Women and the Home

BUTTERCUPS ADORN THIS CHILDISH HAT.

A simple sailor shape of blue straw has been most charmingly trimmed for a young girl in this instance. A cluster of yellow field buttercups is set against one side of the crown, and a posy of red clover blossoms and blue bachelor buttons at the other side. Around the crown is a band of black velvet over blue moire ribbon, loops of the ribbon rising above the velvet band and ribbon ends trailing below over the drooping brim.

ACCORDION PLAITS STRIKING.

No. 8746.

Every girl has an innate desire to look her best at all times, and the question usually resolves itself into the selection of appropriate frocks—those frocks that best become feminine daintiness and modesty; that best show to advantage her natural grace and beauty. Accordion plaiting is simple and easy to use for not only does it require very little fitting, but it needs no trimming. The material itself has a charm and sweetness all its own. Ladies' Home Journal Pattern No. 8746 shows a delightful design making use of accordion plaits. This dress opens in the back and has kimono waist, straight skirt which may be accordion plaited or gathered at Empire waistline. The pattern cuts in sizes 16, 17 and 18 years, requiring in size 18, 5¾ yards 36-inch material with 3½ yards insertion, 1 yard lace edging for neck and 1 yard 12-inch ribbon for girdle.

Patterns may be obtained at the store of A. E. Force and Company.

Mrs. Charles Able, of Plainfield, is visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Isaac Teets, at Califon.

"The Man from Maine" will be repeated tonight in Rialto Hall, High Bridge.

William Mead, of High Bridge, has resigned from the Taylor-Wheaton Steel Company and accepted a position at the Brooklyn Navy Yard.

Mrs. George Latimer and Mrs. Elizabeth Corson, of High Bridge, spent the first of the week with relatives in Newark.

Miss Jennie Crater, of High Bridge, is visiting at Asbury Park.

Daddy's Bedtime Story—

Five Little Friends and Five Little Foes.

"Let's all be foes today."

"TONIGHT I must tell you about five little friends and five little foes," said daddy to Jack and Evelyn, beginning the evening story. "And just twice that makes ten little friends and ten little foes. I think that is the way to figure it. Do you know what a foe is, kiddies?"

"It's something naughty, I know that," answered Evelyn.

"A friend tries to help you, and a foe tries to harm you," explained daddy. "That's the simplest way to understand.

"These five little friends said to the other little five friends: 'Let's be friendly, all of us together. We'll be good today, and we'll help just all we can. Nobody shall scold because of anything we have done.'

"And the other five friends agreed to help the first five, and they had a delightful day, just as the first five friends said, and the day was worth while, you may be sure. Whatever these ten little friends did was just right. They helped all they could, and everything they took hold of was better for it, and the ten little friends just schemed to make every one love them.

"So it went, while mamma said: 'Why, how nice the ten little friends are today! I wish they were so every day.'

"And when papa got home mamma told him how good the ten little friends had been, and he was as pleased as she. And he said that he guessed he would hunt for a penny or two the next day for lollipops.

"But I am sorry to say that there were days when the ten little friends were ten little foes. And it would happen like this:

"There were mornings when somehow somebody got out of bed wrong. And then five little friends were somehow five little foes, and they would say to the other five comrades: 'Let's all be foes today. We've been good and friendly long enough. What do you say?' And the other five would say: 'Just as you think. We have to do the same as you do.'

"So the ten little friends would change into ten little foes, just as busy bees, which do good in the world, might suddenly change into angry little mosquitoes, which only sting and make trouble.

"The ten little foes would get into all sorts of trouble and mischief. They wouldn't do anything right and would snarl everything all up. And mamma would say:

"'What shall I do with these ten little foes that used to be friendly? I'm afraid I must slap them if they don't behave.' And when papa got home—well, what am I talking about, children?"

"You're talking about two hands and ten little fingers," cried the kiddies.

BY MRS. EVA LEONARD

"Well, Nell dear, I have been to the Scotts' and have told them what Mrs. Ellson is trying to do," said Mrs. Parsons, coming up on the porch where Nell sat sewing, with the baby by her side. "They had received the letter warning them against the doctor and dragging your name in as the cause of the divorce."

"Was it like the one she sent me?" asked Nell, wearily.

"The very same. The Scotts were highly indignant. Indeed, I had hardly sat down before the daughter handed me the letter to read. We talked it all over. I thought they might be able to suggest something."

"What lawyer has she engaged?" asked Nell. "Anyone here?"

"I don't know. Roger says any sensible lawyer would refuse to take the case, for she has not a single witness that amounts to anything. All she can prove is that the doctor was called to your house frequently, and anybody can see that with a young baby, frequent visits might be very necessary."

"I am very glad the county seat is a long distance from here. If only the trial is not made conspicuous in the papers, the talk may die down soon," said Nell with a sigh.

"There is one thing certain," said her friend, encouragingly, "anybody who knows you even slightly will not pay the slightest attention to her lies and you need not care for the opinion of strangers."

"But I do," sobbed Nell. "I can't bear to be a public target for eyes, as if I were a malefactor."

"Pshaw! nobody believes you have done what she says."

"I wish I were sure of that," sobbed Nell.

"She has her maid back, you know. The two are living there alone. The doctor has gone to Mrs. Brown's to board," continued her friend.

"I know." Nell wiped her eyes. "The maid sent me a note, saying as long as Mrs. Ellson wanted her, she had the first claim. I am afraid I should feel as if the girl were a spy of the enemy. I don't believe I want her."

"It's supper time now, dear. I must be going. Goodby," and Mrs. Parsons ran down the walk and waved goodby at the gate.

"The doctor came over to the office and had a long talk with me this afternoon," said Dick that night at the supper table. "He has filed a cross-petition for divorce, and the case will be brought to trial at the next term of court, in about five weeks from now."

"Will we have to go over to Gardner?" asked Nell in a weak voice.

"Oh, yes," answered her husband in a cheery voice. "We will have a big crowd. Mother will be down, and the Parsons, young Mrs. Scott——"

"Have they dragged her in?" asked Nell, aghast.

"She went to the doctor and offered to be a witness if her testimony could do any good. There are several witnesses to prove that you are not the first patient she has been jealous of. Ellson says his lawyer thinks it can be settled in two hours."

"Will she stay here after the case is settled?" asked Nell.

"The terms of the alimony will require her to go away, and all money will stop if she begins persecutions by mail, so the town will be rid of her, and that's worth all it costs," said Dick warmly.

Household Hints

FIRELESS COOKER ICE CREAM

Delicious ice cream may be made in a fireless cooker with very little work.

Whip cream before adding it to a prepared custard. Then beat custard well with a Dover egg beater, after which mix the two and again beat them. This gives the extra smoothness which is otherwise lost by the freezer not being turned. Pack this cream in a small tin (the inner tin receptacle of an ice cream freezer, if at hand, is a splendid thing), then place the tin inside of the pail of the fireless cooker and pack salt and ice around the outside of the pail. Fasten down the cooker for several hours, and when taken out the cream is much harder than when frozen in a regular freezer.

WHOLESOME ENTREES

Most of the entrees which come to the table are rendered unsuitable for those on diet by reason of flour and bread crumbs, both of which are of such constant use: the flour for thickening sauces, the bread crumbs for frying. Refuse all entrees when dining out and trust to the fish joint, game and green vegetables for your dinner.

In one's own home there is no need to go without entrees, and a good cook can, by omitting bread and flour and frying in egg and chopped nuts, find enough thoroughly suitable for eating.

Stewed Ox Tail—Divide ox tail at joints, put pieces into stew pan with cold water. When water boils, skim it, add onion sliced, three or four cloves, a little mace, pepper and salt. Let it simmer slowly 2½ hours, keeping stew pan covered. When done, take out ox tail, add to the gravy a lump of butter and let it boil again. Strain and add two dessertspoons catsup and juice of half a lemon. Replace ox tail, boil up, and serve.

Sausages—Bought sausages often contain bread; it is best, therefore, to make them at home. Sausage meat may be made as follows: Three pounds pork, 2½ pounds suet, two tablespoons chopped sage, peel of one lemon, one tablespoon sweet herbs, one nutmeg, one teaspoon pepper, one teaspoon salt. Cut meat free from gristle and skin; mix it with the other ingredients, and pass all through the sausage machine. If desired to dispense with skins, it will generally be found that the meat adheres sufficiently to allow of frying; if it does not, add sufficient egg to hold it together. It is best to pass the meat twice through the machine. Veal, or veal and pork mixed, may be treated in the same way.

FRECKLE TIME IS COMING

To Get Rid of Freckles—Take some English mustard with enough lemon juice to form a paste, as for a poultice; apply this to the face four nights in succession. Wash off each morning. The freckles generally disappear and likewise the redness.

Another remedy is to take rain water and add as much pulverized alum as the water will dissolve. Rub this on the freckles several times a day.

Still another method is to use half a teacup of water and two teaspoons powdered borax; allow borax to dissolve and wash affected parts twice a day.

With others this remedy is effective: Two teaspoons lemon juice, one teaspoon borax, one teaspoon sugar. Mix and allow to stand a day or two, then apply two or three times a day.

Another remedy: Break the stem of a dandelion, get the juice from this and rub on freckles morning and evening.

A good cold cream should be applied between applications for freckles.

THE TABLE

Smothered Ham—Take a good, thick slice of country ham, and hack it with a sharp knife, as you would beefsteak, then lay it in about a pint of good rich milk or cream for about twenty minutes; then roll in stale bread crumbs and fry.

Hamburger Roast—One and one-half pounds hamburger steak, one cup stewed tomatoes, one-half cup bread crumbs, three eggs beaten, one teaspoon salt, pepper to taste. Beat together. Bake twenty minutes of Christ, Scientist, of this city. Mr. Shield said:

RELIGION OF DIVINE LAW

A LECTURE ON Christian Science

Entitled

The Religion of Divine Law

by

JOCOB S. SHIELD, C.S.B.

Members of the Board of Lectureship of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Mass.

The message which I bear you is one of love. The Bible says "love is the fulfilling of the law," and it is of this fulfillment, as understood and practised in Christian Science, that I would speak to you.

There is in all men, individually and collectively, an inherent, instinctive respect for the law, even human law—which at best is faulty. The purpose of our discourse is to present Christian Science to you as based upon divine law—the function through which God's infinite good is operative in the universe and man.

Law is synonymous with truth, order, justice, equity. Therefore, to prove that Christian Science is based upon divine law we must prove that it is exact and right; that it pertains to a system, perfect in its operation; conforms to a proper standard, and violates no right; gives to every man his due, and above all, is universal in its adaptability.

An audience of this magnitude embraces perhaps almost every attitude of human thought, yet the very fact of your presence indicates that you seek truth. Consequently you will recognize the deductions of right reasoning, and can only conclude, I think, that Christian Science is a lawful religion.

THE LAW OF MOSES AND CHRIST JESUS THE SAME AS TAUGHT BY CHRISTIAN SCIENCE.

The Mosaic law, revealed to all men for all time from Mount Sinai, was the first exposition of the divine law which should govern man in his relationship to God, as well as to his fellow man. From it spring all human laws and moral codes. The First Commandment is supreme and all inclusive, in its declaration of God, and its warning against the recognition of any power or law as originating in anything that is physical or material. "Thou shalt have no other gods before me" is the origin and basis of all true religion. Upon it was founded the ancient confession of faith of the Jewish people: "Hear, O Israel: The Lord our God is one Lord," and "Thou shalt love the Lord thy God with all thine heart, and with all thy soul, and with all they might." (Deut. vx.vi. 4-5).

Christ Jesus taught this same law, saying, "Think not that I am come to destroy the law, or the prophets: I am not come to destroy, but to fulfil."

Christian Science accepts the law in all its completeness, as expounded by both Moses and Christ Jesus. On page 467 of "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," the Christian Science textbook, we read—"The first demand of this Science is, 'Thou shalt have no other gods before me.' . . The second is like unto it, 'Thou shalt love thy neighbor as thyself.'"

Resting under divine promise, confident that God would provide for and sustain them, the patriarchs Abraham, Isaac and Jacob—as well as the later prophets—manifested the power of God, through faith, attained unusual length of years, and through spiritual intuition imparted the Messianic prophecy, foreseeing the fulfilment of the promises in Christ Jesus. Jacob probably adhered most closely to the word of God. He it was who first discerned the basic rule of divine law that there must be a separation or division, in consciousness, of evil from good. He realized that man cannot serve two masters. Therefore he fought with the evil suggestions within himself, not letting go the angel—the thought of God—until he had won the struggle. Then it was that his name was changed from Jacob to Israel, or "soldier of God."

Some time every man will wrestle with the error within himself, even to the point of overcoming every thought at variance with God. Then will he have earned the name "Israel"—"soldier of God" and become one of the "children of Israel:" He will be of the "chosen people" because he has chosen God. The promise of the Revelation is "he that overcometh shall inherit all things; and I will be his God, and he shall be my son."

In the Old Testament narratives we can find a long list of works wrought by the power of God through the faith of those who confidently relied upon Him. Moses' transformation of the rod into a serpent; the leprous hand and its healing; the passage through the Red Sea; the sweetening of the waters of Marah; the falling of manna from the skies; the production of water from the rock; the healing of Miriam's leprosy; Elijah's increase of the widow's meal and oil; the raising of the widow's son from death; the rain which fell in answer to prayer; the translation of Elijah; the deliverance of the Hebrew boys from the fiery furnace and the preservation of Daniel from the lions, are all important records of God's power, and the direct result of the operation of divine law.

These Old Testament wonders are greatly intensified in their significance to humanity by the works of the man Jesus and his apostles in their adherence to the same law. The thousands who were healed, and the power he exerted over all material conditions and forces, give striking evidence that not only did he have the unbounded faith in God evinced by the Patriarchs, but that he understood the operation of divine law and its practical use in earthly life.

By adhering strictly to the original divine law and turning away from all false gods in matter, by giving to God the "glory, honor, dominion and power everlastingly due His holy name," following as closely as they can the commands of the master Metaphysician, Christian Scientists are today healing the sick and reforming the sinner—in a measure repeating the works of the Patriarchs and Christ Jesus.

HUMANITY SEEKING PRACTICAL RELIGION.

Thoughtful men are beginning to realize that religion must be more than a mere belief. They are learning that it cannot be inherited, transferred or adopted; that it is not the chattel of any particular organization or church, and that it is not acquired by fasting or feasting.

Humanity wants to know God—the God of Abraham, Isaac and Jacob—the God of the Prophets and of Christ Jesus. They want a God whom they may know as a Father, kind, merciful, just, true—who, as the Psalmist says, "forgiveth all thine iniquities; who healeth all thy diseases;" a God who hides not Himself from His children, but desires that they should know him; a God who is a very present help in time of trouble.

The religions of the world have failed to answer the heart's appeal. The searcher for Truth has been made to believe that nothing definite can be known until the portals of human existence close behind him. The man who is hungry and thirsty will seek food and drink wherever he can find it, and the same is true of him who is hungry and thirsty for spiritual food and drink.

Christian Science is doing much to satisfy the craving by giving men a scientific, demonstrable religion, a religion not so much of preaching as of works. Thousands upon thousands have been touched by this ministry of redemption, love, kindness, gratitude and good fellowship. Every sorrow comforted, ever pain relieved, every sin overcome, every misfortune reduced, every prejudice annulled, every disease healed by the power of God proves the efficacy of divine law, makes man more reverent toward God, and more gentle and tolerant toward his fellow man.

Christian Scientists accept God as their creator, as their guide and shepherd, as their provider, as their friend, as their physician, indeed as the very substance of their existence, "for in him we live, and move, and have our being."

Men must separate wrong from right thinking, even as one separates dross from gold, tares from wheat, impurities from water. This process leaves the pure, the good, the true, the eternal.

THE MISSION OF CRHIST JESUS

Only one man has lived on this earth who can be refered to as a perfect or ideal thinker, the man Christ Jesus. He understood and demonstrated the omnipotence, omniscience, and om nipresence of God and permitted no compromise of this all-inclusive truth to enter his consciousness. God was all-in-all to him. He instructed others to accept God in the same spirit, especially those who were blinded with ceremonial, ritualistic and material worship, but his teaching, works and mission were greatly misunderstood and remain so, in a large degree, even to this day.

Many honest Christian people believe Jesus to be God, and address much of their prayer and worship to him. Others disbelieve him entirely and use every possible argument to discredit his Messiahship, his works, and the narratives relating to him. Christian Science corrects these widely different beliefs.

The Christian Science interpretations of the teaching and mission of Jesus conform in every detail to his own statements and to the teachings of the Apostles and the Scriptures in general—both the Old and New Testaments.

The Jewish people had expected a Messiah long before the birth of Jesus. Prophecy foretold his coming, but the coming was not in the manner expected. They anticipated the coming of a mighty king who would overthrow the power of their oppressors and restore their material kingdom. They could see no likeness, in their conception of the Messiah, to the humble babe born in a manger. Their disappointment and irritation at the seeming failure of their hopes were so intense that every accusation which might prove that Jesus was not the one they expected, but an imposter, was eagerly believed and magnified until nearly the entire populace was in confusion and frenzy.

That there is a divine law, wisdom and power which was a secret from the world, is evident by the marvelous demonstrations of Jesus. Such wisdom is referred to in the Scriptures as the wisdom of God, against which worldly wisdom is called "foolishness." The entire Bible teems with references pertaining to such wisdom, such as the Proverbs—"Happy is the man who findeth wisdom, and the man that getteth understanding." "She is a tree of life to them that lay hold upon her: and happy is every one that retaineth her," and, "Get wisdom: and with all thy getting get understanding."

Christian Science shows that Jesus comprehended this Godly wisdom. With it he was enabled to prove the vast difference between the mortal mind and immortal Mind. His mission was, first, to demonstrate his own understanding of divine power and law, and second, to teach all men that the same power and law was universally available. He understood the law which leads man to the realization of eternal life. The world only knew the erroneous mortal mind law which leads to death. These laws are contrary the one to the other, as St. Paul relates in his letter to the Romans:

"For the law of the Spirit of life in Christ Jesus hath made me free from the law of sin and death."

JESUS OVERCAME ALL MATERIAL LAWS.

Jesus overcame the so-called law of material force by calming a raging sea, and stilling a violent storm. He overcame the laws of physiology, anatomy, pathology, and materia medica by healing the sick, the lame, the blind, the deaf, and by raising the dead. He overcame the laws of production by turning water into wine, and feeding the thousands with a few loaves and fishes—concluding with more than the original supply. He overcame the law of gravity by walking on the water. He overcame the law of mortality by overcoming death for himself and others. Finally, he overcame the law of material or physical existence by his ascension.

Is it not overwhelmingly evident that his mission was to demonstrate the superiority of divine power and law over the mortal and material law?

The same law which Jesus used centuries ago is operative and available today. Divine law is always present and universal, because it is infinite. That it is not circumscribed to personal possession is verified by Jesus' own words:

"He that believeth on me, the works that I do shall he do also; and greater works than these shall he do, because I go unto my Father." (John xiv.12.)

He came showing the "way, the truth, and the life." He came to bring to light the ideal man—the man with wisdom and power, the man whom God creates and the only kind of a man God ever created. Jesus desired that humanity should know the true status of being, and sought to teach them how to reject the evil and the erroneous conditions which hide the real man. Paul gives a similar admonition in his epistle to the Ephesians:

JESUS NOT GOD

No reference can be found in the Scriptures where in Jesus ever claimed to be God. Indeed, quite the reverse is true, as is evident from the statement:

"I can of mine own self do nothing."

"The Father that dwelleth in me, he doeth the works."

His saying, "I and my Father are one," referred to man's coexistence with God, the union of cause and effect. If a ray of light could express its relation to the sun it would say, "I and the sun are one," not one and the same, but at-one, linked together, the reflection of the sun.

Jesus' further statement, "He that hath seen me hath seen the Father," evidently referred to the quality of cause and effect as identical. The context shows that he had no intention of conveying the idea that those who saw his physical structure had seen God. What he clearly conveyed was that those who discerned the quality of Godliness, the good, the Life, the Truth, the Love, the power which he had shown forth had seen the same quality which comprises the allness of God. From the same reasoning one who has seen the smallest measure of water has really seen the quality of the mightiest ocean.

God can only be known and seen in quality, never in respect to quantity. God is infinite, and no man can ever comprehend or include infinity, but may continue to understand infinity more and more, forever.

HEALING BY THE EARLY CHRISTIANS

Jesus taught his disciples how to heal the sick and reform sinners, and they in turn taught others, so that, as history records, the healing was practised nearly three centuries after the crucifixion, and then it became so densely overshadowed by the evil in mortal mind that the human consciousness could not longer retain it. By departing from the law of Moses and his trust in God, and failing to heed the fulfillment of the law, as expounded by Christ Jesus, mankind perverted spirituality to materialism; true religion to superstition, religious zeal to fanaticism; divine wonders to necromancy and black art! divine science to occultism; divine influence to animal magnetism and hypnotism; spiritual joys to physical pleasures; spiritual desires to lust for material things; the help of God in time of sickness to drugs and other material means.

HEALTH THE RESULT OF GOOD THINKING

If you were the only person in the world and you had been thinking good and evil as the world generally does, and then you should conclude to discontinue this way and decide to think exactly as the Commandments and the Sermon on the Mount direct, and you should carry this out to the very letter, that is, think and do only that which is good, pure and upright, then where would evil be? Evil has no principle, law or government to uphold it. It is only what you permit it to be, in your thought. Hate, jealousy, anger and revenge are devils and they are our worst enemies to health and happiness.

Good thoughts, such as the childlike trust in God, kindness, love, gentleness, purity, honesty, uprightness, reflect health, harmony and beauty upon the body, while their opposites—trust in material help, hate, jealousy, dishonesty, immorality, etc., express discord and sickness in the body.

During the 14 years of my study and investigation of Christian Science I have seen nearly every kind of chronic and acute disease healed by the power of Christ Mind, after medical practitioners had given up all hope. Among them were cases of insanity, acute pneumonia, albuminaria, cancer, tumor, acute appendicitis, gall stones, chronic constipation, neuritis and many others. A number of these healings were among my own relatives. What I know of Christian Science, and what I have seen it accomplish, have given me the positive and absolute conviction that every disease known to humanity can be healed by the understanding and practice of God's law, as set forth in Christian Science.

Much is said in these days about hardening of the arteries, and high blood pressure. They too are the result of disturbed mental conditions.

COMMERCIAL PANICS THE RESULT OF FEAR

What is true of the human body is also true of the body politic. A panic produces a rigid state in the arteries of trade, in the manufacturing and commercial centers, so that nothing seems to move without extreme pressure. The dictionaries define panic as "extreme or sudden causeless, unreasonable fright." To cure such a condition, confidence must be restored. It was the great cry during the panic of 1907 that everything would be righted if only the fear of the people would relax.

If all people were Christian Scientists there would be no more panics, because they have confidence in the protecting and sustaining care of their heavenly Father, and thus lose the sense of anxiety in regard to their supply. They believe in the verity of the statement of our Master, "Seek ye first the kingdom of God, and his righteousness; and all these things shall be added unto you."

MAN IS AS HE THINKS.

The Scriptures declare, as a man "thinketh in his heart, so is he," and no truer statement was ever made. This does not mean, however, that man is what he thinks himself to be, for one might think himself very righteous when he was quite the opposite. It signifies that man's being is mental, and the quality of thoughts entertained represent his inclination—whether to the human or the divine, the mortal or the immortal.

Mrs. Eddy has named the sum total of all wrong thought mortal mind. All that pertains to evil, sin, sorrow, sickness, pain and death originate and have their seeming existence in this so-called mind. On the other hand, all that relates to life, health, peace, harmony and perfection have their origin and eternal existence in divine Mind.

CHRISTIAN SCIENTISTS BELIEVE IN PRAYER

Christian Scientists are sometimes said to be a prayerless people. No aspersion could be farther from truth than this. Christian Scientists believe in prayer without ceasing.

Our prayer is not so much in supplication to God for help as in acknowledgment of the good which He already has given. If one had a gold mine, filled with the precious metal, he would not think it consistent to pray for gold, but would expect to help himself to that which was already his. Christian Scientists do ask God for guidance, wisdom and help. They know that He has given them all things, and that their need is only to awake from their dreamy, mortal mind sense to avail themselves of His infinite goodness.

When a Christian Scientist is tempted to think of pain or sickness he immediately turns against it and declares for the allness, completeness and absolute perfection of God's creation, which is expressed in man. He refuses to believe that pain or disease is any part of perfection. This resistance of ungodly thought, if correctly understood, prevents the error from entering the consciousness, hence it cannot exist. When in this way good results obtain it proves that God, divine Mind, is the healer of all our diseases.

GREAT POSSIBILITIES IN CHRISTIAN SCIENCE

When Christian Scientists understand enough of Christian Science they will not only heal all cases of disease, but will do so instantaneously. At present we are glad even to touch the hem of the Christ garment. We are still like the children who demonstrate the simpler degrees of mathematics.

MRS. EDDY'S HEALING AND DISCOVERY OF CHRISTIAN SCIENCE

Mrs. Eddy's first awakening to the divine healing power came to her when, from the effects of an accident, her recovery seemed beyond all earthly hope. Her early spiritual training tended to inspire confidence in the power of God to heal the sick, so, when man reached his extremity and failed, she turned to God to verify that early confidence. Her healing was instantaneous! From that moment the new light of Truth dawned upon her, which, in the Preface of Science and Health, she describes as "the first steps of a child in the newly discovered world of Spirit."

Mrs. Eddy had discovered the law of spiritual healing and brought the blessed message to the world that there is a comforter for every sorrow, however despairing; that there is a law of restoration for every fear and disease; a purification for every sin and a panacea for every ill. Because it is the same law known to and taught by Christ Jesus, and because its operation is governed by scientific principle, Mrs. Eddy named it Christian Science. It is undoubtedly the "Comforter" and the "Spirit of Truth" which the Master promised would come again—and it has come, to remain forever. "Let him that is athirst come. And whosoever will, let him take the water of life freely."

CHRISTIAN SCIENTISTS DO NOT WORSHIP MRS. EDDY

Christian Scientists worship God only. The imputation that they worship otherwise is wholly false. It is our greatest concern to live in strict obedience to the law, as given in the First Commandment. The success of every Christian Scientist depends upon it. Indeed, to have absolutely no other gods than the one infinite Mind is the rule with which all healing is accomplished.

Because of the numberless blessings which have come to them through Christian Science, Christian Scientists revere the name of Mary Baker Eddy, and love her with true sincerity and tenderness. Through her discovery of Christian Science God has made "his face to shine" upon enslaved humanity. Because Mrs. Eddy was obedient to the command to love God above all things, she loved humanity also, and lived a life of constant, prayerful devotion to God, in order to save the fallen and heal the sick. She sought no earthly glory or favor. All she asked was that men should hear the divine message which makes free.

EAT LESS MEAT IF BACK HURTS

Take a Glass of Salts to Flush Kidneys if Bladder Bothers You.

Eating meat regularly eventually produces kidney trouble in some form or other, says a well-known authority, because the uric acid in meat excites the kidneys, they become overworked; get sluggish; clog up and cause all sorts of distress, particularly backache and misery in the kidney region; rheumatic twinges, severe headaches, acid stomach, constipation, torpid liver, sleeplessness, bladder and urinary irritation.

The moment your back hurts or kidneys aren't acting right, or if bladder bothers you, get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any good pharmacy; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to flush clogged kidneys and stimulate them to normal activity; also to neutralize the acids in the urine so it no longer irritates, thus ending bladder disorders.

Jad Salts cannot injure anyone; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which millions of men and women take now and then to keep the kidneys and urinary organs clean, thus avoiding serious kidney disease.

SAFEGUARDS ARE NEEDED IN STATE

Assemblyman Pierson Discusses Financial Methods at Conference of Mayors.

SHOWS INEFFICIENCY

Declares That Unless New Jersey Wakes Up Pay Day Will Be a Sad Experience For the Taxpayer—Debt On the Increase.

More than fifty Mayors and financial officers of municipalities of New Jersey met with Chairman Pierson, of Union; Assemblymen Barradale, of Essex; Dalrymple, of Passaic; Godfrey, of Atlantic; Herrick, of Warren, and Henry, of Hudson, at a conference of the Assembly Commission for the Survey of Municipal Financing held at Camden, yesterday.

Chairman Pierson, in his opening remarks, stated that it was the purpose of the Commission to ascertain wherein the present methods in use and law governing public financing were inefficient or lacking in proper safeguards, that their report to the Legislature might recommend such amendments as would effect economies and increased efficiency in administering municipal and county affairs.

"We have no purpose to investigate any city or county affairs," said Mr. Pierson. "It is not necessary. Just look over a few of the annual reports and you will find reason enough for being concerned about this matter." He stated that everybody had seemed so busy providing for the creation of public debt that they had not time to make proper provisions for pay day, and unless New Jersey wakes up, pay day would be a sad experience for the taxpayer.

Mr. Pierson also stated that the debt of municipalities and counties of the State was more than the combined capital, surplus and undivided profits of all the National Banks, Trust Companies and Savings Banks in New Jersey.

The discussion brought out many irregular practices and lack of proper safeguards concerning sinking funds and the annual sinking fund requirements as these funds were really the only way offered for retiring bonds. More safeguards should be placed about these funds.

Much time was given to the discussion of temporary financing. It was shown that better regulations for creating and retiring instruments for temporary financing should be made. The general opinion was that the lack of proper protection and safeguarding this feature of public business was responsible for much of the floating indebtedness, which resulted in refunding bond issues, both of which the chairman said should not be allowed.

Several stated that the financing of assessment improvements and refunding improvement certificates was an avenue by which many municipalities had gotten into unnecessary debt difficulties. The question of bond issues, uniform system of accountings, and serial bonds was also discussed.

In summing up Chairman Pierson said that the work was just begun and that the taxpayers all over the State were demanding that more attention be given to this most important part of their welfare. He invited everyone present to send the Secretary of the Commission suggestions at any time, as this was the only way in which the best results could be obtained.

The next meeting of the Commission was set for Paterson, on June 2.

JOHN D. VERMEULE DIES IN 94TH YEAR

John D. Vermeule, one of the most prominent men in the rubber industry in this country, and a native of Plainfield, died at his home, 101 Clinton avenue, New Brighton, S. I., early Wednesday morning. Death was due to the infirmities of age as he was in his ninety-fourth year. The funeral was held at the late residence yesterday afternoon and burial was in Greenwood Cemetery, Brooklyn, this morning. Mr. Vermeule's only surviving relatives are a nephew, Edward Vermeule, of Jackson avenue, the borough, and a niece, Mrs. Julia Austin, who resided with her uncle at the Staten Island address. Edward Vermeule and family were among those who attended the funeral yesterday and the burial this morning.

Mr. Vermeule was born in this city in 1821 and when a young man went to New Brunswick, where he engaged in the crockery business. In 1870 he went to the Goodyear India Rubber Manufacturing Company, as vice-president. Beside his connection with this firm, Mr. Vermeule was director in the United States Rubber Company, the Chatham and Phoenix National Bank of New York, the Goodyear Metallic Rubber Shoe Company and the York Cliffs Company. He was also president of the lattter company. He was at one time president of the Holland Trust Company of New York. Mr. Vermeule was member of the Manhattan Club, the Hollard Society and the Rubber Club of America.

Mr. Vermeule's success in the business world was absolutely through his own efforts as when he left Plainfield ambition was his only asset.

Although his fortune has been variously estimated it is stated on facts gleaned from business records that he left at least one million dollars.

PERSEVERANCE LODGE HAS A BUSY SESSION

Perseverance Lodge, Knights of Pythias, held one of the most enthusiastic meetings in several years, last night, during which the third rank was conferred upon one candidate and one proposition was received. There was a large attendance and it was nearly midnight before the session was concluded.

Arrangements were completed for the lodge to attend the divine memorial service at the First Presbyterian church on Sunday night, June 6. Invitations will be extended to Unity Lodge and Crescent Company, Uniformed Rank, of this city; Somerset Lodge, of Bound Brook, and Lodge of the Castle, Somerville, to join with the Perseverance members. The regulation Pythian memorial service will be held in the lodge rooms next Friday night and the graves of the departed members will be decorated by a committee on Sunday, May 30.

The Grand Lodge of the Knights of Pythias is to conduct a class initiation at Asbury Park next month during which a large number of candidates from all parts of the State will have the third rank conferred. It was decided at last night's meeting that Perseverance should provide a candidate and arrangements were made for a delegation to be in attendance.

RETURN FROM THREE MONTHS' PLEASURE TRIP

Mr. and Mrs. William A. Woodruff, of East Second street, and their niece, Miss Helen Woodruff, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank E. Woodruff, of Duer street, the borough, arrived home yesterday afternoon, after a three months' trip in the West during which they visited the Panama and San Diego Expositions. They were also in El Paso, Texas, for a time, where Mr. and Mrs. Woodruff's daughter, Mrs. Harry S. Potter, resides.

They were delighted with their trip in the West, and were much impressed with the vastness of the country as well as the expositions. This was Mr. Woodruff's first vacation in many years and he and his wife and niece thoroughly enjoyed it to the fullest extent.

MORE HOSPITAL SUPPLIES.

At the weekly gathering of the New Jersey Branch of the Prince of Wales Relief Fund in Grace church parish house yesterday, the members again busied themselves in preparing articles for hospital use. When everything had been arranged for a shipment to the St. George Society in New York, the total number of articles was found to be 3,600, making a grand total of 16,000 which has been forwarded to the field hospitals. The local branch will continue to meet every Friday morning and any donations will be welcomed.

C. H. LINE WEDS PROVIDENCE GIRL

Miss Bessie Greenwood Bride of Popular Local Young Man.

WEDDING IN CRANSTON

Local Relatives Attend Quiet Ceremony—Bridegroom Now a Secretary in Providence Y. M. C. A.—To Live in Providence.

Miss Bessie Greenwood, second daughter of Mrs. Elizabeth Greenwood, of Cranston, Providence, R. I., and Charles Henry Line, son of Allison M. Line, of 248 East Front street, were married at the bride's home last night in the presence of the two families and intimate friends.

As the clock struck six, to the music of the wedding march played by Miss Olive Greenwood, sister of the bride, pianist, and H. Douglas Fryer, violinist, the bride descended the stairway to the hall, accompanied by her oldest brother, Wilbourt Greenwood, by whom she was given in marriage. They were preceded by the bridal party and Rev. William B. Taylor, pastor of the Primitive Methodist church, of Lonsdale, R. I., by whom the service was conducted, and Dr. James E. McConnell, pastor of the Union Congregational church, of Providence, who assisted in the service.

After the clergymen came the ushers, Messrs. Westwell Greenwood, of Cranston, brother of the bride, and Schuyler W. Line, of Springfield, Mass., brother of the grom, and the maid-of-honor, Miss Hortense Steers, of New Haven, Conn.

Following them came the tiny ring-bearers, Master Bradford Frost the two-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Luther H. Frost, of Edgewood, and Miss Deborah Sidebottom, the five-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Sidebottom, of Providence, and the flower girl, Miss Elizabeth Greenwood, the thirteen-year-old sister of the bride, carrying a basket of rosebuds. The ring-bearers carried calla lilies on which reposed the rings.

The bridal party passed from the hall through the living-room and dining-room into the parlor, where the bride was met by the bridegroom, accompanied by his best man, Elmer B. Clark, of Providence, and the ceremony was performed with the double ring service.

SAURER SHOPS TO HAVE ADDITIONS

An announcement, coming as one of the direct results of the returning wave of prosperity, has been made by the International Motor Company to the effect that the local plant of the concern, known as the Saurer Motor Company, is to have extensions erected within the near future. Both the main shop, as well as the power-house, are to be enlarged to provide for the increase of business, due to the popularity and demand for the five-ton and larger motor trucks as manufactured by the concern.

The extension to the main shop will measure 120x120 feet, and will be two stories high, thus affording considerable additional floor space for machinery. This will permit the doubling of the force on one shift. At the present time, two large shifts of mechanics are kept busy at the plant. The improvements to the power-house will measure 30x60 feet. Improvements will also be made to the power generating, lighting, plumbing and heating systems of the shops. The structures will be of brick, structural steel and heavy timber, and will be modern throughout in every detail.

The plans for the buildings, which are being drawn by John G. Brown, of the Witherspoon building, Philadedlphia, will be ready for the inspection of contractors within the next two weeks, while actual work on the improvements will begin at the earliest possible date, as it is desired to relieve the congested conditions now existing at the shops.

STATE LAW VIOLATED?

Complaints that the North Plainfield sewer contractors were still violating the State Eight Hour Law on local work were again made at the weekly meeting of the Building Trades' Council last night. Business Agent Lunger, who has already notified the borough and State authorities, was instructed to take the necessary measures which will bring about a cessation of the violations. The remainder of the meeting was devoted to routine matters but a number of important propositions will be considered next Friday night.

M. F. LIPPS INJURED IN AUTO ACCIDENT

Cut About the Face When Machines Collide on Park Avenue.

Two bent axles, two front wheels smashed, a broken windshield and an injured passenger were the net results of an automobile smash this morning at a quarter of twelve, in Park avenue, near Front street.

Sol. M. Rosenthal, of Denmark road, was conveying M. L. Lipps, of South Bethlehem, Pa., a business associate, to the North avenue station, when the congested state of traffic led to his colliding with the motor supply wagon of C. W. Mundy, standing at the curb in front of the Coward building.

The left fore wheel of each machine was wrecked, axles and fenders badly bent and the windshield of Mr. Rosenthal's touring car was shattered. Mr. Lipps sustained a couple of cuts on the face and hurried to the Queen City Hotel where Dr. Albert Pittis found it necessary to take several stitches in order to close a cut about an inch and a half long, in the right cheek.

The crowd of curious pedestrians which flocked to the scene of the accident from all sides gave Patrolmen McCarthy and Thomas Flatley a busy half hour while the cars were being disentangled and the street cleared of broken glass.

BROTHERHOOD GIVES DELIGHTFUL AFFAIR

The newly organized Brotherhood of the Park Avenue Baptist church gave an attractive "ladies' night" affair at the church last night. George W. V. Moy, president of the Brotherhood, was in charge of the program and he afforded no little amusement as he announced the numbers in his characteristic style. The program opened with remarks by Rev. Dr. Birney S. Hudson, the pastor. The other numbers follow:

Recitations, "Mr. Brown Has Had His Haid Cut," and "So Was I," Miss Alice Spangenberg; solos, "A Chip Off the Old Block," and "A Perfect Day," Charles L. Lewis; piano solos, Chopin's "Nocture," and "Danse Characteristique," Miss Madeline Moy; solos, "Just Awearyin' For You," and "Somewhere a Voice Is Calling," Walter Weber; "The Bubble," and "Can't You Hear Me Calling, Caroline," John Lindabury.

Several pleasing selections added to the attractiveness of the program was given by an orchestra comprising the following:

Violins, Arthur S. Mosher and Charles Fisher; flute, Elmer E. Wheeler; cornets, Whitney Frazee and T. S. Casner; double bass, Dr. J. Hervey Buchanan; 'cello, Dr. J. F. Berg; clarionet, G. E. Volk; piano, Miss Evelyn Berg. A social hour followed when refreshments were served buffet style.

Thomas Lindabury, of the Brotherhood, furnished each one present with a white carnation. The committee in charge comprised George Place, chairman; Willard M. Maxim, Harry C. Runyon, Arthur Mosher, VanDorn VanFleet, John Lindabury and John Groendyke, assisted by their wives.

MAY EXTEND WIDENING OF EAST SECOND STREET

The Councilmanic street committee at its meeting, last night, took up the question of extending the proposed widening of East Second street between Church and Washington streets, it already having been decided to widen the thoroughfare between Watchung avenue and church street to conform with improvements in that section in connection with the erection of the Federal building. A public hearing will be held soon to consider the matter.

There was also some discussion regarding the extension of sewer work in the West End and no doubt arrangements will be made to hold a public hearing at an early date. The improvement of driveways about the city also came up for consideration. Other street work was reported as progressing.

FUNERAL OF INFANT.

The funeral services of Elizabeth M. Gough, the one year and eleven months' old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas F. Gough, of Steiner place, who died yesterday, will be held from the parents' residence tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. Interment will be made in St. Mary's cemetery.

JUNIORS' TRIBUTE TO GRADUATES

North Plainfield High School Pupils Guests at Annual Function.

PARENTS SERVE FEED

Appropriate Speeches Made by Prominent Classmen and Members of the Faculty—Held in Vincent Chapel.

The two upper classes of North Plainfield High School last night attended the banquet which was given the seniors by the third year class. The affair took place in Vincent chapel and was attended by ninety guests, including five members of the faculty and Supervisor Aungst. The chapel was decorated in the colors of the junior class, blue and gold, and the scheme worked out in golden glow and fleur-de-lis. Each guest received a place card bearing a photograph of the High School, and a dance program bearing the junior class numerals, '16.

The six-course dinner was provided and served by the North Plainfield Parent-Teacher Association. President Day, of the senior class, introduced the after-dinner speakers. The student body was represented on the speakers' list by the junior class president, John Dawe, Hyman Abrams, last year's basketball team captain, and Ralph Smalley, of the baseball team. The members of the faculty present were then called upon. Miss Ray talked upon "The Things We Won't Forget," and touched upon many of the little things in school life that the seniors will look back upon pleasurably. Miss French paid a short tribute to the spirit of the school socially and in athletics. Mr. Earley entertained the company with reminiscences and anecdotes drawn from an apparently inexhaustible stock acquired in his younger schooldays, and which have furnished entertainment and amusement at many school functions. Mr. Aungst spoke on "Politeness," as exemplified by the attitude of one of these two classes toward the others and concluded his remarks by thanking the pupils for the manner in which they had received him into their school life, and made it easy and pleasant for him by their attitude of politeness, the difficult task which confronted him at the beginning of the year.

DUNELLEN MAY YET GAIN WORLD FAME

Will Dunellen shortly be heralded throughout the country as the "Klondike of the East?" This is the question that is now troubling the minds of many good villagers and the one that is responsible for much loss of sleep. One citizen has discovered what he believes to be real gold and his fellow-townsmen are anxiously awaiting the otuocome of an analysis.

It has developed that several weeks ago G. Sumner Smith, one of the inspectors working on the joint sewer trenches in the Equator tract, several weeks ago discovered glittering particles in the soil that was dug out in the steam scoop. Efforts to keep a "stiff upper lip" have proven futile and after considerable "hounding" on the part of reporters and other information seekers, Mr. Sumner has consented to make a "clean breast" of the affair.

He admits having taken a sample of the trench soil and forwarded it to New York University to determine whether the glittering substance is genuine gold or just the "fool" variety. Pending the outcome those owning and renting homes in the immediate vicinity of the Equator lots are on "edge" concerning Mr. Sumner's threat to stake out a claim if the discovery is fruit-bearing. According to Mr. Sumner any individual finding gold has the right to take possession of and work a claim on the tract of land where the substance is located, whether or not the property belongs to another townsman. Marsnal Ernest Kepler happens to be one of the individuals who own property in that section and he has threatened to empty a load of buckshot into the first person who attempts to stake out a claim on his land.

FORTY KILLED ON RAILROAD.

Carlisle, Cumberland County, England, May 22—Forty persons were killed and a large number injured in a collision between trains at Gretna, just across the Scottish border, this morning. Both trains are burning. It is understood that one was a troop train carrying soldiers to the south. The collision was due to fog. Twelve cars were smashed.

"TEDDY" AWARDED SWEEPING VERDICT

Syracuse, N. Y., May 22—After being out since Thursday, the jury in the Roosevelt-Barnes libel suit brought in a final verdict, this morning, in favor of Colonel Roosevelt, sustaining his charge that Barnes corruptly controlled politics in the Empire State. The verdict was forcasted yesterday, when the jury gave a decision in favor of Barnes, but splitting the costs between the two litigants. This was not legal, and Justice Andrews sent the jurors back to finally try to reach an agreement.

At 8:45 this morning there was no indication from the jury room that the men were any nearer to agreement than they were yesterday, but shortly after Justice Andrews entered the courtroom at 10 o'clock they sent in word that they were ready to give a decision.

When Foreman Warren W. Somers reported that the jury had agreed upon a verdict in favor of Colonel Roosevelt, an objection was immediately entered against its acceptance by William Wolfe of counsel for Barnes, on the ground that the jury had been polled yesterday. Justice Andrews disallowed the objection and discharged the jury.

According to all indications the case will be retried in another county. This was intimated by Mr. Barnes' attorney, but he refused to comment further on the case.

The jury was deadlocked all night after once having returned a conditonal verdict in favor of the former President which Supreme Court Justice William S. Andrews refused to receive, as was told in a special despatch to the Daily Press yesterday. The condition, which made the verdict an improper one, was that the trifling court costs and disbursements should be divided between the two principals.

The deadlock was the result of juror No. 11—Edward Burns, a heavy set, rosy cheeked Syracuse motorman and a Republican—announcing that if the costs and disbursements were not divided he favored a verdict for the plaintiff.

BOARD OF TRADE SENDS RESOLUTION TO CAPSTICK

Following discussion during a special meeting of the Plainfield Board of Trade yesterday, it was decided to send a resolution conveying the sentiments of the organization, relative to the new postoffice, to Congressman John H. Capstick.

The resolution follows

"Resolved, That the Hon. John H. Capstick be requested to use his best endeavors to have Tennessee marble substituted for limstone for the exterior of the new postoffice to be built in the city of Plainfield, as we believe that such substitution will enhance the value and beauty of the said building, and for the further reason that the impression prevailed among the citizens of the city of Plainfield and the borough of North Plainfield that a marble structure was to be built."

AN AMUSING SKETCH GIVEN BY C. E. SOCIETY

The members of the intermediate department of Trinity Reformed Sunday-school held a social at the church last night. Mrs. Leonard Smith is superintendent of the department and the committee in charge of the affair consisted of Miss Sadie Searing, chairman; Miss Helen Bogart and Mrs. R. V. Kinney. A violin solo was rendered by Charles Clarke, who was accompanied by his sister, Miss Mildred Clarke, on the piano.

ITALY TAKES OVER ALL RAILROADS

None But Military Authorities Using Them—King Signs War Act.

FRENCH MAKE BIG GAIN

Have Complete Control of Lorette Hill, Which Germans Have Held for Six Months—Steady Progress Being Made Elsewhere.

Rome, May 22.—The King today signed the bill giving the ministry power to enter the war.

By a royal decree this morning, the railway systems of Italy have been taken over for the exclusive use of the military authorities. All ordinary private passenger and freight traffic is suspended.

It is reported that during the cutting of railway communication by Austrians at Udine, one train from Milan, going toward Austria, was stopped and seized on Austrian territory. The crew of the train is reported to have been arrested. One other train is said to have suffered the same fate.

It is considered that Austria's action in destroying the bridges and cutting telegraph and telephone lines at Ponte Caffaro and Ldrone can be held to constitute a casus belli, making Italy free to open hostilities without further diplomatic formalities.

Almost the entire population of Rome, except the aged and invalids, gathered last evening on Capitoline Hill, where Prince Colonna, the mayor, had convoked a solemn sitting of the municipal council to consecrate, in the heart of the capital, the new war.

The Capitoline palaces had been decorated with historic tapestries commemorating events of great national importance. The mayor himself delivered a patriotic address which provoked tremendous applause from the throngs gathered in the senatorial hall, the square below and Caffarelli palace, now the home of the German embassy, on the other.

Petrograd, May 22.—Troops were landed from out fleet in the Black Sea on May 20. After breaking through the enemy's resistance they destroyed quays and stations in the region east of Eregei.

London, May 22.—A telegram from Paris says that a correspondent of a news agency states that Baron Burian, premier of Austria, has resigned. A similar report was received from Geneva last night.

According to a despatch received here, quoting the Frankfurter Zeitung, the total war prisoners now in Germany and Austria-Hungary is 1,386,000. The paper says that this includes 1,000,000 Russians, 250,000 French, 25,000 English and the balance Belgians and Servians.

Paris, May 22.—Steady progress is being made by the French in their smashing drive against the Germans north of Arras, but the invaders are fighting stubbornly and are contesting every inch of ground. Fresh progress by the French between Arras and La Bassee is reported in an official communique issued by the War Office this noon. Particularly violent night attacks were delivered against ground which was taken by the French yesterday. This gave the entire Lorette hill and lesser ridges, which had been held by the Germans for six months, to the French.

SUCCESSFUL DANCE GIVEN BY THE KEWPIE KLUB

The first formal dance and reception of the Kewpie Klub was largely attended in St. Mary's Social Hall, last night. About forty coupies participated in the dancing, music for which was provided by a Victrola and pianist. At a late hour refreshments were served. Solos were rendered by Bill Clarkson and Patrick Bowers. The committee in charge of the various events was as follows: Floor, Miss Veronia Poling, Miss Nora Regan, Miss Rose Cooper, Miss Anna Regan, Miss Helen Mattox and Miss Bessie Poling; music, Miss Mary E. Smith and Miss Sarah Schuck; refreshments, Miss Tessie Murray and Miss Julia Regan.

Although the Kewpie Klub was only recently organized it has already become an active social organization. Owing to the success of the affair last night, arrangements are being made to give an entertainment in the near future.

Holy Communion will be celebrated at the 11 o'clock morning service in All Saints' Episcopal church tomorrow. The rector, Rev. Oscar S. That sneak thieves are again busy in the 'Plains is evidenced by the fact that the house of Jaseph Swahbach, on Westfield avenue, was entered yesterday afternoon. That nothing of value was taken is probably due to the return home of William Swahbach, a son, who had been delivering evening newspapers about town. Mrs. Swahbach had left the house about 5 o'clock and put the door key in a mutual hiding place to enable her son to get in. Returning home he saw the front door open and on examination found things scattered about the rooms. From indications it is thought that his coming frightened the intruder away before he had a chance to make a haul.

This Question Should be Answered Easily by Plainfield People.

Which is wiser—to have confidence in the opinions of your fellow citizens, of people you know, or depend on statements made by utter strangers residing in far-away places? Read the following:

C. L. Treat, painter and paperhanger, 411 East Third street, Plainfield, says: "I suffered for a long time from kidney trouble and for years couldn't get relief. My back ached constantly and I had pain across my kidneys. My kidneys were in bad shape and I was all run down, in fact, was almost a physical wreck. Hearing of Doan's Kidney Pills, I got a supply at Randolph's drug store and my experience was so satisfactory that I cannot make my endorsement too strong. I simply wouldn't be without Doan's Kidney Pills on hand."

U. S. ASTOR THEATRE

The gripping dramatic photoplay "God's Witness," with a notable cast of film stars will be shown for the last time at the U. S. Astor Theatre tonight. Another feature of the bill, which is thoroughly distinctive and artistic, is the second installment of "The Goddess," the new Vitagraph serial. In its second installment "The Goddess" gets a fair start and for the first time its theme is made clear. It is a typical Gouveurneur Morris conception, this of the girl who is raised in a hidden mountain cave to believe she is a goddess sent to redeem the world. The son of a millionaire, who is responsible for her teaching, finds her in the woods—and then the installment ends, leaving expectancy unfulfilled. Wonders have been accomplished with the pictorial side of the visualization and Anita Stewart appearing for the first time, gives a strong personal element of charm. "The Carpet from Bagdag," released by Selig of the new V. L. S. E. (Inc.), for the showing of whose features Manager Hall, of the Astor, has obtained exclusive privilege for Union county, will be shown next Monday and Tuesday. Adapted from the world famous novel from the pen of Harold McGrath, "The Carpet from Bagdad" faithfully follows the original plot and action. The production is crowded with suspense and thrills and relates in a realistic manner the hazards of two men and a beautiful young woman, ever an absorbing topic. A prayer rug is stolen from an ancient Mosque in Bagdad and causes a series of exciting adventures interwoven with Far Eastern Mysticism. There are Oriental streets and temples, a sandstorm in the Sahara, camels and caravans and a cast of all-star players, chief of which is Miss Kathlyn Williams in the leading part.

The Week's Work In Brief

Set out eggplant and okra.
Sow sweet corn for succession, also kohlrabi.
Sow pole lima beans and the bush limas, the latter for succession.
Thin seedlings as they appear and apply a light dressing of nitrate of soda.
Mulch newly set trees and shrubs. Cultivate flowers and vegetables.
Set out tuberoses. Try some callas and the amorphophallus.
Weed the lawn and roll.

EGGPLANT is one of the tenderest vegetables grown and if checked in growth from cold or other cause seldom makes a recovery. There are large and dwarf sorts, but the latter are preferable for the small home garden. They demand a deep, rich, warm soil and a sunny situation. Before transplanting the young plants, place in the hill where each is to grow a handful of high-grade commercial fertilizer, containing all three constituents—nitrogen, phosphoric acid and potash. Set the dwarfs two feet apart in rows three feet apart; the larger varieties demand a foot more between both plants and rows. Their cultivation requires the preservation of a loose surface mulch until the plants have attained a size sufficient to provide their own shade.

Okra or gumbo is another very tender vegetable. The variety known as Dwarf Green is excellent for the small kitchen garden. Given the same treatment accorded eggplant, except that the rows need be only two feet apart, no difficulty will be experienced in inducing it to set its pods. These are generally used in soups but, when boiled, and served either hot or cold, it makes a good salad. Some persons, however, have to acquire a taste for it.

Sugar corn is best when it goes in the shortest possible time from the stalk to the pot. It is not good when picked too young and it loses its tenderness if allowed to grow too long. It should be planted, therefore, in small quantities at a time and planted often. The most satisfactory results are obtained from plantings made every two weeks, which can be continued up to the second week in July, when, to finish the crop, a very early variety is finally planted. Kohlrabi and bush limas should also be planted at this time for succession. If space permits, pole limas may now be sown. These varieties are better in quality than the dwarfs, but, of course, occupy more space. Plant the pole limas eye down and two inches deep, dropping five or six seed to the hill. Set the poles before planting, allowing four feet each way for each hill. When the seedlings appear, thin to three in a hill and apply at this time a teaspoonful of nitrate of soda to each hill, stirring it into the soil surrounding the plants. Avoid brushing against the vines when they are damp.

Flower And Seed Pod Of The Okra.

Nothing is gained by delaying the thinning of seedlings as they appear above ground. As soon as the plants prove to be healthy and strong and prove to be well established, the thinning process ought to be begun. It is, in most cases always best to operate on the basis that there will be two thinnings. This will allow for any subsequent loss. The first thinning will leave the seedlings just twice as close in the rows as they should finally stand. The last, of course, will leave them the proper distances apart. Frequently the second thinnings can be eaten, as in the case of lettuce—a fact that gives additional value to the two-thinning plan. Most young plants, in both flower and vegetable garden, except peas, will be benefited if, at the time of the first thinning, a light dressing of nitrate of soda is applied. Sprinkle it lightly along the rows, close to the plants, but do not permit the nitrate to come in contact with either stems or leaves. Stir it in thoroughly and evenly. It is often too lumpy to be easily applied; in that case, pulverize it before using.

Trees and shrubs set out earlier in the spring will be benefited by a light mulch. Nothing is better for this purpose than half-rotted leaves. The material used as winter mulch on borders of perennials and removed earlier in the year to form—as it should—a compost heap, serves admirably. A layer three or four inches thick, covering the surface as far as the roots extend should be applied. Be on the lookout constantly now for the appearance of injurious insects attacking the trees. If any are observed lose no time in getting into communication with the city or state entomologist. This is a far better procedure than indiscriminate spraying which is as likely to be futile as effective. Describe the pest or the nature of the damage it does in your first communication to the official and he will specify the poison to be used or other method of extermination. It is well to remember, too, that in getting into communication directly with him, and immediately, you may be serving the whole community as well as yourself, for it might be possible that the request for assistance from you may convey to him the first word of the appearance of a new enemy or of an old enemy in a new locality.

Lima Bean Seedlings. Poles Arranged For The Pole Varieties.

With the commoner bulbous plants such as gladioli, dahlias and cannas, most persons are familiar. There are others, however, not so commonly met with but with which the gardener who is of venturesome turn of mind will make an acquaintance interesting and enjoyable. Several of these have previously been mentioned in this department, at the time proper for setting them out. It is now safe to plant out some of the callas, or richardias, as they are properly called, and for this purpose Richardia Elliottiana and Richardia alba maculata are both excellent. The former bears a large lustrous yellow blossom; flowers of the latter are white with a black centre. Treat in the same way that gladioli are treated. Amorphophallus Rivieri sends up flower stalks to a height of two feet, blooming before the leaves appear. The blossom is black, resembling a giant calla, and is followed by massive foliage of tropical appearance. It is good to look at but not good to smell. Avoid planting tuberoses too deep. An inch is sufficient. If set deeper they are not likely to bloom.

Whenever time permits, turn to the ever-needed task of weeding the lawn. Eradication of the disfiguring invaders is attended with less difficulty and less damage to the lawn itself if they are not allowed to grow too much before attacked. Dandelions are, probably, the most difficult to eradicate. Nothing short of digging them will suffice. If one has the time and patience, however, a good method to pursue—and an effective one—is to drop a drop of sulphuric acid on the crown of each plant. This completely kills it. A medicine dropper may be used for the purpose if care is exercised not to draw the acid into the rubber bulb. A patent "weed eradicator" which deposits a poison may also be had of implement dealers and is far better than the old digging process. Roll the lawn after weeding.

"BILLY" SUNDAY AND HIS CRITICS.

As I read George I. Sill's editorial criticism of "Billy" Sunday in the Daily Press of May 15, I thought of the commandment, "Thou shalt not bear false witness against thy neighbor."

I thought also of the resemblance between the evangelist anad his great Master, Christ, concerning Whom it is written in Scripture: "And there was much murmuring among the people concerning Him; for some said, He is a good man; others said, Nay; but He deceiveth the people. So there was a division among the people because of Him." John 7:12, 43. And likewise, "there is much murmuring among the people concerning William A. Sunday; for some say, he is a good man; others say, nay; but he deceiveth the people. So there is a division among the people beause of him."

I thought also of Mr. Moody who was accused during his ministry by many of precisely the same things that Mr. Sunday is accused of today. Many denounced him as illiterate, sensational, irreverent, antiquated in his theology, "not fit to listen to," (as one said to me) and making a great deal of money out of his revivals. Indeed, not so many years ago the students of Union Theological Seminary, New York, had a debate as to whether his work was detrimental to Christianity or not! But no Christian today discounts Mr. Moody's great work for any reason whatever. Mr. Sunday is passing through the same experience as his great predecessor.

I thought again of the great and saintly George Whitefield, who with the Wesleys and their associates, helped to transform England and America by his mighty preaching in "The Great Awakening" of the eighteenth century. He was listened to by hundreds of thousands from the King in his palace to the cottager in his hamlet, counting among his friends and supporters many of the nobility. A contemporary has left on record a description of his preaching that can be applied almost verbally and literally to Mr. Sunday. He says:

"When he began his sermon, the oddness of some of his conceits, his manner and turn of expression, had I not been in a place of public worship, would have excited my laughter. As he went on I became serious, then astonished, and at length confounded. My confusion arose from a mixture of sorrow and indignation; that any man bearing the name of a minister of our meek and blessed Redeemer, or the dignity of the Christian priesthood, should demean himself like an inhabitant of Bedlam. I thought I saw human nature in distress, as much as in the cells of lunatics; with this difference, that he was permitted to go abroad and make others as mad as himself, which he might be able to accomplish by means of the credulity of his audience, joined to the art of making them think that himself and his fraternity are the only people in their senses."

Mr. Sunday, you see, is in the most excellent of company.

Mr. Sill calls him a "bluffer and a mountebank." He defines "bluff" as meaning "pretension to what does not exist in character, cultivation, capacity, position and the like." If Mr. Sunday has no character, no cultivation, no capacity, how does his critic account for the fact that in Philadelphia he drew 20,000 people to hear him twice each week day and three times on Sunday, and kept it up for eleven weeks and had the interest greater at the close of the campaign than at the beginning? A remarkable bluffer he! What other man in the world could have done it? Roosevelt and Bryan could do it for one day. But for three months—they had better not try!

"Bluffers" do not appeal, as Mr. Sunday appeals, to judges, lawyers, bankers and hard-headed business men; men who judge workers and theories from a pragmatical standpoint—by the acid test of achievement and actual accomplishment.

Joseph H. Odell, of the Philadelphia Public Ledger, in the May Atlantic Monthly, after passing some strictures on Mr. Sunday which can easily be refuted, is compelled by the evidence before him to write the following:

"That positive good does come from it (Sunday's work) hardly anyone close to the facts will deny. Wherever such a campaign is conducted religion becomes the dominant topic of thought and speech. Men and women are recalled from indifference and contempt to reflection upon the most sacred subjects. One does not care to discuss the spiritual quality of conversion, but there are cases far too obvious in changed personal characteristics to be misunderstood, and far too obvious in ethical effects to be discounted. Men cease to be profane; long-established habits of intemperance are suddenly broken; dishonesty gives place to honesty; vice becomes repugnant and virtue glorious. Thousands betake themselves to the study of the Bible and many homes grow radiant that had been centres of gloom. Testimony of this nature can be collected, not only immediately after a Billy Sunday campaign, but even when years have elapsed. The effect is so marked that employers of labor have asserted that they could afford to pay Sunday very liberally out of the funds of their corporations for the increased efficiency that comes to their plants in the reduction of accidents and enlarged productivity caused by the men's cutting out intoxicating liquor. It is safe to say that, if testimony means anything at all, every community visited by Billy Sunday could send men into a circuit or supreme court whose word would be accepted as relevant and material evidence. Psychologists may explain it one way and religionists another, but there are certain facts of changed character, altered habit, transformed temperament that lie thick in the wake of every Billy Sunday revival."

This effectively answers Mr. Sill's sneer about "going to this man to get information concerning the welfare of your immortal soul." "Information" that can work such transformations as these is worth getting. His sermon on "Booze" contains "information" that many a redeemed drunkard will thank him for throughout eternity. His sermon on "Amusements" contains "information" that has awakened many a frivolous woman and self-indulgent man to a sense of the emptiness and heartlessess of their lives apart from Christ. His sermons are replete with "information" about human nature in its sin, its degradation, its selfishness, and about the radiance, the beauty and the glory of human lives when given to the service of Christ and crowned with His benediction. This is not the talk of a "virulent defamer of his fellowmen," as Mr. Sill charges, but of a prophet who warns that he may save and saves that he may glorify.

It is not true that "unwilling sinners" are "dragged and pushed by main force to the front" to profess conversion. Mr. Sill says he "reads" how this is done. But he never SAW it done, nor has any other.

In regard to the objectionable things the critic quotes the evangelist as saying, I doubt if he ever said them, at least in the form quoted. I have heard him eleven times and have heard nothing like them. Mr. Sunday must be heard and seen to be appreciated. Apart from his earnest manner, his sweeping gestures, his winning smile and boyish laugh, his rapid-fire utterance, the hot intensity and burning conviction back of it all, some things he says appear in cold print to be in bad taste, but in their context, hurled out from this flaming volcano, they are just the things that ought to be said, and fall like poisoned shafts into evil hearts, or rush by like a flock of screeching birds, so quickly sped that the whole group is seen and gone without a single one descried It is literally impossible to put the man in print. You may quote him verbatim, but you cannot report him. Mr. Sill evidently has not heard him. No one who has not heard him preach has any right to even try to represent him.

As to the "enormous fortune" he is accused of accumulating it may be said that not one dollar of it has come to him, save as the hearty free-will offering either of those who have personally been benefitted and blessed by him, or of those who recognizing the great work for God he is doing give it as a token of regard and appreciation. No one gives but those who are anxious to give, and as that is a measure of happiness to them the Constitution protects them in "the pursuit of happiness." No one in this free country has any right to find fault with them for giving to Mr. Sunday what they want to give him. By the way, if they offered it to Mr. Sill instead of to Mr. Sunday, would he refuse it? Would any one refuse it, especially if he saw in it an opportunity to do great good with it, as Mr. Sunday does?

If he were "out merely for the shekels" he could make $100,000 at one clip by posing for the movies. He refuses.

It is to be remembered that the brewers have a large fund with which to fight him, and many of the stories circulated about him with intent to injure have their origin in that unclean source. There is no man in the world whom the forces of evil hate so bitterly, and they will do all they can to discredit him and his work.

My advice to Mr. Sill is to go and hear Mr. Sunday. He will see that everything I have said is true. He will find not a blasphemer, not a money chaser, not a rude comedian, not a faker, not a bigot, but a man "full of faith and of the Holy Ghost" wonderfully used of God in the midst of a "crooked and perverse generation."

CHARLES HILLMAN FOUNTAIN.

FINE MUSIC FOR PROCTOR PATRONS

Symphony Orchestra of Eight Pieces to Be Installed at Front Street Theatre.

NEW POLICY MONDAY

Present Vaudeville and Pictures Will Be Supplanted by Instrumental Concerts and Feature Photoplay Productions.

At the conclusion of tonight's performances at Proctor's Theatre the policy of vaudeville and moving pictures, which has been the rule heretofore, will be discontinued and in its place, beginning Monday, a new plan of entertainment will be inaugurated that will undoubtedly continue to make the West Front street playhouse the most popular in the city. In addition to providing the patrons with the very latest and highest priced photo productions, Messrs. Proctor and Sanderson have arranged to install at the theatre a symphony orchestra of eight pieces, thus assuring high class musical programs as well as up-to-date screen diversions.

The symphony orchestra will be directed by Prof. Ernest Fleming, of Elizabeth, who enjoys a distinction of being one of America's foremost clarinet soloists. He will have with him several men prominent in musical circles and the solo numbers they provide will be a pleasing change from the constant watching of pictures. In this way, the spectators will not be subjected to the eye strain that follows too close attention to the moving screen. The introduction of the symphony orchestra has been undertaken by Messrs. Proctor and Sanderson in the belief that it will meet with popular favor and give Plainfield something absolutely new in the way of wholesome amusement at a rate of admission within the reach of all. No theatre in the city has previously had a regular orchestra of as many as eight pieces and coupled with the fact that every member is a finished artist is an indication of a rare treat.

The picture service to make up the daily change of program will represent the experience and ability of the foremost producing companies in America, among them the Paramount, World Film, Essanay, Keystone, and the Mutual concerns. There will be something new every day and always something that is sure to please. Among the features might be mentioned our latest New York dramatic successes, Charles Chaplin comedies, Paramount travel series, and the Mutual weekly, the last named showing on the screen the world's latest happenings. Important "specials" will be announced from time to time in these columns, thus making certain of keeping the Proctor service strictly up to the minute.

The features of next week's programs, commencing Monday afternoon, will be as follows: Monday, The World Film Corporation's five-part production, "The Lily of Foverty Flat," featuring Miss Beatriz Michelena; Tuesday, George Kleine's production of James Forbes' popular play, "The Commuter," with Miss Irene Fenwick in the leading role; Wednesday, Daniel Frohman's four-part photo production of the popular society drama, "Aristocracy," featuring Tyrone Power; Thursday, Theodore Roberts in Jesse L. Lasky's conception of "The Circus Man," Friday, the four-part comedy, "The Incomparable Mistress Bellairs," as produced by the Cosmoto Film Company; Saturday, George Kleine's four part comedy, "Who's Who In Society?"

In addition to the notable productions mentioned above, the popular $10,000 serial film, "The Diamond From the Sky," will be presented every Tuesday. This picture is now approaching its fourth episode and gets even more absorbing with each installment. "The Exploits of Elaine" are pictured every Friday and Saturday is set aside each week for the Proctor Theatre latest successful serial, "The Goddess." Popular prices will prevail while the new policy is in vogue and by its high class programs, its courteous service and comforts for patrons the house will uphold its claim of being "The people's theatre."

GRACE CHURCH APPROVES EVANGELISTIC PROGRAM

The first quarterly conference was held at Grace M. E. church, the borough, last night, Rev. Frederick J. Hubach, the district superintendent being in charge. He explained the program for the year as outlined by the Methodists throughout the country. The watchword is 250,000 to accept Christ, 500,000 to do personal work, 1,000 to make their life work to work for the church and God's Kingdom.

Grace church went on record as giving its hearty approval of the program and to put its church in line for its share in the work. After a brief prayer service, the business of the conference was taken up. Annual reports were read by the Sunday-school superintendent, the Epworth League president, the Ladies' Aid Society president and the presidents of the home and foreign missionary societies, showing all departments actively at work.

ARCH-DEACON TO PREACH.

The Venerable R. Bowden Shepherd, arch-deacon of the Diocese of New Jersey, will preach at the Church of the Holy Cross, the borough, at 7.15 o'clock tomorrow night. The arch-deacon is an eloquent preacher and no doubt a large congregation will be present to hear his discourse

THE FORUM

Editor, Plainfield Daily Press:

Mr. Sill probably would not have included Unitarian ministers in his reproach of the clergy of the country for not disavowing Mr. Sunday's "cheapening of religion," for it goes without the saying that Unitarians do not indorse Mr. Sunday. A reading of Mr. Sill's article, however, moves me to break silence just enough to say that it is hard for some of us, at least, to understand how ministers that do not—and would not—do as Mr. Sunday does, —whose congregation would not have for their minister a man that does as Mr. Sunday does,—can bring themselves to invite him to hold forth in their city.

ANTI-SUFFRAGE

Conducted by New Jersey Association Opposed to Woman Suffrage.

The following letter addressed to the President of the New Jersey Association Opposed to Woman Suffrage sufficiently explains itself.

"My Dear Mrs. Breese:

"In reply to a letter received from the Massachusetts Anti-Suffrage Committee begging to have Cardinal Gibbons' alleged quotation, 'That suffrage for women must come' denied, I had an interview today with the Cardinal's secretary, with the following result in writing:

"'About the quotation attributed to Cardinal Gibbons 'That suffrage for women must come, his Eminence says that he has no recollection of having said those words.

"'Further, that he has always hoped that the good sense of the American women would prevent such a calamity.'

"'Very respectfully,

"'LOUIS O'DONOVAN, Sec'y.'

May 6, 1915.

"Sincerely,

"M. D. H. M."

It is to the men, influenced by the good sense of our women, that we must trust if this "calamity" is to be averted. It is the duty of every man who does not believe in woman suffrage to be on hand with his vote against it on October 19.

Defining Greatest Civic Duty.

There is plenty of civic work to be done by the women with the time, strength, means and ability to do it. The greatest civic duty a woman can perform is to make a home for her husband and children. The greatest civic duty for a mon is to maintain a home for his wife and family. If the father of the family dies and leaves sufficient means to continue the maintenance of it, the wife can continue to make the home. If the wife dies, though she leaves untold wealth for [illegible] alone cannot make a home. He can only keep house. A woman who must enter the business world in order to provide for herself and family can do little more for them than "keep house." Suffragettes are fond of referring to government as "house keeping" for the good of the general public. "House keeping"—very well, to maintain and legislate for what they will be called upon to defend, that is the men's burden of existence, and in order to perform their civic duty they have been given the vote. History relates the story of the transformation of lead bullets into paper ballots. And when the number of ballots of opposing political interests are nearly even and the feelings of opposing political interests are sufficiently hostile, then, presto, change the ballots have turned into bullets again! And the men who maintain and legislate are called out to defend. The civic duties of women are many and varied and call for able and unselfish women to serve them. To serve, maybe, to the limit of their strength; but not to defend by physical force.

The Equal Suffragists claim that the vote educates and makes women better fitted for public service. When Denver needed a policewoman to remove from her halls of public amusement, she sent to New York for a woman to do it. That is only one instance. But make a list of the names and addresses of the most capable, influential and honored women of whatever creed of political faith in this country today and notice whether the majority of them are the product of long-standing equal or of non-equal suffrage States.

KATE C. TOWLE.

San Rafael, Cal., July 31, 1913.

For fear that what we are about to quote may appear inconceivable to people of common sense, we wish to say that it appeared in the Special Suffrage Campaign Issue" of the Evening Post, New York, Thursday, Feb. 25, 1915, column one, section two and was signed in capital letters: "By DR. ANNA HOWARD SHAW, President of the National American Woman Suffrage Association."

Perhaps Dr. Shaw did not write it.

Perhaps she did not mean it.

Perhaps she may, upon second thought, wish to deny it.

But the facts are as stated.

And this president and biggest figure in the Woman Suffrage agitation declared over her signature in public print:

"I believe in woman suffrage whether all women vote or no women vote; whether all women vote right or all women vote wrong; whether women will love their husbands after they vote or forsake them; whether they will neglect their children or never have any children."

In introducing this astounding statement, Dr. Shaw declared: "I believe I speak for the thousands of women belonging to the National Association."—"Woman's Protest" for March.

The Growing Sentiment Against Suffrage.

(From the Waterbury, Conn., American, Jan. 13, 1915)

Even men who do not disapprove of woman suffrage, if the women want it, are affected by the growing strength of that body of feminine sentiment which is opposed to granting the vote to women, or to what, from their point of view, is forcing it upon them. Evidently the suffrage hosts have a longer road to go than they thought they had a little while ago.

Not a Promising Outlook.

(From the Troy, N. Y., Times, Jan. 13, 1915)

Woman suffrage now comes back to the States, to be fought over there. The outlook is not promising for the change. At the last election five States out of seven voted against woman suffrage, and the five States vastly outnumbered in population the other two. . . . . There are indications that there has been a recession of the trend of sentiment in favor of woman suffrage. The natural conservatism of the people is reasserting itself, and the rush to try new experiments has fallen off. The doctrine that everything which is new must therefore be right has received some hard jolts, and the result has been felt by woman suffrage as well as by other agitations.

C. H. LINE WEDS

the bay windows formed an effective background for the bridal party. The couple was united in marriage under an improvised archway prettily decorated with white lilacs, from which was suspended a rose-covered bell.

The bride wore a gown of white bridal satin, made with a court train and trimmed with baby Irish lace. Her veil was arranged in a crown-like effect and fastened across the front with a wreath of tiny orange blossoms, and she carried a shower bouquet of bride's roses.

The gown of the maid-of-honor was of light blue charmeuse and she carried a bouquet of pink roses. The flower girl wore a canary colored chiffon dress, trimmed with pink and blue rose-buds. The little ring-bearers were dressed in white.

After the marriage service, supper was served in the dining-room, at which the bride's cake was cut and distributed by the bride, from a table ornamented by pink snap-dragons. A reception followed at 7 o'clock at which Mr. and Mrs. Line were assisted in receiving their guests by their parents, Mrs. Greenwood and Mr. Line, the maid-of-honor and Mr. and Mrs. R. F. Martin, of New York, sister and brother-in-law of the groom.

Mrs. Greenwood, mother of the bride, wore a gown of silver gray and carried a bouquet of gladiolas. The bridegroom's gift to the bride was a diamond and pearl lavalliere, and the bride's gift to the bridegroom was a set of engraved monogram gold cuff links. To the maid-of-honor she gave a pearl necklace and the flower girl received a ring. The bridegroom presented to his best man a pearl scarf pin. The ring-bearers were given little gold signet rings to commemorate the occasion.

The bride is well-known in the city of Cranston. She graduated from the Rhode Island Normal School and taught school for three years in the public primary schools of Cranston. She has also successfully conducted the Chaubunogungamaug Campfire Girls in Cranston for the last year.

The bridegroom is the membership and social secretary of the Providence Young Men's Christian Association. He graduated in 1913 from the physical course at the Springfield Y. M. C. A. College and in 1914 took a post graduate year there in the secretarial course. He was called to Providence last July prior to the opening of the new building.

Mr. and Mrs. Line left later in the evening for a two weeks' wedding trip, in which they will visit Mr. Line's home in this city and his alma mater in Springfield, Mass. Upon their return they will live at 63 Stanwood street, Providence, R. I.

Prior to entering upon a course at the Springfield institution, the bridegroom was assistant physical director of the local Y. M. C. A. He is well-known and popular in this city, being prominent in athletics connected with both the association and the Plainfield High School, from which he was graduated in 1908. While in the Springfield College he was a member of the gymnastic team that exhibited in this city in 1912 and managed the team in 1913.

GEORGE A. BRUSH.

George Adams Brush, of Rahway, died yesterday at his home, No. 27 William street, aged 84 years. He was a commission merchant in New York. He served on the Rahway Board of Education for two years, was senior elder of the Second Presbyterian church, and was superintendent of the Milton chapel Sunday-school for thirty years. He is survived by his wife, one son and two daughters.

CORNELL BOYS HOLD CIRCUS.

Ithaca, N. Y., May 22.—A full-sized circus, with side shows and freaks of all kinds, was staged this morning by the Cornell students, for the benefit of the college athletic fund. Famous athletes were seen in all sorts of "stunts." The performers are prepared to repeat tonight if Cornell wins from Harvard in the annual boat race to be rowed here this afternoon.

IN THE SPORTING SPOTLIGHT

WORLD FAMOUS TENNIS STARS TO COMPETE ON THE PLAINFIELD COUNTRY CLUB'S COURTS

The tennis committee of the Plainfield Country Club has practically completed arrangements for an exhibition doubles match between four famous players to take place Thursday afternoon. Play will not start until 4:30, in order to enable members and their friends to reach the club in time to witness the match.

The contesting teams will be Harold H. Hackett and Fred B. Alexander on one side and Watson M. Washburn and Dean Mathey on the other. Messrs. Hackett and Alexander are a world famous pair. They were champions of the United States in 1907, 1908, 1909 and 1910, and both men have represented this country in international matches for the Davis Cup and been ranked in the first ten. Alexander has been ranked as high as No. 3 and is at present No. 8. Hackett was captain of the American team which went to England in 1913 and won back the Davis Cup.

Watson M. Washburn is ranked No. 9, and has been selected as a member of the team of Eastern players which, under the leadership of Champion R. N. Williams, 2nd, will go to San Francisco next month to play the Pacific coast men. Dean Mathey was partnered in doubles last year with George M. Church, and the pair won the sectional and preliminary doubles and played McLoughlin and Bundy for the championship of Newport last summer. Washburn and Mathey have played together and make an excellent team. Consequently an excellent match is expected.

Alexander and Mathey are Princeton men, while Hackett came from Yale and Washburn from Harvard.

Scattered Sport Gleanings

"Be kind" week has failed in its purpose as far as North Plainfield High School athletic interests are concerned. The bumpings received in tennis and baseball have been anything but tasteful morsels to the "over-the-brookers."

Coaching North Plainfield High School baseballers, playing short for the Perth Amboy Franklins on Sundays, and cavorting at the difficult corner for the Saurerites Saturday afternoons will bring Tommy Mullin's state of activity pretty nearly up to a par with that of the guy who has been engaged to furnish the Italian army with twelve million doughnut holes.

If years of experience count for anything these days one would expect that Leal alumni outfit to wallop the stuffins out of the undergraduate cherubs this afternoon. The role call for the old-timer combination dates back to the late eighties.

While we hate to pry into personal matters it would give us a whole lot of satisfaction to know who the gent was who wished the N. P. H. S. alumni baseball managership on "Runaway June" Dunning.

It's a good thing there's nothing like getting stale in the bowling pastime. If baseballers were to engage in as much competition as those Elk pin-knights they'd be relegated to the scrap-heap before they got anywhere near the zenith of their ability.

Those Plainfielders who enjoy playing the role of "gallery gods" at golf matches, will be able to glean a wealth of entertainment out of that "pro" exhibition slated for next Saturday. It looks like about the best program mapped out around here since golf sticks came into use.

"HUB" STINE AND TOWNLEY MAY BE ALUMNI BATTERY

The North Plainfield High School baseball team may face a college battery when it meets the Alumni nine, on Hyde Oval next Saturday. There is a possibility that George Townley and "Hub" Stine, both graduates of the borough school, who are now attending the Y. M. C. A. College at Springfield, Mass., will be home some time next week and if they come they will play with the "oldtimers." Both have been playing regularly this season and are in fine form.

"Rus" Conroy, who was booked to play third base in this game, has left the borough for the summer and both the third base and shortstop positions are still open.

ROD AND REEL

While the pickerel season opened Thursday, and the weather was not at all bad, there were not anywhere near the number of anglers out that had been expected. Whether this is due to the fact that locan men do not care for pickerel fishing, or whether it is due to the fact that anglers prefer to wait until they can fish for both bass and pickerel, is a question. As it is now, the men who go out for pickerel and happen to hit into bass, are compelled to put the latter back into the water, if taken before June 15.

The advance guard of surf fishermen have been out along the Jersey coast for the past month, waiting for the striped bass. A few of these fish have been taken at Point Pleasant. A few large plaice are also being caught. John Seger, of Asbury Park, says bloodworms are giving the best results.

No pickerel were caught by those out at Weequahic Park Lake, Thursday, although some good sport with large white perch was had. Several good-sized calico bass were also caught by the anglers, but, of course, were put back in the lake.

Whiting, ling and a few fluke and sea bass are being caught now at the Long Branch pier. Whiting are most plentiful, and individual catches frequently run up to more than 100 fish to the man. The best time is at night. The fish begin biting at dusk. Bait may be purchased at the pier. It belongs to the same order of fishes as the cod and ling, but is in a family by itself. Its bright silvery sides and fairly graceful shape make its name of winter weakfish appropriate. Many salt down whole barreisful for future use. The names hake and whiting are also given sometimes for kingfish, an entirely different variety.

RUNYON TO COMPETE.

Ralph Runyon, of this city, will compete in two events at the annual meet of the N. Y. A. C., to be held in New York city on Saturday, June 5. He will take part in the pole vault and high jump. Jack Fritts may also enter this meet, but he is still undecided.

LEAL AND N. P. H. S. IN SECOND CONTEST

Interscholastic Game to Be Staged on Crescent Oval Monday Afternoon.

The fourth interscholastic baseball match of the season is scheduled to take place Monday afternoon, on Crescent Oval, when the Leal and North Plainfield School forces will meet for the second time in their struggle for the city supremacy and Collier Trophy. In the first game, Leal made the boroughites go their best for the verdict and the private school aggregation has hopes of getting revenge on their home field.

If Leal should win it would make a tie for second place and will make the league more interesting. A victory for North Plainfield will put the maroon and gold team out of the running and the title would then rest on the second P. H. S.-N. P. H. S. game. The game will start at 3:30 o'clock. The teams will probably lineup as follows:

"FATHER AND THE BOYS" MAKE A HIT

Thespian Society Gives a Fine Performance at the High School.

"Father and the Boys," the four-act comedy presented at the Plainfield High School, last night, under the auspices of the Thespian Society of the Public Recreation Committee, made a decided hit with the audience, keeping the spectators in a continuous roar of laughter. Each performer took his part in a finished style, blending himself thoroughly into the character portrayed. Miss Lillian Lamson, in the role of "Bessie Brayton," a western product, was the feature of the evening, and the original way in which she played the part brought rounds of applause from the audience.

Burnett Doane scored in the title role, that of "Lemuel Morewood," a wool broker, whose predicaments in managing his two sons were ridiculously funny from start to finish. Harold Williams and Paul Westergarde took the parts of the two sons.

The complete cast was as follows: "Lemuel Morewood," a wool broker, Burnett Doane; "William Rufus Morewood," his elder son, Harold Williams; "Thomas Jefferson Morewood," his second son, Paul Westergarde; "Major Bellemy Dingsworth," man about town, Jack Britton; "Tobias Ford," Morewood's lawyer, William Anderson; "Tuck Bartholomew, apostle of manly sports, Philip Schuyler; "Cal Hibee," a miner, Robert Meggy; "William Holton," office man, Alva Brownlee; "Evans," a butler, "clerk" at the Eldorado Hotel, John Uhler; "Mrs. Bruce-Guilford," an imported matron, Miss Jessie Billing; "Mrs. Prentice Tromly," a second importation, Miss Marie Sullivan; "Emily Donelson," living at the Morewood home, Miss Esther Brownlee; "Frances Berkley," living next door, Miss Madeline Durar; "Mrs. Peasley," the housekeeper, Miss Loraine Dunn, and "Bessie Brayton," a western product, Miss Lillian Lamson.

Following the performance, the attendants enjoyed dancing until an early hour this morning, Van Eps' orchestra furnishing music for the occasion. Refreshments were served by The Ritz.

Last night's production was the first event the Thespian Society has given and it was a decided success from every point of view. Miss Lillian Lamson, supervisor of the Recreation Committee, was director, and much of the success is due to her untiring efforts in rounding the youthful actors into young professionals. The officers of the society are: President, Burnett Doane; vice president, Miss Mildred L. Brownlee; secretary, John Britton; treasurer, William Anderson.

YOUNG PEOPLE ENJOY SOCIAL AND ENTERTAINMENT

The entertainment and sale given at the First Presbyterian church, last night, under the auspices of the Christian Endeavor Society for the benefit of "Camp Endeavor," was a success, being largely attended. The principal part of the program was a one-act sketch entitled "Why We Never Married," and was very amusing. There were seven old maids and as many bachelors, each telling why they never had "plunged" into the sea of matrimony. At the close of the sketch, the men proposed to the women, were accepted and they left the stage in pairs to the strains of a wedding march, played by Herbert Harold, organist of the church. Those in the sketch were the Misses Ariadna Bicknell, Mary Bicknell, Hazel Blair, Esther Karner, Jennie Peacock, Elizabeth Manning and Adele Freeman and James Fenner, Samuel Harper, Alfred Sharjback, Benjamin Kriney, Charles Doughty, William Sowden and George Gildersleeve.

Another interesting part of the program was a series of impersonations given by Mr. Darry, of New York city. He gave many comic impersonations which kept his audience laughing continually. Miss Hazel Selby recited "Here Comes the Bride," and the Misses Charlotte Fowler and Edith Shotwell rendered a piano duet. Alfred Korff, with the cornet, and W. G. Dunning, with the violin, also entertained with solos and duets. At the close of the program, Fred Lounsbury gave an allustrated lecture on Camp Endeavor, showing views of the camp and those that are taken care of during the hot summer months. The camp is located in a fine spot back of Scotch Plains and is only a short distance from the trolley cars. After the entertainment ice cream and cake were sold. A silver offering was taken.

NEWS OF INTEREST IN THE PLAINFIELD BUILDING WORLD

ITALY'S ACTION AFFECTS MARKET

Marked Advance in Price of Copper, Brass and Spelter Predicted.

MANUFACTURERS WARY

The Shutting Off of This Source of Supply from Germany Will Mean Shipment by Other Routes Entailing Higher Cost to Dealers.

New York, May 22—Italy's entrance into the European war will send the price of copper, brass and spelter at least five cents higher than prices prevailing a week ago, which even then were unprecedented. Thirty-cent copper and brass is almost a certainty, said a well-known wholesaler. This will represent a jump in copper of six cents for soft and five for hard. It will mean almost a ten-cent jump for sheet brass. Some of the manufacturers showed signs of being wary about protecting purchasers on specifications running more than a week, and one house refused to take anything but spot business.

Ever since the war started Italy has been the great clearing house for shipments of cartridge making metals for Germany and Austria as well as for France. The shutting off of this market from Germany will mean the shipment of material of this sort by round about routes entailing higher cost and so great is the demand for these two commodities at present that domestic prices are based entirely upon the demand from abroad.

Spelter was again high and excited this week, affecting galvanized material of all sorts. No quotation was made upon New York delivery as the week closed although July and August sales were reported to be as high as fourteen cents. Some who bought spelter toward the end of the week paid as high as 16¼ cents a pounds for it. That is one reason why plumbing interests figuring on pending building operations have not been able to drop their prices very much and has in consequence temporarily checked some speculative operations.

Pipe works are buying all the iron they can carry in anticipation of a continued advance in prices. No. 1 OK foundry northern pig iron is quoted today at 14.25c a pound and the demand from equipment companies is increasing, probably in anticipation of a sharp rise resulting from possible eventualities abroad.

Radiators, in marked contrast to almost every other department of the equipment market are being sold lower than ever before with a single exception. This is due to a struggle for supremacy between various clusters of manufacturers against others and what is being spent for high priced copper can almost be saved, according to one authority, in the current price of radiators.

Portland cement is without feature, save for increased orders for road work. Building orders in places outside of Manhattan continue to be fairly active. There was some attempts to stimulate building orders by offerings of attractive concessions to dealers, but this movement was not concurred in by important companies, who are in one some of the road business and railroad work now coming out. The cement to be used by the general contractor, Charles Gilpin, under specification of Evarts Tracy, the architect, for the Plainfield, N. J., postoffice, is the Dragon brand, manufactured by the Lawrence Portland Cement Company.

General building construction throughout the Eastern section of New Jersey has not developed to the extent some dealers would like. There is some speculative building work, but dealers, as a rule, are not keen for this kind of business because the bids are matched to such an extent that there is little chance for the dealer making a profit on straight work. They are concentrating on straight building work, and by way of showing how hungry builders are for this class of business, the case of one railroad operation running into a moderate sum, brought out thirty-five bidders.

Mill construction and expansion seems to predominate in the current demand for construction materials. Common brick is moderately active in the suburbs, fairly good prices being obtained when large quantities are called for.

Compilations of building reports from the five Eastern counties of New Jersey show a building movement about 62 per cent. of normal, with a great deal of work still to come out in June, July and August. Real estate buying and selling is said to be showing signs of improvement, in some manufacturing communities.

A GABLE ROOF HOUSE

DESIGNED BY CHAS. S. SEDGWICK, ARCHITECT.

HERE is a small house design on the gable roof order with wide spreading cornice and the roof brought out with a curve, giving it a very jaunty appearance.

The size of the house is 26 ft. in width by 30 ft. in depth, exclusive of the front piazza and rear porch. The house is designed to be covered with wide drop siding on the lower portion and shingled in the upper part, the shingles, including the roof, to be stained brown, and all of the outside trimmings, cornices, casings, etc., painted white. The foundation is of concrete with a full basement under the house. room for laundry, heating purposes, fuel, etc. It is a snug, economical house to build and is estimated to cost from $3,500 to $4,200. It is well built throughout, outside walls back plastered and plastered again on the inside, the first story finished in Washington fir and stained. The floors to be of oak, the kitchen finished in pine.

There are four good rooms on the main floor, a living room 15 ft. by 15 ft. 6 in. with fireplace and two columned openings, one into dining room at the rear 12 ft. by 14 ft. and the other at the left into den 9 ft. by 12 ft. with a toilet and closet out. The stairs are at the rear between the kitchen and dining room and closed off from the living room by sliding glazed French door, basement stairs underneath and the pantry connecting the kitchen and dining room. There is a rear grade entrance and porch with space inclosed for refrigerator.

The second floor has three good chambers, each full height, a bath room over the kitchen and a good closet from each room and a linen closet opening out of the hall. The stairs to attic extend up over the main stairs. A rear hall opens onto screened in sleeping porch. This may also be glazed if desired. This second story is finished in birch with birch floor or may be finished in pine with white enamel. This is a very desirable cottage for a small family. It is commodious and well arranged.

BENNETT BRITTON DISPOSES OF STORE

Oldest Citizen Sells Front Street Property and Retires From Business.

Among the recent local realty transfers of importance which have been recorded at Elizabeth is the sale of the property at 1220 West Front street, where Bennett Britton has for many years conducted a cigar store, to Ernest Seiler, of West Third street. The purchase price as announced is placed at $8,500. The residence at 1226 West Third street, where Mr. Seiler resides, was included in the deal, the latter property going to Mr. Britton. Mr. Seiler, it is expected, will move his bakery business from 113 Clinton avenue to the new property, after minor alterations have been made to the two-story frame structure at that location.

Mr. Britton is without doubt Plainfield's oldest resident, being 102 years of age, and conducted his cigar store at the above stand for the past twenty years. Prior to his local business career, Mr. Britton conducted the present Lee Hotel at Scotch Plains for a number of years, after which he came to this city.

The starting of a bakery on West Front street, in the vicinity of Clinton avenue, is but another step in the development of a business section in that vicinity of the city. A Newark concern is at present erecting a two-story frame business building a little west of property recently sold to Mr. Seiler, and others will probably follow before the present construction season is over.

TENEMENT HOUSES.

The weekly report of the State Board of Tenement House Supervision shows that plans were approved during the week ending last Saturday representing more value than in a month past. The total value represented is $313,800. Elizabeth is represented only by a $300 alteration to a four-story frame tenement at 63 Broadway. Jersey City dropped back in value of work done and filed plans for only $23,300. Newark took a big jump upward with the striking record of $122,800, and Montclair accounted for $84,000. Other large values are Atlantic City, $25,000, and West New York, $35,000.

COUNTY CONDITIONS BECOMING NORMAL

Thirty-one Contracts Are Filed During Past Two Weeks.

County building activities, as seen through the county clerk's office, are, without doubt, now working their way back to normal conditions, if the contracts filed at the county seat are to be taken as any criterion. During the two weeks ending last Saturday, a total of thirty cointracts, calling for expenditures anywhere from $147.50 up to $7,600, and an aggregate expenditure of $89,278 were filed.

No one section of the county can claim a corner on the construction movements at this time as all parts are well represented in the general uplift. Dwellings and buisness buildings are sharing alike bearing out the contention that capital is generally regaining its lost confidence.

The contracts,as filed from this end of the county, are as noted below:

Mary Harper with William Harper, entire work, new building, Clark street, Westfield, $5,000.

Edward R. Jarvis with Theodore A. Pope, carpenter work, etc., new building, Lincoln road, Westfield, $4,194.

Bridget McCarthy with Albert Rhodier, carpenter work, new building, Fourth street, Plainfield, $2,650.

J. M. Thevener with Andrew J. Renberg, entire work, new building, Garwood, $2,300.

Robert I. Curran with W. H. Poston, entire work new building, Mountain avenue, Westfield, $5,390.

Pearsall Co. with Charles E. Gottlick, mason work new building, Westfield, $600.

NEW ST. JOHN'S CHURCH PLANS WILL SOON BE READY

Local contractors will shortly have an opportunity to figure on the plans for the new St. John's church to be erected at Dunellen. The drawings have been completed by a Trenton architect and will be given out in about two weeks.

According to the plans, the new edifice will be of brick and stone and will probably cost between $35,000 and $40,000. It will be located on Washington avenue, near the present church, which has been inadequate for the parish for a number of years. All information regarding the plans will be furnished by Rev. Father Dunphy, rector of St. John's.

MARKED GROWTH IN RESIDENCE SECTION

General Class of Dwellings in Westfield Shows Considerable Improvement.

Westfield, May 22—While building operations in Westfield have by no means been suspended during the past year, there has not been as much activity as in the three previous years. The residential section, however, has been growing and the general class of dwellings erected has been improving. Most of the building has been in the Terrace Park section, with the contract price of the buildings erected ranging from $8,000 to $15,000.

There has been some building in the Gardens section and some sales, but they were not so extensive as at the Terrace. The section southeast of the town will be developed this summer and a large part of it thrown open for sale. The section is bounded in part by Rahway avenue and the Willow Grove road. Several years back there was some building in this part of the town and sales were made but the lack of sewer facilities checked its growth. Now, with the sewer, this part of the town will undoubtedly build up.

While building operations have slowed up somewhat, there has been no decline in the price of land. In the developing sections the price of from $40 to $60 per front foot has been maintained. The class of residences recently erected is exemplified by those of Randall Stearn in Stanley avenue and George W. Benny in the Willow Grove section.

That building this summer will be brisk is evidenced by the calls for plans and the large number of plans that are out in the hands of the contractors for figures.

FIVE PERMITS FOR PAST SEVEN DAYS

Local Building Operations Slow Down After Early Spring Spurt.

Plainfield is at the present time undergoing a slight reaction from the early good start enjoyed in the earlier months of the year in the building lines. After the first rush of issuing permits are noted during the first three months of the year, when great gains were made over the same period of last year, for some, apparently unaccountable reason, conditions again relaxed, and for the past four weeks but little new has developed in local circles. During the past week five permits covering small contracts, were filed with Inspector T. O. Doane, calling for the expenditure of $1,746.50. This item brings the total expenditures for the month to date up to $11,601.50.

Several buildings of various types have been under consideration for some time, but as yet nothing definite has been done beyond the securing of bids, neither contracts let or permits issued. For some time, indications were bright for a continued revival in construction work in this city, but unless another shift takes place in the near future, local building craftsmen are liable to experience more or less the same idleness which marked last season in this city.

First Ward.

Lee Booker, of 605 East Third street, is to build a two-story frame extension to the rear of the dwelling at the above address. The addition, which will measure 5x20 feet, will cost $500. J. W. Brooks is the contractor.

Second Ward.

Howard H. Putman is to install a tank for the storage of volatile liquids at 621 Park avenue, at a cost of $21.50.

Third Ward.

Adolph Tepper is to erect a most modern hollow terra cotta block garage at 669 West Seventh street at a cost of $1,000. The structure, which is to measure 21x26 feet, is to be one story and loft high. Charles H. Smith, of the borough, is the architect; Townley Brothers, the mason contractors, while Walter Apgar is in charge of the carpentry work.

Roger Murray has been granted a permit for the construction of a 10 by 10 foot frame toolhouse at 901 Madison avenue, at a cost of $150. Michael D. O'Keeffe is the contractor.

Leola S. McIntosh is to erect a 12 by 16 foot frame garage at a cost of $75 at 1248 Lenox avenue.

REPORT REAL ESTATE ACTIVE IN NEW PROVIDENCE

New Providence, May 22.—Very slow for a year, the spring signs indicate a resumption of real estate activities here. The West End, Murray Hill and Lackawanna and Mountain View Parks sections are the most active. In the West End, Albert K. Forster has sold a large tract, on which it is reported a $10,000 house will be erected.

There is not a vacant house in the borough, all of the places in Lackawanna and Mountain View Parks having been taken in the last year.

In the township several new bungalows have been built. This class of building is especially popular just south of Berkeley Heights.

Improvements in the New Providence borough schools are expected before the opening of school in September. There is now a proposition before the people for the addition of five rooms to the Lincoln School at a cost of $18,000.

RESIDENTIAL TRACTS ADD TO DUNELLEN BUILDING

There is frequent cavilling in our sister municipality, the township of Piscataway, over what are termed undesirable real estate development enterprises. Dunellen must be more fortunate in the style of developments started at that place on the whole, for there can be no question but that considerable taxable property is being added to the borough assets as a result of real estate developments. On the former Merrell farm, now Equator Park, houses are going up quite steadily and now the tract, which five years ago boasted only the old farm house, has a number of dwellings, some of them quite creditable. The S. P. Q. R Company, whose holdings are between South avenue and Center street, are rushing their development right along and building houses rapidly and now there is promise of a material boom in the region known as Columbia Park.

FURTHER BUILDINGS FOR FOURTH WARD

Two Large Tenements Are Being Planned for West End of City.

The Fourth ward, which has been resting on its oars for some time as far as building operations are concerned, is to take on with renewed vigor, a construction movement which will mean considerable for the West End of the city. It has been announced by reliable authorities that the K. & G., Inc., a Newark concern, is shortly to erect two structures on DeKalb avenue, occupying the entire distance from West Front street to Bradford avenue. The structures will measure 60x130 feet, and will be three stories high. It is expected that work of excavating the cellars will be started the latter part of next week by John P. Hill, of Dunellen to whom the contract for that part of the work has been let.

K. & G., Inc., was recently granted a permit for the erection of a two-story business building at 1352-4-6 West Front street, in the same general vicinity as the other proposed structures. The same concern recently purchased a tract of unimproved property at Randolph road and Arlington avenue, which will, in all probability, be developed after the Fourth ward buildings are completed.

GULF REFINING COMPANY PLANNING LOCAL STATION

The Gulf Refining Company, which recently purchased a large tract of ground on West Front street, just over the city line, as told in the Daily Press last week, is now preparing to erect a modern wholesale oil distributing plant on the grounds. The plans are being drawn up in Newark where the concern has one of its principal offices. They will call for buildings of concrete and hollow tile to be used as reservoirs, offices, and garage, similar to those of the Standard Oil Company, which has a plant on the old "Eight Row" property.

The Gulf Company is at present supplying its trade in Plainfield and vicinity by automobile tank wagons from Newark. With a local station it will be in a position to greatly develop the business in this section.

The site of the proposed buildings has a frontage of 200 feet on West Front street and runs back to the tracks of the New Jersey Central Railroad. A siding is already laid in, making it possible to run tank cars direct to the reservoirs. When completed the plant, will be one of the largest in Plainfield or its environs.

IN THE SUBURBS

Dunellen.

The house of Mrs. Hattie Apgar, situated on Front street, and recently vacated by Mrs. Lydia Vail, has been sold through the agency of Charles E. Tinsman to former Postmaster Peter C. Staats. Mr. Staats will have certain changes made about the place including the building of a new porch and the installing of modern improvements and will make it his residence.

The contract for building the proposed new house of Elwood Gary at his property on Dunellen avenue has been awarded to Contractor Samuel M. Titus.

The house and two lots of land on North avenue, west of Chestnut street, owned by Mrs. Rose Bell, of New York, have been conveyed to the Equator Realty and Development Company, from which concern the property was originally purchased.

The sale of the Paul Kratzel house on Front street, which was reported previously in these columns as pending, has been consummated and the property sold to Rev. E. S. Jamison, formerly pastor of the local Methodist Episcopal church. The deed has been recorded.

Considerable expansion of business is the order of the day at the Stanley Krom graphite products factory near the line of Plainfield and Dunellen. Among other things, Mr. Krom is energetically pushing the sale of his cleansing productions and is winning much popularity for them. He also contemplates extending his plant by having an addition for office purposes built on the front, thus allowing the devotion of the whole of the present building to the work of manufacturing.

Lincoln.

O. A. La Pointe, contractor and builder, has been awarded the general contract for the erection of a six-room cottage on Mountain avenue, for a party in Connecticut, who will move into it upon its completion. Mr. LaPointe is also expecting a contract from a party in Washington, D. C., who is now making arrangements for the building of a two-story dwelling house on Lincoln avenue. People living at a distance are beginning to realize that unless they build and improve their property here it will not increase in value.

New Market.

Contractor John P. Hill has secured the contract for grading the grounds around the new factory of Gabrielle & Schall, which is being built at New Market. He has just completed a contract for grading for the Lehigh Valley Railroad Company at the spur track, which they put in to the factory premises.

A new siding is being put into the plant of the Harris, Silvers & Baker Company on the former Blackford farm, from the main line of the Lehigh Valley Railroad.

Former Freeholder George S. Bunting is building a garage on his property, being assisted in the work by A. Tappen. Doubtless the automobile will come next.

Quite a nice contract in the building line is now being completed by Contractor C. Lester Rule. It consists of the building of a modern farm house and all outbuildings on the Owen R. Hughes farm. Mr. Hughes has purchased an eighteen-acre tract from the old John Manning farm on the Landing Bridge road, and greatly improved the place.

Considerable work in the line of carpentering improvements is going on at present at the old Titsworth house on Centre street known as the "Academy" and occupied at present by George A. Schenck, the iceman. A new porch is to be built and various other improvements made. Contractor C. Lester Rule is doing the work.

NEW POWER HOUSE FOR SPICER PLANT

Additional Floor Space for Village Machine Shop Planned.

Announcements concerning the enlargement of the plant of the Spicer Manufacturing Company at South Plainfield continue to be features of building circles in this vicinity, the latest being a 100 foot addition to be erected in the near future for the purpose of giving further floor space for the machine shops. This action has been made necessary by the increase in business and demand for the product of the former Plainfield concern.

The company will also build a large power plant and will hereafter generate its own power. As soon as the factory building has been enlarged the working force will be increased. It is said that an additional force of 100 men will then be employed.

The Spicer concern is rapidly approaching the largest class of automobile appliance manufacturers. This concern makes the universal joint and the demand for this joint is so great that it is with difficulty that the company fills its orders.

The removal of the plant from this city to South Plainfield has been a good thing for that village. Several houses are being erected to provide homes for the employes of the plant.

THE MASTER MIND

Novelized by Marvin Dana, author of "Within the Law," from the successful play by Daniel D. Carter

Copyright, 1913, by the H. K. Fly company.

"We'll not quibble over terms," Andrew said arrogantly. "It may seem odd to you, but I loved him. He was only a boy—a boy whose heart was broken—because he had loved one unworthy. He was the only thing that I cherished, the only creature life had given me to care for with all my affection, with all my soul. When he, for no fault, was condemned to die I—I—well, I—suffered!" Presently he continued, in a colorless voice of repression. "I swore then to make you suffer as he had—as I had. You presented to me a very difficult case," Andrew continued. "You were rich, honest, intelligent. You did not speculate. Your relations with women, even, were beyond reproach of the most scrupulous. For a time, I confess, I almost despaired of you—despaired of finding your weakness, your vulnerable point. Yet, not quite! You went abroad. It was a simple thing for me with my resources to gain access to your apartment. I went there and made it my dwelling place until I had gained all that I needed. I searched your private papers. One day I noticed in your study a portrait—the face of a young girl. It was done rather crudely, perhaps, but it was done with sincerity and with a certain effectiveness. I found also some entries in an old journal which explained that face. Then I began to hope. We searched, you and I, for the same girl, and I found her. I found that the circumstances of this girl, who was the original of the portrait and of the entries in the journal, were ideal for my purposes. The essential thing is this: I desired you to marry her. In order to bring that to pass certainly it was necessary to prepare her, by education and experience of the world, to be your fitting mate. That was done. In fine, sir, you married her precisely as I had planned that you should."

"Yes," Wainwright agreed heavily. "I—I married her. I understand. Go on, please."

"And now," he went on, with a drawling contentment in his utterance, "you have just surprised her here in the act of leaving the house with her—well, let us say, with the young friend of her earlier days—Creegan."

The voice of Wainwright came roughly.

"What do you mean?"

Andrew's smile was taunting.

"It's clear enough, isn't it?" he jeered.

"You!" In a gust of rage Wainwright remembered the revolver offered to him by Marshall that same evening and accepted. His hand went swiftly to his hip pocket. There was no responsive contact with the weapon. As he stood astonished Andrew's voice sounded again with a vast entertainment derived from the circumstance.

"Your servant, Parker—my servant, Parker—is really very capable. You did not observe when he thoughtfully removed the weapon Mr. Marshall had provided." Then abruptly the mocking tones were filled with virulent hatred.

CHAPTER XV.

The Martyr.

"WE have here a close parallel, Mr. District Attorney," went on Andrew, "to the case of my brother. He killed his man under the influence of a sudden passion—justifiable passion too. Just now you would have killed me under the influence of passion—quite unjustifiable, however—had I not taken the precaution to have the weapon removed from you. But all this is beside the mark. The point of immediate interest is this: First loves are hard to forget, Mr. Wainwright. It is for this reason that Mrs. Wainwright, your wife, has planned to go away with our young friend Creegan."

"It is a lie!" Wainwright's voice was overweighted with quick rage.

"Since you doubt, why, call her!" He went to the door and swung it open. "Lucene!" he called. This use of her name so familiarly for the first time in the presence of the husband was in itself a revelation. "Come, Lucene," he cried; "come!"

The wife entered almost at once, for she had been waiting in the hall in an agony of despair.

It was the husband who addressed her with a fierce entreaty:

"Lucene, this man—he has been saying"— He choked.

Andrew continued:

"I have been trying to show your husband how useless it would be to attempt to prevent you from going out of his life as you had already planned. I have also"—

Wainwright was furious.

"He said—he said that you—you were going away with this man Creegan. Tell him he lies!"

"She will not do that," Andrew declared, "or I am much mistaken."

"Lucene!" The husband's voice rang forth in a loud tenderness.

She spoke in a level voice, apathetic from the burden of a consummate torment.

"There's no use of any more fuss, is there?" she said pitifully. "Oh, I'll go

"You wish to know about the money, perhaps?"

—I'll go! There'll be no scandal, none at all. I'll just go, and that will be an end of it."

Wainwright strode forward.

"No!" he shouted, with primitive violence. "I say no!"

"No, no!" she gasped. "You must let me go. It's the only way."

Andrew's voice came is gloating acquiescence:

"That is it, precisely."

Wainwright, however, was not to be intimidated by this mysterious conspiracy that meant the wrecking of his life's happiness.

"No! There are things you must tell me." His eyes pierced to the soul of his wife, so that she dropped her own and answered hurriedly:

"Very well. Only, please, hurry. What do you want to know?"

Andrew again interrupted, very blandly now:

"You wish to know about the money, perhaps?"

"About the money?" Wainwright repeated.

The wife hesitated.

"It was for Jim," she said feebly, for the soul of her revolted almost beyond endurance. "It was for him—Creegan. Oh, you've been good to me in your way, Cortland. But your way isn't my way, and—and now it's over."

Wainwright spoke with an inflection of half amused tolerance:

"You are making it very easy for me to let you go. Do you know that?"

The wife blanched.

"And why not?" she responded, with an effort toward brazen assurance. "Haven't you heard what Mr. Andrew said? And, now"— Her voice was tremulous, then broken with the burden of feeling. Yet she finished bravely, "And now I'm off."

Andrew added his word of corroboration, with a certain dreadful, mirthless jocoseness:

"Yes, the game's over!"

Wainwright was contemplating his wife with a strange intenseness. He approached her closely and spoke in a voice that seemed pliant to her control.

"I see!" he said slowly. "When do you wish to go?"

The answer came in a great gasp of despair:

"Now—at once!"

Of a sudden some delicate phase of expression in the beautiful face before him caught the attention of Wainwright, diverted it to a new understanding not complete yet, but enough for guidance in this time of crisis.

Daddy's Bedtime Story — Little Thoughts And the Things They Do.

"And make them ashamed and sorry."

"I MUST tell you kiddies something about thoughts tonight," said daddy.

"Thoughts?" repeated Evelyn.

"Yes, thoughts," smiled daddy. "You know it has been said that 'thoughts are things,' and this story will tell you just what that means.

"You know there are two kinds of thoughts—good thoughts and bad thoughts. The good thoughts are white thoughts, and the bad thoughts are black thoughts. You can't say that these thoughts have color, for when you have got further in school you will learn that white and black are not colors. Colors are the hues in between. But that is another story.

"Thoughts fly, you know, so I suppose they must have wings. The little bad thoughts have wings just as black as they can be, like the wings of bats or crows, and they are very ugly little thoughts. But the little good thoughts are like fairies with white wings, and they fly around, doing good everywhere.

"How the mothers dread those little bad thoughts of their children! Well, I should say so! And there are many ways in which they can tell when the bad little thoughts are flying around like mosquitoes to pester their children. When a little boy or girl wrinkles his or her forehead and scowls so that all beauty is gone then mother knows that those bad little thoughts have driven away all the good little thoughts and she must busy herself to drive the bad little thoughts away.

"Now, how does she do this? Well, all children know quite well. Sometimes mother can talk kindly to them and make them ashamed and sorry, and then they cry and promise her they'll be good, and they are for a time till the bad little thoughts come again to drive the little good thoughts away. And sometimes when the little bad thoughts make the children especially naughty I am sorry to say that it is sometimes necessary for mamma to spank her child or get papa to do it.

"But when the good little thoughts are about it is all very different. They bring much joy. They make dimples in smiling faces, and they make the eyes clear and make the child hop and skip just because he is so glad to be alive. But when the bad little thoughts have control they make the feet drag, and they take the sparkle from the eye—and they're horrid.

"It's worth while to know how to keep the little white thoughts by you. Think hard for them, my dears; that's the way. And if you think hard enough the little white thoughts will come to drive away the little black thoughts every time."

Household Hints

SUMMER MINCE PIE.

One cup each of sugar, bread crumbs and water, half cup vinegar, half cup raisins, one teaspoon cinnamon, one teaspoon nutmeg, one-fourth teaspoon cloves, one-fourth teaspoon allspice, butter size of hulled walnut. Place on stove, cook until it thickens, then set aside to cool. Bake in two pies, or add one apple minced fine and a few dried currants, and you can make three pies. Bake same as other mince pies.

THE TABLE

Sunshine Eggs—Boil hard six or eight eggs. Cut whites in small pieces and place in a dish. Make a white sauce of one and one-half cups milk, one tablespoon flour, butter size of an egg and a little salt. Boil this and pour over whites. Grate yolks over top, adding some salt and white pepper.

Delmonico Onions—Take green onions, cut tops off, wash thoroughly and let lie in cold water five or ten minutes, then put in boiling salted water and boil until done. Drain and serve with white sauce. Lay them on toast or plate and pour sauce over white ends and eat like asparagus. Two bunches serve three people.

French Mustard — Three tablespoons dry mustard, one tablespoon sugar rubbed together; add one egg, mix well, then slowly add and beat in one cup vinegar. Cook four minutes and let cool, after which add one tablespoon olive oil. You will find this better than any ready prepared mustard.

Love Knots for Tea—Sift one-half teaspoon soda in five cups flour, then rub in one cup butter, lard size of egg and two cups sugar; add two beaten eggs, three tablespoons milk and one grated nutmeg if liked, or same amount cinnamon. Roll thin, cut in strips an inch wide and five or six inches long and lap across in a true love knot. Bake in a quick oven.

Pinwheels—Put one quart flour, four level teaspoons baking powder and a half teaspoon salt in a bowl; mix thoroughly, rub in one tablespoon shortening and add sufficient milk—about one and one-half cups—to make a moist but not wet dough. Roll this out into a thin sheet, spread it with butter, dust over it a half cup of sugar, dust lightly with cinnamon, roll up, cut into buns one and one-half inches long and stand them in a baking dish where they will not touch each other. Bake in moderate oven one-half hour.

Lemon Pie Filling—Two heaping tablespoons cornstarch dissolved in cold water; then pour into two cups boiling water, boil until starchy taste is gone, then add juice and grated rind of one lemon, one and one-quarter cups sugar, yolks two eggs and lump of butter size of walnut. Beat whites to stiff froth, add tablespoon of powdered sugar, put on top of pie and brown slightly in oven.

THINGS WORTH KNOWING

To Keep Mattresses From Sliding and Wearing Out—On the springs lay a large clean piece of burlap and with darning needle threaded with twine sew to springs with long stitches. Take two pinchers and hold the needle by each end, the middle in or over the gas; when heated you can bend it to make an upholsterer's needle. Then to your mattress sew four straps made of ticking doubled, one-half yard long. Sew to the middle of mattress and middle of straps four inches from corners, and tie to posts or springs. Will not show when bed is made up. Sew with double waxed thread, then you can untie and turn at will. Burlap keeps mattress from wearing.

Silk Hose Suggestion—As a rule, stockings that fit the foot and ankle perfectly are much too short in length; the result is that the strain of the supporter on them soon springs a lace stripe. The remedy: Before wearing, carefully rip out hem (if woven in, cut with scissors), and face very neatly by hand with a three-inch strip of silk crepe de chine. This material, being elastic, makes an excellent supporter hold, and you will find your hose will wear twice as long, besides being much nicer.

BY MRS. EVA LEONARD.

While Nell was washing the supper dishes she heard a knock. Miss Rudolph stood before her when she opened the door.

"Come in," said Nell. The girl appeared frightened.

"Please close the door." She motioned toward the living room. "I do not want Mr. Morton to hear me." Nell complied.

"You know Mrs. Brown's maid, Ella, is a friend of the girl who works for Mrs. Ellson," continued Miss Rudolph, a deep red mounting to her forehead as she spoke.

"Ella felt badly because her snooping through the waste basket and carrying around that letter of mine made so much trouble for everybody, and so she came to me tonight to tell me what she had learned from the Ellsons' maid. It seems Mrs. Ellson has two or three friends who are there constantly, and they plan together what Mrs. Ellson is to do in her divorce proceedings. They talk before the maid, who is too full of her important secrets to keep still, and who confides in Ella. She says they are planning to drag me and that everlasting letter into the trial."

"I can't see why," interrupted Nell. "That could not bear on her relations with her husband."

"She wants to prove that both you and Mr. Morton have loose morals, and are the kind of people to make trouble."

"Why do you tell me? I can't stop her if she is determined to drag my name into her affairs," said Nell desperately.

"I am afraid it will cost me my position here, and if I leave under a cloud I may find it hard to get another. I am trying to help my younger brother, who has no one to depend on since the death of my other brother this summer. I know it is a very nervy thing to do, to ask you to help me, when I made you so much trouble, but you are a kind-hearted woman and therefore I come to you. A word from you to the Scotts would make me secure in my position and—— I hope you know how desperately ashamed I am of that silly letter. I am different now—I want to do the right thing and help Sam get on his feet—get a start in life." She put her handkerchief to her eyes.

Nell laid a kind hand on her shoulder. "Don't cry. I'll do what I can for you, of that you may be sure. Women must stand by each other. I always believed it; it's because they suspect and betray one another that there is so much trouble in the world."

"Thank you so much, dear Mrs. Morton. If there were more women like you this world would be a better place to live in. I want to learn to ring true like you."

When Nell told Dick of Miss Rudolph's errand, he said: "That was a compliment to you, dear. I don't believe a girl could safely put power to harm her in the hands of a woman she had wronged in many cases, even if the wrong were only a light-headed love of admiration and a silly boasting. The girl can recognize a woman all right."

CO-EXECUTORSHIP

The man who makes his wife his sole executor unthinkingly places upon her in a time of acute mental distress a burden almost too heavy to be borne, but when he names her in conjunction with a competent trust company he knows that while she will retain the supervision of the estate, the trust company will attend to all the details.

This Company is a specialist in the management of estates. Consultation on the subject is invited.

ARE THE FINALLY IMPENITENT ANNIHILATED

IS THE SUBJECT OF THE FOURTH ADDRESS To Be Given By
Mr. Samuel Ridout
AT THE
Y. M. C. A. HALL
(Rented for the Purpose)
SUNDAY EVENING, MAY 23rd, 7:30 O'CLOCK

This is a most solemn and important subject. Is annihilation the truth of Scripture? If the impenitent become extinct, and that is eternal punishment, you need have no concern about your sins, for an extinct person can neither know nor feel punishment. It cannot be punishment to be made non-existent, and know neither what has been missed by impenitence nor what might have been gained by repentance and faith in Christ. The solemn teaching and warning of the Word of God is set aside by the theory of annihilation. "It is appointed unto men once to die, but AFTER this the judgment"—Heb. 9:27. "Knowing therefore the terror of the Lord, we persuade men"—2 Cor. 5:11.

Hundreds are thinking as much about the inevitable home-hunt as about the great war. Let your "To Let" advertising help them.
